INTRODUCTION

At the time of Jesus and rabbi Hillel—the origins of Christianity and rabbinic Judaism—there was, and there was not, a “Bible.” This critical period, and the nature of the Bible in that period, have been freshly illuminated by the biblical Dead Sea Scrolls.

There was a Bible in the sense that there were certain sacred books widely recognized by Jews as foundational to their religion and supremely authoritative for religious practice. There was not, however, a Bible in the sense that the leaders of the general Jewish community had specifically considered, debated, and definitively decided the full range of which books were supremely and permanently authoritative and which ones—no matter how sublime, useful, or beloved—were not. The collection or collections of the Scriptures varied from group to group and from time to time. All Jews would have recognized “the Law” (the Torah) and most would have recognized “the Prophets” as belonging to that collection. Such a recognition is attested by references in the New Testament to the “Law and the Prophets” (Matt 7:12; Luke 16:16; and Rom 3:21). But the exact contents of “the Prophets” may not have been the same for all, and the status of other books beyond “the Law and the Prophets” was neither clear nor widely accepted. The notion of a wider collection of Scriptures that extended beyond the Law and Prophets is suggested by an intriguing passage in Luke 24, which says that “everything written about me [i.e., Jesus] in the Law of Moses, in the Prophets, and in the Psalms must be fulfilled” (vs. 44).

The Dead Sea Scrolls help us see the state of affairs more clearly from an on-the-spot perspective. “The Bible,” or more accurately then, “the Scriptures,” would have been a collection of numerous separate scrolls, each containing usually only one or two books. There is indeed persuasive evidence that certain books were considered “Scripture.” But there is little evidence that people were seriously asking the question yet about the extent or the limits of the collection—the crucial question for a “Bible” or “canon”—which books are in and which books are outside this most sacred collection.

Thus, The Dead Sea Scrolls Scriptures may be a more historically accurate title for this volume. At any rate, it presents the remains of the books for which there is good evidence that Jews at that time viewed them as Sacred Scripture.

The “Bibles” Used Today

The word “Bible” has different meanings for different people and groups. The most obvious difference in content is between the Bible of Judaism (i.e., the Hebrew Bible or Old Testament) and that of Christianity, which contains both the Old and New Testaments. The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible does not include any New Testament books for one simple reason: by the time the vast majority of the scrolls had been copied (in 68 CE), the New Testament was only beginning to be written. Not surprisingly, then, there are no copies of New Testament books among the scrolls.

The list of books included in a Bible is termed a “canon.” There are three main canons in the different Bibles used today (see Figure 1):

1. The Jewish Bible (or Tanak) contains twenty-four books in three sections: the Torah, the Prophets, and the Writings.
2. The Protestant Old Testament contains the same books as the Tanak, but in four sections and in a different order: the Pentateuch, the Historical Books, the Poetical Books, and the Prophets. In addition, the Protestant canon contains thirty-nine books, not twenty-four, because it counts separately several books that comprise single books in the Jewish Bible. For example, the one Book of the Twelve Minor Prophets in the Jewish canon becomes the twelve books of the Minor Prophets in the Protestant Bible.
3. The Roman Catholic Old Testament contains exactly the same four divisions and thirty-nine books as the Protestant Bible, but also includes further writings. Seven of these are entire books (Tobit, Judith, 1 and 2 Maccabees, Wisdom of Solomon, Ecclesiasticus, and Baruch [which includes the Letter of Jeremiah]); the others are sections added to Esther (the Additions to Esther) and to Daniel (the Prayer of Azariah, Song of the Three Young Men, Susanna, and Bel and the Dragon). For Catholics, these additional writings are part of the Bible and are thus known as the “deuterocanonical books” (that is, a second group of canonical books). However, Jews and most Protestants do not view these writings as Scripture, labeling them the “Apocrypha” (plural of “Apocryphon”), which means “hidden books.”

Some scholars believe that these books are not in the Jewish and Protestant canons because they are later than most other biblical books (Daniel being an exception), while others point to their supposed secular or unorthodox content as the reason for exclusion. The real explanation, however, is more complicated and goes back to two ancient Bibles. Early Christians accepted the Greek Septuagint, which contains these additional books, as their Old Testament, while early Rabbis finalized the list of books for the Hebrew Bible in the second century CE. It is these two early collections (the shorter Hebrew one and the longer Greek one) that determine which books are included in the Bibles used by modern Jews, Protestants, and Catholics. Jews, followed by Protestants, regard the shorter collection as Scripture, whereas Catholics accept a larger canon that includes apocryphal/deuterocanonical writings found in the Septuagint.

Three Old Bibles

All modern Bibles are translations of older texts. The Scriptures used by most readers of this book (whether Jewish, Protestant, or Roman Catholic) are based on much older manuscripts that have been translated into English. The three most important of these older Bibles are known as the “Masoretic Text” (MT), the “Septuagint” (LXX), and the “Samaritan Pentateuch” (SP). Scholars believe that the books in these three texts are from pre-Christian times, but unfortunately no really early manuscripts were available before the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls. Translations were made from the oldest available manuscripts, most of them medieval, in the belief that these late documents were accurate copies of far more ancient texts.

The Masoretic Text

Almost all modern English translations of the Old Testament are based on a single manuscript, the Leningrad Codex, which was copied in 1008 CE and is our earliest complete copy of the Masoretic (or Rabbinic) Text of the Hebrew Bible. The Leningrad Codex is used by most biblical scholars in its published edition, Biblia Hebraica Stuttgartensia (or the earlier Biblia Hebraica).

Another important manuscript is the Aleppo Codex, which forms the basis of a new edition of the Hebrew Bible currently being produced at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. This manuscript was copied in about 925 CE and is thus earlier than the Leningrad Codex; however, a substantial part has been lost, which means that for some books the Hebrew University project must rely on the Leningrad Codex and other Hebrew manuscripts.

Both the Leningrad Codex and the Aleppo Codex are part of what is known as the “Masoretic Text.” This term is quite complicated, since it covers many manuscripts rather than a single one; “Masoretic Group” or “Masoretic Family” would thus be a more accurate name. Masoretic manuscripts—including the Leningrad Codex and the Aleppo Codex—contain the books of the Hebrew Bible in the threefold arrangement that was developed by the Rabbis and is found in modern Jewish Bibles: the Torah, the Prophets, and the Writings (though the specific order of books sometimes varies between manuscripts).

This form of the Old Testament text now found in the Masoretic Text grew and was finalized in three periods, or stages.

- The first stage originated among Babylonian Jews, the Pharisees, or “temple circles” and ended with the destruction of the Temple in 70 CE (or perhaps with the end of the Second Jewish Revolt in 135 CE).
- The second stage extended from the destruction of the Temple until the eighth century CE and was characterized by more and more textual consistency as rabbinic scholars sought to standardize the text of the Hebrew Bible.

- The third stage extended from the eighth century until the end of the Middle Ages and was characterized by almost complete textual uniformity. During this period, a group of Jewish scholars known as the Masoretes set out to produce a standard text of the Hebrew Bible—one that in their eyes would be true to the Scriptures revealed by God in ancient times. Since the ancient text consisted only of Hebrew consonants without any vowels (see Figure 2), many readings were open to diverse meanings (compare dg in English, which could be dig, dog, or dug, depending on which vowel is used). The Masoretes' solution was to add vowels, accents, and Masoretic notes (see Figure 3), which required fixed meanings for groups of consonants (for example, only dig, not dog or dug). As a result, the Masoretic Text became almost completely standardized during this time. It is this standardized form of the Hebrew Bible that is found in the Leningrad Codex and the Aleppo Codex, and upon which the Old Testaments of most English Bibles are based.

Because the Masoretic Text has become the Bible of Judaism and is the main text of the Old Testament used by scholars and Bible translators, its relationship to the biblical Dead Sea Scrolls is an important issue. In the translation presented in this book, all readings from the scrolls have therefore been carefully compared with the Masoretic Text, with any differences (or “variants”) signaled by the use of italics.

The Septuagint

The Septuagint is the ancient Greek version of the Hebrew Scriptures or Old Testament, translated by a number of different Jewish scholars over the course of the third, second, and first centuries BCE. The oldest manuscripts of the Septuagint, which are very fragmentary, include John Rylands Papyrus 458 (second century BCE) and Papyrus Fouad 266 (about 100 BCE). Complete (or almost complete) manuscripts exist as well: Codex Sinaiticus (fourth century), Codex Vaticanus (fourth century), and Codex Alexandrinus (fifth century).

But why was a Greek translation of the Hebrew Scriptures necessary? Following the conquests of Alexander the Great in the late fourth century BCE, Greek was increasingly used in the Ancient Near East, including Palestine, and numerous Jews and other peoples emigrated to lands such as Egypt. Eventually, more and more Jews adopted Greek as their first language and became less and less fluent in Hebrew. For such Hellenized Jews to maintain and understand their religion, a translation of the Hebrew Scriptures into Greek became increasingly necessary.

The translation was begun in the third century BCE in Alexandria (Egypt), one of the centers of Hellenistic Judaism. According to a delightful legend in the Letter of Aristeas, seventy-two scholars, six from each of the twelve Israelite tribes, were brought from Jerusalem to translate the Pentateuch into Greek during the reign of Ptolemy Philadelphus (285–247 BCE). The precise number of scholars was rounded off to seventy, from which comes the term Septuagint (meaning “seventy” in Latin). Eventually, the “Septuagint” grew to embrace Greek translations of all the books of the Hebrew Bible, translations of some books excluded from the Hebrew Bible, and even a few sacred Jewish books originally composed in Greek.

The Septuagint is important for several reasons. First, almost all the books it contains were translated from an earlier Hebrew or Aramaic form (though a few books, such as 2 Maccabees, were originally composed in Greek). This means that the Septuagint gives readers a window on an ancient Hebrew form of the Old Testament that is earlier than the time of Jesus. Second, the Septuagint sometimes offers striking evidence of different ancient forms of biblical books (for example, Jeremiah is about 13 percent shorter in the Greek than in the Masoretic Text) as well as different ancient readings in specific passages. Third, because the Septuagint was the Bible of Hellenistic Judaism, it offers important insights into how Greek-speaking Jews used and understood Scripture. Fourth, since the Septuagint is quoted in the New Testament and was used by early Christian authors, it constitutes the Bible of the early church and helps to explain early Christian exegesis of Scripture. Finally, the Septuagint contains the books of the Old Testament in the fourfold arrangement that is found in modern Christian Bibles: Pentateuch, Historical Books, Poetical Books, and Prophets (though the specific order of books sometimes varies between Septuagint manuscripts). It is from the Septuagint that most modern Bibles have adopted this grouping and that Catholic Bibles have included the deuterocanonical books (or Apocrypha).

Because of the Septuagint’s importance as an ancient translation, the list of variant readings in the footnotes of this book will often indicate whether or not the Septuagint agrees with readings found in the Dead Sea Scrolls, in the Masoretic Text, and in the Samaritan Pentateuch.

The Samaritan Pentateuch

The third ancient Bible is known as the Samaritan Pentateuch; as its name implies, it contains only the five Books of Moses. The Samaritan Pentateuch was finalized as a collection before the Christian era and has been used by the Samaritans, a small branch of Judaism, ever since. A small but active Samaritan community still exists, using this Bible and practicing its own customs and ceremonies.

The Discovery, Contents, and Origin of the Dead Sea Scrolls

This book provides only a brief overview of the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls and their contents, since detailed information is readily available elsewhere. The term “Dead Sea Scrolls” refers to ancient manuscripts discovered at sites in the Judean Desert in the vicinity of the Dead Sea. The most important and famous of these sites is Qumran, but scrolls were found at several other sites as well.

Discovery of the Scrolls

Between 1947 and 1956, eleven caves were discovered in the region of Khirbet Qumran, about a mile inland from the western shore of the Dead Sea and approximately fourteen miles east of Jerusalem. The eleven caves yielded various artifacts (especially pottery) and manuscripts written in Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek, the three languages of the Bible. (The Hebrew Bible is written in Hebrew and Aramaic; the Septuagint and New Testament in Greek.) In addition to the finds at Khirbet Qumran, several manuscripts were discovered at other locations in the vicinity of the Dead Sea, especially Wadi Murabba‘ât (1951–52), Nah.al H.ever (1951–52 and 1960–61), and Masada (1963–65).

Description and Contents of the Scrolls

At Qumran, nearly 900 manuscripts were found in some twenty-five thousand pieces, with many no bigger than a postage stamp. A few scrolls are well preserved, such as the Great Isaiah Scroll from Cave 1 (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>) and the Great Psalms Scroll from Cave 11 (11QPs<sup>a</sup>). Unfortunately, however, most of the scrolls are very fragmentary. The earliest manuscripts date from about 250 BC, while the latest ones were copied shortly before the destruction of the Qumran site by the Romans in 68 CE. Approximately forty-five more manuscripts were discovered at the other sites: about fifteen at Wadi Murabba'ât, eighteen at Nahal Hever, and twelve at Masada.

Scholars divide the Dead Sea Scrolls into two categories: the “biblical” manuscripts and the “nonbiblical” ones. Of course, this distinction is from our later viewpoint (and not necessarily that of the ancient copyists), but it is useful for purposes of organization and editing. The nonbiblical scrolls are already available in English translation: for example, The Dead Sea Scrolls, by Michael Wise, Martin Abegg, Jr., and Edward Cook (San Francisco: HarperSanFrancisco, 1996). But until now the biblical scrolls have never been translated into any modern language; The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible makes this material available in English for the first time.

Some 215 manuscripts from Qumran, plus twelve more from the other sites, are classified as biblical scrolls, since they contain material found in the canonical Hebrew Bible. Since these manuscripts contain the texts from which The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible has been translated, they will be discussed in greater detail later in this Introduction (see section headed “The Biblical Scrolls”).

A few brief comments on the nonbiblical scrolls will be helpful at this point. There are approximately 670 of these scrolls, which can be divided into five groups: (1) rules and regulations (for example, the Community Rule); (2) poetic and wisdom texts (for example, the Hodayot or Thanksgiving Psalms); (3) reworked or rewritten Scripture (for example, the Genesis Apocryphon); (4) commentaries or pesharim (for example, the Pesher on Habakkuk); and (5) miscellaneous writings (for example, the Copper Scroll).

The nonbiblical scrolls can be very helpful for understanding Scripture at Qumran, since they often quote from or refer to biblical books and passages. These manuscripts also offer valuable insights into how Scripture was used and interpreted by the Essenes and other Jewish groups in the last few centuries BCE and up to the destruction of the Qumran community in 68 CE. Many of these documents are also of direct relevance to early Judaism and emerging Christianity, since they anticipate or confirm numerous ideas and teachings found in the New Testament and in later rabbinic writings (the Mishnah and Talmud).

Origin of the Scrolls

Most scholars agree that the group who lived at the Qumran site from about 150 BCE to 68 CE was a strict branch of the Essenes. Together with the Pharisees and Sadducees, the Essenes formed the three main divisions (or “denominations”) of Judaism at the time of Jesus; they were previously known to us in works of the Hellenistic Jewish writers Josephus and Philo, and of Latin authors such as Pliny the Elder. It is also generally agreed that these Essenes deposited many scrolls in most of the Qumran caves. However, a smaller number of scholars disagree with these points. It has been suggested, for instance, that the members of the Qumran community were not Essenes at all but Sadducees, or that the site was in fact a military fortress or a winter resort.

These issues are of great importance for understanding the nonbiblical scrolls, since scholars distinguish between those manuscripts that were composed at Qumran and those that came to the Qumran “library” from elsewhere. Many scholars refer to the writings composed at Qumran as the “sectarian” scrolls, which is helpful for purposes of identification—but is also confusing. In modern Judaism and Christianity, a “sect” is usually an offshoot of a larger religion and is frequently viewed as eccentric or deviant with respect to beliefs. But both scholars and laypeople would do well to remember that during the entire Qumran period, the Pharisees and Sadducees were as much “sects” as the Essenes were! It was only from the second century CE onward that one type of Judaism—that of the Pharisees and their descendants, the Rabbis—became standard for the Jewish people as a whole.

These issues are of less importance with respect to the biblical scrolls. For one thing, all scholars agree that none of the biblical texts (such as Genesis or Isaiah) was actually composed at Qumran; on the contrary, they all originated before the Qumran period. It is also widely held that many or most of these manuscripts were brought to Qumran from outside and were thus copied elsewhere. This means that the value of most biblical scrolls lies not in establishing precisely where they were written or copied, but rather in studying the textual forms they contain.

Several distinctive biblical scrolls, however, were copied at Qumran, which raises some interesting issues. For example, it is likely that 4QSam<sup>c</sup> was copied there, since it was copied by the same scribe who penned the main manuscript of the Community Rule (1QS). This offers helpful insights into scribal habits among the Qumran community. Another issue is whether or not such Qumran scribes modified the text they were copying in order to produce distinctive Qumranic readings of the biblical text. The evidence to date suggests that such alteration did not take place.

The Biblical Scrolls

The Dead Sea Scrolls include more than 225 “biblical” manuscripts, about 215 of which were found at Qumran. Unfortunately, with a few exceptions (such as 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> and 11QPs<sup>a</sup>), almost all these manuscripts are in fragmentary form. Parts of every book of the Jewish and Protestant Old Testament are included, with the exception of Esther and Nehemiah. In addition, some other books now included in Roman Catholic Bibles were found at Qumran: Tobit, Ben Sira (also known as Sirach or Ecclesiasticus), and the Letter of Jeremiah (also known as Baruch 6). In terms of the Catholic canon, then, the total of biblical scrolls would be somewhat higher, at about 235 (about 222 from Qumran). It is also most likely that the Qumran community viewed the books of 1 Enoch and Jubilees as Scripture.

What was the “shape” of the Bible at Qumran? In other words, in what order did the books viewed as scripture at Qumran most likely occur? While most modern Bibles follow the order of the Christian Old Testament canon in four divisions (Pentateuch, Historical Books, Poetry, and Prophets), the ancient evidence from the scrolls suggests the following order: the Books of Moses, the Prophets, and the Psalms. A key passage that suggests this order can be found in the Halakhic Letter from Qumran (4QMMT): “And we have also written to you so that you may have discernment in the book of Moses and in the books of the Prophets and in Dav[id].” (It is interesting to note that Jesus uses almost the same terminology in Luke 24:44: “. . . that everything written about me in the Law of Moses, in the Prophets, and in the Psalms must be fulfilled.”) Which of these many biblical books are represented most among the Qumran scrolls? In other words, which writings were most popular for the Qumran community? The following list emerges: (1) the Psalms, with a total of thirty-seven manuscripts, (2) Deuteronomy (with thirty manuscripts), and (3) Isaiah (with twenty-one manuscripts). Although many scrolls have been lost, these statistics serve to indicate which books were most frequently used among the Qumran community. If we count the number of times an Old Testament passage is quoted or referred to in the New Testament, the same three books turn up most: the Psalms (cited about sixty-eight times), Isaiah (sixty-three times), and Deuteronomy (thirty-nine times).

How This Book Was Compiled

This book, containing the first translation of the biblical scrolls into any language, was compiled according to seven principles:

1. Maintaining the Historical Order of Books. The order of books in The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible corresponds to the ancient evidence as far as can be determined: the Books of Moses (including Jubilees), the Prophets (including 1 Enoch and Daniel), and the Psalms and remaining books (including Ben Sira, the Epistle of Jeremiah, and Tobit).
2. Including Introductory Material. The translation of each book is preceded by an introduction that includes a brief description of the relevant scrolls, the dates of at least some of these manuscripts, and the textual form or forms of the book in the scrolls.
3. Depending on Large Manuscripts. Among all the biblical scrolls, very large manuscripts are preserved for only two books: Isaiah and Psalms. Since a scroll of the entire book of Isaiah was found in a sealed jar in Cave 1 virtually intact, the translation of Isaiah presented here is of this complete manuscript (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>). Similarly, another large, continuous scroll of the Psalms (11QPs<sup>a</sup>) was found in Cave 11. The translation of Psalms 101 to 151, in a different order than that found in traditional Bibles, is mostly from this manuscript.
4. Integrating Material from Several Manuscripts. Unfortunately, for all the other biblical books, only fragments survive (some quite substantial, but most of them small). Thus for these books the translation is necessarily a patchwork of the remaining pieces from different scrolls. Since the text is constantly interrupted by the breaking off of the fragments, intervening text is inserted to provide context; this material is taken from our traditional Bible (based on the Masoretic Text). The preserved text is presented in regular type, with nonextant text supplied in square brackets. If only part of a verse or word is preserved in one scroll and another part can be found in a different scroll, the editors have combined the fragments to supply as much of the surviving text as possible.

For example, in one scroll (4QGen<sup>b</sup>), we have only the following words preserved for Genesis 1:1: “In the beginning Go[] made [ ].” If this were our only manuscript containing this verse, The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible would read: “In the beginning Go[d] made [the heavens and the earth],” with the supplied text in square brackets. Fortunately, however, another scroll (4QGen<sup>a</sup>) also contains part of this verse—“In the beginn[ ] God [ ] the heavens and the earth”—a fragment that includes material missing from 4QGen<sup>b</sup>. So when the preserved letters from the two scrolls are combined, the translation is as follows: “In the beginning God made the heavens and the earth.”

5. Signaling Variant Readings. When the translation of a passage in the scrolls differs from the traditional biblical text (the Masoretic Text) or from any other Dead Sea Scroll, it is printed in italics to alert the reader. In order to emphasize the distinctive readings found in some scrolls, the editors have presented these variant readings in the main translation as far as possible (except for Isaiah and Psalms 101 to 151, where the translation is from a single large scroll, as explained above). Any alternative readings that are found in the scrolls, the Masoretic Text (MT), the Septuagint (LXX), or the Samaritan Pentateuch (SP) are listed in the footnotes. Thus the reader is able to compare all the different readings for a given word or passage on the same page.

For example, near the end of Daniel 7:1 the traditional text says of King Belshazzar, “then he wrote down the dream, he related the sum of the words,” which is awkward. The only scroll that preserves this verse is 4QDan<sup>b</sup>, which simply reads “then he wrote down the dream.” Accordingly, The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible translation reads “then he wrote down the dream.”<sup>3</sup> The corresponding footnote (which is indicated by the superscripted 3) reads:

4QDan<sup>b</sup> and probably LXX. the dream, he related the sum of the words MT LXX<sup>mss</sup>.

This shows that the translation is found in 4QDan<sup>b</sup> and most likely the original Septuagint, while the longer reading is found in the Masoretic Text and some Septuagint manuscripts.

6. Highlighting Interesting or Important Readings. The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible includes apocryphal books, new Psalms, previously unknown passages, and hundreds of individual readings that are significant or interesting for our understanding of Scripture. The translators highlight some of this new or interesting material with the use of italicized comments. One example is found before Isaiah 29:5:

■ Several possibilities exist for the multitude referred to in Isaiah 29:5. Is the best reading “your strangers,” mentioned in the Masoretic text, “the ungodly,” referred to in the Septuagint, or “your enemies,” as found in 1QIsaa? A solution is offered by the parallel phrase later in the verse “and the multitude of the ruthless ones,” which suggests that the reading in 1QIsaa is the preferred one. “Your enemies” (or “Your foes”) is found in several modern translations, including the Revised Standard Version, the New Revised Standard Version, and the New International Version.

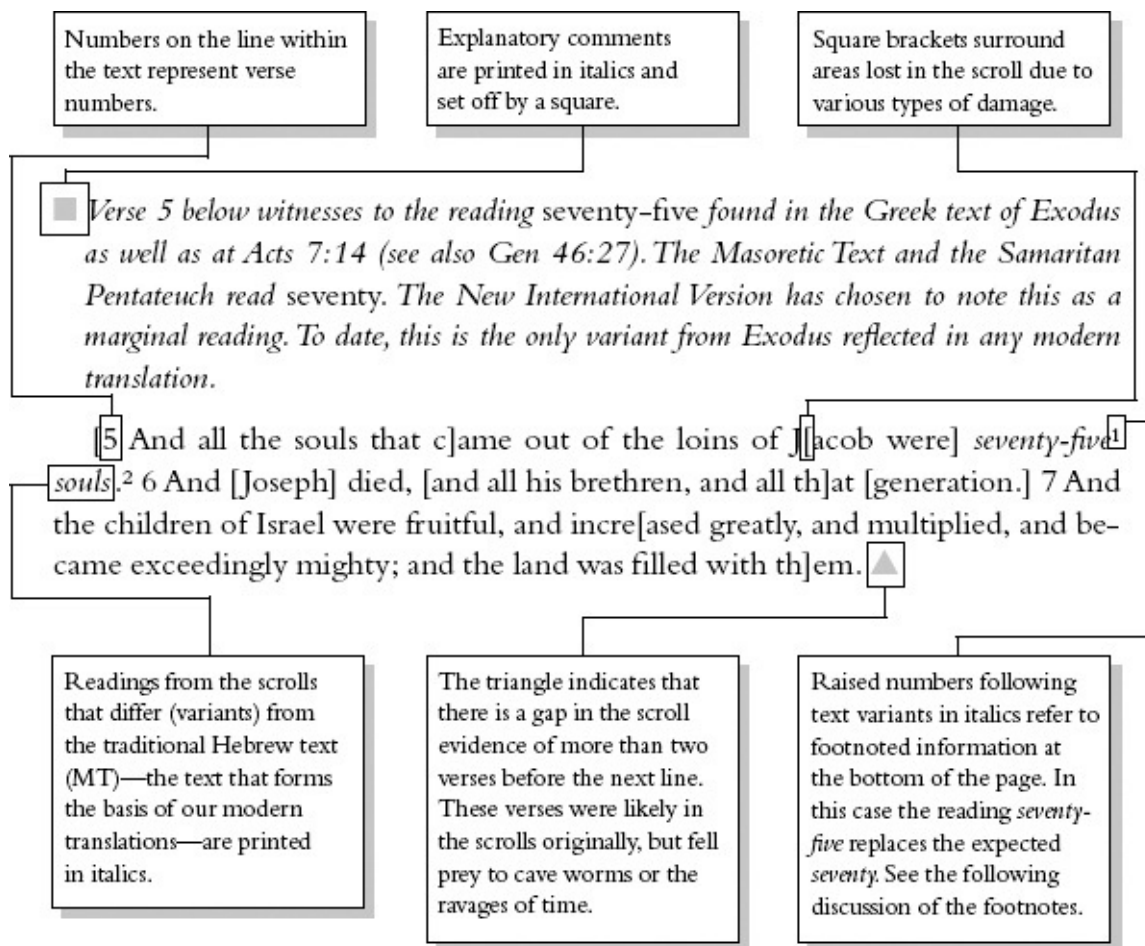

Although there are scores of such interesting readings, in order to produce The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible in one volume we were limited to highlighting only a selection of key readings in this way. But for the reader who seeks further examples, this book presents the rich variety of readings found in all the biblical scrolls in a complete fashion, whether in italicized form in the main text, or in the footnotes below.

7. Emphasizing Accuracy over Style. Since there are numerous aspects involved in the translation of a Bible, it usually takes a large team of translators more than a decade to produce one. In order to make The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible available in a reasonable amount of time, the main concern of the translators was to represent faithfully the text as found in the scrolls. We have not attempted to achieve overall stylistic consistency for the whole volume, since that would have required a far greater amount of time. Two points, however, should be emphasized. First, we have been consistent in translating the Divine Name by following the practice of the Revised Standard Version and the New Revised Standard Version (i.e., the LORD for the Hebrew YHWH, and the LORD God for YHWH elohim). Second, inclusive language has been used to a considerable extent with respect to humans (but not for God). We realize all too well that more could be done in this regard, which we intend to carry out in a future edition of The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible.

HOW TO READ THIS BOOK

The various notes found in the main text and at the bottom of each page contain valuable information. Attention to a few details will greatly increase your appreciation of this book.

The Main Text

Footnotes

At the beginning of each new chapter a footnote corresponding to the chapter number will record the manuscripts that contain all or parts of the chapter. In the case of Exodus 1, a total of four manuscripts were found in the caves that contain this section. The existing verses follow each manuscript. The text of each chapter represents the combined manuscript evidence.

Following the chapter information are the notes corresponding to the superlinear numbers in the main text.

Each manuscript "name" begins with the number of the cave (in this case Cave 4) in which the manuscript was found. The site abbreviation follows:

Q = Qumran.

A few manuscripts come from other areas:

Mur = Wadi Murabba'at

Hev = Naḥal Hever

Mas = Masada

1. 4QExod<sup>b</sup> 4QGen-Exod<sup>a</sup> LXX. seventy MT SP. 2. 4QExod<sup>b</sup> LXX. souls and Joseph was in Egypt already 4QpaleoGen-Exod<sup>l</sup> 4QGen-Exod<sup>a</sup> MT SP.

Following the cave number and site is an abbreviation of the book title (in this case Exod = Exodus). Occasionally, there are two or more books in a scroll (Gen-Exod). If the scroll is written in ancient (paleo) Hebrew, this is indicated. If more than one manuscript of the book came from the site, a raised letter after the book name indicates which manuscript it is. In this case, "b" means the second manuscript of Exodus from Cave 4 at Qumran.

There are three ancient Bible versions referred to in the footnotes:

MT = Masoretic Text, the traditional Hebrew Bible
 SP = the Samaritan Pentateuch, the edition of the Hebrew Bible used by the Samaritans

LXX = the Septuagint, the ancient Greek translation of the Hebrew Bible

See the introduction for more information concerning these versions.

Footnote 1 may be read as follows: The reading seventy-five (see discussion of the main text above) is found in two manuscripts from Qumran Cave 4: the first Genesis manuscript, which also contains Exodus, and the second Exodus manuscript. The Greek translation also reflects this reading. The traditional Hebrew text and the Samaritan Pentateuch read seventy.

GENESIS

Genesis—as the name has come to suggest, a book of beginnings and genealogical history—was very popular among the Qumranites. Both the number of biblical manuscripts and the collection of scrolls involved with retelling its compelling stories attest to this fact.

The remains of possibly twenty manuscripts were unearthed at Qumran itself: one in Cave 1, one in Cave 2, perhaps as many as sixteen in Cave 4, one in Cave 6, and one in Cave 8.<sup>a</sup> In addition to these manuscripts from the caves to the north of Wadi Qumran, remains of other Dead Sea Scrolls were also found—one to the south at Masada and perhaps as many as three at Wadi Murabba‘at.<sup>b</sup> There is admittedly a certain degree of mystery surrounding this latter group. Due to the secrecy of their Bedouin discoverers, there will forever be some doubt as to their place of origin. In addition, it is very likely that at least two of the manuscripts are pieces of the same scroll, though they were obtained at different times from the Bedouin.<sup>c</sup> Such are the intrigues of scroll research!

Although a scroll containing all the Books of Moses (Genesis through Deuteronomy) may not have been a common item—it would necessarily have been nearly five times as long as the Great Isaiah Scroll—at least two scrolls exist that contain both Genesis and Exodus,<sup>d</sup> confirming an ancient order for these two important books. Genesis is also attested in the ancient Hebrew script known as paleo-Hebrew—4QpaleoGen-Exod<sup>l</sup> and 4QpaleoGen<sup>m</sup>—the latter being the oldest scroll of Genesis, dating from the middle of the second century BCE.

Although the twenty-four manuscripts of Genesis are surpassed in number only by Psalms, Isaiah, and Deuteronomy, they are all relatively fragmentary and preserve only thirty-two chapters among their crumbs. They do, however, reveal a text of Genesis that is generally very close to the traditional Hebrew text. Only eleven manuscripts exhibit variants beyond the more common slight deviations in spelling. These few variants show no real pattern but are best classified as mixed, or “nonaligned.” It is of special note that the two (or possibly three) manuscripts from Wadi Murabba‘at, dated according to their script (which places their creation at the beginning of the second century CE), are identical to the traditional Hebrew text. Although the mechanics of the processes that led to the establishment of a “fixed text” are lost to us (see the Introduction), the evidence from the Dead Sea Scrolls suggests that the current character of the Hebrew Bible dates to the early second century CE. Indeed, this is one of the important contributions of the Dead Sea Scrolls: the Bible can now be seen in its final stages of development in the latter centuries BCE and even the first century CE. By the beginning of the second century CE, various historical factors had given rise to a final text form that has been passed down virtually unchanged to this day.

Retelling portions of Genesis was a popular business in the Qumran community. The Genesis Apocryphon, preserved to a length of twenty-three somewhat fragmentary columns, is an Aramaic work that rehearses the lives of Enoch, Lamech, Noah and his sons, and Abraham. The creation, the flood, and events in the life of Abraham were extremely popular with the writers of the Second Temple period. Theological issues found their beginnings in Genesis as well. Discussions concerning the pollution of humans and divine beings by sin were centered on the mysterious union of “the sons of God and the daughters of men” in Genesis 6:1–4, and messianic musings were founded on the blessings to the tribe of Judah in Genesis 49:10.

Although Genesis was not the source for legal rulings in the Qumran community (as were the next four books of the Torah), it does play a key role in a rather intriguing discussion concerning monogamy. The Damascus Document (CD) 4:19–5:1—in an obvious polemic against the polygamy of the Pharisees—argues on the basis of Genesis 1:27 (“male and female he created them”) and Genesis 7:9 (“went into the ark two by two”) that one wife was the biblical norm.

- *Only four manuscripts among the more than eight hundred found in the caves at Qumran preserve the title of the scroll. These titles were written on the outside of the first column—so as to appear when it was rolled up (4Q249 and 4Q504)—or on a special “guard page” that covered the manuscript in the manner of a modern book cover (1QS). One of these is a manuscript of Genesis (4QGen<sup>h-title</sup>). As the fragment containing the title has been separated from the rest of the scroll, it has not yet been determined if it is the sole remnant of an otherwise lost scroll, or whether it should be included with some existing fragments (the best candidate being 4QGen*).*

IN THE BEGINNING (BERESHIT)

1 In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. [2 And] the earth [was] formless and void; and darkness was upon the fac[e of the dee]p: and the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters. 3 And God said, “Let there be light,” [and there was light. 4 And] God saw that the light was good, and God separated the light [from the darkness.] 5 And God called the light daytime,<sup>1</sup> and the darkness he cal[led ni]ght. And there was evening [and there was morning,] one day.

6 And God said, “Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide [the waters from the waters.” 7 And] God [made] the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmam[ent from the waters] which were above the firmament. And it was so. 8 And God called the firmament heav[en. And there was evening and] there was morning, a second day.

■ Although no variants from the scrolls have yet worked their way into modern Bible translations of Genesis, footnotes 3 and 4 in verse 9 manifest prime candidates. The precursor to the Septuagint reading of “gathering” (miqveh) rather than the traditional Hebrew “place” (maqôm) is found in the Dead Sea Scroll classified as 4QGen<sup>h</sup>. In addition, the accomplishment of God’s command (footnote 4), again found in the Greek, is evident in 4QGen<sup>k</sup>. Although most of the variants from the scrolls are not necessarily “better,” both of these readings may represent the original form of the text.

9 And God said, “Let the waters underneath<sup>2</sup> the heavens be gathered together in one gathering,<sup>3</sup> and let the dr[y land] appear.” And it was so. [And the waters under the heavens gathered to their gatherings] and the dr[y land] appeared.<sup>4</sup> 10 And God called the dry land earth; and the gathering of the waters called he seas, and God saw that it was good. 11 And God said, “Let the earth put forth grass, herbs yielding seed, and fruit trees bearing fruit after their kind, with seed in them, on the earth.” And it was so. 12 And the earth brought forth gra[ss,] herbs yie[lding seed after their kind, and] trees bearing fruit, with seed in them, after their kind. And God saw that it was good. 13 And [there was evening] and there was morning, a third day.

14 And God said, “Let there be lights in the firmament of heaven to separate the day fr[o]m the night; and they were<sup>5</sup> for signs, and for seasons, and for days and for<sup>6</sup> y[e]ars; 15 and let them be for lights in the firmament of heaven to give light upon the earth.” And it was so. 16 And [God made] the two great lights, the greater light to [rule the day, and] the lesser [l]ight to rule the night; he made the stars also. 17 And [God] set [them in the firmament of] heaven to give light on the earth, 18 and to rule over the day and over the night, [and to divide] the light from the darkness, and God saw that it was good. 19 And there was evening and there was morning, a fourth day.

20 And God said, “Let the waters teem with swarms of living creatures, and let birds fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven.” 21 And God created the great sea monsters, and every living creature that moves, with which the waters swarmed, after their kind, and every [winged] bird after its kind. And God saw that it was good. 22 And God blessed them, saying, “Be fruitful, and multiply, [and fill] the waters in the seas, and the birds shall<sup>z</sup> multiply on the earth.” 23 And there was evening [and there] was morning, a fifth day.

24 And God said, “Let the earth bring forth [living] creatures after [their kind,] cattle, and creeping things, [and beasts of the earth] after their kind.” [And it was so.] 25 And [God] m[ade] the beasts of the [ea]rth after their kind, and the cattle [after their kind, and everything that creeps upon the ground after its kind. And Go]d [saw] that it was good.

[26 And God said, “Let us make humankind in our image, after our likeness, and let] them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the birds of the heavens, [and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creeps up]on the [ea]rth.” 27 And God created humankind [in his own image, in the image of God created he them; male and fe]male he created them. 28 And [God] blessed [them; and God said to them, “Be fruitful, and multiply,] and replen[ish the earth, and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the birds of the heavens, and over every living thing that moves upon the earth.”] ▲

2[1 And] the heavens [and the earth were finished, and all their hosts. 2 And on the seventh day God finished] his [work] which [he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made. 3 And] Go[d] bless[ed the seventh day, and sanctified it; because in it he rested from al]l his work [which God had created and made.] ▲

18 And the LORD God sa[id,] “It is not good [that the man should be alone;] I will make him a partner for him.” 19 And out of the gr[ound] the LORD God formed [every beast of the field, and every bird of the] s[ky; and brought them] to the man to [see what he would call them; and whatever the man called a living creature, that was its name.] ▲

- Since, according to the Bible itself, the name Yahweh—translated “Lord” in most modern editions of the Bible—was later revealed to Moses in the book of Exodus (3:13–15), students of the Pentateuch have long debated the use of Yahweh in the book of Genesis. A common solution suggests that an early author/editor indiscriminately used the term in his

[4 And they gave to Jacob] a[ll the] foreign g[o]d[s which they had and the rings] which were in their ears, and [Ja]cob b[ur]ied [them under the o]a[k] which was at Shechem.

5 And they journeyed, and [the] terror [of God fell upon the cities that were round about them so that they did not pursue the sons of Jacob. 6 So J]acob [came to Luz (that is, Bethel), which is in the land of Canaan,] he and all the people that [were with him. 7 And he built there an altar and called] the place El-bethel, because [God had revealed himself to him] there, [when he fled from his brother. 8 And Debo]rah, [Rebekah’s nurse, died and she was buried under] the oak [below Bethel; so it was called Allon-bacuth.]

[9 And God appeared to Jacob again, when he came from Paddan-aram, and blessed him. 10 And God said to him, “Your name is Jacob, but] your [name shall no longer be called Jacob; Israel shall be your name.” So he named him Israel.] ▲

[17 And when her labor was difficult, the midwife] said [to her, “Do not be afraid, for you have another son.” 18 And as her soul was departing—for she died—she na]med [him Ben-oni; but his father called him Benjamin. 19 So Rachel died and was buried on the way to Ephra]th (that is, Bethlehem). 20 And [Jacob] set up [a pillar over her grave; it is the pillar of Rachel’s grave to this day. 21 And] Israel journeyed on and pitched his tent beyo[nd] the tower [of Eder. 22 And while Israel was living in that land, Reuben went and lay] with Bil[ha]h his father’s concubine and Is[rael] heard about it. [Now the sons of Jacob were tw]elve: 23 the son[s of] Leah: Reuben, Jacob’s firstborn, Sime[o]n,<sup>13</sup> [and Levi, and Judah, and Issachar, and Zebulun; 24 the sons of Rachel: Joseph] and Benjamin; 25 the<sup>14</sup> sons of Bilhah, Rachel’s handmaid: Dan and Naphtali; 26 the<sup>15</sup> sons of Zilpah, [Leah’s handmaid: Gad and Asher. These are the sons of Jacob wh]om she bore<sup>16</sup> to him [in] Pa[ddan]-aram.

27 And Jacob came to Isaac [his] father, to Mamre [of Kiriath-arba (that is, Hebron), wh]ere Abraham and Isaac sojourned. 28 And the days of Isaac were a hundred [and eighty] years. 29 And Isa[ac] breathed his last and died and was gathered to his people, ol]d and full of days. And his sons Esa[u and Jacob] buried him.

361 Now these are [the generations of Esau (that is, Edom). 2 Esau took his wives] from the daughters of Canaan: Adah the daughter of Elon [the Hittite, and Oholibamah the daughter of Anah and granddaughter of Zibeon the Hivite, 3 and Basemath] Ishmael’s daughter, sister of Nebaioth. [4 And Adah bore Eliphaz to Esau; and Basemath bore Reue]; [5 and] Oholibamah bore Jeush,<sup>17</sup> [and Jalam, and Korah: these are the sons of Esau who were born to him in] the land of Canaan.

6 And Esau took his wives and his sons and his daughters and all the members of his household, [and] his cattle, all his beasts, and all his possessions which he had gathered in the land of Canaan, and went into a land away from [his brother] Jacob. [7 For] their possessions [were] too great for them to live together and the land where [they] were living could not support them because of their livestock. [8 And Esau lived in the hill country of] Seir; Esau is Edom.

9 And these are the generations of Esau the father of the Edomites in the hill country of Seir. 10 These are the name[s of Esau’s sons: Eliphaz] the son of Adah the wife of Esau, Reuel the son of Basemath the wife of [Esau.] 11 And the sons of Eliphaz were Teman, Omar, [Zepho, and Gatam, and Kenaz.] 12 And Timna was concubine to Eliphaz Esau's son, and she [bore] to [E]li[phaz] A[malek. These are the grandsons of Adah, Esau's wife. 13 And these are the sons of Reuel: Nahath, and Zera]h, Shamm[ah,] and Mizzah. The[se were the grandsons of Basemath, Esau's wife. 14 And] these were the s[ons of] Esau's wife [Oholibamah the daughter of Anah, the granddaughter of Zibeon;] and she bore [to Esau Jeush, and Jalam, and] Korah.

15 These are the chief[s of the sons of Esau: the sons of Eliphaz the firstborn of] Esau: chief Teman, chief [Omar, chief Zepho, chief Kenaz, 16 ch]ief Korah, chief Gatam, chi[ef Amalek: these are the chiefs of E]li[pha]z in the land of Edom; these are [the sons of Adah. 17 And these are the sons of Reuel, Esau's son: c]hi[ef] Nahath, chief [Zerah, chief Shammah, chief Mizzah; these are the chiefs that came of Reuel in the land of Edom; these are the sons of Basemath, Esau's wife. 18 And these are the sons of Oholibamah, Esau's wife: chief Jeush, chief Jalam, chief Korah: these are the chiefs born of Oholibamah the daughter of Anah, Esau's wife. 19 These are the sons of Esau] (that is, [Edom), and these are] their [chiefs.]

[20 These are the sons of Seir the Horite, the inhabitants of the land: Lotan and Shobal and Zibeon and Anah, 21 and Di]shon and E[zer and Dishan. These are the chiefs that came of the Horites, the children of Seir in the land of Edom. 22 And the children of Lotan were Ho]ri and H[eman. And Lotan's sister was Timna. 23 And these are the children of Shobal: Alvan and Manahath and Ebal, Shepho and Onam. 24 And] these are the children of Zibeon: Aiah [and Anah; this is Anah who found the hot springs in the wilderness as he fed] the donkeys [of Zibeon] his father. 25 And th[ese are the children of Anah: Dishon and Oholibamah the daughter of Anah. 26 And these are the children of Dishon: Hemdan] and Esh[ban and Ithran and Che]ran. 27 These are the chi[ldren of Ezer: Bilhan and Zaavan and Akan.] ▲

And the pit was empty; there was no water in it.]

[25 And they sat down to eat their meal.] And they lifted up their eyes [and looked, and behold, a caravan of Ishmaelites was coming from Gilead, with their camels bearing spi]ces and balm and my[rrh, on their way to carry them down to Egypt. 26 And Judah said to his brothers, “What profit is there] if we slay [our brother and conceal his blood? 27 Come, and let us sell him to the Ishmaelites, and not lay our hands on him;] for he is our brother, our fle[sh.” And his brothers listened to him. 28 And when the Midianite merchants passed by, they pul]l[ed] and lifted Joseph out of [the pit and so]ld [him to the Ishmaelites for twenty pieces of silver. And they brought Jose]ph [to] Egy[pt.]

[29 And when Reu]ben [returned] to th[e pit, behold, Joseph was not in the pit; he tore his clothes. 30 And he returned to his brothers, and sai]d, “The bo[y is not there; and I, where shall I go?”] ▲

39[11 And about this time he we]nt to the house to do his work; and none of the men [of the house were there. 12 And she caught him by his garment,] saying, “Lie with me.” And he left his garment in her hand and fled, and we[nt out. 13 And when she saw that he had lef]t his garment in her hand and run out, 14 she called to the men of her house, and spo]ke to them, saying, “See, he has brought in] a Hebrew to [u]s to take advantage of us. He came in to me to lie with me and I screamed. [15 And when he heard tha]t I screamed and called out, he left his garment by me and fled, and went out.” [16 And she kept his garment with h]er until his master came home. 17 And she spoke with [these] words, [saying, “The He]brew [servant,] whom you have brought to us, came in to me to take advantage of me. 18 And when I screa]med and called out, he lef]t [his

19 And when his master heard the words of [his] wife, [which she spoke to him, saying, “After] this [man]ner your servant did to me,” his anger was great. 20 And J[oseph]’s master took [him, and put him into] the prison, the place where the king’s prisoners were bound, and he was the[re in the prison. 21 But the LO]RD [was] with Joseph, and showed kindness to him, and gave him favor in the sight of the keeper of the pri[son. 22 And the keeper of the prison char]ged Joseph with all the prisoners who were in the pris[on; and whatever they did there, he was responsible for it.] 23 The keeper of the prison paid no attention to anything [in his care, because the LORD was with him, and that which he d]id, the LORD made to prosper.

[12 And Joseph said to him,] “This [is its interpretation: the three branches are three days; 13 within three more days] Pharaoh [shall lif]t [up your head and restore you to your office; and you shall give Pharaoh’s cup into his hand, after the former manner when you were his cupbearer.”] ▲

[18 And Joseph answered and said, “This is its interpretation: the three baskets are th]ree [d]ays. [19 Within three more days Pharaoh shall lift up your head from off you, and shall han]g you on a tree and [the birds] shall e[at your flesh from off you.”]

[20 And on the third day, which was] Pharaoh’s birth[day,<sup>18</sup> he [made a fea]st for all [his] serva[nts and he lifted up the head of the chief cupbea]rer and the head [of] the chief ba[ke]r among his servants. 21 And he rest[ored the chief cupbearer to his cupbearing again;] and he gave the cup [into Pharaoh’s hand;] 22 but [he hanged the] chief [baker as Joseph had interpreted to them. 23 Yet] the chief cupbearer [did not remember J]oseph, but forgot him.

9 Then spoke the chief cupbearer to Pharaoh, saying, “I do remember my sins this day: 10 Pharaoh was angry with his servants, and put me in jail in the house of the captain of the guard, me and the [chi]ef baker. 11 And we had a dream in one night, [I and he; we each dreamed according to the interpretation of his dream.]” ▲

■ The scroll labeled 4QGen<sup>i</sup> contains the precursor to the following reading found in both the Septuagint and the Samaritan Pentateuch texts. Because of the potentially arrogant interpretation of this particular version—it could be read as “Apart from me [Joseph], God will give no answer concerning the welfare of Pharaoh”—it is possible that a scribe in antiquity removed the second negative to protect the character of Joseph. 4QGen<sup>i</sup> (with the Septuagint and the Samaritan Pentateuch) may, in fact, represent the original version.

[16 And Joseph answered Pharaoh, saying, “Apart from Go]d, the welfare of Phar[aoh] shall receive no answer.”<sup>22</sup> [17 And Pharaoh spoke to Joseph, “In my dream, behold, I stoo]d upon the brink of the river, 18 and beho[ld, there came up out of the river seven cows, fat] and sleek, and th[ey] f[ed among the reeds . . .] ▲

EXODUS

The second book of the Bible, Exodus, tells of the God who rescued Israel from Egypt, the giving of the Law, and the building of the Tabernacle. This history of Israel, with its main character—Moses the lawgiver—is no less compelling today than it was over two thousand years ago. What do the Dead Sea Scrolls have to say concerning this critical ancient document?

Outnumbered among the biblical manuscripts only by Genesis, Deuteronomy, Isaiah, Psalms, and 1 Enoch, the eighteen manuscripts of Exodus attest to the popularity of this book in the Qumran community. Seventeen of the manuscripts were discovered in four of the eleven caves in the vicinity of Wadi Qumran—one in Cave 1, three in Cave 2, twelve in Cave 4, and one in Cave 7—while one was found in a cave in the cliffs of Wadi Murabba‘at that had been used as a hideout by rebels of the Bar Kokhba revolt (132–35 CE).<sup>a</sup> Taken together, these eighteen manuscripts attest to parts of each of the forty chapters in the book of Exodus.

Like the manuscripts of the book of Genesis, Exodus gives additional evidence that the five books known as the Torah were often copied together in the same scroll. Two scrolls preserve portions of Genesis,<sup>b</sup> one shows Exodus to have been followed by Leviticus,<sup>c</sup> while the remains of the scroll from Wadi Murabba‘at include fragments of Genesis and Numbers in addition to Exodus. Thus the Torah appears to have been well established as a collection at least two centuries before the coming of Jesus.

In the main, the text of Exodus recorded in the Dead Sea Scrolls is that of the Masoretic Text. Indeed, even the scroll known as pap7QLXXExod—a Greek text from Cave 7—is more closely aligned to the Masoretic Text than it is to the Greek Septuagint. An examination of the following pages will show, however, that variants exist in fourteen of the eighteen manuscripts. Three of the four remaining scrolls—2QExod<sup>e</sup>, 4QExod<sup>b</sup>, 4QExod<sup>k</sup>—amount to a grand total of only thirty words, hardly enough to establish the character of the text. The scroll labeled MurExod, however, is clearly unique. Although running for 144 words, it is identical in every detail to the traditional Hebrew Bible. The late date of this scroll—the early second century CE—gives evidence for an established Hebrew text by the end of the first century of the common era.

The scroll known as 4QpaleoExod<sup>m</sup> is also a manuscript of great significance. Fragments of forty-three columns have survived, making it the most extensive manuscript found in Cave 4. In addition, it witnesses to an expanded textual tradition that formed the foundation of the Samaritan Pentateuch. A remnant of the Samaritan community, which figures prominently in the New Testament Gospels, uses a form of this Bible to this day. The harmonizations that are prevalent in this text will be highlighted in the translation that follows.

There is no doubt that Exodus was recognized as “God’s word” among the members of the Qumran community. The book was quoted a dozen times in nonbiblical scrolls, introduced with such phrases as “for thus it is written” (1QS 5:15). In addition to such citations, Exodus was the frequent subject of a popular method of biblical interpretation found among the Dead Sea Scrolls. A Commentary on Genesis and Exodus (4Q422) is an example of this method, known among researchers as the “rewritten Bible.” Although it has been suggested that such commentaries were created for popular use, the fragmentary nature of the remaining documents does not often reveal the exact point of the rewriting. However, the sheer number of scrolls that engage in this type of retelling clearly underscores the prominence of the genre, as well as the popularity of the book of Exodus, which was so often the subject of interpretation.

It should not be surprising that the book of Exodus was also a topic of legal discussion. Well-known passages concerning the law of damages (Exod 21:19, 28–29), first fruits (Exod 22:29), and proper sacrifice are rehearsed in A Commentary on the Law of Moses (4Q251). Exodus 22 through 35—along with portions of Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy—forms the foundation of the largest nonbiblical scroll, the Temple Scroll, a work that purports to be a new Torah for the Last Days in which God speaks to Israel—evidently through Moses—in the first person.

In keeping with the Last Days focus of the Temple Scroll (a focus that is clearly evident elsewhere in the Dead Sea Scrolls), Exodus 15:17–18—“The place, O LORD, which you have made for your dwelling, the sanctuary, O LORD, which your hands have established”—is interpreted by 4Q174 (3:3) as a new temple prepared for the end times. This time of future glory was envisioned as the setting for the arrival of the inspired Interpreter of Scripture (4Q174 3:12) and the royal Messiah, the Branch of David (4Q174 3:12–13).

1 These<sup>1</sup> are the names of the sons of Is[rael, who came to Egy]pt with Jacob their father;<sup>2</sup> they came each one with his household. 2 R[e]uben, S[imeon, Levi, and Judah,] 3 and<sup>3</sup> Issachar, and<sup>4</sup> Zebulun, and Benja[min,] 4 Dan and Naphtali, [Ga]d and [Asher.]

■ Verse 5 below witnesses to the reading seventy-five found in the Greek text of Exodus as well as at Acts 7:14 (see also Gen 46:27). The Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch read seventy. The New International Version has chosen to note this as a marginal reading. To date, this is the only variant from Exodus reflected in any modern translation.

[5 And all the souls that c]ame out of the loins of J[acob were] seventy-five<sup>5</sup> souls.<sup>6</sup> 6 And [Joseph] died, [and all his brethren, and all th]at [generation.] 7 And the children of Israel were fruitful, and incre[ased greatly, and multiplied, and became exceedingly mighty; and the land was filled with th]em.

[8 Now there arose] a new [ki]ng over Egypt, who [did] not [know Joseph. 9 And he said to his people, “Behold, the people of the children of Israe]l are more and mightier than we. 10 Come, let us deal wisely [with them, else they multiply and when a war occurs,] they also [j]oin [themselves] to our enemies, and fight against us, and go up out of t[he land.” 11 Therefore they set taskmasters over them to afflic]t them with their burdens. And they built store-cities for Pharaoh: [Pithom and Raamses. 12 But the more] they afflicted them,<sup>7</sup> the more they<sup>8</sup> multiplied and the more they increased greatly.<sup>9</sup> And they were in dread [because of the chil]dren of Israel. 13 And the Egyptians made [the children of] Israel [serve with] rigor; 14 and he<sup>10</sup> made their lives bitter with hard service, in mortar and in brick, [and in all manner of service in the field,] all their service, in which they made them serve with rigor, [. . . ? . . .] and Egypt was in dread because of the children of Israe[l].<sup>11</sup>

one was Shiphrah, and the name of the other Puah—[16 and he said, “When] you [act as a midwi]fe [to the Hebrew women, and see them upon the birth-]stool, if it is a son, then you shall kill him; but if [it is a] daughter, [then you shall preserve] her.”<sup>12</sup> [17 But the midwives feared God, and did not] do as the king of E[gypt] commanded them, but saved [the males alive. 18 And the king of Egypt called for the] Hebrew<sup>13</sup> [midwi]ves, and said to them, “Why have [y]ou don[e this thing, and have saved the males alive?”] 19 And the midwives said to Pharaoh, “Because [the Hebrew women are] not as the Egyp[tian] women; [for they are lively,] and deliver [before] the midwife comes to them.” 20 And God dealt well with the mi[dwives, and the people multiplied, and became very mighty. 21 Then because the mi]d[wives feared Go]d, [he made households] for [them. 22 And Pharaoh charged all his people, saying, “Every son that is b]orn [you shall cast into the river, and every daughter you shall save alive.”]

2[1 And there went a man of the hous]e of Levi and took as a wife a daughter of Levi. [2 And the woman conceived, and bore a son, and when she saw that] he [was a beautiful child,] she hid him for three months. 3 And when she could no [long]er hide him, she to[ok an ark of bulrushes for him,] and daubed it with slime and with pitch; and she put the child in it, and said to her servant, “Go,”<sup>14</sup> [and she] laid it<sup>15</sup> in the reeds by the river’s brink. [4 And his sister stood afar off,] to know what would be done to him.

5 And the daughter of Pharaoh came down to bathe at the river; [and her maidens walked along by the ri]ver[side;] and she saw the ark among the reeds, and sent her handmaid [to fetch it. 6 And she opened it] and saw<sup>16</sup> the child; and b[ehold,] the baby [was crying. And] the daughter of Pharaoh<sup>17</sup> [had compassi]on on him, [and said,] “This [is one of the Hebrews’ children.”] 7 Then his sister said to Pharaoh’s daughter, “Shall I go and call you [a nurse from the Hebrew women,] and she shall nurse<sup>18</sup> the child for you?” 8 And Pharaoh’s daughter said to her, “Go.” And the [maiden] went [and called the chi]l[d’s mother. 9 And] Pharaoh’s [daught]er [said] to her, “Take this child, [and nurse it for me, and I will give you your wages.” And the woman took the child, and nursed it. 10 And the child grew, and she brought him to Pharaoh’s daughter, and he became her son. And she called] his n[ame] Moses, [and said, “Because I drew him out of the wate]r.”

[11 After] those many<sup>19</sup> [days, when Moses had grown up, he went out to his brethren and looked on their burdens, and he saw an Egyptian striking a He]brew, one of his brethren. 12 And he looked thi[s way and that,] and when he saw [that there was no one, he struck the Egyptian, and hid him in the sand.]

13 And he went out the second day, and he looked, and behold,<sup>20</sup> two men of the Hebrew[s] were fighting each other; [and he said to him that did the wrong, “Why do you strike] your fellow?” 14 And he said to him,<sup>21</sup> “Who made you a prince and as<sup>22</sup> judge over us? Are [you planning] to kill m[e as you killed] the Egyptian?” And Moses was very<sup>23</sup> afraid, and said, “Surely the [thing] is known.”

[15 Now when Pharaoh heard] this [thing,] he sought to slay Moses. [But] Moses fled [from before Pharaoh, and went to the land of Midian and he sat down] by a well. 16 Now the priest of Mi[d]ian had seven daughters who shepherded [the sheep,<sup>24</sup> and they came and drew water, and filled] the troughs to water their father’s flock. 17 And [the shepherds] ca[me and drove them away; but Moses stood up and hel]ped them, and watered [their flock. 18 And when they returned t]o [Reuel their father, he said, “How is it that you are come so soon] tod[ay?”] ▲

[22 And she bore a son, and he called] his [name] Gersh[o]m; [for he said, “I have been a sojourner in a foreign land.”]

[23 Then in] the course of those many [d]ays, [the king of] Eg[yp]t di[ed and the children of Israel sighed] because of the bondage; and they cried, [and their cry came up] to [God because of the bondage. 24 And] God [heard] their groaning, [and Go]d [remembered his covenant with Abraham, with Isa]ac, and with Jacob. 25 And [God saw] the children of I[srael, and God took note of them.]

3[1 Now Moses] was keeping the flock of J[ethro his father-in-law, the prie]st of Midian; [and he led the flock to the back of the wilderness, and] came [t]o [the mountain of God, to Horeb. 2 And the angel of the LORD appeared to him in a flam]e of fire out of the midst of a bush. And he lo[oked, and behold, the bush burned with fire, and the bush was not consumed.] 3 And Moses said, “I will turn aside now, and [see this great sight, why the bush is not consumed.” 4 And when] the LORD [sa]w [that he turned aside to see, God called to him out of the midst of the bush, and said, “Moses, Moses.” And he said, “Here am I.”] ▲

[8 “And I came down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians, and to bring them up out of that land to] a good and large [land,] to a land flowing with milk and honey; to the pla[ce of the Ca]naanite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Amorite,<sup>25</sup> and the Hivite, and the Girgashite,<sup>26</sup> and the Jebusite. 9 And now, behold, the cry of the children of Israel has come to me; moreover I have seen the oppression with which the Egyptians oppress them. 10 Come now therefore, and I will send you to Pharaoh, that you may bring forth my people, the children of Israel, out of Egypt.” 11 And M[oses] said [t]o God,

“Who am I, that I should go to Pharaoh, and that I should bring forth the children of Israel [out of Egypt?” 12 And he] said, “Certainly I will be with you; and this shall be the token to you, that I have sent you: when you have brought forth the people out of Egy[pt,] you shall serve God upon this mountain.”

13 And Moses said to God, “Behold, when I go to the children of Israel and say to<sup>27</sup> them, ‘The God of your father[s] has sent me to you,’ they shall say to me, ‘What is his name?’ What shall I say to them?” 14 And God said to [Moses, “I] AM THAT I AM.” And he said, “Thus you shall say to the children of Israel, ‘I AM has sent me to you.’” 15 And God moreover<sup>28</sup> said to Moses, “That<sup>29</sup> you shall say to the children of Israel, ‘The LORD, the God of [your fathers,] the God of Abraham, and<sup>30</sup> the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has sent me to you’; this is my name for[ever, and this is my memorial to all generations.] 16 Go, and gather the elders of the children of<sup>31</sup> [Israe]l together, [and say] to them, ‘The LORD, the Go[d of your fathers,] the God of Abraham, and the God of<sup>32</sup> Is[aac, and the God of<sup>33</sup> Jacob, [has appeared to me,] saying, [I have sure]ly vi[sited you, and seen that which is done] to you in Egypt: 17 and I have said, [I will bring yo]u [up] out of the affliction of Egypt to [the land of the Canaanite, and the Hittite, and the Amorite,] the Perizzite,<sup>34</sup> the Hivite,<sup>35</sup> and the Jebus[ite,] to a land flowing with milk and honey.’ 18 And they shall listen to [your voice; and you shall go, you] and the elders of the children of<sup>36</sup> Israel, to the ki[ng of Eg]ypt, and you shall say to him, ‘The LORD, the God [of the Hebrews, has met with us;] and now let us go, we pray you, [three day]s’ jo[urney] into the wilderness, [that] we may sacrifice to the LORD [our] G[od.’ 19 And I] know [that the] king [of Egypt] will [not] allow you [to] go, except<sup>37</sup> by a mighty hand. 20 And I will put forth [my hand, and strike Egypt] with all my wonders [which I will d]o in their midst; and after that he will let you go. 21 And thus<sup>38</sup> [I will give this people favor in the sight of the] Egyp[tians; and when] you go, [you shall not go empty-handed.]” ▲

4[1 And Moses answered and said, “But behold, they will not believe me, nor listen to my voice; for] they will say, [‘The LORD has no]t ap[peared to] you.” [2 And the LORD said to him, “What is that in your hand?” And he said, “A rod.” 3 And he said, “Th]row it now<sup>39</sup> on the ground.” And he threw it [on the ground, and it became a serpent; and Moses fled from it. 4 And the LORD said to Moses,] “Put forth your hand, and take hold of<sup>40</sup> it by the tail”—and he put forth [his hand and took hold of it, and it became a rod in his hand—5 “that they may believe] that the LORD, the God [of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jac]ob, has appeared to you.”

6 And [the LO]RD furthermore sai[d] to<sup>41</sup> him, “Put [your hand inside your cloak.” And he put his hand inside his cloak; and when he took it out] from his cloak,<sup>42</sup> beh[old, his hand was lepro]us, as white as snow. 7 And he said, [“Put your hand inside your cloak again.” And he put his hand ins]ide his cl[oa]k again; and when he took it out of] his [cloak, behold, it was once again as his other hand;] 8 “So that<sup>43</sup> [if they will no]t beli[eve you or listen to the message of the first sign, then they will believe the message of the latter sign. 9 Then if they will not believe] even [these] t[wo signs, nor listen to your voice, then you shall take some water from the river, and pour it upon the dry land; and the water which you take out of the river shall become blood upon the dry land.”] ▲

[26 So he let] him [alon]e. Then she said, [“You are a bridegroom of blood, because of the circumcision.”]

[27 And the LORD said to] Aaron, “Go into [the wil]derness [to meet Moses.”] And he went, and met him in the mountain [of God, and kissed him.]

[28 And Mose]s [told] Aaron all the words of the LORD w[ith which] he had sent him, and all the signs with which he had charged him. 29 And Moses and Aaron went and gathered together all the elders of the children of Israel; 30 and Aaron spoke all the words which the LORD had spoken to Moses, [and] did the signs in the sight of the people. 31 And th[e people] believed; and when [they] heard [tha]t the LORD had visited the children of Is[rae]l [and that he had seen their affliction,] then [they] bowed low [and] w[orshiped.]

5[1 And afterwar]d Moses and Aaron came [and said to Pharaoh, “Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Let] my [peop]le [go,] that they may hold a feast [to me in the wilderness.” 2 And Pharaoh said, “Who is the LORD, that I should listen to his voice to let Israel go? I do not know the LORD, and furthermore, I will not let Israel go.” 3 And they said, “The God of the Hebrews has met with us;] let us go, we pray you, [three days’] journey [into the wilderness, and sacrifi]ce to the LORD our Go[d,] else [he fall upon us with pestilence, or] with the sword.” [4 And] the king of E[gypt said to them,] “Why do you, Moses and Aaron, separate<sup>44</sup> [the people from their labor? Get back to your work.”] 5 And Pharaoh said, “Behold, the people of the lan[d are n]ow many, [and you make them rest from their work.”] 6 And the same day Pharaoh commanded the taskmasters of the people, [and] their officers, saying, [7 “You shall no longer giv]e the people straw to make brick, as up until now: Let them go and [gather straw for themselves.] 8 And the number of the bricks, which they did make as formerly,<sup>45</sup> you shall require [of them;] you shall [not] reduce anything from it,<sup>46</sup> [for] they [are idle;] therefore they are the ones c[rying],<sup>47</sup> saying, ‘Let us go and<sup>48</sup> sacrifice to our God.’ 9 Let w[ork] be heavier upon the [men,] that they may regard<sup>49</sup> it; and [let them] no[t] regard lying words.”

10 And [the taskmasters of] the people went out, and their officers, and they spoke<sup>50</sup> to the people, saying, [“Thus sa]ys Pharaoh: ‘I will not give you straw. [11 Go] yourselves, and<sup>51</sup> get straw for yourselves where you can find it; for none of your work shall be diminished.”] 12 So [the people] were scattered abroad [throughout all the land of] Egypt to gather stubble for straw. 13 And the taskmasters [were] ur[gent, saying, “Fulfill your works, your] daily [tasks,] as when there was straw g[iven to you.]”<sup>52</sup> [14 And the officers of the children of Israel,] w[ho]m Pharaoh’s taskmasters [had set ove]r them, [were beaten, and demanded, “Why have you not fulfilled your task both yesterday and today, in making brick] as be[fore?”]

[15 Then the officers of the children of Israel came] and cr[ied to Pharaoh, saying, “Why do you treat your servants in this way? 16 There is no straw given to your servants,] and [they] s[ay to us, ‘Make] bricks’; [and behold, your servants are beaten; but the fault is with your own people.”] 17 But he said, “You are] id[le, you are idle; therefore you say, ‘Let us go and sacrifice to the LORD.””] ▲

6[3 “And I appeared to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, as God Almighty; but by my name the LORD] I [was not known to] them. 4 And [I have also] e[stablished my covenant with them, to give them the land of Canaan, the land] in which they sojourned. 5 And moreover, I have heard the groaning of [the children of Israel, because the E]g[yptian]s [k]eep them in [bo]ndage; and I have remembered my covenant. 6 Therefore say to the children of Israel, ‘I am the LORD, [and] I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will deliver you from their bondage, and I will redeem you with an [outstret]ched arm, and with great judgments. 7 And I will take you for my people, and I will be your God; and you shall know that I am the LORD your God, who delivers you from under [the] b[urdens of the] Egyptians. 8 And I will bring you to the land which I swore<sup>53</sup> to give to Abraham, to Isaac, [and] to [J]acob and I will give it to you for a possession; I am the LORD.” 9 And Moses s[pok]e thus to the children of Israel; but they did not listen to Moses because of their discouragement and cruel bondage.

10 And the LORD spoke to Moses, sa[ying], 11 “Go in, speak t[o] [Pharaoh king of Egypt, that he might let the children of Israe]l [go out of his land.” 12 And Moses spoke before the LORD, saying, “Behold, the children of] Isra[el] have not listened to me; how then shall Pharaoh hear me, for my speech is faltering?” 13 And] the LORD [spoke to Moses and to Aaron, and gave them a charge to the children of Israe]l and to [Pharaoh kin]g of Egy[pt, to bring the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.]

[14 These are the heads of their fathers’ households. The sons of Reuben the firstb]orn of Israel: [Hano]ch, and Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi; these are the families of Reuben.] 15 And the sons of Sim[eo]n: Jemu[el], and Jamin, and Ohad, and Jachin, and Zohar, and Shaul the son of a Canaanite woman; th]ese are the families of Simeon. 16 And thes[e] are the names of the sons of Levi according to their generations: Gershon, and Kohath,) and Merar[i;] and the length of Le[v]i’s life [was a hundred thirty-]seven [years. 17 The sons of Gershon: Libni and Shimei,) according to [their] famili[es. 18 And the son]s of Kohath: [Amram, and Izhar, and Hebron, and Uzziel; and length of Kohath’s life was a hundred thirty-three years. 19 And the sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. An[d the length of Amram’s life was a hundred thirty-seven years. 21 And the sons of I]zhar: Korah, and Nepheg, and [Zichri.]

■ 4QpaleoExod<sup>m</sup>, which begins at Exodus 6:25, is the most extensive witness to the book of Exodus. Besides being written in paleo-Hebrew, it is important because it introduces passages from Numbers and Deuteronomy. Before the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls, we had known this practice only from the later manuscripts of the Samaritan Pentateuch. 4QpaleoExod<sup>m</sup> thus forms an early witness to the form of the Bible that was later adopted by the Samaritan community.

[25 And Eleazar, Aaron’s son, took one of the daughters of Pu]rtiel as [a] wife; and she [bore him Ph]inehas. [These are the heads of the fathers’ households of the Levites according to their families.]

26 It was the same Aaron and Moses to whom [the LORD said,] Bring the child[ren of] Israel out of the land of Egypt according to their [hosts.] 27 These are the ones who spoke to Pharaoh king of Egypt about bringing the children of [Israel] out from Egypt. It was the same Aaron and Moses.

28 Then on the day when [the LORD] spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt, 29 the LORD [spoke] to Moses, saying, “I am the LORD; speak to Pharaoh king of Egypt [all th]at I speak to you.” 30 And Moses said before the LORD, [“Behold, my] speech is faltering; why would Pharaoh listen to me?”

71 And [the LORD] said to Moses, “See, I have made you as God to Pharaoh, and Aaron your brother shall be [your prophet.] 2 You shall speak all that I command you, and Aaron your brother shall speak to [Pharaoh that he might let] the children of Isr[ael go out of his land.] 3 And I will harden Pharaoh’s heart, [and multiply] my [sig]ns [and] my wonders in the la[n]d of Egypt. 4 But [Pharaoh] will not listen [to you, and I will lay] my hand upon [Eg]ypt, and [bring for]th my hosts, [my people the children of Israel,] out of the land of Egypt by great judgment[s.] 5 And [the Egyptians] shall know [that I am the LO]RD, when I stretch forth my hand upon Egy[pt,] and [bring out the children of] Israel from among them.” 6 And Moses and Aaron did so; as the LORD commanded them, so they did. 7 And Moses was eigh[ty years old, and A]aron eighty-three years old, when they spoke to Pharaoh.

[8 And the LORD spoke t]o Moses and to Aaron, saying, 9 “When Pharaoh shall speak to you, [saying, ‘Perform a miracle,'] then you shall say to Aaron, ‘Take your rod, and cast it down before [Pharaoh, that it may bec]ome a serpent.’” [10 And] Moses and Aaron went in before<sup>54</sup> Pharaoh, and they did so, as [the LORD] had commanded, [and] Aaron [cast down] his rod before Pharaoh and before his servants, and it became a s[erpent. 11 Then] P[haraoh] also [called] for the wise men and the sorcerers, and they also, the magicians of Egypt, did the same [with] their [secret arts.] 12 For everyone cast down his rod and [they became serpents. But Aaron’s] rod [swallowed up] their rods. 13 And [Pharaoh’s] he[art] was hardened [and he did] n[ot listen to them, a]s the LORD [had spoken.]

[14 And] the LORD spoke<sup>55</sup> to [Mo]ses, [“Pharaoh’s heart is stubborn; he refuses to let the people [go.] 15 Go to Pharaoh in the morning and as he himself<sup>56</sup> [goes out to the water, and you shall stand by] the bank of the Nile [to meet him;] and the r[od] which was turned to a serpent you [shall take in your hand. 16 And you shall say] to him, ‘The LORD, [the God of the Hebrews, has sent me] to you, saying, Let [my] p[eople go,] that they may se[rv]e me in the wilderness. [And behold, you have not listened until now.] 17 Thus [says] the LORD: By this you shall know that [I am] the LORD: [behold, I will strike] the water which is in the Nile [with the rod that is] i[n my hand,] and it shall be turned to blood.

■ In an expansion of verse 18, 4QpaleoExod<sup>m</sup> repeats the command of God from Exodus 7:16–18. This time it is Moses and his brother Aaron reporting the words to Pharaoh himself. This type of embellishment is characteristic of this manuscript and is also echoed in the Samaritan Pentateuch.

[18 “‘And the fish that are] in the mi[dst]<sup>57</sup> the Nile shall die, [and the Nile shall stink; and] the Egyptians shall weary of drinking water from the Nile.”] [And Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh] and [s]aid to him, “The Lo[rd God of the Hebrews sent us to you, saying,] ‘Let my people go that [they] may serve [me in the wilderness.]’ And behold, you have not listened until now.] Thus the Lord said: By [this you shall know that I am the Lord: behold I am] s[trikin]g [the water which is in the Nile] with the rod that [is in my hand and it shall be turned to blood] and [the f]ish that are in the mi[dst of the Nile shall die and the river shall stink and the] E[gy]ptians [shall weary] of dri[nking water from the Nile.”<sup>58</sup>

19 And] the LORD [sa]id [to Moses, “Say to Aaron,] ‘Take your rod and stretch out [your hand] over the waters of Egypt, over [their rivers, over their streams,] over their pools, and over all [their] po[nds of water, that they may become blood; and there shall be blood throughout all the land of] Egypt, both in vessel[s] of wood and in [vessels of stone.’”]

[20 And Moses and Aaron did so, as the LORD commanded,] and he lifted [up the rod, and struck the waters that were in the Nile, in the sight of Pharaoh, and in the sight of his servants; and all the] waters that were in the Nile [were turned] to blood. 21 And [the fish that were in the Nile died, and the Nile became foul, and the Egyptians could not drink water from] the Nile, and blood<sup>59</sup> was throughout all the land of Eg[yp]t. 22 And the magicians of Egypt did the same with] their [se]cret arts. [And Pharaoh’s heart was hardened and he did not listen to them, as the LORD had spo]k[en. 23 And Pharaoh turned and went into] his [hou]se and did not take [even this to heart. 24 And all the Egyptians dug round about the Nile for water to drink, for they could not drink of the water of the Nile.] ▲

[4 “And the frogs shall come up both upon you, and upon your people,] and upon all [your servants.” *And Moses and Aaron entered before Pharaoh and spoke to him, “Thus says the Lord: Let my people go that they may serve me. If you refuse to let them go, behold, I will strike all your country with frogs and the Nile will swarm with frogs. [9 And Moses said to Pharaoh, “Take the honor of telling me what time I shall entreat for you and for your servants] and for your people, that [the frogs] might be destroyed [from you and your houses, and remain only in the Nile.” 10 And he said, “Tomorrow.” And he said, “May it be according to your word that you may know that there is n]one like the LORD [our] G[od. 11 And the frogs shall depart from you, and from your houses, and from your servants, and from your people; they shall remain in the Nile only.” 12 And Moses and Aaron went out fro]m Pharaoh, and Moses cried [to the LORD concerning the frogs which he had brought upon Pharaoh. 13 And the LORD did according to the word of Moses; and] the frogs [di]ed out of the [houses, out of the courts, and out of the fields. 14 And they gathered them together in heaps, and the land stank. 15 But when Pharao]h [saw] that there was relief, [he hardened his heart and did not listen to them, as] the LO[R]D had spok]en.

[16 And the LORD said to Moses, “Say t]o Aa[ron,] ‘Stretch out your hand [with<sup>62</sup> your rod, and strike the du]st [of the earth, that it may be]come gnat[s throughout all the land of Egypt.”] 17 And they did so; and] Aaron [stretched out] his hand with his ro[d, and struck the dust of the earth, and there were] gnats [upon ma]n, and upon beast; [all the dust of the ear]th beca[me gnats throughout all the land of E]gypt. 18 And [the] magicians [tried to bring forth gnats with

- In the latter half of verse 5, both 4QpaleoExod<sup>m</sup> and the Samaritan Pentateuch present Moses and Aaron seeking freedom for the Israelites, repeating God’s command (Exod 9:3–5a) in the presence of Pharaoh.

[5 And the LORD appointed a set time, saying, “Tomorrow the LORD shall do this thing in the land.” And Moses and Aaron entered before Pharaoh and said to him, “Thus says the Lord God of the Hebrews: Let my people go that they might serve me, for if you refuse to let my people go and you still hold on to them, behold, the hand of the Lord will be on your livestock which is in the field, on the horses and the donkeys and the camel[s]; on cattle and sheep, a very serious matter. And [the Lord] shall [distinguish between the livestock of Israel and] the livestock of Egypt and nothing shall die from all [that belongs to the children of Israel. Tomorrow the Lo]rd [shall do] this thing in the land.”<sup>67</sup> 6 And the LOR[D] did [that thing the next day, and al]l the cattle of the Egyptians<sup>68</sup> died; but not [one] of the cattle of the children of Israel [died. 7 And Phar]aoh [sent,] and behold, there was not even one of the cattle of the children of<sup>69</sup> Israel that had died. But [the heart of Pharaoh] was stubborn, [and he did not let] the people [go.]

[8 And the] L[ORD sp]oke [t]o Moses and to Aaron, saying,<sup>70</sup> “Take handfuls [of ashes from the furnace, and have Moses toss it] in<sup>71</sup> the air in the sight of Pharaoh. 9 And it shall become fine dust over the land<sup>72</sup> of Eg[yp]t, and shall bec]ome [b]oils breaking out with sores [upon man and upon bea]st throughout all the land of Egy[pt.” 10 And they took ashes from the furnace,] and stood befo[re Pharaoh;] and M[oses] sprinkled it [up toward heaven; and it became a boil breaking out with sores upon man and upon beas]t. 11 And [the magicians] could not [stand before Moses because of the boils; for the boils were] on the magicians, and on all the Eg[yp]tians. 12 And the LORD hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he did not listen to them, as] the LORD [had spok]en [to Moses.]

[13 And the LORD said to Moses, “Rise up early in the morning and stand before Pharaoh and say to him, ‘Thus says the L]ORD, the Go[d of the Hebrews: Let my people go, that they may serve me. 14 For this time I will s]end [all my plagues upon your heart, and upon your servants, and upon your people, that you may know that there is none like me in all the] earth. 15 F[or if by no]w I had put forth [my hand and struck you and your people with a plague, you would have been cut off from the earth.] 16 But [for this reason I have made you stand: to show] you [my] power, [and to dec]lare my name throughout [all the earth. 17 Yet you still exalt yourself against my people and will not let them go. 18 Behold, tomorro]w [about this time I will cause a very] heavy hail [to fall, such as has not been in Egypt since the day it was founded up until] now.

- In the latter half of verse 19, 4QpaleoExod<sup>m</sup> and the Samaritan Pentateuch show Moses and Aaron once more reciting God’s lengthy command (Exod 9:13–19a) to Pharaoh.

19 “‘And now therefore bring in your [ca]ttle and all that [you have in the field, for eve]ry [man and beast that shall be found in the field and shall not be brought] home, the [hail] shall come do[wn up]on them [and] they [shall di]e.’” [And Moses and Aaron entered before Pharaoh and said to him, “Thus says the Lord, the God of the Hebrews: Let my people go that they may serve me. For this time I will send all my plagues upon your heart, and upon your servants and your people that you may know that there is none like me in all the earth, For now I have sent forth my hand to strike you and your people with a plague and cut you off from the land. But, indeed, for this reason I have allowed you to stand, to show you my power and to declare my name throughout the earth. Yet still you exalt yourself against] my [peop]le by not letting [them] go. Behold, [tomorrow about this time] I [will cause very heavy hail to fall, such as has not been in] Egypt since the day [it was founded even until now. Now therefore send, gather your cattle and all tha]t you have in the field; every man [and beast that shall be found in the field and shall not be brought home,] the hail [shall come down] upon them, [and they shall die.”]<sup>73</sup> 20 The one who feared [the word of the LORD among the servants of Pharaoh hurried his servants] and hi[s] cattle into [the houses. 21 And the one that did not regard the word of the LORD left his servants and h]is [cattle] in the f[ield.]

[22 And the LORD said to Moses, “Stretch forth your hand toward hea]ven that hail might [fall on all the land of Egypt, on man, and on beast, and on every herb of the field, throughout the land of Egypt.” 23 And Moses stretched forth his rod toward heaven, and the LORD sent thunder and hail, and fire ran down] to the earth; and the L[OR]D brought hail [upon the land of Egypt. 24 So there was hail, and fire mingled with the hail, very severe,] such as [had not been in] all the land [of Egypt since it had become a nation. 25 And the hail struck throughout all the land of Egyp]t [all that was in the field, both man and beast;] and [the hai]l [struck] every [herb of the field] and [shattered every tree of the field. 26 Only in the land of Goshen, where the children of Israel were, wa]s [there no hail.]

27 And [Pharaoh sent, and called for Moses and Aaron, and said to them, “I have sinned this ti]me; the LO[R]D is righteous, and I and my people [are wi]c[ked. 28 Entreat the LORD, for there has been] enough [of] God’s thunderings and hail and fire;<sup>74</sup> [and I will let you go and] you shall [stay no] longer.” 29 And Moses said [to him,] “As soon as I have gone out of the city, I w[ill spre]ad out my hands to the LORD, the thunders shall cease, and there shall be no more hail; t[hat you may know that] the ear[th] is the [L]ORD’s. [30 But as for y]ou and your servants, [I] know t[hat you will not yet] fear the Lord God.”<sup>75</sup> 31 And the f[flax and the barley were ruined, for the flax was in bl]oom and the ba[rley was in the ea]r.<sup>76</sup> 32 But the w[heat] and the spelt w[ere] not [ruined, for they had not yet come up. 33 And Moses went out [of the city from Pharaoh] and spread out his hands [to] the LORD, and the thunders [and] hail ceased, and the rain was no longer poured on the earth. 34 And when Pharaoh saw that the rain] and the hail and the thunders [had ceased, he] sinned once again [and hardened his heart, he and his servants. 35 And] the heart of Pharaoh [was hardened, and he did not let] the children of Israel go,] as [the LORD] had spoken by] Moses.

10<sup>1</sup> And [the LORD said to Moses,] “Go in to Pharaoh, for I have hardened his heart] and [the] heart of [his] servants that I may show these my signs] among them,]

- The indication in verse 2 that a recitation of God’s mighty acts is to be passed down to future generations of Israelites elicits the following command in both 4QpaleoExod<sup>m</sup> and the Samaritan Pentateuch.

[2 and that you may speak in the hearing of your son, and of] your son’s son, [that which I have done] in Egypt, and] my signs [which I have performed among them, that] you [may know] that [I am the LORD. And you shall say to Pharaoh, ‘Thus says the Lord, the God of the Hebrews: How long will you refuse to humble yourself before me? Let my people go, that they may serve me. For, if you refuse to let my people go, behold, tomorrow I will bring locusts to your country, and they shall cover the face of the earth, so that one will not be able to see the earth. And they shall eat [the remnant which escaped, which remains to you from the hail, and shall eat every tree which grows for you out of the field. And your houses shall be filled, [and the houses of all your servants, and the houses of all the Egyptians; as neither your fathers nor your fathers’ father]s [have seen, since the day that they were upon the earth unto this day.’”]<sup>77</sup>

[3 And Moses [and Aaron went to Pharaoh and said to him, “Thus says the LORD, the God of [the Hebrews: How] long [will you refuse to humble yourself before me? Let] my people [go,] that [they may serve me.] 4 For if you] refuse [to let my people] go, [behold, tomorrow will I bring locusts into [your] country. 5 And they shall cover the face [of the earth, so that one shall not be able to see] the earth. And they shall eat [the] remnant which escaped, which remains to you from the hail, and shall eat] every herb of the land, and all the [fruit of the<sup>78</sup> tree which grows for you out of the field. 6 And your houses shall be filled,] and the houses of all your servants, and the houses of all the Egyptians; as neither your fathers nor your fathers’ fathers have seen, since the day that they were upon the [earth] to [this] day.” And he turned, and went out from Pharaoh.]

[7 And] Pharaoh[’s servants said] to him, [“How long shall this man be a snare to us?] Let the me[n] go, [that they may serve] the LORD their God; [do you not know that Egypt is ruined?” 8 And] Mos[es] and Aaron [were broug]ht again to P[haraoh and he said to them, “Go, serve the LORD your God;] but who are the ones that shall go?” 9 And [Moses] s[ai]d, [“We will go with] our young and [with our old;] with [our] son[s] and with our daughters, with our flocks and with our herds [will we go; for we must hold a feast to the LORD.” 10 And he said] to them, “The LORD will indeed be with yo[u, if I let you and your little ones go. Look out, for] your purpose is [ev]il. 11 It will not happen! [Go now, just the men, and serve the LORD, for that is what] you are asking.” And [they were driven out from Pharaoh’s presence.]

[12 And] the LOR[D s]aid to Mos[es, “Stretch out your hand over the lan]d of Egyp[t for the locusts, that they may come upon the land of Egypt, and ea]t [every plant of the land, even all that] the hail [has left.”] 13 And M[ose]s [stretched forth his rod over the land of Egypt and the LORD brought an east wind upon the land all that day] and all night; when it w[as] morning, [the ea]st [wind] brought [the locusts. 14 And the locusts went up over all the land of Egypt and settled] in all the borders of E[gypt; the situation was desperate;] there had [never] been such a swarm of locusts, [nor shall there ever be such again. 15 For they covered the face of the whole] earth so that the land was destroyed;<sup>79</sup> [and they ate every] herb of the l[and, and all the fruit of the trees which the hail had left. And] there remained [no] green thing, neither tree nor plant [of the fie]ld, through all the lan[d of Egypt. 16 Then Pharaoh hurriedly called for Moses and Aaron and he said, “I have sinned against the L]ORD your God and against [you.] 17 Now therefore forgive,<sup>80</sup> [I pray you, my sin just this once, and pray to the LORD your God that he may remove this death from me.” 18 And he went out from Phar]aoh, and prayed t[o the LORD. 19 And the LORD] shifted [the wind to a strong west wind which took up the locusts and drove them into the Red Sea; there remained not one locust in all the] border of E[gypt. 20 But the LORD hardened Pharaoh’s heart and he did not let the children of Is]rael [go.]

21 And the LORD spoke<sup>81</sup> to Moses, “Stret[ch out your hand toward heaven that there may be darkness over the land of Egypt.”<sup>82</sup> 22 And Moses stretched out [his] ha[nd toward heaven and there was a thick darkness in all the land of Eg]ypt for three days; [23 they could] not [see one another, n]o o[ne] rose [from his place] for three days; but all the children of [Israel had light in their dwellings. 24 And] Pharaoh [called] to Moses and to Aaron,<sup>83</sup> and said, “G[oo, serve the LORD; just] leave [your flocks and] your [h]erds behind; [your little ones may] also go [with you.” 25 And Moses said, “You must also allow us to have] sacrifices and [burnt offerings that w]e may sacrifice [to the LORD our God.] 26 Our [catt]le m[ust also go] with us; not [a hoo]f is<sup>84</sup> left behind. For [we must use some of them to serve the LO]RD ou[r] God; and we know not [what we will] need to serve [the LORD until we get there.”] 27 But the LORD hardened [Pharaoh’s] heart, [and] he would not [let them go. 28 And Pharaoh said to him,] “Go away from [me, take care not to see my face again; for in the day you see my face you shall die.”] ▲

11[3 And the LORD gave the people favor in the sight of the Egyptians and also the man Moses was very great in the mids]t of<sup>85</sup> [the] land [of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaoh’s servants, and in the sight of the people.]

4 And Moses [sai]d to Phara[oh,<sup>86</sup> “Thus says the LORD: About midnight I will go out into the midst of] Egypt 5 and all [the] firstborn [in the land of Egypt] shall die, [from the firstborn of Pharaoh that sits upon h]is [throne] to the firstborn of the slave girl [who is behind the mill; and all the firstborn of cattle as well. 6 And there shall be] a great [cr]y throughout all [the] land [of Egypt, such as there has not been before, nor shall be any again.] 7 But against any of the children of Is[rael not even a dog will bark, against man or beast,] that you [may know] that [the LORD makes a distinction between the Egyptians and Israel. 8 And] all these your servants [shall come down to me and bow down before me, saying, ‘Go,] you and all the people [who] follow you.’ And after that [I will go out.” And he went out from Pharaoh with great] anger.

9 And the LORD said to Mos[es, “Phar]aoh [will not listen to you] that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt.” 10 And M[oses and Aaron did] all the[se] won[ders before Phara]oh; and the LORD hardened Phar[ao]h’s heart, and he did not let the ch[ildre]n [of Israel go out of his land.]

121 And the LO[RD] spoke to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egyp[t, saying,] 2 “This [month] shall be to you the beginning of months; it shall be the f[irs]t month of the year for you. [3 Speak to al]l the congrega[tion of] the children of<sup>87</sup> Is[rael,] saying, ‘In the tenth day of this [mont]h [every man] shall take [a lamb for himself, a lamb] for [each] household, a l[amb according to the] f[ather]s’ households.<sup>88</sup> 4 And if the household is too little [for a lamb, then he and his neighbor nex]t to his house [shall take] one according to the number of the persons; [according to what] each man [eats you shall make your count for the lamb.] 5 Your [lamb] shall be [without blemish, a ma]le a year old. [You shall take it] from the shee[p or from the goats, 6 and you shall ke]ep [it] until the fourteenth day of the [same] m[onth. And] the whole assembly of the congregation of [the children of]<sup>89</sup> Israel shall kill them<sup>90</sup> at evening. 7 And [they] shall t[ake some of] the blood and put it on the two doorposts and on the lintel of the house[s in] which they shall eat i[t.] 8 And they shall eat the flesh in the same night, roasted with f[ire, and they shall eat it with unleavened bread] on [bitter herbs. 9 Do not] eat any of it raw or cooked or boiled<sup>91</sup> with w[ater, but roast it with fire, its head with] its [leg]s and with its inner parts. 10 And you shall not leave any of it [until the morning, but that which remains of it until the morning] you shall burn [with fire.] 11 And thus shall you eat it: with y[our] loins [girded, your sandals on your feet, and] your [staff in your hand;] and you shall eat it hurriedly; [it is the LORD's Passover. 12 For I will go through the land of Egypt] in that night and will strike all the firstborn [in the] land [of Egypt, both man and beast. And] I will execute [judgmen]ts [against all the] gods of Egy[pt;] I am the LORD. 13 And [the blood shall be a sign for you on the houses where you live.] And when I see the blood, I will pass over you, and n[o plague shall be upon you to destroy you, when I strike the land of] Egypt.

14 “‘And [thi]s day shall be [a memorial for you and yo]u [shall] keep [it as a feast] to the LORD; throughout your generations you shall keep it as a feast by a lasting ordinance. 15 For seven days [shall you ea]t un[leavened bread.] But [on] the first [da]y [you shall put away leaven] from your houses, f[or whoev]er e[a]ts leavened bread [from the] firs[t day until the seventh day,] th[at person shall] be cut off [from Israel. 16 And on] the first [day there shall be a holy convocation, and again on the seventh day; no work shall be done on them, except that which every man must eat, that is all that you may do. 17 And you shall observe the feast of unleavened bread,] for [on this very day I brought your hosts out of the land of Egypt. Therefore you shall observe this day throughout your generations by an ordinance forever. 18 In the firs]t [month, on the fourteenth day of the month at evening, you shall eat unleavened bre]ad, until [the twenty-fi]rst [day of the month at evening. 19 No leaven] shall be found in your [houses for seven days,] for whoever [eats that which is leavened, that person shall be cut off from the congregation of Is]rael, whether he be a sojourner, or one that is born [in the land. 20 You shall eat nothing leavened; in all your habitations shall you eat] unleave[ned b]read.’”

[21 Then Moses called for all the elders of Israel and sai]d to [th]em, [“Go and select lambs according to your families and slaughter the Passover lamb. 22 And yo]u [shall take a bunch of hyssop and dip it in the blood that is in the basin, and strike the lintel and the two doorposts with the blood that is in the basin; and no one shall go out of the door of his house until the morning.] ▲

[26 “And when you]r [children shall say to you,] ‘W[hat do you mean by this service?’ 27 you shall say, ‘It is the sacrifice of the LO]RD[’s Passover,] who

31 And h[e called for Mo]ses and Aar[on] at night, and said, [“Rise up, go out] from among [my] people, [both you and the children of Israel, and go, serve the LORD, as] you [have s]aid. [32 Take] both your flocks and your herds, [as you have said, and be gone.] And b[less me also.”]

[33 And the Egyptian]s [were urging the] people to send them out of the land hurriedly, for they said, [“We shall all be dead.” 34 And the people took] their dough before it was leavened, their kneading bowls bound up in their garments<sup>92</sup> on their shoulders. 35 And the children of Israel [did according to the word of] Moses; and they asked<sup>93</sup> for articles of si[lve]r [and arti]cles of [gold] and for clothing. 36 And the LORD gave the people favor in the sight of [the Egyptians, so that they let] them [have what they as]k[ed. And they] plun[dered] the Egyptians.<sup>94</sup>

[37 And] the children of Israel journeyed from Rameses to Succoth, about six hundred thousand men on foot, besi[des child]ren. 38 And a mixed multitude also went up with them; [along with] flocks and herds, livestock in great numbers. 39 And they b[aked] unleavened cakes of the dough which they brought out of E[gypt], for it was not leavened, because Egy[p]t drove them out<sup>95</sup> and they could [no]t [w]ait, nor had they prepared provi[sions] for themselves.

■ The Septuagint, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and apparently the Apostle Paul in Galatians 3:17 understood the 430 years of Exodus 12:40 to include the three generations from Abraham to Jacob. The Masoretic Text and 4QExod<sup>c</sup> confine the period to the time in Egypt alone. The debate evident in these ancient texts continues to this day.

[40 Now the time t]hat the children of Israel [dwel]t in the land of E[gypt]<sup>96</sup> was four hundred and thirty years. 41 Then at the end of [four hundred and] thirty years, on the very [day,] all the h[ost]s of the LORD went out from the land of E[gypt]. [42 It is a] night [to be observed to the LORD for bringing them out from the lan]d of Egypt; this night is for the LORD, to be ob[ser]ved by [al]l the children of Israe[l throughout their generations.]

[43 And the LORD said to Moses and Aaro]n, This is the ordinance of the Passover: no foreigner shall e[at] of it, 44 but every [ma]n[’s servant that has been purchased with mo]n[ey,] after you have circumcised hi[m, then he shall eat of it. 45 A sojourner and a hired servant] shall not eat of it. 46 It shall be eaten in one house; you shall not carry out [any of the flesh] outside of t[he] house, nor shall you break a bone of it. 47 All the congregation of Isra]el shall celebrate it. [48 And] when a stranger resid[es] with you<sup>97</sup> a[nd celebrates the Passover to the LORD, let all his males be circumcised, and then let him come near and celebrate it; he shall be as a native in the land. And] no [uncircum]cised [person shall eat of it.] ▲

13[3 And Mo]ses [said] to the people, “Remember [this day, in which] you [ca]me out from the land of<sup>98</sup> Egypt; for<sup>99</sup> with a s[trong] hand [the LORD] b[rought] you out from this place; no [leavened bread] shall be eaten. [17 When Pharaoh had let the people go, God did not lead them by the way of the land of the Philistines, although that was near; for God said, “Lest the people repent when they see war, and return to Egypt.” 18 So God led] the people [about,] by the way of the wilderness [by the Red Sea; and the children of Israel went out of the land of Egypt armed for battle. 19 And Mos]es [took the] bones of J[o]seph with him, for he had solemnly swo[rn the children of Israel, saying, “God will surely visit you;] and you shall carry my bones away with you.”

20 And they set out [from Succoth and encamped in Etham, on the edge of the wilderness. 21 And the LORD went] before them [by day in a pillar of cloud, to lead them on the way, and by night in a pillar of fire, to give them light, that they might go by day] and by night. 22 The pillar of cloud<sup>104</sup> by day, and the pillar of fire<sup>105</sup> by night did not depart [from before the people.]

14[1 And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, 2 “Tell the children of] Israel to turn back and encamp befo[re] P[i]hahi[ro]th, between Migdol and [the sea, before Baal-zephon; you shall encamp opposite it by] the sea. 3 And P[harao]h will say to<sup>106</sup> the children of Israel, ‘They are wandering aimlessly in the land; the wilderness [has shut] them [in.’ 4 And I will harden Pharaoh’s heart,] and he shall pursue [them, and I will be honored by Pharaoh and by all his host; and the Egypti]ans [shall know] that I [am the LORD.”] And they did so.

[10 And when Pharaoh drew near, the children of Israel lifted up their eyes, and behold, the Egyptians were mar]chi[ng<sup>107</sup> after them, and] they were [very] fearful. [And the children of Israel cried out to the LORD. 11 And they said to Moses, “Because there were no graves in Egypt, have you] ta[ken us away to di]e in the wilderness? W[hy have you treated us in this way to bring us out of Egypt? 12 Is this not the word that we spoke to you in Egypt, s]a[y]ing, [‘Leave us alone, that we may serve the Egyptians’? For it was better for us to serve the Egyptians, than that we should die in the wilderness.” 13 And Moses said to] the people, [“Fear not, stand firm, and see the salvation of the LORD which he will perform for you today; for the Egyptians whom you have seen today, you shall never ever see them again. The LORD will fight for you, and you shall hold your peace.”]

15 And [the LORD] said [to] Moses, “Why do you cry [out to me? Tell the children of Israel to go forward.] 16 And you lift up your rod, and stretch out your hand over the sea, and d[ivide it, that the children of Is]rael [might go] into [21 And Moses stretched out his hand over the sea, and the L]ORD [drove] the sea [back with a strong] eas[t wi]nd [all that night, and turned the sea into dry land;] and the waters were divided. 22 And [the children of Israel] went [into the sea on dry ground; and the waters became a wa]ll [for them] on their ri[ght] and on their left. [23 And the Egyptians pursued, and went] into [the se]a [after them, all of Pha]raoh[’s horses,] chariots, and horsemen. 19 When the horses of P[haraoh] went in [with] his chariots and with [his] h[orsemen into the sea, the LORD brought back] the waters of the sea upon them; but the children of Israel walked on dry land in the midst of the sea.

20 And Miriam [the prophetess, the sister of Aaron,] too[k a timbrel] in her hand, and all the women went out after her with timbrels and with dances. 21 And Miriam answered them, “Sing you to the L[ORD, for he has triumphed gloriously; the horse and his rider he has thrown into the sea.”]

[22 Then Moses ordered Israel to set out from the Red Sea and they went into the wilderness of Shur. 27 And [they came to Elim, where were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees; and they camped] there [by the] waters.

16<sup>1</sup> And they set out from [Elim, and all the congregation of the children of I]s[rael came to the wi]lderness of Sin, which [is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month after their departure from the land of Egypt. 2 And] the w[hole congregation of the children of Israel] murmured [against Moses and against Aaron in the wilderness. 3 And the children of Israel said to them, “If] only we had died b[y the hand of the LORD in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the fleshpots, when we ate our] fill [of bread;] for [you have] brou[ght us forth into this wilderness to kill this whole assembly with hunger.”]

[4 Then the LORD [said] to Moses, “Beho[ld, I will rain bread from heaven for you, and the people shall go out and gather a day’s portion] every day, that I may test them, [whether they will walk in my law or not. 5 And on the sixth day, when] they [prep]are that which [they bring in, it shall be twice as much as they gather daily.” 6 And Mo]ses and Aar[on said to all the children of Israel, “At evening you shall know that the LORD has brough]t yo[u out from the land of Egypt; 7 and in the morning you shall see the gl]ory [of the LORD, for he hears your complaints against the LORD; and what are we, that] you complain against us?” [8 And Moses said, “When the LORD gives you flesh to eat in the evening and your fill of bread] in the morn[ing because the LORD hears your complaints which you utter against him, then what are we? [12 “I have heard the complaints of the children of Israel; speak to them, saying, ‘At evening you shall eat flesh and in the morning you shall be filled with bread; and] you [shall kn]ow that [I] am the LORD [your God.”] ]

[13 Then at evening the quails came up and covered] the cam[p, and in the morning there was [a layer of dew arou]nd the cam[p. 14 And when the layer of dew evaporated,] behold, on the [fa]ce of the wilderness was a thin layer as a flake,<sup>112</sup> [thin as the frost on the ground. 15 And when the children of] Israel [saw it,] they said one to another, “What is [it?” For they did not know what it was. And Moses said t]o them, “This is [the brea]d which [the LORD] has giv[en you to eat. 16 This is that which] the LORD [has commanded: Each of you] ga[ther from it according to your needs; you shall take an omer to a person according to the number of persons each of you has in his tent.” 17 And the children of Israel did so, and they gathered some more, some less. 18 And when they measured it with an omer,] he that gathered m[uch] had [nothing o]ver, [and he that gathered little had no lack; every man gathered according to his need. 19 And] Moses said [to them, “Let no man leave any of it until the morning.” 20 But they did not listen] to Moses, [and some of them left a part of it until the morning, and it bred worms and became foul. And Moses was angry with them.] ▲

[23 And] he said to [them, “This is what the LORD has spoken: Tomorrow is a solemn rest, a holy sabbath to the LORD. Bake th]at which you will b[ake, and boil that which you want to boil, and all that is left over put aside] to be kept [until the morning.” 24 And they put it aside until the morning, as Moses had commanded;] and it did not become fo[ul, and there were no worms in it. 25 And Moses said, “Eat it today, for today is] a sabbath [to the LORD; today you shall not find it in the field. 26 Six days] you shall g[ath]er [it;] but on [the seventh] day, [the sabbath, there shall be none.”]

[27 Then on the] seventh [day, some of the people] went out [to gather, and they found none. 28 And the LORD said to Moses, “How long will you refuse to keep] my [commandments and] my laws? [29 See, the LORD has given you the sabbath; therefore] he gives you [the bread for two days] on [the sixth] day. [Each of you stay in his place; let no] one go out of [his] p[lace on the seventh day.” 30 So the people rested on the sev]enth [day.]

31 And the house of Israel called [it manna, and it was white like coriander seed, and the taste of it was like wafers made with hon]ey. 32 And Mos[es said, “This is what the LORD has commanded: Let an omerful of it be kept throughout your generations, that] they may see the bread which [I] fe[d yo]u in the wildern[ess, when I brought you out of the land of] Egypt.” 33 And Moses said to Aaron, “T[ake] a po[t and put an] omer[ful] of manna [in it,] and place it before the LORD to be kept [throughout your generations.” 34 A]s [the LORD] commanded<sup>113</sup> Moses, so Aaron placed it before [the testimony, to be kept. 35 And the children of Israel ate] the manna for forty years, u[n]til they came to an inhabited land; they ate the manna] until they came to the borders of the land of C[anaa]n. 17<sup>1</sup> And all [the congregation of the children of] Israel [journeyed] by stages from the wilderness of [S]in,<sup>114</sup> [according to the commandment of the LORD, and encamped in Rephidi]m; and there was no [water] for the people to dr[in]k. 2 So the people [contended] with Moses, and s[aid,] “Give us [water that we may drink.”] And Mos[es] said to them, [“Why do you contend wit]h me? And<sup>115</sup> why do you test the LO[R]D?” 3 And] the people thirsted there for water; and [the people complained against] Moses, [and said,] “Why have you b[ro]ught us up from Egyp[t,] to kill us and [our children and our cattle with thirst?” 4 And] Moses [cried] to the LORD, [saying,] “What [shall I do with] this people? [They are almost ready to stone me.”] 5 And the LORD said,<sup>116</sup> “Pass on before the [people and take with you some of the elders of Israel; and] your [r]od, with which you struck [the] river, [take] in your hand, and go. 6 Behold, [I will stand] before you there [upon the r]ock in Ho[reb; and you shall strike the rock, and] water [shall come out] of it, that the people may drink.” And Moses [did so in the sight of the] elders of [Is]rael. 7 And he called the name of the place M[a]ssah and Me[ribah,] because of the c[onten]tion of the children of Is[rael, and because] they te[sted] the LO[R]D, saying, “Is [the LORD] among us, and if<sup>117</sup> not?”

8 Then came Amalek, and fought [wi]th Israe[l in Rephi]d[i]m. 9 And Moses s[aid] to Joshu[a,] “C[hoose some men for us,] and go out, fight with Amalek. Tomorrow I will stand on the to[p of the hil]l with [the rod of God in my hand.”

10 So Joshua did as Moses had said to him, and fought with Amalek; and [Moses, Aaron, and Hur went up to the top of the] hill. [11 Then,] when Moses held up his hand, Israel prevailed; and when [he lowered] his hand, [A]malek [prevailed.] 12 But Moses' hands were<sup>118</sup> hea[vy,] so they took a stone and [pu]t it under him, and he sat on it; and Aaron [and Hur held up his hands,] one on one side, and [o]ne on the ot[her.] And his hands were steady until [the sun] set. [13 And] Joshua defeat[ed] Amalek<sup>119</sup> and struck them<sup>120</sup> with the edge of the sword.

[14 And] the L[OR]D said to Moses, "Write this for a memorial in a book, and reh[earse it in the hearing of J]oshua: I will utterly blot out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven." 15 And [Moses] built [an altar, and] called its name, the LORD is my banner. 16 And he said, "A hand [up]on [the banner of the LORD;] the LORD will have [wa]r with Amalek for all generations."<sup>121</sup>

18[1 Now Jethro, the priest of Midian,] Moses' father-in-law, [heard] all tha[t Go]d [had done] for Moses [and for Israel his people; ho]w the LORD had brought [Is]rael out of Egypt. 2 And [Jethr]o, Moses' father-in-law, [took Moses'] w[ife] Zipporah, [afte]r he had sent her away, 3 and her two sons. [6 And] he said to Moses, "Behold,<sup>122</sup> Jethro, [your] father-in-law,<sup>123</sup> has come to [you,] and your wife and [her t]wo son[s] with her." 7 And Moses went out to meet [his] father[-in-law,] and bowed down [and] kissed him; [and] they asked ea[ch o]th[er] about their welfare, and he brought him<sup>124</sup> into the tent. [10 And] Jethro said, ["Bles]sed be the LORD who has delivered you [out of the hand of the Egyptian]s, and out of the hand of Pharaoh, [wh]o has delivered the people from under the hand of Egyp[t. 11 Now] I know th[at the LORD is greater than all] the gods, because of the incident wh[en they acted insolently] against them." 12 And Jet[hro, Moses' father-in-law,] took a burnt offering and sac[rifi]ces for [Go]d. [13 And it came about on the] following d[ay] that [Moses] sa[t to judg]e the people, and t[he people] stood [about Moses] from morning<sup>125</sup> [to the] evening. ■ The abbreviated response of the Israelites to Moses’ reading of the Ten Commandments in verse 19 below is filled out with a more detailed account from Deuteronomy 5:24–27 in both 4QpaleoExod<sup>m</sup> and the Samaritan Pentateuch.

[19 And they said to Moses, “Beh]old, [the Lord] our [Go]d has shown us [his glory and his greatness, and w]e have heard [his voi]ce [out of the midst of the fire; we have seen this day that God speaks with man, and he lives. Now therefore why should we die? For th]is [great fire will consume us: if we hear the voice of the Lord] our [Go]d [any more, then we shall die. For who is there of all flesh that has heard the voice of the] li[v]ing God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as we have, and lived? Draw near, and hear all] that [the Lord our God shall say; and speak to us all t]hat [the Lord our God shall speak unto you; and we will hear it, and do it.<sup>137</sup> But let not God speak with us, lest we die.”] ▲

[25 “And if you make me an altar of stone, you shall not build it of hewn stones; for if you wield your tool upon it,] you pollute it. 26 And you shall not [go up by step]s to [my altar, that your nakedness might not be exposed on it.”]

21<sup>1</sup> Now these are the ordinances which you shall se]t before them. 2 I[f you

bu]y a H[ebrew servant, six years he shall serve: and in the seventh he shall go out free for nothing. 3 If he comes in by himself, he shall go out by himself; if he is married, then his wife shall go out with him. 4 If his master gives him a wife and she bears him sons or daughters, the wife and her children shall be] her master's, [and h]e shall go out [by himself. 5 But if the servant shall plainly say, "I love my] mast[er,] my wife, and [my] child[ren; I will not go out a free man,]" 6 then his master<sup>138</sup> shall bring him t[o Go]d, and shall bring him [to the door, or to] the doorpost; and his [master] shall bor[e] his ear throu[gh] with [an awl; and he shall serve him forever.] ▲

[13 And if it was not premeditated, but God allowed it, then I will appoint you a place] where<sup>139</sup> he may flee. [14 But if a man presumptuously attacks his neighbor, intending to slay him, you shall take him] from my altar [that he might die.] ▲

[18 And if men contend, and one strikes the other with a stone or with his fist, and he does not die but remains in be]d, 19 if he recovers [and walks about outside with his staff, then the one who struck him shall be free, except to pay for the loss of his time, and shall see that he is fully] recovered.

20 And if [a man strikes his male or female slave with a rod, and he dies by his hand, he shall surely be punished. 21 But if he survives a day or two, he shall not be punished; for he is his money.]

[22 And if men fight together, and hurt a pregnant woman, so that the child is born, and yet no har]m [comes of the incident, he shall] certainly [be fined as the woman's husband demands of him; and he shall pay as the ju]dge[s determine. 23 But if any harm does come of it, then you shall give life for life, 24 eye for] eye, tooth [for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, 25 burn for] burn, woun[d for wound, blow for blow.]

[26 And if a man strikes the eye of his male or female slave, and destro]ys it, [he shall let him go] free [on account of his eye. 27 And if] he knocks out [the tooth of his male or female slave, he shall let him go] free [on account of his tooth.]

[28 And if an ox gores a man] or [a w[oma]n [to death, the ox shall surely be stoned, and its flesh shall not be eaten; but the owner of the ox shall not be liable. 29 But if the ox was in the habit of goring in the past, and its owner] has been warned, [and yet he has not confined it, and it kills a man or a woman, the o]x shall be sto[ned and its owner shall also be put to death. 30 If a ransom is determined against him,] then he shall p[ay the redempti]on of his life according to a[ll that is determined against him. 31 Whether it gores a boy o]r a girl, [according to] t[his jud]gm[ent shall it be done to him. 32 If the ox gores a male or] a female slave, [he shall give their master thirty shekels of] s[ilver and the ox shall be stoned.] ▲

22[1 If] a man [steals] an o[x or a sheep, and slaughters it or sells it, he shall pay five oxen] for the o[x, and four sheep for a sheep.]

[2 If] the [thief is] found [breaking in and is struck so that he dies, there shall be no bloodguiltiness for him. 3 If the s]un [has risen] o[n him, there shall be bloodguiltiness for him. He shall make restitution; if he has nothing to p]ay,<sup>140</sup> [then he shall be sold for his theft. 4 If the theft be found in his hand ali]ve, [whether it be an ox, or donkey, or sheep, he shall pay two for] one.<sup>141</sup>

[5 If a man lets a field or vineyard to be grazed over, and then] lets [his] b[east] loose, [and it grazes in another man's field, he shall make compensation from his own field according to his produce, but if the] whole [field is grazed over,<sup>142</sup> he shall make restitution from the best of his own field and from the best of his own vineyard.]

[6 If fire breaks out and catches in thorns, so that the shocks of grain, or the standing grain, or the field is consumed, he that kindled the fire shall surely make restitution.]

[7 If a man gives his neighbor money or stuff for safekeeping, and] it is stolen<sup>143</sup> from [the man's] ho[use, if the thief be found, he shall pay double. 8 If the thief] is [no]t fou[nd, then the master of the house shall be brought before God, to see whether or not he has laid] his [ha]nd on [his neighbor's goods.] ▲

[12 But if it is stolen from him, he shall make restituti]on [to its owner. 13 If it be torn in pieces, let him bring it for evidence; he shall not] make restitution [for that which was torn.]

[14 And if a man borrows anything from his neighbor, and it is hurt, o]r dies, [its owner not being with it, he shall make full restitution. 15 If its owner is with it, he shall not make restitution; if it was a hired thing, it came for its hire.]

[16 And if] a m[an se]duces [a virgin who is not engaged, and lies] with her, [he shall surely pay a] do[wry for her to be his wife. 17 If her father utterly refuses] to give her [to him, he shall pay money equal to the dowry of] virgins.

[18 You shall not allow a sorceress to li]ve.

[19 Whoever lies with an animal] shall surely be put to de[ath.]

[20 He who sacrifices to any go]d, [except to the LORD only, shall be utterly destroyed.]

[21 And you shall not wrong or oppress a stranger, for you were strangers] in the land of Eg[yp]t. 22 You shall not afflict any widow or orphan. 23 If you afflict them at all,] and they cry [o]ut [to me, I will surely hear their cry; 24 and my wrath shall burn, and I will kill] you with the sword; and [your] wiv[es] shall be widows [and your children orph]ans.

25 If you lend money to [my] pe[ople, t]o poor<sup>144</sup> among you, you shall not [act as a] c[reditor] to them; [you shall exact no] interest from them. 26 If [you t]ake your neighbor's garment as a pled[ge, you shall restore it] to him before [the sun] goes [down;] 27 for i[t]<sup>145</sup> is [his only covering,] it<sup>146</sup> is the cloak for his body, in what [shall he sleep? And] when he cries to me, [I will hear; for] I am [gracio]us.

[28 You shall not revile against] Go[d, n]or [curse a] ruler of your people.

29 You shall not delay to offer [from your harvest and from the out]flow of your presses.

The firstborn [of your sons shall you give to me.] 30 Likewise you shall do with [your] o[xen, and with your sheep; seven] days [it shall be with its mother; on the ei]ghth [day] you shall give [it to me.]

[31 And you shall be holy men to me, therefore you shall not ea]t [any flesh that is torn by beasts in the field; you shall throw it to the dogs.] ▲

235 If [you see] the donkey of one who hates [you lying under his burden, you shall resist] abandoning him; [you] shall help release it with him.

6 You shall [not] pervert the ju[sti]ce [due to] your [po]or in his lawsuit. 7 Keep far away from a false matter; [and] do not kill [the inno]cent or righteous: for I will not acquit the guilty. 8 And yo[u shall take no] bribe, for a bribe blinds the eyes of<sup>147</sup> those who see clearly and perverts the words of [the righteous.]

[9 And] you<sup>148</sup> shall not oppress [a stranger,] for you know the heart of the stranger, [because you were strangers in the land of Egypt.]

10 And for six years you shall sow [your land, and shall gather in] its [yie]ld; 11 but on the seventh year you shall let it rest [and lie fallow, so that the poo]r of your people [may eat,] and what they leave the beast of the field shall eat. [In like manner you shall deal with your vineyard, and with] your [olive grove.]

12 Six days you shall do your work, [and on the seventh day you shall re]st, that [your ox and] your donkey may have rest; [and the son of your female slave and the stranger may be] r[efreshed. 13 And in all thin]gs [th]at I have [s]aid to [you take care; and] make [no] mention [of the name of other gods,] nor let [th]em be hea[rd out of your mouth.]

[14 Three times a year you shall keep a feast to me.] 15 The feast of unleavened bread [shall you keep; seven] days [you shall eat unleavened bread,] as I commanded you, [at the time appointed in the month Abib, for in it] you [ca]me out from Egypt. And no[ne shall appear before me empty-handed.]

[16 Also you shall observe the feast of harvest, the] f[irst frui]ts of your [la]bors [which you sow in the field; and the feast of ingathering, at the end of the year, when you gather in your labors out of the field.] ▲

[29 I will not drive] them [o]ut fro[m before you in one year, lest the land become desolate, and the beasts of the fiel]d [multiply against you.] 30 Little [by little I will drive them out from before you, until you have increased and possess the land. 31 And] I [will *establi*sh<sup>149</sup> [your border from the Red Sea to the sea of the Philistines, and from the wilderness to the River Euphrates; for I will deliver the inhabitants of the land into] your hand, [and you shall drive them out before you.] ▲

40 And for Aaron's sons [you shall make tunics, and y]ou [shall make] sashes for them, [and] you shall make [headdress]s for them, [for glory and for beauty. 41 And] you<sup>167</sup> shall put them upon A[aron y]our [brother] and u[pon] his sons w[ith him, and shall anoint them, and] cons[ecrate them, and sanctify them, that they may minister to me as priests. 42 And you shall make the]m [linen] breeches [to cover their naked flesh; they shall reach from the loi]ns [even to the thighs. 43 And they shall be upon Aaron,] and upon [his sons when] they [e]nter the tent [of meeting, or when they approach the altar to] minister in the holy place, so that they do not bear iniquity [and die. It shall be a statute forever to him and to his offspring a]fter [him.]

291 And [this is the thing that you shall d]o to them to consecrate t[he]m to minister to me as priests: take [one young] bull [and] two [ram]s without blemish, 2 and unleavened bread, and [unleavened] cakes [mingled with oil,] and unleavened wafers;<sup>168</sup> you shall make [them] of fine wheat flour. [3 And you shall put them in o]ne [basket, and pre]sent [them] in the basket, with the bull [and the two rams. 4 And you shall bring Aaron and] his sons [to the door of the tent of meeting, and shall wash them with water.] 5 And you shall take [the garments, and put the tunic, the robe of the ephod, the ephod, and the breastplate on Aaron and gird him with the skillfully woven band of the ephod.] ▲

[20 Then shall you slaughter the ram, and take] some of its blood [and put it on the lobe of Aaron's right ear, and on the lobe of] his sons' [right ears, and on the thumb of their right hands, and on the big toe of] their right [fee]t, [and sprinkle the blood around on the altar.]<sup>169</sup>

[31 And you shall take the ram of ordination and boil its flesh in a] holy [place. 32 And Aa]ron [and his sons shall eat the flesh of the ram and the] bread t[hat is] in the basket, at the door of the te[nt of meeting. 33 And they shall eat those things with which atonement was made, to] ordain [and to consecrate them, but no one else shall eat of them, because they are holy. 34 And if any of the flesh of the ordination, or of the bread, remain]s [until the morning, then you shall burn the remainder] with fire; it shall n[ot] be eaten, because it is holy.

[35 And thus shall you do to Aaron and to] his [so]ns, just [as] all that I have commanded y[ou; for s]even d[ays shall you or]dain them. 36 And [every day shall you offer the] bull as a s[in offering for atone]me[nt, and you shall cleanse] the altar, when [you] ma[ke atonement for it;] and you shall anoint i[t to consecrate it.] 37 For seven d[ays] you shall make atonement for the [altar and] consecrate it; [and] the altar [shall be most ho]ly; [whatever] touches the altar shall be holy.

[38 Now this is that which you shall offe]r on the alt[ar: two] one-year-old [lamb]s, [day by day continually.] 39 The on[e] lamb [you shall offer] in the mo[rning;] and [the other lamb you shall offer a]t twilight; [40 and with the one lamb a tenth of an ephah of fine flour mingled] with [the fourth part of a hi]n [of beaten] oil, [and the fourth part of a hin of wine for] a drink offering. [41 And the other] lamb [you shall offer at twiligh]t, [and shall do it] according to the grain offe[ring of the morning, and according to its drink offering, for a sweet savor, an offering made by fire] to the LOR[D.] ▲

30[12 When you take a census of the children of Israel to register them, then shall each of them give a ransom for himself to the LORD, when you number them; that there might be no] pla[gue among the]m [when you number them. 13 Each one who is registered shall give this:] hal[f a shekel after the shekel of] the sanctuary [(the shekel is twenty gerahs), half a shekel for an offering] to the 17 And [the LORD spoke to Moses,] saying, 18 “You [shall also m]ake a laver of br[onze, and] its [base of bronze, for washing. And you shall put] it between the tent of meeting and the altar, [and you shall put water in it.] ▲

[21 “So they shall wash] their [hand]s [and their feet, that they might not die; and it shall be a perpetual statute for them, for him and for] his [offsprin]g throughout [their] gen[erations.”]

[22 Then the LORD spoke unto Moses, saying, 23 “Take for yourself the finest spices: of flowing myrrh five hundred shekels, and of swe]t [cinnamon] h[alf so much, two hundred and fifty, and of sweet cane two hundred and fifty, 24 and of cassia five] hundred, according to [the shekel of the sanctuary, and of olive oil a hin. 25 And you shall make of these a] holy [anointing oil,] a per[fume compounded according to the art of the perfumer; it shall be a holy anointing oil] throughout [your] generations.<sup>171</sup> ▲

[34 And the LORD said] to Mos[es, “Take sweet spices, stacte, and onycha, and galbanum; sweet spices] with [pure] frankincense; [there shall be an equal part of each. 35 And you shall make incense of it, a per]fume, the wo[rk of the perfumer, salted, pure, and holy. 36 And you shall beat some of it very small, and] put some [of it be]fore the testimo[n]y in the tent of meeting, where I will meet with you;] it shall be m[os]t holy to you. ■ God’s anger against Aaron for his part in the sin of the golden calf—not referred to in the prayer of Exodus 32:11—is imported from Deuteronomy

9:20 and appears in both 4QpaleoExod<sup>m</sup> and the Samaritan Pentateuch.

[9 And the LORD said] to Moses, [“I have seen this people, and behold, they are a stiffnecked people; 10 now therefore let me alone, that my wrath may burn hot against them, and that I may consume them; and I will make of] y[ou] a great nation.” [And the Lo]rd [was] very [angry with Aaron] to destroy him; and Moses prayed for A[aron.]<sup>178</sup>

[11 And] Moses e[n]tre[ate]d [the LORD his God, and sa]id, “O LORD, wh[y] does your] wr[ath] burn hot against your people, whom [you] have broug[ht] out of the land of Egypt with great power and] with a mighty arm?<sup>179</sup> 12 Wh[y] should the Egyptians] sp[ea]k, saying, ‘He brought them out with malice, intending to kil]l them in the mountain[s, and to consume them from the face of the earth’? Turn from] your [fierce wra]th, [and] change your mind about doing harm to your people. [13 Remember Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, your servants,] to whom you swore by yourself, [and said to them, ‘I will multiply your seed as the st]ars of [the] heaven, and all [this] land [that I have spoken of I will give to your seed, and they shall inherit] it<sup>180</sup> for eve[r].” 14 And the LORD [changed his mind] a[bout the evil which he said he would do] to his people.

[15 And Moses turned, and went down from the mountain,] with the two [tablets of the testimony in his hand,] tablets that were wr[itten] on both si]des; they [were written on the front and ba]ck. [16 And the tablets were the work of] Go[d, and the] writing was the writ[ing] of Go[d, [engraved on the tablets.] 17 And when Joshu[a] heard the noise of the people [as they shout]ed, he s[a]i[d] to Moses, “There is a noise of war in the camp.” 18 And he said, “It is not the] sound of the cr[y] of victo]ry, neither is it the so[und] arising from defeat; but the sound of singing I hear.” 19 Then as soon as he came nea]r the [camp, he saw the calf and the dancing; and Moses’ anger burned, and he threw the tablets from his hands, and broke them at the foot of the mountain.] ▲

[25 And when Moses saw] that [the people were] run[ning] wild (for Aaron had let them run wild, to the derision of their enemies), 26 then Moses stood in the gate of the camp, and] said, “Whoever [is on LORD’s side, let him come to me.” And all the sons of] Levi [gathered together to him. 27 And he said to] them, “Thus [says the L]ORD, [the God of Israel:] Let every man put [his sword on his thigh,] and<sup>181</sup> go ba[ck] and forth] from gat[e] to gate throughout the camp,] and each of you kill [his brother, his companion, and his neighbor.” 28 And] the sons of Levi [did] according to the wo[r]d of Mo]ses; and abo[ut] three thousand of the people fell [on] that [da]y. 29 And [Mo]ses sa[id,] “Dedicate your[selves] today to the LORD, for [every man has been] against his son, and [his brother; so that he might grant on] you a blessing this day.”

30 Then the next day, Moses said to the p[eople, “You have sinned] a great sin. And now I will go up to the L[ORD; perhaps I can make atonement for your sin.” 31 And Moses returned to the LORD, and said, “This people have sinned a great sin and have made themselves gods of gold. 32 And now, if you will forgive their] si[n—and if not, please blot me out of your book which you have written.” 33 And] the LORD [sai]d [to Moses, “Whoever has sinned against me, I will blot him out of my book. 34 And now go, lea]d t[he people to the place of which I have spoken to you. Behold, my angel shall go before you; nevertheless in the day when I punish, I will punish them for their sin.”] ▲

33[12 And Moses said to the LORD, “See, you say to me, ‘Bring up this people,’ and you have not let me know whom you will send with me. Yet you have said, ‘I know you by name, and you have al]so fou[nd favor in my sight.’ 13 Now therefore, I pray you, if I have found favor in your sight, sh]ow me now [your ways, that I may know you, so that I may find favor in your sight. Is it n]ot [in that you go with us,] so that we are set apart, [I] and your people, [from all the people that are on the face of the ea]rth?”

17 And the L[ORD sa]id [to Moses,] “I will also d[o] this th[ing] tha[t] you [have spoken; for you have found favor in my sight, and I know] you by name.” 18 And he [s]aid, “Show me, [I pray you, your glory.” 19 And he said, “I will make all] my goodness [pass before you, and will proclaim the name of the LORD] before [you; and] I will [be gracious to whom I will be gracious, and will show mercy on whom I will show mercy.” 20 And] he said, [“You cannot see my face; for no one shall see me and live.” 21 And the LORD said, “Behold, there is a place by me, and you shall stand on the] rock; 22 and [when my glory passes by, I will put you in a cleft of the rock and will cover] you [with] my [han]d until [I have passed by; 23 and I will take away my hand, and you shall see my back, but my face shall not] be seen.”

■ The manuscript 4QExod-Lev<sup>f</sup> begins here at Exodus 38:18. It dates—with 4QSam<sup>b</sup>—to the mid-third century bce. These two scrolls are thought by experts in Hebrew writing to be the earliest scrolls found in the caves of Qumran.

[18 And the screen for the gate of the court was the work of the embroiderer, of blue, purple, and scarlet threads, and fine twined linen. And twenty cubits was the length, and the breadth was five cubit]s, [corresponding to the hangings of the court. 19 And their four pillars and four sockets were bronze, th]eir [hooks silver, and the overlaying of their capitals and fillets silver. 20 And all the pegs of the tabernacle, and of the court round about, were of] bronze.

[21 These are the things recorded for the tabernacle, the tabernacle of the testimony, recorded by Moses, for the service of the Levites, by the] hand [of Ithamar, the son of Aaron the priest. 22 And Bezalel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Judah, made all that the LORD commanded Moses.] ▲

LEVITICUS

“You shall be holy for I am holy” (Lev 11:45) is the keynote of the book of Leviticus. The title—taken from the Latin (Vulgate) and Greek (LXX) designation meaning “pertaining to the tribe of Levi”—indicates that it is a priestly book. It contains legislation that applies to the sons of Levi and, more particularly, the sons of the high priest Aaron, in order that they might instruct the people of Israel in holiness. As such, it is rather short on plot and long on legal discussions pertaining to ritual purity.

The sixteen manuscripts of Leviticus rank it as one of the most common of all the scrolls found at Qumran. Fourteen of the manuscripts were unearthed in five of the eleven caves in the vicinity of Wadi Qumran—one in Cave 1, one in Cave 2, nine in Cave 4, one in Cave 6, and two in Cave 11—while two were discovered in the ruins at Masada.<sup>3</sup> Only the text of chapter 12, of the twenty-seven chapters of Leviticus, did not survive the ravages of time in the caves above the Dead Sea.

Thirteen of the sixteen manuscripts exhibit some variation from the traditional Hebrew text. As is the norm, these variants are without a particular pattern and are as a group best described as “mixed” or “nonaligned.” They are also minor and do not detract from the conclusion that our present book of Leviticus is an accurate reflection of a tradition that most certainly predates the Qumran community. Of the three manuscripts that show no variants, 6QpaleoLev contains parts of only fourteen words. MasLev<sup>a</sup> and MasLev<sup>b</sup>, from Masada, are, however, more extensive in content and reflect the establishment of a text in the latter years of the first century that has been reproduced to the letter in the Masoretic manuscripts of the tenth and eleventh centuries. None of the variants found in the other thirteen manuscripts has as yet been accepted by modern Bible translators.

Astonishingly, every chapter of the book of Leviticus is referenced somewhere in the nonbiblical scrolls. Because only the book of Deuteronomy approaches this preeminence, it appears safe to conclude that Leviticus was the heart and soul of the priestly community at Qumran. The Temple Scroll by itself quotes or paraphrases portions of twenty-three chapters. Of the two dozen rulings of A Sectarian Manifesto (4QMMT), more than half are discussions based on legal issues concerning ritual purity from the text of Leviticus. The laws of the Damascus Document are also to a great extent rehearsals of various Levitical commands. The assorted collection of legal discussions recorded in A Commentary on the Law of Moses (4Q251) is also largely Levitical in origin. Indeed, the key to understanding the community's emphasis on purity is contained in Leviticus 15:31: "You must keep the people of Israel separate from their uncleanness, so that they might not die in their uncleanness by defiling my tabernacle which is in their midst."<sup>b</sup>

1[1 And the LORD called to Moses, and spoke to him from the tent of meeting,] saying, 2 "Speak to the children of Israel, and say [to them, 'When any of you offers an offering to the LORD, you shall offer your offering of] animals, even from the herd and from [the] flock.

[3 "If his offering is a burnt offering] from the herd, he shall offer it a male without blemish; he shall offer it [at the door of the tent of meeting, that he may be accepted] before [the LORD. 4 And he shall lay] his [hand] upon the head of [the burnt offering; and it shall be accepted for him to make atonement for him. 5 And he shall slaughter the bull before the LORD; and Aaron's sons, the priests, shall off]er [the blood, and sprinkle the blood around on the altar t]hat [is at the door of the tent of meeting. 6 And he shall skin the burnt offering, and cut it into its pieces. 7 And the s]ons [of Aaron the priest shall put fire on the altar, and arrange the wood on the fire.] ▲

■ The text of 4QLXXLev<sup>b</sup> found in the scrolls anticipates other Greek manuscripts of Leviticus by some four centuries. It is probable, on the basis of its age (100 bce) and its text, that this is an accurate reflection of the very earliest Greek translations from the middle of the third century bce.

11 "And [he shall] s[laughter] it [on the side] of the a[ltar northward bef]ore [the LORD: and Aa]ro[n's sons, the priest]s, [shall sprinkle] the<sup>l</sup> blood [around] on [the altar. 12 And he shall cut it into its pieces, with its head and its fat; and] the priest shall arrange them on [the wood that is on the fire which is on the altar.] [13 But the entrails and the leg]s he shall wash with water, and [the priest] shall offer [the whole, and burn it on the altar; it is a burnt offering, an offering made by fire, of a pl]easing odo[r] to the LORD.

■ The manuscript of 4QExod-Lev<sup>f</sup>—which is extant only as far as Leviticus

2:1—is, along with 4QSam<sup>b</sup>, the oldest of the manuscripts found in the caves of Qumran. Dating to the middle of the third century bce, it is more than a millennium older than the earliest copy of Leviticus available prior to the discovery of the scrolls.

[14 “And if] his offering to the LORD is a burnt offering [o]f birds, then he shall off[er his offering of turtledoves or of young pigeons. 15 And] the priest [shall brin]g it to the altar and wring off [its head, and burn it on the altar; and its blood shall be drained out on the side of the alta]r; 16 and he shall take away its<sup>2</sup> crop with its contents, [and throw it on the east side of the altar, in the place of] the ashes. 17 And he shall tear it by its wings, and<sup>3</sup> shall not sever it. [And the priest shall burn it on the altar, on the wo]d that is on [the fir]e; it is a burnt offering,<sup>4</sup> of a pleasing odor to the L[ORD.]”]

2[1 “And] when [anyo]ne of[fers] his<sup>5</sup> [o]ffering of grain to the LORD, [his offering] shall be of fine flour; [and he shall pour oil on it, and put frankincense] [on it; it is] a grain offering.<sup>6</sup> [2 And he shall bring it to Aaron’s sons] the priests, and he shall take [from it his handful of the fine flour, and of its oil, with all its frankincense; and the pries]t [shall burn it as its] memorial [on the altar, an offering made by fire, of a pleasing odor to the LORD. 3 And that which is left of the grain offering shall be Aaron’s and] his [sons’; it is a thing most holy of the] offerings [of the LORD] made by fire.

[4 “And when you offer an of]fering of gra[in baked in the ove]n, [it shall be unleavened cake]s of fi[ne flour] mix[ed with oil, or unleavened wa]fers [anointed with oi]l. 5 And if your offering is grain [made on the grid]dle, [it shall be of unleavened fine flour, mi]xed [with oil. 6 You shall break] it in p[ieces, and pour] oil on it; [it is a grain offering. 7 And if your offering is grain made in a pan,] it shall be made [of f]in[e flour with oil.] 8 And he shall bring<sup>7</sup> the grain offering t[hat is made of these things to the LORD; and it shall be presented to the priest, and he shall bring it] to the altar. 9 And the p[riest] shall take up [from the grain its memorial portion, and shall burn it on the altar, an offering made by fire, of] a pleasing odor to the LORD. 10 And that which is l[eft of the grain offering shall belong to Aaron and his sons; it is a thing most holy of the offerings to the LORD made by fire.]

11 “Every<sup>8</sup> grain offering, which you shall offer to the [LORD, shall not be made with leaven; for you shall burn no leaven, nor any honey, as an offering made] by fire to the LORD. 12 [As an of]fe[ring of first fruits you shall offer them to the LORD, but they shall be offered for a] pleasing odor [on the altar.] 13 And you shall season ev[ery offering of your grain] with salt; [nor shall you allow the salt of the covenant of your God to be lacking] from your grain offerings; you shall offer salt with all [your of]ferings.

14 ““And when<sup>9</sup> you offer a grain offering of first fruits to the LORD, [you shall offer] for the grain of your fir[st fruits] g[rain in the ear] parched with fire, course grain of the fresh ear. [15 And] you [shall put] oil on it, and lay frankin[cense] on it; [it is a grain offering. 16 And] the priest [shall burn] its memorial portion, some of its course grain, and some of its oil, and all of its frankincense; [it is an offering made by fire to the LORD.’”]

3[1 ““And if] his offering is a [sacrifi]ce to the Lord<sup>10</sup> of well-being, if [he offers] from the [herd, whether male or female, he shall offer it without blemish before the LORD. 2 And] he shall lay [his] hand [on the head of his offering and slaughter it at the door of the tent of meeting and Aaron’s sons the priests shall sprinkle the blood a]ro[und on the altar.] 3 And he shall offer from the s[acrifice of well-being an offering made by fire to the LORD; the fat that covers the entrails, all the fat that is] on the entrails, 4 and the two [kidneys, the fat that is on th]em, which is by the loin[s, and the ap]pendage from<sup>11</sup> the liv[er, with the kidneys,] shall he taken [a]way. [5 And Aaron’s sons shall burn it on the altar on the burnt offering, which is on the w]ood that is on the [fire; it is an offering made by fire, of a pleasing odor to the LORD.]

[6 ““And if] his offering for the<sup>12</sup> sacrifice of well-bein[g to the LORD is from the f]lock, [male or female, he shall offer it without blemish. 7 If he offers a l]amb [for his offering,] then shall he offer it before the LO[R]D; 8 and he shall lay his hand on the head of his offering and slaughter it before the tent of meeting and] Aaron’s sons [shall sprinkle its blood] around on the altar. 9 And he shall offer from the sacrifice of well-being [an offering made by fire to the LORD; its fat, the entire fat tail,] he shall remove it [close to] the backbone; and [the] fat that covers the [en]trails and [all the fat that is on the e]ntrai[ls,] 10 the [two] kidneys, the fat that is on them, which is b[y t]he l[oins, and the ap]pendage [on the liv]er, w[ith the kidneys, he shall take] it away. 11 And the priest shall burn<sup>13</sup> on the altar; it is the f[ood, for a pleasing od]or,<sup>14</sup> [of the offering made by fire to the LORD.]

12 ““And if hi[s offer]ing [is a goat, then he shall offer it befo]re the LORD, 13 and he shall lay [his hand on its] head [and slaughter i]t bef[ore th]e te[n]t of meeting; and the sons of Aaron shall sprinkle its blood] around o[n the alt]ar. 14 And he shall [offer from it his offering, even an offering made by fir]e to the [LORD; the fat that covers the entrails, and all the f]a[t that is on the entrails, 15 and the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them by the loins, and the appendage of the liver, with the kidneys, he take shall away. 16 And] the priest [shall] burn them on the alta[r; it is the food of] the offering made by fire, [for a pleasing odor; all the fat is the LORD's.] 17 It shall be a perpetual [st]atute throughout your generations in all your [dwelling]s, [that you shall eat] neither [fat nor blood.]"

4[1 And the LORD spoke to] Moses, saying, 2 "Speak to the children of Israel, sa[ying, 'If anyone shall sin unintentionally,] in any of [the th]ings which the LORD has commanded not to be done, and shall d[o any one of them,] [3 if the ano]inted [priest] shall sin so as to bring guilt [on the people, then let] him offer for [h]is [sin,] which he has sin[ned, a young bul]l without ble[mish to the LORD for a sin offering.] 4 And he shall lead in<sup>15</sup> the bull to the door of the tent of meeting before [the LORD;] and he shall lay his hand o[n the head of th]e bull befo[re the Lord,]<sup>16</sup> and slaughter the bull before the LORD. 5 And the anointed priest shall take [from the blood of the bull, and bring it to the tent of meeti]ng, 6 and the priest shall dip his finger in the blood, and sprinkle some of the blood seven [times with his] finger<sup>17</sup> [before the LO]RD, before the veil of the sanctuary. 7 And the priest shall put some of the blood of the b[ull]<sup>18</sup> on the horns of the altar of sweet incense [before the LORD, which is] in t[he tent of meeting;] and all the blood of the bull he shall pour out at the base of the altar of offering,<sup>19</sup> which is at the door of [the t]ent [of m]eeting. 8 A[nd he shall take] from it [all the] f[at of the b]ull of th[e sin offering;] the fat that covers the entrails, all the fat [that is on the entrails, 9 the two kidneys, the fat tha]t is on them, which is by the loins, and the appendage [on the liver, with the kidneys, shall he take away, 10 as it is taken off from the ox of the sacrifice] of we[ll-being; and the prie]st [shall burn them] on the a[ltar of burnt o]ffering. 11 And t[he skin of the bull,] all [its flesh, with its head, and with its legs, its entrails, and its dung, 12 even the whole bull shall he carry out of the camp to a clean place, where the ashes are poured out, and bur]n it [on wood with fire; it shall be burned where the ashes are poured out.]

[13 "And if the whole congregation of Israel sins unintentionally, and the thing be hid from the ey]es of the assembly, and they have done any [of the things which the LORD has commanded not to be done, and are guilty; 14 when] the sin in which [they have sinned becomes kno]wn, [then the assembly shall offer a young bull for a sin offering, and bring] it<sup>20</sup> [before the tent of meeting.] ▲ [18 "And he shall put some of the blood on the horns of the altar which is before the LORD, that is in the tent of meeting; and] all the [blood shall he pour out at] the [base] of the a[ltar of burnt] offeri[ng, which is at the door] of the tent [of meeting. 19 And] all the fa[t shall he take off from it, and burn it on the altar.] ▲

■ The manuscript known as 11QpaleoLev<sup>a</sup> begins in verse 4 and continues—seven columns and sixteen fragments later—to 27:19. One of the most complete manuscripts of the biblical scrolls, it is one of four Leviticus scrolls written in paleo-Hebrew script. When the scroll was bought from its Bedouin discoverers in February of 1956, its origin was unknown. Later that same year, the noted French archaeologist Roland de Vaux found fragments of the scroll in what became known as Cave 11, determining its place of origin with certainty.

[23 “. . . if his sin, in which he has sinned, is made known to him, he shall bring as] his offering for that which he has sinned<sup>21</sup> a goat, a male without blemish; 24 and he shall l[a]y his hand on the head of the goat, and] slaughter it in the place [where they slaughter the burnt offering bef]ore the LORD; [it is a sin offering.] 25 And the priest shall take some of [the blood of the sin offering with his finger and put it on the horns of the altar of] burnt offering; and he shall pour out its blood<sup>22</sup> [at the base of the altar of burnt offering. 26 And all its fat h]e shall burn on [the] altar, [as th]e fat [of the sacrifice of well-being;] and [the priest] shall make atonement for [him for his sin, and it shall be forgiven] him.

[27 “And] if [anyone] of [the common people sin un]intentionally, in doing any of the things<sup>23</sup> the LORD has commanded not to be [do]ne, and be guilty, 28 or if [his] s[in,] which he has sinn[ed, is made] k[now]n to him, [then he shall bring for his offering] a female goat [without blemish,] for his [si]n which [he has sinned. 29 And he shall lay his hand upon the head of the sin offering, and kill the sin offering in the place of burnt offering. 30 And the priest shall take some of its blood] with his f[inger, and put it on th]e horn[s of the altar of burn]t of[fering; and all its blood shall he pour out at the base of the altar.”] ▲

5[6 “. . . and he shall bring his guilt offering to the LORD for his sin which he has sinned, a female from the flock, a lamb or a goat, for a sin offering; and the priest shall make atonement for him for] his sin [which he sinned and] it shall [be forgiven to him.]<sup>24</sup>

[7 “And if he cannot afford a lamb, then he shall bring his penalty for that which he has sinned, two turtledoves, or two young pigeons, unto the LORD; one for a sin offering, and the other for a burnt offering. 8 And he shall bring them to the priest, who shall offer that which is for the sin offering first, and wring off its head from] its neck, bu[t shall not sever it, 9 and] he shall sprinkle some [of th]e

blo[od of] the sin offe[ring] o[n the side of the] alta[r; and the rest] of the blood [shall be drained out at] the base of t[he altar;] for<sup>25</sup> it is [a sin offerin]g. [10 And] he shall [perform the second] as a burnt [offering, according to the ordinance; and the priest] shall make [aton]ement [for him for] his [sin which he has sinned, and he shall be forgiven.]

[11 “But if he cannot afford two turtledoves or two young pigeons, then he shall bring as his offering for the sin that he has committed one-tenth of an ephah of choice flour for a sin offering; he shall not put oil on it or lay frankincense on it, for it is a sin offering. 12 And he shall bring it to the priest, and the priest shall take his handful of it a]s [its memorial, and burn it on the altar, on the offerings of the LOR]D [made by fire;] it is a sin offering. [13 And] the [priest shall make atonemen]t for him [for his sin that he has sinned in any of these things, and he shall be forgiven; and the rest shall be the priest’s, as the grain offering.] ▲

[16 “. . . and he shall make restitution for that which he has sinned against the holy thing, and shall add to it a fifth part of it, and give it to the priest; and the priest shall make aton]e[ment for him with the ram] of the [guilt offering, and he shall be forgiven.]

[17 “And if] an[yone sins and does] any [of the things which the LORD has commanded not to be done; though he did not know it, yet he is guilty and shall bear his iniquity. 18 And he shall bring a ram without blemish from the flock, according to your estimation, for a guilt offering] t[o the priest; and] the pr[iest shall make atonement for] him [concerning h]is [sin] in which [he erred] unin[tentionally and] knew [it not,] and [he shall be] forg[iven. 19] For<sup>26</sup> [it is a guilt offering;] he [is certainly guilt]ty [b]efor[e the LORD.”] ▲

6[1 And the LORD spoke] to [M]o[ses, saying, 2 “If anyone] sin[s and commits a trespass] against t[he LORD, and deals falsely with] his [neighbor concerning a deposit or a] ple[dge, or by robbery, or having defra]uded [his neighbor, 3 or having found that which was l]ost [and lied about it and s]worn to [the lie; in any of all] these things [that a man does, so] sinni[ng, 4 then it shall b]e, if he has sin[ned and is guilt]ty, that he shall restore th[at which he took] by robbery, or the thing [which he has gotten by fraud, or the de]pos[it which was committed to him, or t]he lo[st thing which he found, 5 or an]y t[hing about which he has sworn falsely; he shall even restore it in full, and shall add the fifth part more to it: to him to whom it concerns shall he give it, in the day on which he is found guilty.”] ▲

7[19 “And the flesh that touches any unclean thing shall not be eaten; it shall be burned with fire. And as for other flesh,] every[one that] is clean shall eat it. [20 But the person that eats of the flesh of the sacrifice of well-being, th]at belongs to the LORD, having his uncleanness on him, that person shall be cut off from [his] people. [21 And when anyone touches any unclean thing, the uncleanness of] man, or an unclean animal, or any [unclean] abo[mination, and eat of the flesh of the sacrifice of well-being, which belongs to the LORD,] that soul shall be cut off from his people.”

[22 “And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, 23 “Speak to the childr]en of Israel, saying, [You shall eat] no fat, of o[x, or sheep, or goat. 24 And the fat of that which dies of itself, and the fat of that which is torn of anim]als, may be used for any other service; but you shall never ea[t any of it.]

■ In the text of Leviticus 7:25, as found in 4QLev<sup>g</sup>, the unpronounceable name of God—Yahweh is a good guess—is written in ancient Hebrew characters (paleo-Hebrew), although the rest of the text is copied in the more familiar “square” letters. Early in scroll research this strange feature was thought to be a sign of nonbiblical material. However, now that the list of such biblical manuscripts totals at least nine, it seems clear that this judgment was incorrect. At the most, these scrolls may be evidence of a more popular edition of the Bible: their copyists may have tended to accommodate themselves to the spelling conventions that were current in the Second Temple period rather than the tradition of letter-by-letter accuracy.

[25 For whoever eats the fat of the animal,] from [which] they<sup>27</sup> shall make an offering<sup>28</sup> to the LORD [even the person that eats it shall be cut off from his people. 26 And you shall eat no blood, whether it is] of [bi]rd [or animal, in any of you]r d[wellings.”] ▲

8[12 And he poured some of the anointing oil] on Aa[ron’s] he[ad, and anointed him, to sanctify him.] 13 And Moses brought [Aaron’s sons, and clothed them] with tunics, and girded [them with sashes, and bound] headdress[es] on [th]em [as the LORD commanded Moses.] ▲

[26 . . . and from the basket of unleavened bread, that was before the LORD, he took one unleavened cake, and] on[e cake of bread mixed with oil, and one wafer, and placed them on the fat, and on the right thigh. 27 And he put] all these o[n the hands of Aaron, and on the hands of his sons, and waved them for a wave offering before the LORD. 28 And] Moses [took] the[m from their hands, and burned them on the altar on the burnt offering: they were a consecration] for a pleas[ing] odor; [it was an offering made by fire to the LORD.] ▲

■ MasLev<sup>b</sup>, a somewhat fragmentary manuscript of some five columns (Lev 8: 31–11:40), was found in a corner of the court that lies between Herod’s northern palace and the large bathhouse to the south. Dating to the middle of the first century ce, it is the earliest exact representative of the Masoretic Text. Whereas other similarly sized manuscripts of this textual family reflect the relatively relaxed spelling conventions of the day, this scroll represents the Masoretic Text to the jot and tittle.

[31 And Moses said to Aaron and to his sons, “Boil the flesh at the door of the tent of meeting and eat it there and the brea]d that is [in the basket of consecration, as I commanded, saying, ‘Aaron and his sons shall e]at it.’ [32 And that which remains of the flesh and of the bread shall you burn with fire. 33 And you shall n]ot [go out of the door of the tent of meeting for seven days, until the days of your consecration are fulfilled; for he shall consecrate you for seven days. 34 As has been done this day, so the LOR]D [has commanded to do, to make atonement for you.”] ▲

9[1 And on] the ei[ghth da]y, [Moses called Aaron and his sons, and the elders of Israel;] 2 and he said [to Aaron, “Take a calf for yourself from the] herd [for a s]in offe[ring] and a ram for a burnt offering, [without ble]mish, [and offer them before the LORD. 3 And to] the child[ren of Isra]el you shall speak, saying, [‘Take] a male goat for [a sin offering; and a calf and a lam]b, both a ye[ar old, without ble]mish, [for a bur]nt offering; 4 and an ox and a r[am for an offering of well-being, to sacrifice before the] LORD; and [grain] mixed with oil; for today the LORD [shall appear to you.”] 5 And they brought that which Moses commanded] before the tent of meeting, and [all the congregation approached and stood before the LORD. 6 And Mos]es [said,] “This is the th[ing which the LORD commanded that you should do, and the glory of the LORD shall appear to you.” 7 And Moses said to Aaron, “Approach the altar and offer] your [sin offering and your burnt offering, and make atonement] for [yourself and for] the people; and o[ffer] the [offering of] the people, and make atonement for them, [a]s [the LOR]D [commanded.”]

8 So Aaron approached the al[ta]r, and slaughtered the calf of [the sin offering, whic]h was for himself. 9 And the sons of [Aaron] presented [the blood] to him; and he [dip]ped his finger [in the blood, and put it on the horn]s of the [a]lta[r, and [poured out the blood at the base of the altar. 10 But the fat, the kidn]eys, [and the appendage from the liver of the sin offering] he burned [on the altar, as the LORD commanded Moses. 11 And the flesh and the skin he burned with fire outside the camp.]

[12 And he slaughtered the burnt offering; and] Aa[ron's sons brought him the blood, and he sprinkled it around on the altar. 13 And] they deli[vered the burnt offering] to him, [piece by piece, and the head, and he burned them on the altar. 14 And he washed the entrails and the legs, and burned them on the burnt offering on the altar.]

[15 And] he pre[sented the people's offering, and took the goat of the sin offering which was for the people, and slaughtered] it, [and offered it for sin, as the first.] ▲

[22 And Aaron lifted up his hands toward the people and blessed them; and he came down from of]fering the si[n offering, the burnt offering, and the offering of well-being. 23 And Moses and Aaron went into the t]ent of meeting, and cam[e out, and blessed the] who[le] congreg[ation],<sup>29</sup> and the glory of the LORD appeared to all] the people. 24 And there came forth fire from before the LORD, [and consumed] the burnt offering [and] the fat of the offering of well-bein[g]<sup>30</sup> on the altar, and when all the people saw it, they shouted, and fell] on their faces.

101 And [Nadab and Abihu, the] tw[o]<sup>31</sup> sons of Aaron, e]ach took his censer, and put [fire] in th[em, and laid incense on it, and] offered [strange fire] before the LORD, [which the Lor[d]<sup>32</sup> [had not commanded] them. 2 And there came forth [fire from before the LORD and consumed them, and they died] be[fore the LORD. 3 Then Moses said to Aaron, “This is what the LORD spoke, saying, ‘I will be sanctified through those who come near to me, and before all the people I will be glorified.’” And Aaron held his peace.]

[4 And Moses called Mishael and Elzaphan, the sons of U]zz[iel the uncle of Aa]ro[n, and said to them, “Come near; carry your brothers from before the sanctuary ou]t of the ca[mp.” 5 So] they drew near, and [carried them in their tunics from the camp, as Moses had said. 6 And Moses said to Aaron] and to Eleazar and Itha[mar, his sons, “Do not dishevel your hair nor tear your clothes, that you might not die,] and that he might not be ang[ry] with all the congregation. [But let your brothers, the whole house of Israel, mourn the burning which the LORD has brought about. 7 And you shall] no[t go out]<sup>33</sup> the door of the tent of meeting, [lest you die; for the anointing oil of the LORD is on you.” And they did according to the word of Moses.]

[8 And the LORD spoke to Aaron:] 9 “Do [n]ot drink any wine or strong dri[nk,] neither you nor your [sons with you, when you go into the tent of meeting, that you might not die; it shall be a statute forever throughout your generations; 10 [and that you may make a distinction between the holy and the common, and between the unclean and [the clean; [11 and that you might teach] the children of] Israel all the statute[s which the LORD has spoken to them by] Moses.”

[12 And Moses spoke to Aaron, and to Eleazar and] to Ithamar, his sons that [were left: “Take the grain that remains of the offerings of the LORD [made by fire,] and eat it with[out leaven beside the altar; for it is most holy; 13 and] you [shall ea]t it in [a holy place, because it is your portion, and your sons’ portion, of the offerings of the LORD [made by fire;] for so [I am] comman[ded. 14 And the breast of the wave offering and the thigh of the heave offering you shall eat in a clean place, you, your sons, and your daughters with you; for they are given as your portion, and your sons’ portion, from the sacrifices of well-being of the] children of [Israel. 15 The thigh of the heave offering and the breast of] the wave of[fering they shall bring] with [the offerings made by fire of the f]at, [to wave it for a wave offering before LORD; and it shall b]e yours, and your sons’ [with you,] as a portion [forever, as the LORD has commanded.”]

[16 And Moses diligently] soug[ht] the goat of the sin offering, [and behold, it had been burned, and he was angry] with Eleazar and with Ithamar, the sons of [Aaron that remai]ned, saying, 17 “Why have you not eaten the [si]n offering in the place of the [sanctuary, seeing] it is [mo]st holy, and he has given it to you to bear the iniqu[ity of the congregation, to make atonement for] them before the LORD? 18 Behold, its blood was not brought into the san[ctuary; you should certainly have ea]t[en it in the sanctuary, as] I [commanded.”] 19 And Aaron spoke [to Moses: “Behold, this day have they] offe[red their sin offering and] their [burnt offering] before the LORD; when [things like the]se [have happened to me,] if I had eaten [the sin offering today, would it have been pleasing t]o the LORD?”] 20 And when [Moses heard that, it was pleasing to him.]

NUMBERS

This book begins with the Israelites in the Sinai desert, covers their forty years of wandering, and ends with the people poised to cross the river Jordan into the Promised Land. Our English heading comes from the Greek title Arithmoi, perhaps chosen because Numbers opens with a census. However, the Hebrew title Bemidbar, which means “In the Desert,” seems more appropriate to the main theme of the book.

A total of eleven Numbers scrolls have been found in the Judean Desert. Eight of these were discovered at Qumran: one in Cave 1,<sup>a</sup> four in Cave 2,<sup>b</sup> and three in Cave 4.<sup>c</sup> Three more were found at sites further to the south: two at Nah.al H.ever<sup>d</sup> and one at Wadi Murabba‘ât.<sup>e</sup> While none of these scrolls is complete, of the thirty-two chapters of Numbers only chapters 6 and 14 are not represented in at least one of them.

Three of the Numbers manuscripts deserve special mention. The first is 4QLev-Num<sup>a</sup>, which originally also contained the book of Leviticus. Scrolls containing more than one book of the Pentateuch must have been very long indeed and are rare at Qumran, the only other two cases being 4QGen-Exod<sup>a</sup> and 4QExod-Lev<sup>f</sup>. The second unusual scroll is 1QpaleoLev, which, as its abbreviated title shows, was written in the old paleo-Hebrew script. Although listed as a Leviticus scroll, 1QpaleoLev preserves at least two passages from Numbers (1:48–50 and 36:7–8?) somewhere between Leviticus 23 and 27.

The third special Numbers scroll is 4QNum<sup>b</sup>, which is by far the best preserved and contains material from chapters 11 to 36. This manuscript may be described as an early Jewish “Living Bible,” since it features many interpolations of other material and expansions of the biblical text. Several of these interpolations or expansions are large, consisting mainly of speeches. The book of Deuteronomy in our Bibles contains several speeches not found in the Masoretic Text of Numbers—but which were uttered during the events also recounted in Numbers. So where these speeches are not included in the traditional book of Numbers, 4QNum<sup>b</sup> imports them from Deuteronomy into the appropriate place in the narrative. These speeches include Moses' plea that he be allowed to enter Canaan (Deut 3:24–28, which is interpolated into Num 20:13b), God's prohibition to Moses to fight Moab (interpolated from Deut 2:9 into Num 21:12a), the prohibition to fight Ammon (from Deut 2:18–19 into Num 21:13a), God's command to fight the Amorites (from Deut 2:24–25 into Num 21:21a), and Moses' exhortation to Joshua to be courageous (from Deut 3:21–22 into Num 27:23b).

Many of the longer readings included in 4QNum<sup>b</sup> are not found in the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint but are often preserved in the Samaritan Pentateuch. To a lesser extent, 4QNum<sup>b</sup> also contains readings present in the Greek Bible but not in the Masoretic Text or Samaritan Pentateuch. This important scroll was copied about 30 BCE, which was a critical time in the history of the transmission of the biblical text. Within a few decades, rabbinical circles began actively striving to establish a standardized form for the books of the Hebrew Bible, which many scholars term the “proto-Masoretic text.”<sup>f</sup> This effort included the elimination or suppression of textual forms that deviated from the proto-Masoretic text. Since 4QNum<sup>b</sup> is one example of these “different” textual forms, it gives us a precious window on one textual tradition that differs markedly from the Hebrew Bible and English translations that are used today. One final feature of this fascinating scroll is that it contains words written in red ink, which is most unusual among the scrolls. It appears that the function of this red writing was to introduce passages for liturgical reading (see the note on Num 20:22–23).

■ The first two scrolls listed in the footnotes are both unusual. 4QLev-Num<sup>a</sup> originally contained at least the books of Leviticus and Numbers; such scrolls containing more than one book of the Pentateuch are very rare. 1QpaleoLev, written in the old paleo-Hebrew script, is listed as a Leviticus scroll but preserves at least two passages from Numbers (1:48–50 and 36:7–8?) somewhere between Leviticus 23 and 27.

[1 And the LORD spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the tent of meeting, on the first day of the second month, in the second year] after they had come out of the land [of Egypt, saying, 2 “Take a census of all the congregation of the Israelites, by their families, by their fathers' houses,] according to the number of the names, ev[ery male, each one individually; 3 from twenty years old and upward, all who are able to go out to war in Israel, you and Aaron shall number] them by [their] armie[s. 4 And a man of every tribe shall be with you; each one] is [head of his fathers' house.] 5 And the[se are the names of the men that shall stand with you. Of Reuben: Elizur son of Shedeur.]” ▲

[21 The numbered men, of the tribe of Reuben, were] fort[y-six thousand five hundred. 22 Of the descendants of Simeon, their generations, by their families, by their fathers' houses, their numbered men,] according to the numb[er of the names, individually, every male from twenty years old and upward, all who were able to go out to war. . . .] ▲

[36 Of the descendants of Benjamin, their generations, by their families, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all who] were able to go out to war; 37 [their] nu[mbered men, of the tribe of Benjamin, were thirty-five thousand four hundred.] 38 Of the son<sup>4</sup> of Dan, their generations, by [their] fam[ilies, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all who were able to go out to] war; 39 their numbered men, of [the tribe of Dan, were sixty-two thousand seven hundred.] 40 Of the descendants of A[sher, their genera]t[ions, by their families, by their fathers' houses, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, all who were able to go out to war. . . .] ▲

48 [For the LORD] s[poke to Moses, saying, 49 “Only the tribe of Levi] you shall [not] number, [n]or [shall you take their census among the Israelites; 50 but appoin]t [the Levites over the tabernacle of the testimony, and over all its furniture, and over all that belongs to it; they shall carry the tabernacle and all its furniture; and they shall take care of it, and shall encamp around the tabernacle.] ▲

218 “On the west side [shall be the standard of the camp of Ephraim by th]eir [companies;] and the leader [of the descendants of Ephraim shall be Elishama son of Ammihud. 19 And his army, even their numbered men, are forty thousand five hundred. 20 And n]ex[t to him shall be the tribe of Manasseh; and the leader of the descendants of Manasseh shall be Gamaliel son of Pedahzur.]” ▲

[31 “All the numbered men of the camp of Dan are a hundred and fifty-seven thousand six] hundred. [They] sh[all set out] last [by their standards.” 32 These are the numbered men of the Israelites by their fathers' houses; all who were numbered of the camps] by [their] companies [were six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty.] ▲

■ One of the Numbers scrolls, 4QLXXNum, was written in Greek, with the preserved text starting at Numbers 3:40. The presence of Greek manuscripts at Qumran (others include pap7QLXXExod, 4QLXXLev<sup>a</sup>, pap4QLXXLev<sup>b</sup>, and 4QLXXDeut) reminds us that during the Hellenistic and Roman periods many Jews—including those at Qumran—knew Greek as well as Hebrew and Aramaic.

[3 These are the names of the sons of Aaron, the] an[o]inted priests, wh[om] they<sup>2</sup> [ord]ained t[o minister in the priest's of]fice. [4 But Nadab and Abihu died before the LORD, when they offered illicit fire before the LORD,] in the wilderness of Sinai. They had no children, [so] Eleazar [and Ithamar ministered in the priest's office in the lifetime of Aaron their father].

5 [Then] the LORD [sp]oke to Moses, say[ing], 6 “Bring the tribe of Levi near, and set them before] Aaron the priest, so that they may minister to him. 7 And they shall perform the duties for him, and for the whole [congregation before the tent of meeting, doing] service at the tabernacle. 8 And [they] shall take ca[re of] all the furniture of the te[nt of meeting, and the duties of the Israelites, as they do servic]e at the tabernacle. 9 And you shall give the Levites [to Aaron and] t[o his sons; they are wholly given to him from among the Israelites. 10 So] you shall appoint Aaron and his sons, and they shall attend to [their priesthood; but any layman who comes near shall be put to death].”

11 [And] the LORD [spo]ke to Moses, sa[y]ing, [12 “Now see, I have taken the Levites from among the Israelites instead of every firstborn that opens the womb] among<sup>3</sup> the Israelites.<sup>4</sup> So the L[evites] shall be mine, [13 for all the firstborn are mine; on the day that I slew all the firstborn in the land of Egypt I consecrated for my own al]l the firstborn in Israel, both human a[nd animal; they shall be mine. I am the LORD].”

14 [Then the LORD spoke to Moses in the wilderness of Sinai,] saying, 15 “Number the de[scendants of Levi by their fathers' houses and by their families; every male from a month old and upward you shall number.” 16 So] Moses [num]bered them acco[r]ding to the word of the LORD, as he was commanded].

17 [These then were the sons of Levi by their names: Gershon and Kohath and Merari. 18 And th]ese are the names of the so[ns of Gershon by their families:

Libni and Shimei. 19 And the sons of Kohath by their families: Amram and Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel. ▲

[38 And those who were to encamp before the tabernacle eastward, before the tent of meeting toward the sunrise, were Moses and Aaron and his sons, having charge of the] ri[tes of the sanctuary, whatever had to be done for the Israelites]; but the [layman coming near was to be put to death. 39 All the numbered men of the Levites,] who[m Moses and Aaron numbered at the commandment of the LORD,] by [their] fa[milies, all the males from a month old and upward, were twenty-]two [thousand.]

40 Then [the LORD] s[aid to Moses,] “Number [all the firstborn males] of the Israelites fro[m a month old and upward, and ma]ke a list [of their names. 41 And] you shall [ta]ke the Levite[s for me—I] [am the LORD—instead of all] the fir[stborn among the Israelites; and the catt]le [of] t[he Levites instead of all the fi]rstborn [among the cattle of the Isra]el[ites.]” 42 So [Moses] nu[mbered, as the LORD had com]mande[d him, all the firstborn among t]he Isra[el]ites. [43 And all the first]bor[n m]ales [according to the number of names, fr]om a mo[nth old and upward, for their numbered men were twenty-two thousand two hundred and seventy-three.] ▲

[49 So Moses took the redemption money from those who were above the number redeemed by the Levites; 50 from the firstborn of the Israelites he took the money, one thousand three hundred and sixty-fi]ve shek[els, reckoned by the shekel of the sanctuary; 51 and Moses gave the redemption m]one[y to Aaron and] to his sons, [according to the word of the LORD, as the L]ORD [had commanded] Moses.

41 Then the LORD spoke to Moses [and t]o Aaron, saying, 2 “Take a census of the sons of Kohath from among the sons of Levi, by their families and their fathers’ houses, 3 from thirty [yea]rs old and on up to f[if]ty years old, all who can enter in the service, to [d]o the work in the tent of meeting.

4 “[Thi]s is the service o[f the sons of Kohath] in the tent of m[ee]ting: concerning the m]ost [ho]ly things. 5 When [the camp] sets out, [Aaron and] his [sons] shall g[oin], and] t[he]y shall take [down] the veil of the [screen,] and cov[er] the ark of the testimony with it, 6 an[d they shall put a covering of s]eal[s]k[in on i]t, and shall spre[ad a cloth of pure blue] over it, [and shall put in *the p]oles.<sup>5</sup> 7 And over the table of the bread [of the pres]ence [they] shall spr[ead] a blu[e cl]oth, [and put] the p[lat]es on i]t, a[nd the dishes], and the bowls and [the c]ups for drink offerings with them;<sup>6</sup> [the continu]al bre[ad] sha[ll] also [be] on it. [8 Then they shall spread ov]er them a cloth [of scarlet,]* and cover it [with a] co[vering of] seal[sk]in, and shall put in the poles.<sup>7</sup>

9 “An[d they shall take a cloth of bl]ue, and [cover] the lampstand for [th]e light, [with its lamps,] its [snuffers,] its trays, and all [its oil] vessels, with [which it is supplied; 10 and they shall put it and all its utensils in a covering of] seal[sk]in, and shall put it on the carrying fr[ame. 11 And over the golden altar they shall spread] clo[th]s [of b]lue,<sup>8</sup> and cover i[t with a coverin]g of s[ea]lskin, and shall [put in it]s poles; 12 and they shall take all the ut[ensils of serv]ice, with which they mi[ni]ster in [t]he s[anctuary,] and put them in a cloth of b[lue,] and cover [them with a covering of] se[al]sk[in, [and put them] o[n] the carrying frame. [13 Then they shall take away the ashes from the alt]ar, a[nd spread a pur]ple clo[th over it; 14 and they shall put on it all its vessels, with which they serve in connection with it: the firepans, the forks, the shovels,] and the ba[sins, all the utensils of the al]tar; [and they shall spread over it a co]vering [of seal]s[kin, and p]ut [in its poles].

15 “[And when Aaron and] h[is] sons [have finished covering the sanctuary, and a]ll [the furniture of the sanctuary, as th]e ca[mp sets out, after that the sons of Kohath shall come to carry it; but they must not touch the sanctuary, lest they die. These are the things of the tent of meeting that the sons of Kohath are to carry. 16 And the responsibili]ty [of] E[leazar son of Aaron the priest shall be the oi]l for t[he light, the frag]rant [incense, the continual grain offering, and the anointing oil, with the oversight of the entire tabernacle, and of all that is in it,] in t[he sanctuary, and its furniture.]” ▲

[40 And] their numbered men, by [the]ir fa[milies, by their fathers’ houses, were two thousand six hundred and thirty. 41 These are the numbered men of] the families of the sons of Gershon, all who served [in the te]nt of m[ee]ting, whom Moses and Aaron numbered according to the commandment of] the LORD. 42 And the numbered men of the families of the sons of Merari, by their fa[milies, by their fathers’ houses, 43 from thirty yea]r[s old] up to fi[ft]y years old, every[one who could ent]er the service, [for work in the tent of meeting— 44 even] their [nu]mbered men by their families [were] three t[housan]d two hundred. 45 T[hese are the numbered men of the families of the sons of Merari, whom Moses and A]aron [numbered] accor[ding to the commandment of the LORD] by Moses.

46 A[ll the numbered m]en [of the Levites] wh[om Moses and Aaron an]d [the] le[aders of Isra]el [numbered,] by [their] families [and by] their fathers’ [houses, 47 from thirty] years [old] up [to fifty years old, everyone who could enter] t[oo do the work of service and the work of bearing bu]rdens in the tent of meeting, 48 even [their numbered men were eight thousand five hundred and eighty. 49 According to the commandm]ent of the LORD [through Moses they] were appointed, [each one by his serving or carrying; thus were they numbered] by him, a[s the LORD commanded Moses].

5[1 Then the LORD spoke to Moses, s]ay[ing,] 2 “Command [the Israelites to send away from t]he camp every lep[er, and everyone who has a discharge, and whoever is unclean through contact with a corpse;] 3 both male and<sup>2</sup> [female you shall send away, o]utside the camp you shall se[nd them, so that they might not defile th]eir [camp] where [I dwell in their midst.” 4 And the Israelites did so, and sent them outside the c]amp; as the LORD spo[ke to Moses, so the Israelites did].

5 [Then the LORD spok]e [to Moses, saying, 6 “Speak to the Israelites: ‘When a ma]n or woman [commits any of the sins that people commit by breaking faith with the LORD, and] that<sup>10</sup> [person is guilty,] 7 then [they] shall c[onfess their sin which they have committed; and he shall make restitution for his guilt in f]ull, [adding to it a f]i[ft]h part of it, and giving it to the one whom he has wronged. 8 But if the man has no] kinsman [to whom] restitution may be made [for the wrong, the restitution for wrong which is made must go to the LORD for the priest, in addition to the ram of the atoneme]nt, by which [atonement is made for him. 9 And every offering pertaining to all the holy things of the Israelites, which they present to the priest,] shall b[e his]. ▲

7[84 This was the dedication offering for the altar, on the day when it was anointed, from the leaders of Israel: twelve silver plates, ▲ 88 and all the oxen for the sacrifice of peace offerings, twenty-]fo[ur] bulls, [the rams sixty, the male goats sixty, the male lambs a] year [old,] sixty. [This was the dedication of the altar, after it was anointed]. ▲

8[7 “And thus you shall do to them,] to cleanse them: sprinkle the water of purification on them, [let them shave their whole body with a razor, and let them wash their clothes, and so cleanse themselves. 8 Then let them take] a young bull and its grain offering of fine flour mixed wi[th oil, and you shall take another young bull for a sin offering. 9 And you shall present the Levites] before the tent of meeting, and assemble [the whole congregation of the Israelites. 10 When you present the Levites before the LORD,] the [I]sraelites [shall lay the]ir hands on the Levites; [11 and Aaron shall offer the Levites before the LORD as a wave offering from the Israe]l[ites], that it may be theirs to do the service of the L[ORD].

12 “[Now the Levites shall lay their hands upon the heads of the bulls, then offer the one for a si]n offering and the ot[her for a burnt offering to the LORD, to make atonement for the Levites].” ▲

[21 And the Levites purified themselves from sin, and washed their clothes; and Aaron offered them as a wave offering before the LORD, and Aaron made atonement for] them [to cleanse them. 22 And after that the Levites went in to do their service in the tent of meeting before Aaron and] before his sons. [As the LORD had commanded Moses concerning the Levites, so they did to them]. ▲

9[3 “On the fourteenth day of] this [mon]th, on the day [ . . . , <sup>u</sup> you shall keep it at its appointed time; according to all its statu]t[es and accord]ing to a[ll] its [ordina]nces [you shall keep i]t.”

4 So Moses [spoke] t[o the Israelites, that they should keep the Passover. 5 And th]ey [kept] the Passover in the first month, [on the fourteenth day of the month, at twilight, in the wilderness of S]inai. According to all that the LORD commanded Moses, [so the Israelites did].

[6 Now there were certain people who were uncl]ean through touching a dead body, so that they could not keep [the Passover on that day; and they came before Moses and Aaro]n on that day. 7 And [those] people said [to him, “We are unclean through touching a dead body; why are we kept back from] o[f]fering the LORD’s offering [at its appointed time among the Israelites?” 8 Then Moses said to them, “Wait, that I may hear] what the LORD will command concerning you.” [9 And the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, 10 “Spea]k to the Israelites, sa[y]ing, ‘[If any of your people or of] your descendants [are unclean because of a dead body, or are on a distant journey,] he shall still keep the Passover to the LO[R]D.’” ▲

[19 Even when the cloud lingered over the tabernacl]e many days, then [the Israelites] ke[pt the charge of the LORD, and did not set out. 20 Sometimes the cloud remained a fe]w [d]ays [over the tabernacle, and according to the command of the LORD they remained in camp; then according to the command of the LORD they set out]. ▲

10[13 And they set out for the first time accor]ding to the command of the LO[R]D [by Moses].

[14 The standard of the camp of the people of Judah set out first by their companies; and over] its [army was] Nahshon son of Amminadab. 15 A[nd over the army of the tribe of the people of Issachar was Nethanel son of Zuar. 16 And over the army of the tr]ibe of the people of Zebulun was Eliab son of Helon.

17 Then th[e tabernacle] was taken down, [and the sons of Gershon and the sons of Merari, who carried] the tabernacle, set out. 18 Next the standard of the camp of Reuben set out by [their] compani[es; and over its army was Elizur son of Shedeur. 19 And over the arm]y of the tribe of the people of Simeo[n was She]lumiel son of Zur[ishaddai. 20 And over the army of the tribe of the people of Gad was Eliasaph son of Deuel].

21 Then] the Kohathites set out, carrying the holy things; [and the tabernacle was set up before their arrival. 22 And the standard of the cam]p of the people of Ephraim set out by their companies, and over [its army was Elishama son of Ammihud. 23 And over the army of the tribe of the people of Manas]seh [was Gama]l[ie]l [son of Pedahzur]. ▲

11[4 Now the rabble among them had an intense craving; and] the Israelites also [wept again, and said, “If we only had meat to eat! 5 We remember the fish we used to eat in Egypt for nothing,] the cucumber[s, the melons, the leeks, the onions, and the garlic;” ▲

[16 So the LORD said to Moses, “Gather for me seventy men of the elders of Israel, whom you know to be the elders of the people and officers over them; and bring them to the tent of meeting, and let them take their place ther]e [with you. 17 And I will come down and talk with you there; and I will take some of the spirit that is on you and put it on] them; [and they shall bear the burden of the people with you, so that you might not bear it all by yourself. 18 And say to the people: ‘Conse]crate yourselves for tomorrow, [and you shall eat meat; for you have wailed in the hearing of the LORD, saying, “If only we had meat to eat! For it was well with us in] Egy[p]t.” [Therefore the LORD will give you meat, and you shall eat. 19 You shall not eat only one day, or two days, or f]ive days, or ten days, [or twenty days, 20 but for a whole month, until it comes] out of your nostrils [and becomes loathsome to you—because you have rejected the LORD who is among you, and have wailed before hi]m, saying, [“Why did we come out of Egypt]?”””

21 [But Moses said, “The people] among [whom] I [am number six hundred thousand on foot; and you say, ‘I will give them meat, so that they may eat for a whole month.’ 22 Are there sufficient flocks and herds to be slaughtered for them?] Or [are there] enough [fish in the sea to be caught for them?]” ▲

■ The ancient sources have very few variant readings for Numbers 11. For verse 32 4QNum<sup>b</sup> tells us “And all the people rose up that day,” whereas the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint read “And the people rose up that day.” While such small differences do not greatly impact our understanding of the text, they serve to emphasize various aspects (in this case, that all the Israelites partook of God's provision by gathering the quails he had provided). See also the comment on Numbers 16:8.

[31 Then a wind went out from the LORD and brought quails from the sea, and let them fall beside the camp, about a day's journey on this side, and a day's journey on the other side, round about] the camp, [and about two cubit]s [deep] on the surface of [the gr]ound. 32 And all<sup>12</sup> the people went out all th[at day, and all the night] and all the [day,] the next,<sup>13</sup> and gathered the quails; the one who gathered least gathered [ten homers; and they spread them out] for themselves all around the camp. 33 While the meat was still bet[ween their teeth, before it was chewed, the anger of] the LORD burned [against the people, and the LOR]D [struck the] people with a very great plague. 34 So [the name of th]at [place was called] Kib[roth–hattaavah, because there they buried the people who had been greedy].

35 [From Kibroth–hattaava]h the people journeyed;<sup>14</sup> and [they] s[ta]yed at Hazeroth].

12<sup>1</sup> Then [Miriam and Aaron] spo[ke] against Moses [because of the Cushite woman whom he had marrie]d; for [he had married] a Cush[ite] woman. [2 And] they said, “H[as the LORD indeed spoken only through Moses? Has] he [not] spoken through us also?” And the LOR[D] heard it. [3 Now the man Moses was ve]ry [humble, more so than all the people wh]o were on the face of the earth.

■ Several readings in 4QNum<sup>b</sup> are in agreement with the Greek Septuagint, in opposition to the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch. One of these is found in 12:6, where the subject the LORD is specified in 4QNum<sup>b</sup> and the Septuagint. In contrast, the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch simply have the pronoun he, which draws less attention to the speaker.

4 And [the LORD spoke suddenly to Moses, to Aaron, and to] M[iria]m, “Come out, you three, to the tent of m[ee]ting.” So the three of them came out. 5 And the LOR[D] [came down] in a pillar of cloud, and stood [at the d]oor of the tent, and c[alled Aaro]n and Miriam; and they [both] came forward. [6 And] the Lord<sup>15</sup> said to them,<sup>16</sup> [“Hear now] my words: if there is a prophet among you, I the LORD will make myself known t[o hi]m i[n a vision; I will speak with him [in a drea]m. [7 Not so with my servant] Moses; he is faithful in all my house. 8 With him [I] speak mouth t[o mouth,] even openly,<sup>17</sup> and not [in dark sayings; and he beholds the form of the LORD. Why] then were you not afraid to speak [against m]y [servant,] against Moses?” 9 And the anger [of the LORD] burned [against them, and he departed].

10 [When the cloud moved away from over the tent,] behold, Miriam had become leprous, as white as snow. And Aaron turned toward [Miriam, and behold, she was leprous. 11 Then Aaron said to Moses, “Please,] my [lo]rd, do not l[ay] the punishment [o]n [us because we have acted foolishly and because we have sinned].” ▲

13[4 These were their names: . . . . 7 from the tribe of] Issachar, Igal son of Jos[eph; . . . ,] 10 from the tribe of Zebulun, Gaddi[el son of] Sodi; 11 from [the tri]be of [Joseph, namely, of the tribe of Manasseh, Gaddi son of Susi; 12 from the tribe of Dan,] Ammiel son of Gemalli; 13 from the tr[ibe of Asher,] Sethur son of Mic[hael; 14 from the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi son of Vophsi; 15 from the tribe of Gad, Geu]el son of Micha.<sup>18</sup>

■ The exact form of proper names was often problematic in ancient texts. (Compare the English names Claire, Clare, Clara.) For instance, Numbers 13:15 mentions the father of an Israelite as Micha in 4QNum<sup>b</sup>, Maki in the Masoretic Text, Miki in the Samaritan Pentateuch, and Makchi in the Septuagint. These differences show that the spoken forms of a language change over time and distance, and suggest that many Israelite traditions were handed down orally for a considerable time before they were committed to writing.

16 These [are the names of] the men whom [Moses sent to spy out the land. And M]oses renamed Hoshea son of Nu[n as Joshua.] 17 Then Mo[ses] sent them [to spy out the land of Canaan, and said to them,] “Go up there into the Negev, and g[go up into] the hill country, 18 and see [what the land is like, and whether the people who dwell] in it are strong [or if] t[he]y are weak,<sup>19</sup> whether [they are] fe[w or many; 19 and how the land is [in wh]ich they li[ve,] whether [it is] good [or bad; and how are the cities in whi]ch they live, whether li[ke camps] or whether<sup>20</sup> with fo[rtifica]t[ions; 20 and how the land is, whether it is fertile o]r it is<sup>21</sup> poor, whether there [is wood] in it [or not.] And be bold, and bring back [some of the fruit of the] land.” Now the time was the season of the first ripe<sup>22</sup> [grapes].

■ 4QNum<sup>b</sup> contains some readings that agree with the Samaritan Pentateuch rather than with the Masoretic Text or the Septuagint. For instance, in Numbers 13:21 the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint relate that the people “went up and spied out the land.” But 4QNum<sup>b</sup> and the Samaritan Pentateuch have an additional verb, telling us that the people “went up, and entered, and spied out the land.” This evidence shows that 4QNum<sup>b</sup> and the Samaritan Pentateuch preserve a very ancient form of the biblical text—one that sometimes differs from our Bibles.

21 So they went up, and entered,<sup>23</sup> and spied out [the land from the wilder]ness of Zin to Rehob, near the entrance of H[amath. 22 And they went up through the Negev,] and came to Hebron; and Ahaiman, [Sheshai, and] Tol[mai,<sup>24</sup> the] des[endants of Anak,] were over there.<sup>25</sup> [Now Hebron] was built [seven years] before Zoan in Egypt. 23 And [they] ca[me to the Valley of Eshcol, and cut down from there] a branch with one cluster of grapes on it,<sup>26</sup> [and they carried it on a pole between two of them; they also brought some pomegranates and figs.] 24 That [place] was called<sup>27</sup> the valley of Eshcol, because of the [cluster which the Israelites cut down from there]. ▲

15[41 “I am the LORD your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, to be your God: I am the LORD your] God.”

161 Now K[orah] son of I[zha]r, son of Kohath [son of Levi, along with Dathan and] Abirom<sup>28</sup> the sons of [Eliab, and On son of] Peleth son<sup>29</sup> [of Reu]ben, took action 2 and rose up befo[re] Mos[es, with some me]n [of] the Israelites, [two hundre]d and fif[ty] lea[ders of the congregation,] chosen from the a[ssembly,] and<sup>30</sup> men of renown. 3 And [they] assem[bled together against] Moses [and agai]nst Aaron, and said [to them, “You] have gone too far! For all the congregation are holy, every one of them, and [the LORD is] among th[em; why then do you exalt yourselves above the assembly of the LORD]?”

■ Whether an action takes place in the past, present, or future affects our understanding of the text. In Numbers 16:5, 4QNum<sup>b</sup> and the Septuagint tell us that the Lord “has brought whomever is holy near to himself; the one whom he has chosen,” whereas both the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch depict these actions as taking place in the present or future. The past actions in 4QNum<sup>b</sup> and the Septuagint have a finality or decisiveness that is not present in the other texts.

4 [When Moses heard it,] he fell on his face; 5 and he spoke to Korah and to [all his company, saying, “In the morning the LORD will show who is his, and] he has brought [whomever is ho]ly near<sup>31</sup> to himself; the one whom he has c[hosen<sup>32</sup> he will bring near to himself. 6 Do this: take cense]rs [for yourselves,] Korah, and all his company; 7 and tomorrow put [fire in them, and put incense on them before the LORD; and the man wh]om [the LORD] chooses [shall be the holy one. You have gone too far, sons of Levi].”

■ With the presence of a few additional words, 4QNum<sup>b</sup> sometimes contains a more inclusive text. For example, in Numbers 16:8, 4QNum<sup>b</sup> tells us that Moses speaks “to Korah and all of his company,” who had rebelled against him. But the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint limit the blame—at least in this case—by addressing Moses’ words only “to Korah.”

8 [Then Moses said to Korah and] all of his company,<sup>33</sup> “Now listen, [you sons of Levi! 9 Is it too small a thing for you that the God of Israel has separated you from] the congregation of Is[ra]el, to bring [you near to himself in order to perform the service of the tabernacle of the LORD, and to stand before the congregation] to minister to them; 10 and that he has brought you near, as well as [all your brothers the sons of Levi with you? Now are you seeking the priesthood also? 11 Therefore you and all] your company have g[athered together against the LORD. But as for Aaron, who is he that you grumble so against him]?” ▲

[12 Then Moses sent a summons to Dathan and Abiram sons of Eliab; but they said, “We will not come! . . . 14 Indeed you have not brought us into a land flowing with milk and honey, nor given us an inheritance of fields and vineyards. Would you put out the] eyes of [these men? We will not come up].”

15 [Then Moses became very angry, and said to the LORD, “Do not accept] their [offerin]g; [I have] no[t taken one donkey from them, and I have not harmed one of them.” 16 And Moses said to K]orah, “As for yo[u and all your company, be present tomorrow before the LORD, you and they and Aaron.”] ▲

[46 <sup>34</sup>Then Moses said to Aaron, “Take your censer, . . . . 47 So Aaron took it as Moses had said, and] ran into the midst of the assembly; [and behold, the plague had begun among the people, but he put on the incense, and made atonement for the people.] 48 And he sto[o]d between the dead [and the living; and the plague was checked. 49 Now those who] died by the plague were fou[rteen thousand seven hundred, besides those who died in the affair of Korah. 50 Then] Aaron [returne]d t[o Moses at the door of the tent of meeting, for the plague had been checked].

17[1 Then the LORD spoke to Moses, sayin]g, 2 “Speak to the Is[raelit]es, [and get from them staffs, one for each ancestral house, from all the leaders] according to their ancestral houses—[twelve staffs. Write every man’s name on his rod].”

■ Occasionally two passages from different parts of the Hebrew Bible are similar or even identical—which makes them difficult to identify when they are preserved on small fragments of the Dead Sea Scrolls. One example is Numbers 18:8–9, which is very similar to Leviticus 22:1–3, 23:1–3, or 23:26–28! In such a case the relevant Numbers manuscript is listed with a question mark (2QNum<sup>d</sup>?), in recognition that it may be a Leviticus manuscript instead.

8 Then [the LORD] spo[ke to Aaron: “Now behold. I have given you charge of my offerings, even all the] hol[y gifts of the Israelites; I have given them to you as a priestly portion, and to your sons, as a perpetual due. 9 This shall be] for [you from the most holy things, reserved from the fire: every offering of theirs, even every grain offering of theirs and every sin offering of theirs and every guilt offering of theirs, which they render to me, shall be most holy for you and for your sons].” ▲

[25 Then the LORD spoke to Moses, sayi]ng, 26 “You shall speak to the Levites, and say [to them, ‘When you take from the Is]rael[ites] the tithe which I have given you fro[m them for your inheritance, then you shall offer up from it] a tithe offering from the tithe.<sup>35</sup> 27 And [your offering] shall be reckoned to y[ou as though it were the grain of the threshing floor, and as the] fullness of the wine press. 28 So [you] also shall present [an o]ffering [to the LORD from all your tithes, which you receive f]rom the Israelites; and you shall give some of it [as the L]ORD’s offering to Aaron the priest. 29 Out of all your gifts] you shall present every offering due to the LORD, from all the best of them, [their] sacred part [from them].’

30 “[Therefore you shall say to them,] ‘When you offer the best of it, then the rest shall be reckoned to you<sup>36</sup> as your offering,<sup>37</sup> as the pr[oduce of the threshing floor, and as the produce] from<sup>38</sup> the wine press. 31 And you shall eat them<sup>39</sup> in every place, you and you[r] households;<sup>40</sup> [for it is your reward] in return for your service in the tent of meeting. 32 And you shall bear no sin because of it, [when you have offered some of the best] from it; and you shall not profane the holy gifts of the Israelites, lest you die.’”

19<sup>1</sup> Now the LORD spoke to them<sup>41</sup> and to Aaron, saying, 2 “T[h]is is the statute of [the law which] the LORD [has commanded,] saying, ‘Tell the Israelites to bring you an [unblemished red] heifer, in [which] is no defect, and on which no yoke has been laid. 3 And you<sup>42</sup> shall give it to Elea[zar the priest, and they shall bring] it outside the camp, and they<sup>43</sup> shall slaughter it b[ef]ore him. 4 Then El[eazar the priest] shall take [some of its blood] with his finger, and sprinkle some of its blood toward the door<sup>44</sup> of the tent [of meeting seven times. 5 Then he shall burn] the heifer in his sight; its skin, a[nd its flesh, and its blood, together with its dung, he shall burn. 6 And the priest shall take cedarwood and hyssop] and scarl[et ma]terial, [and cast them in the midst of the burning heifer].’” ▲

20<sup>[7</sup> Then the LORD spoke] to Moses, saying, 8 “Take the rod, [and assemble the congregation, you and Aaron your brother, and command the rock before their eyes to yield its water. So you shall bring water out of the rock for them; so you shall provide drink for the congregation and their cattle]. ▲

■ 4QNum<sup>b</sup> and the Samaritan Pentateuch follow Numbers 20:13a with a passage that is not found in modern Bible translations, which accord with the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint. After Moses has sinned in the desert by striking the rock twice in anger (verse 11), God informs him that neither he nor Aaron will enter the Promised Land (verse 12). The additional passage contains Moses’ response—his plea that he be allowed to cross the Jordan—and the Lord’s concession that he be permitted to view the land from the top of Mount Pisgah. The speech has been taken from Deuteronomy 3:24–25, 26b–27, and probably Deuteronomy 3:28 and 2:2–6. (See the introduction to Numbers.)

[12 But the LORD said to Moses and Aaron, “Because you did not believe in me, to show my holiness in the eyes of the Israelites, therefore you shall not bring this assembly into the land that I have given t]h[em.” 13 These are the waters of Meribah, where the] people of [Israel quarreled with the LORD, and by which he showed his holiness. And Moses sa]id, [“O Lord God, you have] begun t[o show your servant] your [greatnes]s and [your strong hand; for what god is there] in heaven or o[n earth who can act in comparison with you]r [works,] and in comparison with your mighty acts? [Please let me cross over and see] the good [land that is beyond] the Jordan, [that good] hill country, [and Lebanon.” But the Lord] said [to Moses,] “Enough; [speak] no [more to me of this matter! Go up to the] t[op of Pisgah, and lift up] your [eye]s to the west [and to the north and to the south and to the east, and see it with your eyes, for you shall not cross over this Jordan].”<sup>45</sup> ▲

[14 Moses sent messengers from Kadesh to the King of Edom, “Thus says your brother Israel: ‘You know the adversity that has befallen us; 15 how our ancestors went down to Egypt, and we lived in Egypt a long time, and the Egyptians mistreated us and our ancestors. 16 But when we cried to the LORD, he heard our voice, and sent an angel and brought us out of Egypt; [and here we are in Kadesh, a city on the edge of your territory. 17 Please let us pass through your land;] we will [no]t go [through any field or vineyard, nor drink water from any well. We will go along the king’s highway, and not turn to the r]ight hand [o]r [to] the le[ft, until we have crossed your border.’” But Edom said to him, “You shall not pass through us, or I will come out with the sword against you].”

[19 So the Israelites said] to [him, “We will stay on the highway; and if we drink any of your water, whether I or my cattle, then will I pay] its p[rice. It is] only [a small matter, just let me pass through on foot.” 20 But he said, “You shall not pass through us, o]r I will come out [again]st y[ou] with a s[wo]rd.”<sup>46</sup> [Then Edom came out against them with many soldiers, and with a stron]g [force.] 21 Thus Edom refused to gi[ve Israel passage through his territory; so Israel turned away from him].

■ In column 12 of 4QNum<sup>b</sup>, one and a half lines of red writing are partially preserved. Such writing sometimes extends both beyond one verse (20:22–23) and beyond one line (lines 21–22), and a second line that begins in red sometimes finishes in black (line 22). Red ink is found elsewhere in 4QNum<sup>b</sup> in the first half of 21:21, and in 22:21; 23:13, 27; 31:25, 37–38, 48; 32:25; 33:1. But why was red writing used? It seems that its likely function was to introduce pericopes (that is, short passages) for liturgical reading. Red ink is also found in one of the Psalms scrolls, 2QPs, where it has a liturgical function by drawing the reader’s or reciter’s attention to the first four verses of Psalm 103. Other Dead Sea Scrolls with red writing are 4Q270 and 4Q481d. Red ink is also found in writings from Egypt (especially the New Empire), Greece, and Rome, and is referred to in the Talmud. In Codex Sinaiticus, red writing is used for the titles of the Psalms and for some notes associated with the Church Father Eusebius.

22 [Then they journeyed from Kadesh, and the Israelites, the whole congregation, came to] Mount [Hor.] 23 And the LORD spoke to Mos[es and Aaron at Mount Hor, on the border of the land of Edom, saying,] 24 “Aaron [will] be gathered to his people;<sup>47</sup> for [he shall] not enter into the [land that I have given to the Israelites, becau]se you rebelled against my command at the waters of Meribah. 25 Take Aar[on] and [his son] El[eazar and bring them up to Mount Hor; 26 and] you [shall strip]<sup>48</sup> Aaron of his garments, and put [them upon his son Eleazar. But Aaron will be gathered to his people, and will die]e [there].”

27 [So] Moses [did] as the LO[RD] com[manded; and they went up to Mount Hor in the sight of the whole congregation. 28 Then] Moses stripped Aaron [of his garments, and put them upon his son Eleazar; and Aaron died] there [on] the top of the m[ountain. Then] Moses and Eleazar came down [from the mountain. 29 And when all the congregation saw that Aaron was dead, [a]ll [the house of Israel wep]t for Aaron thirty days.

21[1 When the Canaanite, the king of Arad, who dwelt in the Nagev, heard that I]srael [was coming by the] ro[ad of Atharim, he fought against Israel and took some of them captive. 2 So Israe]l [made a vow to the LORD, and said, “If you will indeed deliver this people into my hand, then I will totally destroy their cities].” ▲

■ For Numbers 21, 4QNum<sup>b</sup> and the Samaritan Pentateuch differ markedly from the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint by inserting three speeches that also appear in the book of Deuteronomy. (1) In verse 12a God’s prohibition to Moses to fight Moab is imported from Deuteronomy 2:9. (2) In verse 13a the prohibition to fight Ammon is taken from Deuteronomy 2:18–19. (3) In verse 21a God’s command to fight the Amorites is imported from Deuteronomy 2:24–25. (See the Introduction to Numbers.)

12 [And the Lord] sai[d to Moses, “Do not harass Moab nor engage them in battle, for] I will not give an[y of its land to you as a possession, since I have given Ar to the descendants of Lot for a possession.”<sup>49</sup> From there they set out, and camped] in the Valley of Zer[ed. 13 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying, “Today you are going to cross at Ar, the] border of M[oab; and when you approach the Ammonites, do not harass them or engage them,] for [I will not give you any of the territory of the Ammonites as a possession, since I have given it to the descendants of Lot as a possession.”<sup>50</sup> From there they set out, and camped on the other side of the Arnon, which is in the wilderness that extends from the boundary of the Amorites; for the Arnon is the boundary of Moab, between Moab and the Amorites]. ▲

[18 . . . And from the wilderness they continued to Mattanah, . . . 20 and from Bamoth to the valley that is in the region of] Moab, [at the] t[op of Pisgah that overlooks the desert].

21 Then [the Lord] spoke [to Moses: “Arise, be on your way, and cross the valley of the Arnon. See, I have given into your hand] Sih[on the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land; start taking possession, and engage in b]attle. [Today I will begin to put the dread and fear of you upon the peoples that are under the whole heaven, who will hear the news of you and will tremble and be in anguish because of you.”<sup>51</sup> Then Israel sent messengers to Sihon king of the Amorites, saying, “22 Let me pass through your land . . .”] ▲

■ Although 4QNum<sup>b</sup> often agrees with the Samaritan Pentateuch against the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint, in several instances it shares with the Septuagint readings that are not in the Masoretic Text or the Samaritan Pentateuch. Two examples are in verse 11: Balak’s statement “and they [that is, the Israelites] are dwelling next to me” (compare verse 5), and his hope that he will be able to drive them out “of the land” (compare verse 6). In both cases the longer reading repeats information found earlier in the chapter. Such agreements between 4QNum<sup>b</sup> and the Septuagint remind us that it is no easy task to decide which is the most ancient form of the biblical text.

5 [Then Moab s]ent m[essengers to Balaam son of Beor at Pethor, which is near] the River Euphrates, in the land of the descendants of [his] p[eople, to sum]mon him, sayin[g, “See, a people has come out from Egypt; they cover the face of] the earth, and they have settled [next to me. 6 So please come now and curse this people for me; for th]ey ar[e too mighty] for me. Perhaps I shall be able to defeat [them and drive them from the land; for I know that the one whom you bless is] blessed, and the one whom you curse [is cursed].”

[7 So the elders of Moab and the elders of Midian departed with the fees for divination in their hand; and they] came [t]o [Ba]l[aa]m, and repeated to him] the words of Balak. 8 And he said [to them, “Stay he]re [to]ni[ght, and] I [will bring back word to] y[ou, just as] the LORD speaks to me.” So the leaders of Mo[a]b stayed with [Ba]l[aa]m.

9 Then [Go]d came to B[alaam and said] to him,<sup>52</sup> “Who are these men [wi]th you?” 10 And Balaam said to God, “Balak son of Z[i]ppor, king of Moab, has sent word] to me, saying,<sup>53</sup> 11 ‘See, this people has come out<sup>54</sup> of Egypt and they cover the face of the earth, and they are dwelling [next to me.<sup>55</sup> Now, come] cur[se] them [for me;] perhaps I shall be able [to] fight against them and drive them out [of the lan]d.’”<sup>56</sup> 12 And [God] said [to Balaam, “Do] not [go<sup>57</sup> wit]h the men,<sup>58</sup> and<sup>59</sup> do not [curs]e<sup>60</sup> the people; for they are blessed.” 13 So [Balaam rose] up [in the mor]ning, and s[aid to the leaders of Bala]k, “Go back t[o] your lord,<sup>61</sup> for the LORD has refused to let me to g[o with you].” 14 [So] the leaders of M[o]a[b rose and went t]o Balak, and said to him,<sup>62</sup> “Balaam refuses to come with us.”

■ While variant readings in 4QNum<sup>b</sup> often agree with the Samaritan Pentateuch, sometimes with the Septuagint, and more rarely with the Masoretic Text, some are unique to the scroll. Two examples are found in verse 16, where only 4QNum<sup>b</sup> reminds us that Zippor was “king of Moab” (compare verse 10), and in verse 19, where we are told, “And the princes of Moab stayed with Balaam” (compare verse 8). As was the case in verse 11, both of these longer readings repeat information found earlier in the chapter.

15 Then [Balak] aga[in sent leade]rs, more numerous [and more distinguish]ed than the first. 16 And they came to Balaam [and] said to him, [“Thus says Balak son of Zippor, ki]ng [of Moab,<sup>63</sup> ‘Please let n]o[thing hind]er you from coming to me; 17 for I will surely do you great honor, and wh[at]ever you say to me I will d]o for you;<sup>64</sup> [so please] co[me, cur]se [this] p[ea]ple for me.”] 18 But Balaam answered and said [to the servants of Balak, “Even if] Balak [would give m]e [his house] ful[l of] silver and gold, [I can]no[t go be]yond the word of the LORD [my] Go[d, to do less or mo]r[e in my hear]t.<sup>65</sup> [19 Now therefore,] please [also wait here this] night, [so that I may know wha]t [the LORD will speak to me in addition.”] And the] princes [of Moab stayed with Balaam].<sup>66</sup>

20 [And] God [came] to [Balaam at night, and said to him, “If the men] have come to call you, [get up and go wit]h them; but only [the word that I speak to] you shall you do.”

[21 So Balaam rose in the morning, and saddled his donkey and went with] the leaders of Moab. [22 But] G[od’s anger was inflamed] because [he] went; [and the angel of the LORD took his stand in the road as an adversary against] him. Now he was riding on his donkey, and] his [two] servants were with him. 23 Then the do[nkey] saw [the angel of the LORD standing in the road, with his sword drawn in his hand. So] the donkey [turned off] from the road, and went [into the field; and Balaam struck the donkey, to turn her back onto the road. 24 Then the angel of the LORD stood in a narrow pa]th between the vineyard[s, with a wall on this side and a wall on that side]. ▲

[31 Then the LORD opened the eyes of Balaam, and he saw the angel of the LORD standing in the ro]ad, with [his] sword [drawn in his hand; and he bowed his head, and fell before him.<sup>67</sup> [32 And] the angel of the LORD [said to] him, “Why have you struck your donkey [these three times? Behold,] I [have come out as an adversary] against you,<sup>68</sup> because your way is evil<sup>69</sup> before me. 33 But the donkey saw me, and turned away from<sup>70</sup> before me these [three] ti[me]s; if she had not turned aside from before [me,]<sup>71</sup> by now I would certainly have killed you, and let her live.”

34 Then Balaam said to the angel of the LORD, “I have sinned, for I did not know that you were standing in the way against me. Now therefore, if it is displeasing to [you, I will go back again].” ▲

[37 Then Balak said to Balaam, “Did I not urgently send word to you to call you? Why did you not come to me? Am I] really [unable to honor you?” 38 So Balaam said to Balak, “Look, I have come to you now, but am I] ab[le to say just anything? The word that God puts in my mouth, that is what I must say].” ▲

[41 And it came to pa]ss in the mo[rning that Balak took Balaam, and brought him up to Bamoth-Baal; and from there he saw a part of] the people.

23<sup>1</sup> Then [Balaam said to Balak, “Build seven altars for me here, and prepare seve]n bulls and seven [rams for me here.” 2 And Balak did as Balaam had said; and] B[ala]k and Balaam [offered] on each altar a b[ull and a] ram. [3 Then Balaam said to Balak, “Stand by your burn]t offering, and I myself<sup>72</sup> will go; perhaps God<sup>73</sup> will come [to meet me, and whatever he shows me] I [will tell] to [you.” And] Balak went and stood by his offering and Balaam called to God and went off to a barren height.<sup>74</sup>

4 [And] the ang[el of]<sup>75</sup> God met Ba]laam; and Balaam s[ai]d to him, [“I have prepared the seven altars, and I have offered up a bull and a ram on each altar.” 5 Then the LORD put a word in Balaam’s mouth and said, “Return to Balak, and you shall speak in this way.” 6 So he returned to him, and behold, he was standing be]side [his burnt offering, he and all the leaders of Moab]. ▲

[13 Then Balak said to Balaam, “Please come with me to another place, from where you may see them; you shall see only] a part of t[hem, and shall not see them all; then curse them for me from there.” 14 So he took him to the field of Zophim, to the top of] Pisgah, [and built seven altars, and offered a bull and a ram on each altar. 15 And he said to Ba]lak, “S[tand here beside your burnt offering while I meet the LORD over there].” ▲

[18 Then Balaam uttered his oracle and said, “. . . 21 God has not observed misfortune in Jacob; n]or has he seen [trouble in Israel. The LORD his God is with them, and the shout of a king is among them. 22 God, who brings them out of Egypt], [is like the horns of the wild ox for them].” ▲

[27 Then Balak said to Balaam, “Come now, I will take you to another place; perhaps it will] please God<sup>76</sup> [that you may curse them for me from there.” 28 So Balak took Balaam to the top of] Peor that overlooks the desert. [29 And Balaam said to Balak, “Build here seven] altars for me, and prepare seven bulls [and seven rams] for me here.” [30 So Balak did as Balaam had said,] and offered a bull and a ram on every altar.

24<sup>1</sup> Now when Balaam saw [that it pleased the LORD to bless Israel,] he did not go, as at other times, to look for the<sup>77</sup> om[ens, but set] his face [toward] the wilderness. 2 And B[alaa]m lifted up [his eyes and saw Israel encamping tribe by tribe. Then] the Spirit of God [came on him,] 3 and he uttered his oracle and said: “[The] oracle [of Balaam son of Beor, and the oracle of the man whose eye is opened; 4 the oracle of the one who hears the words of God, who sees the vision of the Almighty, who falls] down, yet has [his] e[yes] uncovered. [5 How fair are] your [tents, O Jacob, your encampments, O Israel! 6 Like valley]s [that stretch out, like gardens be]side a riv[er, like tents that the Lord] has set up,<sup>78</sup> like ce[dar trees beside the waters. 7 Water will flow from] his [bucket]s, and his seed [will be] by [many waters; and] his king [will be higher than Agag,] and [his kingdom] will [be exalted. 8 God, who brings him out of Egypt, is like] the horns of the wild ox for him; [he will devour the nations who are his adversaries, and will break their] bones [in pieces, and run them through with his arrows.] 9 He is ugly;<sup>79</sup> he stretches out<sup>80</sup> like a l[ion, and like a lioness; who dares rouse him? Blessed is everyone who blesses you, and cursed is everyone who curses you].”

10 [Then Ba]lak[’s anger burned] against Bal[aam, and he clapped his hands together. And Balak said to Balaam, “I called you to curse my enemies, but see, instead you have blessed them these three times].” ▲

25<sup>4</sup> Then the LORD said to Mos]es, “Take [all the leaders of the people, and im]pale t[hem before the LORD in the sun, so that the fierce anger of the LOR]D [may turn away from Israel.” 5 So] Moses [sai]d to [the judges of Israel, “Each one of you must slay his men] who have yoked themselves [to Baal of Peor].”

6 [Then behold,] one of the [Israelit]es [came and brought into his family a Midianite woman,] in the sight of [Moses and in the sight of the whole congregation of the Israelites, while they were weeping at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 7 And when Phinehas son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the priest, saw it, he rose up from the midst of the congregation] and took [a spear in his hand; 8 then he went after the Israelite man into the tent, and pierced both of them through, the man of Israel and the woman, through her belly. So the plague was checked among the children of Israel]. ▲

[16 Then the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, “Speak to the I]srae[lites, saying,<sup>81</sup> 17 ‘Harass] the Midianites, [and defeat them; 18 for they have harassed you] with their tricks, with which [they have deceived] you [in the affair of Peor, and in the affair of Cozbi daughter of the princ]e [of Midian,] their sister who was killed [on the day of the plague because of Peor].”

26[1 And it came about after the plague,] that the LORD spoke to [Moses and to Eleazar son of Aaron the priest, saying, 2 “Take] a census of all the congregation of the [Israel]ites, [from twenty years old and upward, by their fathers’ houses, all] in Israel who are able to go out to war.” [3 And Moses and Eleazar the priest spoke with them in the plain]s of Moab by [the Jordan at Jericho, saying, 4 “Take a census of the people, from twenty years old and upward, as the LOR]D [commanded] Moses.”

[Now the Israelites who came out of the land of Egypt were: 5 Re]uben, the firstborn of Israel,] the descendants of [Reuben: of Hano]ch, the clan of the Hano]chites; of Pallu,] the clan of the Pallu]ites; [6 of Hezron, the clan of the Hezronites; of Ca]rmi, [the] clan of [the Carmi]tes. 7 These are the clan]s of the Reubenites; and [those who were numbered of them] were [forty-three thousand] seven [hu]n[dre]d [and thirty].

8 [And the descendants of Pallu:] Eliab. [9 And the descendants of Eliab: Nemuel, Dathan, and Abirom. These are the same Dathan and Abi]rom,<sup>82</sup> [who were chosen from the congregation, w]ho [rebelled against Moses and] against Aaron [in the company of Korah, when] they [rebell]ed against the L[ORD, 10 and the earth opened its mouth, and] the e[arth]<sup>83</sup> [swallowed] them [up along with Korah, when] that company [die]d, [when the fire devoured two hundred and fifty men who offered incen]se,<sup>84</sup> and [they] became [a warning].

[12 The descendants of Simeon according to their clans: of Nemuel, the] cl[an of the Nemuelites; of Jamin, the clan of the Jaminites; of Jachi]n, [the cl]an [of the Jachinites; 13 of Zerah, the clan of the Zerahites; of Shaul, the clan of the Shaulites].

14 These are the clans of the Sim[eonites: twenty-two thousand two hundred].

15 And<sup>85</sup> the descendants of Gad by their clans: [of Zephon, the clan of the Zephonites; of Haggi, the clan of the Haggites; of Shuni,] the clan of the Sh[uni]tes; 16 of Ozni, the clan of the O[zn]ites; of Eri, the clan of the Erites; 17 of Ar]od, [the clan of the Arodites;] of [Ari]el,<sup>86</sup> the clan of the Arielit]es.<sup>87</sup> 18 These are the clans of the sons of Gad according to those who were numbered of them: [forty thousand five hundred].

19 The sons of J[udah: E]r [and Onan; and Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. 20 And] the descendants of J[udah by their clans were: of Shelah, the clan of the Shelanites; of Perez, the clan of the Perezites; of Zerah, the c]lan of the Zerahites. 21 And [the descendants of Perez were: of Hezron, the clan of the Hezronites; of Hamul, the clan of the Ham]uelites.<sup>88</sup> 22 These [are the clans of Judah according to those that were numbered of them: seventy-three thousand five hundred].

23 [The] descendants [of Issachar by their clans: of Tola, the clan of the Tolaites; of Puvah, the clan of the Puvi]tes;<sup>89</sup> 24 of Jashub, the c]lan of the Jashubites; of Shimron, the clan of the Shimronites. 25 These are the clans of Issachar according to those that were numbered] of them: [sixty-four thousand three hundred].

26 [The descendants of Zebulun by] their [cla]ns: [of Sered, the clan of the Seredites; of Elon, the clan of the Elonites; of Jahleel, the clan of the Jahlee]lites. 27 These [are the clans of the Zebulunites according to those that were numbered of them: sixty thousand five hundred].

28 The descendants of [J]oseph according to [their] cl[ans: Manasseh and Ephraim. 29 The descendants of Manasseh: of Machi]r, the clan of the Machirites, and Mac[h]ir was the father of Gilead; of Gilead, the clan of the Gileadites. 30 These are the] descenda[n]ts of Gilead:] of Ahiezer,<sup>90</sup> the clan of [the Ahiezerites; of Helek, the clan of the Helekites; 31 and of A]sriel, the clan of the Asrielites; and of Shechem, [the clan of the Shechemites; 32 and of Shemida, the clan of the Shemida]lites; and of Hopher,<sup>91</sup> the clan of the Hopherites.<sup>92</sup> 33 Now Zelophehad [son of Hopher had no sons, but daughter]s; and these are the names<sup>93</sup> of the daughters of Zelophehad: [Mahlah, and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah.] 34 These are the clans of Manasseh; of<sup>94</sup> those who were numbered of them there were [fifty]-[two thousand seven hundred]. ▲

[57 These are those who were numbered from the Levites by their families: . . . 62 And those numbered of them were twenty-three thousand, every male from a month old and upward; for they were not numbered among the Israelites, because there was no inheritance given them among the Israelites].

63 [These are those numbered by Moses and Eleazar the priest, who numbered the Israelites in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho. 64 But among these there was not one of those numbered by Moses and Aaron the priest, who had numbered the Israelites in the] wilderness [of Si]n[ai. 65 F]or [the L]ORD had said [of them, “They will surely die in the wilderness.” There was not lef]t anyone of them, [ex]cept Caleb s[on of] Jephunneh, and Joshua [son of Nun].

27[1 Then the daughter]s of Zelophehad son of Hopher,<sup>95</sup> son of Gilead, son of Machir, son of Manasseh, [from the clans of Manasseh son of Joseph, drew near. And these are the names of] his [daugh]ters: Mahlah, and<sup>96</sup> Noah, Ho[g]lah,<sup>97</sup> [and Milca]h, and Torzah.<sup>98</sup> [2 And they stood before Mos]es and before E[leazar the pri]est, [and] be[fore the leaders and all the] congregation, at the entrance [of the tent of meeting, saying, 3 “Our father died in the] wilderness, and h[e was not amon]g the company [of those who gath]ered [themselves toge]ther against the LO[RD in the company of Korah, but he died in his own sin; and] he [had]<sup>99</sup> no [son]s. 4 Why should [the name of our father] be taken away [from] his family, beca[use he had no son? Give to us a possession] among the relatives of our [father].”

5 So [Moses] brought their [ca]se be[fore the LORD. 6 And] the LORD [spo]ke to [Mo]s[es, saying, 7 “The daughters of Zelophehad spea]k [correctly;] you must indeed give [them possession of an inheritance among] their [fat]her[’s relatives;] and you shall transfer the inheri[tance of their father to them].

8 “[And] you shall speak [t]o the Israelites, saying, [‘If] a m[an] dies, [and] has no [son,] then you shall cause his inheritance [to pass] t[o] his daughter. [9 And if] he has no daughter, then you shall give [his inheritance] to his brothers. 10 And if he has no brothers, then you shall [gi]ve his inheritance to his father’s brothers. 11 And if [his] fat[her] has no brothers, [then you shall give his inheritance to his kinsman] that is nearest [to him of his clan, and he shall possess it. It shall be] for the [Israeli]tes [a statute and ordinance, a]s the LO[RD] commanded Moses.”

[12 Then the LORD said to Moses, “Go up] to this mountain of Abarim, and see the land which I have given to the people of [Israel. 13 And when] you [have s]een it, you also will be gathered to your people, [as your brother Aaron was gathered].” ▲

18 [So] the LORD [said to Moses, “Take Joshua son of Nun, a man in whom is the spirit, and lay] your [hand on him; 19 have him stand before Eleazar the priest and before all the congre]gation, [and commission him in their sight. 20 You shall give him some of your authority, so that all the congregation of the Israelites may obey. 21 But he shall stand before Eleazar the priest, who shall inquire for him by the decision of the Urim before the LORD; at his word they shall go out, and at his word they shall come in, both he and all] the Isra[el]ites with him, the entire congregation wi]th him.”<sup>100</sup>

■ Numbers 27:12–23 informs us that Joshua has been chosen by God to succeed Moses. In the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint, the passage ends with Moses laying hands on Joshua. 4QNum<sup>b</sup>, however, then inserts a passage taken from Deuteronomy 3:21–22, in order to emphasize Joshua’s need to have courage: “for the Lord your God, he is the one who fights for you.”

22 So [Moses did as the LORD commanded him. He took] Joshua son of Nun,<sup>101</sup> and had him stand before Eleazar t[he priest and before all the congregation; 23 and he lai]d his hands on him, and commissioned him as the LORD had directed through Moses. [And Mose]s [said] to him, “Your eyes have seen what the Lord your God has done to [these] two k[ings; so shall the Lord do to all the kingdoms into which you are going. You shall not fear them; for the Lord your God, he is the one who fights for you].”<sup>102</sup>

28[11 Then at the beginnings of your months you shall offer] a burnt off[ering to the LORD: two young bulls and] one [ram, seven] male la[mbs a year old without blemish;] 12 also three-[tenths of an ephah of fine flour as a grain offering, mixed with oil,] for each bull; [and two-tenths of fine flour as a grain offering, mixed with oil, for the one ram; 13 and a tenth of fine flour mixed with oil as a grain offering for every lamb. This is for a burnt offering of a pleasing aroma, an offering by fire] to the LORD. [14 And] their drink offerings [shall] be half a hin of wine [for a bull, a third of a hin for a ram,] and a quarter of a hin of wine<sup>103</sup> for [e]ach<sup>104</sup> lamb. [This is the burnt offering of each month throughout the months of] the year. 15 Also o[ne] male goat [for a sin of]fering [to the LORD; it shall be offered in addition to the regular burnt offering] and [its] drink offering. 16 Then in the fi[rst] month, [on the fourteenth day of the month, shall be the LORD’s Passover].

17 And on the fifteenth [day of this month is a feast; for seven days unleavened bread shall be eaten]. ▲

[27 But you shall present a burnt offering, a pleasing aroma to the LORD: two young bulls, one ram, seven male lambs a year old; 28 also their grain offering of fine flour mixed with oil, three-tenths for each bull, two-tenths for] the o[ne ram, 29 a tenth for each of the seven lambs; 30 with one male goat] to make atonement fo[r you. 31 In addition to the regular burnt offering and its grain offering, you shall offer them and their] drink offering. [They shall be for you without blemish].

29[9 “The grain offering shall be of fine flour mixed with oil, three-tenths of an ephah for the bull, two-tenths for the one ram, 10 a tenth for] ea[ch lamb of the seven lambs; 11 one male goat for a sin offering, besides the sin offering of atonement, and the continual burnt offering and] their<sup>105</sup> grain offering, [and their drink offerings].

12 “[Then on the fifteenth day of the seventh month you shall have a] holy [convocation; you shall do no laborious work, and you shall celebrate a festival to the LORD for seven days. 13 And you shall] offer [a burnt offering, an offering by fire, of a pleasing aroma to the LORD: thirteen young bulls, two rams, fourteen male lambs a year old; they shall be without blemish. 14 Their grain offering shall be of fine flour mixed with oil, three-tenths of an ephah for each of the thirteen bulls, two-tenths for each of the two rams, and one-tenth for each of the fourteen lambs; 16 also] o[ne male goat]t [for a sin offering, besides the regular burnt offering, its grain offering, and its drink offering].

17 “[Then on the second day:] tw[elve] young bulls, [two rams, fourteen male lambs a year old without blemish, 18 with their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls,] for [the rams, and for the lambs, by their number according to the ordinance]. ▲

26 “[Then on the fifth day: nine bulls, t]wo [ra]ms, [fourteen male] lam[bs a year old without blemish, 27 with their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls,] for the ra[m]s, and for the lam[bs, by their number according to the ordinance; 28 also one male goat for a sin offering to make atonement f]or you,<sup>106</sup> besides the regu[lar] burnt of[fering, and its grain offering, and its drink offering].

29 [Then on the sixth day: eight bulls, two rams,] four[teen male lambs] a year [ol]d [without blemish, 30 with their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, for the rams, and for the lamb]s, by their number [according to the ordinance]. ▲

[40 And Moses spoke to the Israelites in accordance with] all that the LORD had commanded Moses.

30[1 Then Moses spoke to the heads of the tribes of the Israelites, saying,] “This is the word that the LO[RD] has commanded. [2 When a man makes a vow to the LORD, or swears an o]ath to bind [himself] by a pl[edge, he shall not break his word; he shall act in accordance with all that proceeds] out of his mouth.

[3 “When a woman makes a vow to the LORD, or binds herself by a pledge, while (still living) in her father’s house, in her youth, 4 and her father hears of her vow or her pledge by which she has bound herself, and her father says nothing to her; then all her vows shall stand, and every pledge by which she has bound herself; he shall estab]lish it.<sup>107</sup> 5 But i[f her father forbids her at the time that he hears about it, none of her vows, nor of her [pledges by which] she has bound herself, [shall stand; and the LORD will forgive her, because her father opposed] her.

6 And if she is married to a husband, [while under her vows or any thoughtless utterance of] her lips [by which she has bound] herself, 7 and her husband hears of it and says nothing to her [on the day that he hears it;<sup>108</sup> then her vows shall stand, and] her pledges by which she has bound herself shall stand. 8 But if her husband forbids her on the day that he hears of it, then he shall nullify all<sup>109</sup> her vows and her pledges,<sup>110</sup> [and the thoughtless utterance of her lips with which she has bound herself; and the LORD will forgive her]. ▲

14 [“But if her husband indeed says nothing to her from day to day, then he validates all her vows or all her pledges that are upon her; he has validated them, [because he said nothing to her at the time that he heard of them. 15 But if he makes them null and void after] he has heard of [them, then he shall bear her guilt].”

16 [These are the statutes which the LORD commanded Moses, as between a man [and his wife, and as between a father and his daughter, while in her youth, still in her father’s house].

31[1 The LORD said to Moses, 2 “Execute] vengeance for the Israelites [on the Midianites; afterward you will be gathered to your people].”

3 [So Moses spoke to the children of Israel,<sup>111</sup> saying, [“Arm men from among you for the war, that they may go against Midian to execute the LORD’s vengeance] on Midian. 4 From [each] tribe a thousand, [throughout all the tribes of Israel, you shall send to the war. 5 So there were provided] out of the thousands of Israel, a thousand from each tribe, twelve thousand armed for war.” 6 And [Moses sent them, a thousand from each tribe, to the war, them and Phinehas] son of Eleazar the priest, to the war, with the vessels of the sanctuary and the trumpets for sounding the alarm in his hand]. ▲

[21 Then Eleazar the priest said to the men of war who had gone to battle, “This is the statute of the law which the LORD] has commanded [Moses: 22 only the gold, the silver, the bronze, the iron, the tin, and] the [lead, 23 everything that can withstand fire, you shall pass through the fire, and it shall be clean. Nevertheless it shall also be purified with the water for impurity; and whatever cannot withstand fire you shall pass through the water] for impurity.<sup>112</sup> [24 And you shall wash your clothes on the seventh day, and you shall be clean; and afterward you may come] into the camp].”

25 [Then the LORD spoke to Moses, [saying,] . . . ▲

[30 “But from the Israelites’ half you shall take one out of every fifty, of the persons, of the ox]en, [and] of t[he flo]cks, of the donkeys<sup>113</sup>—o[f all the animals—and give them to the Levites who have charg]e [of the taberna]cle of the LORD.” [31 And Moses and Eleazar the priest did as the LORD had commanded] Moses.

32 Now the booty [remaining from] the spoil [that the men of war took was six hundred and sevent]y-five thousand [sheep,] 33 a[nd seventy-]tw[o thousand cattle, 34 sixty-one thousand donkeys, 35 and of pe]ople, of the women who [had not known a man by sleeping with him, thirty-two thousand persons in all].

36 [And the half-sh]are, the portion of those who had gone out to w[ar, was in number three hundred and thirty-seven thousand five] hundred [sheep and goats, 37 and the LORD’s tribute of sheep and goats was six hundred and seventy-five. 38 And the cattle were thirty-]six [thousand, of which the LORD’s tribute was seventy-two]. ▲

[42 As for the Israelites’ half, which Moses separated from that of the fighting men— 43 now the congregation’s half was three hundred and thirty-seven thousand five hundred shee]p and goats, 44 [and] thirty-six tho[usand cattle, 45 thirty thousand five hundred donkeys, 46 and sixteen] thousand [persons.] 47 And [from the Israelites’ half Moses] took [one out of every fifty, both of persons and of animals, and gave them to the Levites who had charge of the tabernacle of the LORD, as the LORD had commanded Moses].

48 [Then] all<sup>114</sup> the officers who were over the thousands of the army, the commanders [of thousands and the commanders of hundreds, *who came from the service of] the war,<sup>115</sup> [approached Mo]ses, 49 and said to [Mos]es, “Your servants have made [a count of the men of war who are under our command and not] one of us is [mi]ssing. 50 And we have b[rought the LORD’s offe]r[ing, what each man found, articles of gold, armlets and bracelets, signet r]ings, and<sup>116</sup> earrings, and pendants, and he made aton[ement<sup>117</sup> for us before the LORD].”*

51 [Then Moses and Eleazar the priest received] the gold from them, all the wro[ught] articles. 52 And al[l the gold of the offering that they offered to the LORD,] from [the commanders of thousands and from the commanders of hundreds,] was [sixt]een thousand and<sup>118</sup> seven hundred and fifty shekels. 53 (For the men of war had taken booty, every man for himself.) 54 So Moses and Eleazar [the priest] received [the gold of the commanders of thousands] and of hundreds, and brought it into the tent of meeting as a memo[rial for the Israelites before the LORD].

32<sup>1</sup> [Now] the descendants of Reuben and the descendants of [Gad] had [a very great number [of cattle; and when they saw the land of Jazer and] the land of Gilead, behold, [the place was suitable for cattle. 2 So the descendants of Gad and the descendants of Reuben came and spoke to Moses, to Eleazar the priest, and to the leaders of the congregation, saying: ▲

3 “Ataroth, Dibon, Jazer, Nimrah, Heshbon, Elealeh, Sebam, Nebo, and Beon — 4 the land that the LORD conquered before the congregation of Israel—is a] land [for cattle; and your servants have cattle.” 5 And] they said, “[I]f we have found favor in your sight, let this land be given to your servants for a possession; do not] make [us] cross [the Jordan].”

[6 But Moses said to the descendants of Gad and to the descendants of Reuben, “Shall your brothers go to war while you yourselves sit here? 7 And why do you discourage] the heart of the Isr[ael]ites from going over into the land which the LORD has given them? 8 This is what your ancestors did, when] I [sent] them from Kadesh-barnea to see [the land. 9 For when they went up to the Valley of Eshcol and saw] the land, they discouraged the hearts of the Israelites from going into the land [that the LORD had given them. 10 And the LORD]’s anger burned] on that day, and he swore, saying, 11 ‘Surely none of the people who came up out of Egypt, [from twenty years old and upward, shall see the] land that I swore to give to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, because they have not completely [followed me 12 —none except Caleb son of Jephunneh the Kenizzite and Joshua son of Nun, for they have unreservedly] followed the LORD.’ 13 So the LORD’s anger burned against Israel, [and he made] them [wander] in the wild[erness for forty years, until all the generation that had done evil in the si]ght of the LORD [was gone].

14 “Now behold, you have risen up in [your] an[cestors’] place, [a brood of sinful people, to increase still more the fierce anger of the LORD against Israel! 15 For if you turn away from following him, [he will again abandon them in the wilderness; and you will destroy all this people].”

16 [And they approached] h[im and] said, [“We will build sheep]folds [here for our flocks, and towns for our little ones; 17 but we ourselves take up arms, ready to go before] the Israelites, until [we have brought them to their place. Meanwhile our little ones will stay in the fortified towns because of the inh]abitants of [the land. 18 We will not return to our homes until every one of the Israelites has received his inheritance. 19 For we will not have an inheritance with] them [on the other side of the Jordan and beyond, because our inheritance has come to us on this side of the Jordan to the east].”

[20 So Moses said to them, “If you do this, if you arm yourselves before the LORD for battle, 21 and every armed man of you crosses the Jordan before the LORD, until he has driven out his ene]mi[es before him 22 and the land is subdued before the LORD, then after that you may return and be free of obligation to the LORD and to Israel, and] t[his l]and [will be your possession before the LORD. 23 But if] y[ou do no]t d[o so, behold, yo]u [have sinned] against the L[O]RD; and be sure [yo]ur s[in will] find [you] out. [24 Build citie]s for your little ones, and folds for your flocks,<sup>119</sup> and do what you have pro[mised].”

25 [And the descen]dants of Reuben and the descendants of Gad<sup>120</sup> [and the half-tri]be of Manasseh<sup>121</sup> [spoke to] Moses, saying, “Your servant[s] will do as my lord commands. [26 Our little ones, ou]r [wives,] and<sup>122</sup> our flocks,<sup>123</sup> and all [our] c[attle will rem]a[in there in the cities of] Gilead; 27 but your servants will cross over, every man who is armed for war, to do battle before [the LORD], just as [my lord orders].”

28 [So] Moses [gave command concerning them to Eleazar] the priest, to Joshua son of Nun, and [to the heads of the fathers’ houses of the tribes of the Israelites. 29 And Moses] said [to them, “If] the descendents of Gad and the descendents of R[euben, every man who is a]rmed for [battle before the LORD,] will cross [the Jordan with you and the land will be subdued before] you, then you shall give them the land of Gilead for a possession. [30 But if they] will [not] c[ross over with you armed for battle before the Lord, but carry over their little ones and] the[ir] wives [and their flocks before you to the land of Canaan,<sup>124</sup> they shall have possessions among yo]u in the land of Canaan.”

31 Then the descendants of Gad a[nd the descendants of Reuben] answered, [saying, “As the LORD has spoken to your servants, so will we do. 32 We] will cross over armed before the LORD into the la[nd of Canaan, but the possession of our inheritance shall remain with us on this side of the Jordan].”

33 [So Mose]s [gave to them]—to the descendants of Gad and to the descendants of Reuben and to the half-tribe of Man[asseh son of Joseph—the kingdom of Sihon king of the Amorites and the kin]gdom of Og king of Bashan, the land and its towns [with their territories, the towns of the surrounding land. 34 And the descendants of Gad built] Di[bo]n, Ataroth, Aroer, 35 Atrothshophan, [and] Ja[zer, Jogbehah, 36 and Beth-nimrah, and] Beth-haran as [forti]fied cities, and folds for sheep. 37 And the descendants of Reuben built Heshbo[n, Elealeh, Kiriathaim, 38 Nebo, and Baal-m]eon—their names being changed—and Sibmah; and they gave [other names to the towns that they built].

39 [And the descendants of Machir son of] Manasseh [son of Jose]ph<sup>125</sup> [went] to Gilead and captured [it, and dispossessed the Amorites who were in it. 40 And Moses gave Gilead to Machir son of Manasseh, and he lived in it.] 41 And Jair [the] son [of Manasseh went and captured their villages, and named them Havvoth-j]air. [42 And Nobah went and captured] Kenath and [its] v[illages, and called it Nobah after his own name].

33[1 These are the journeys of the Isra]el[ites, when [they went out of the land of Egypt by their divisions under the leadership of Moses and Aaron. 2 Moses wrote down their starting-places according to] their [st]ages by the command of [the LORD, and these are their stages according to their starting-places].

3 A[nd they set out from Rameses in the first month, on the fifte]e[nth] day of [the first] mo[nth; on the day after the Passover the children of Israel went out boldly in the sight of all the Egyptians,] 4 while the Egyptians [were burying all their firstborn, whom the LORD had struck down among them. The LORD executed judgments even against their gods].

5 [So the Israelites set out from Rameses, and encamped at] Succoth. 6 And [they] set out [from Succoth, and encam]ped in Eth[am, which is on the edge of the wilderness. 7 And they set out from Etham, and turned back to Pi-hahiroth, which] fac[es Baal-zepho]n; and they encamped be[fore Migdol. 8 And they set out from before Hahiroth, and passed through the midst of the sea into the wilderness; and] they went [three day]s' journey in the wil[derness of Etham, and encamped at Marah. 9 Then they set out from Marah and came to Elim; and at Elim there were t]w[elve springs of water, and seventy palm trees; and they encamped there]. ▲

22 [Then they set out] from Ris[sah, and encamped at Kehelathah. 23 And they set out from Kehela]thah [and encamped at Mount Shepher. 24 And they set out from Mount Shepher and encamped at Haradah.] 25 And they set out from Harad[ah and] encamped [at Makheloth. 26 And they set out from Makheloth and encamped at Tahath. 27 And they set out from Tahath and encamped at Terah.] 28 And they set out from Terah [and encamped at Mithkah. 29 And they set out from Mithkah and encamped at Hashmonah. 30 And they set out from Hashmonah and encamped at Moseroth.] 31 And they set out from [Mo]seroth and encam]ped at Bene-jaakan. 32 And they set out from Bene-jaakan and encamped at Hor-haggidgad. 33 And they set out from Hor-haggidgad] and encamped at Jotbathah. 34 Then they set out [from Jotbathah and encamped at Abro]nah]. ▲

[45 Then they set out from Iyim and encamped at D]i[bon-gad. 46 And they set out from Dibon-gad and camped at Almon-diblathaim. 47 And they set out from Almon-diblathaim] and encamp[ed in the moun]tains of Aba[r]im, before Nebo. 48 And they set out from the mountains of Abarim and encamped in the plain]s of M[oab by the Jordan at Jericho. 49 Then they encamped by] the Jordan from Be[th]-je[shimoth, as far as Abel-shittim in the plains of Moab].

50 [Then the LORD spoke to Moses in the plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho, saying, 51 “Speak to the Israelites, and say to them, ‘When you cross over the Jordan] into [the] land [of Canaan, 52 then] you [shall drive out] the inhabitants<sup>126</sup> of the land from before you, and destroy all] their [figured stones, and] destroy all] their molten images, and [demolish] all their high places. [53 And you shall take possession of the land and settle in it]; for I have given] the [land] to you to [possess it. 54 And you shall apportion the land by lot according to] your [clans]; to a large one you shall [give a large inheritance, and to a small one you shall give a small inheritance. Wherever the lot [falls] to [anyone, that shall be his; you shall inherit according to the tribes of your fathers].’” ▲

34[1 The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: 2 “Command the Israelites, and say to them, ‘When you enter the land of Canaan . . . 3 Your southern sector shall extend from the wilderness of Zin along the side of Edom, and your southern border shall extend from the end of the Salt Sea on the east; 4 and your boundary [shall turn] south [of the ascent of Akrabbim, and cross to Zin, and its outer limit shall be south of Kadesh-barnea; then it shall go on to] Hazar-addar [and cross to Azmon; 5 and the boundary shall turn from Azmon to the Brook of Egypt, and its termination shall be] at [the sea].

6 “And [for the western] boundary, you shall have the Great Sea and its coast; this shall be your western boundary].

7 “[And this shall be your] northern boundary: [from the Great Sea you shall trace your line to Mount Hor; 8 from Mount Hor you shall trace it] to the entrance of Hamath, and the] outer [limit of the boundary shall be] at Zedad; 9 then the boundary shall proceed to Ziphron, and its end shall be at Hazar-enan; this [shall be your northern boundary].

“[10 And you shall trace] your eastern boundary from Hazar-enan to Shepham;]” ▲

[16 The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: “. . . 18 You shall take one leader of every tribe to divide the land for inheritance. 19 And these are the names of the men: Of the tribe of Judah, Caleb son of Jephunneh. 20 And of the tribe [of the descendants of Simeon, Shemuel son of Ammihud. 21 Of the tribe of Benjamin, Elidad son of Chislon. 22 And of the tribe of the descendants of Dan a leader, Bukki son of Jogli. 23 Of the descendants of Joseph: of the tribe of the descendants of Manasseh a leader, Hanan]iel son of Ephod].” ▲

353 “And the towns shall be [theirs to live in, and] their [pasture lands [shall be for their cattle, for their livestock, and for all] their animals. 4 An[d the pasture lands of the towns], whi[ch you shall give] to the Levites, shall reach from the wa[ll of the town outward a thousand cubits all around.] 5 And you shall measure [outside the town for the] east [sid]e [two] thousand cubits, [and for the south side two thousand cubits, and for] the side to the west<sup>127</sup> [two thousand cubits, and for the north side two tho]usa[nd cubits, with the town in the middle. [10 “Speak to the Israelites, and say to them: ‘When you cross the Jordon into the land of Canaan, 11 you shall select cities for yourselves as cities of refuge for you, so that the manslayer] who [has killed any person without intent may flee there. 12 And the cities shall be for you a refuge from the avenger, so that the manslayer may not die until he stands] before the congrega[tion for trial. 13 And the cities that you designate shall be your six cities of refuge.] 14 You shall designate [three cit]ies [beyond the Jordan, and you shall designate three cities in the land of Canaan; they are to be cities of refuge. 15 For] the Is[rael]ites [and for the stranger and for the sojourner among them, these six cities shall be for refuge, so that anyone who kills a person without intent may flee there.]” ▲

[18 “Or if he struck him with a weapon of wood in the hand, by which he can cause death, and that person dies,] he shall [surely] be put to death; the one who s[truck him is a murderer,<sup>128</sup> *the murderer shall surely be put to death. 19 The avenger of blood is the one who shall put the murderer to death; when he meets him,] he shall put h[im] to death. [20 Likewise, if he pushes him from hatred, or hur]ls [something at him *so that he] d[ie]s, lying in wait,<sup>129</sup> 21 [or in] enmity strikes him down with [his] hand, [so that he die]s, [then the one who struck him] shall surely be put to death. [He is a murderer,] the murderer shall surely be put to death;<sup>130</sup> the avenger of blood [hims]elf<sup>131</sup> *shall put the mur[derer] to death when he meets him.

22 “[But if] he pushes him [suddenly without en]mity, or hurls [anything at him wit]hout lying in wait, 23 or with a weapon of<sup>132</sup> stone, [by which a person may die, and without] seeing him drops it on him so that [he] dies, th[ough he was not his enemy] and sought [him no harm, 24 then the congregation shall judge between the sl]ayer and the avenger of [blood in accordance with] these [ordinances]. 25 Then [the congregation] shall deliver [the manslayer from the hand of the avenger of blood, and the congregation shall restore him to his city of refuge, to which he had fled; and he shall live in it until the death of the high priest who was anointed with the holy oil].

[26 “But if the manslayer shall at any time go beyond the bounds of his city of refuge to which he fled, 27 and] the aveng[er of blood fi]nds [him<sup>133</sup> outside the bounds of his city of refuge, and the avenger of blood slays the man]slayer, he shall not be guilty of blood, 28 because the manslayer should have remained in his city of refuge until the death of the high priest; but after the death of the high priest the manslayer shall return [to the land of his possession].” ▲

[33 “So you shall not pollute the land in which you live; for blood pollutes the land, and] no expiation can be made for the land [for the blood that is shed in it, except by the blood of the one who shed it. 34 And you shall not defile the] land which you inhabit, in the midst of which I dwell; for I, the LORD, dwell in the midst of the Israelites.”

36[1 Then the heads of the fathers’ houses of the clans of the descendants of Gilead son of Machir, [son of Manasseh, of the clans of the descendants of Joseph, came forward and spoke before Moses and before Eleazar the priest<sup>134</sup> and before the [leaders, the heads of the fathers’ houses of the Israelites. 2 And they said,] “The LORD [comm]anded [my lord] to give [the land for an inheritance by lot to the Israelites; and my lord was commanded by the LORD to give the inheritance of Zelophehad our brother to his daughters. 3 But if they are married to any of the sons of the other Israelite tribes, their inheritance will be taken from the inheritance of our fathers and will be added to the inheritance of the tribe to which they belong; so it will be taken away from our allotted inheritance. 4 And when the jubilee of the Israelites comes, then their inheritance will be added to the] inherita[n]ce of the tribe to which they belong; so their inheritance will be taken from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.” And they spoke before Moses and before] Eleazar the [priest and before the leaders, the heads of the fathers’ houses of the Israelites; and they said, “The Lord commanded my lord, and Joshua son of] Nun and Caleb son of Jephunneh, to give the land as an inheritance].”<sup>135</sup>

5 [Then Moses commanded the Israelites according to the word of] the LORD, saying, [“The tribe of the descendants of Joseph speaks] cor[rectly. 6 This is the thing which the LORD commands concerning the daughters of Zelophehad, saying, ‘Let them] sure[ly<sup>136</sup> marry whomever seems good] to them; [but they must be married with the family of the tribe of their father.] 7 Thus no i[n]heritance of the Israelites shall be transferred from tribe to] tr[ibe; for each of the] Israel[ites shall retain the inheritance of the tribe of his] ancestors. 8 And every da[ughter who possesses an inheritance in any of the tribe]s [of the I]srael[ites shall] be wife to one from [the] cla[n of her father’s tribe,] so that [every Israelite] may possess [the inheritance of] his ancestors. 9 Thus no inheritance shall be transferred f[rom one tribe to another tribe; for the tribes of the] [Israel]ites shall [each] hold on [to] his own [inher]itance.”

[10 Just as the LORD commanded Mose]s, so [the] daughters [of Zelophehad did; 11 for Mah]l[ah,] Tir[zah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Noah, the daughters of Zelophehad, were married to sons of their father's brothers].

DEUTERONOMY

The hero of this book is Moses, whose life and speeches are chronicled from the time the Israelites left Mount Sinai (or Mount Horeb) to the death and burial of Israel's great leader. Since Deuteronomy also includes the authoritative Law given by God through Moses to Israel, and is the only book of the Pentateuch that explicitly identifies itself as a record of Moses' laws (Deut 1:5; 4:8, etc.), it is not difficult to see why this book was one of the most popular at Qumran. In fact, Deuteronomy is second only to the Psalms in terms of the number of scrolls that were found in the Judean Desert.

Of the thirty-three Deuteronomy scrolls, thirty were discovered at Qumran (two in Cave 1,<sup>a</sup> three in Cave 2,<sup>b</sup> twenty-two in Cave 4,<sup>c</sup> and one each in Caves 5, 6, and 11),<sup>d</sup> and three more were found at sites farther to the south (one at Masada, one at Nah.al H.ever, and one at Murabba'at).<sup>e</sup> Although none of these scrolls is complete, at least part of every chapter of the book is represented between them.

The list given is quite unusual for several reasons. First, it indicates that one Greek copy of Deuteronomy (4QLXXDeut) was used or stored at Qumran, which means that at least some of the Qumran community spoke Greek as well as Hebrew and Aramaic. Second, two of these manuscripts (4QpaleoDeut<sup>r</sup> and 4QpaleoDeut<sup>s</sup>) were written in the ancient paleo-Hebrew script rather than the square script used for the vast majority of the Dead Sea Scrolls. Third, one scroll (pap6QDeut) was written on papyrus, which is much more fragile than the leather on which most other scrolls were written. Finally, the somewhat confusing symbols 4QDeut<sup>k1</sup>, 4QDeut<sup>k2</sup>, and 4QDeut<sup>k3</sup> serve to remind us just how difficult it is to categorize fragments of ancient writing, to piece them together, and to identify the scroll to which each belongs. When earlier editors first identified these fragments as belonging to the book of Deuteronomy, they believed them all to be part of a single scroll, which they termed "4QDeut<sup>k</sup>." But when it was later discovered that the fragments actually belonged to three different scrolls, it was too late to assign the next symbols, "l" and "m," to the two new fragments, since these symbols had already been allocated to these scrolls. For this reason, the symbol “k” is now shared by three different manuscripts of Deuteronomy!

What distinctive or interesting readings are found in the Deuteronomy scrolls? As we read through the following translation of those scrolls, it becomes clear that the text of the traditional Hebrew Bible—the Masoretic Text—is confirmed or supported in most cases. But on several occasions readings from some scrolls clearly support other ancient textual traditions: for example, in Deuteronomy 32, 4QDeut<sup>a</sup> most often agrees with the Septuagint, not the Masoretic Text or the Samaritan Pentateuch.

On other occasions a scroll has a reading not found elsewhere: for example, 4QDeut<sup>c</sup> stresses that the Israelites are going over “the Jordan” to occupy the land in Deuteronomy 4:14, whereas the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint do not mention this river. Sometimes material that is found in other biblical manuscripts is completely omitted: for example, in Deuteronomy 3:20, 4QDeut<sup>m</sup> and the Septuagint say “until the LORD your God gives rest to your countrymen . . . ,” while 4QDeut<sup>d</sup>, the Masoretic Text, and the Samaritan Pentateuch merely read “until the LORD gives rest to your countrymen. . . .” The longer reading brings the person of God into sharper focus. An unusual and unexpected passage occurs in 4QDeut<sup>i</sup>, where Deuteronomy 11:21 is directly followed by material from Exodus 12:43–46. Some readings are rather controversial: for example, in Deuteronomy 8:6, the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint tell us to keep God’s commandments and to fear him. This reading is also found in 4QDeut<sup>i</sup>—but another scroll (4QDeut<sup>e</sup>) says instead that we are to love him!

Why was Deuteronomy so popular at Qumran? One reason is its emphasis on God’s “covenant” with Israel, a term that is found twenty-six times in this book (see, for example, Deut 4:13; 9:9; 29:1). Several references to the Community of the New (or Renewed) Covenant in their writings show that the Qumran community saw themselves in covenant with God. Examples include the Damascus Document (CD 2:2; 19:14, 33), the Community Rule (1QS 1:16, 18, 20; 8:21), and the Habakkuk Peshier (1QpHab 2:3).

A second reason for Deuteronomy’s importance among the scrolls is the prominent place it gives to the Law and its interpretation. This was also a subject of great significance at Qumran; note, for example, the legal rulings in the document abbreviated 4QMMT. It is not surprising, therefore, that Deuteronomy would play an important part in the religious life and legal rulings of the Qumran community.

1[1 These are the words which Moses spoke t]o all Israel [acr]oss [the Jo]rdan in the wilderness, in the Arabah opposite [Suph, between Paran, Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth, and Di-zahab. 2 (It is eleven days' journey from Horeb by the way of Mount] Seir to Kadesh-barnea.) 3 Then in the fo[r]tieth year, in the ele]venth month, on the first day of the month, [Moses spoke to the Israelites, according to all tha]t the LORD had commanded h[im] concerning them, 4 after he had defeated Sihon the king of the Amorites, who lived [in Heshbon], and Og [the king of Bashan, who li]ved in Ashtaroth, at Edrei. 5 Beyond the Jordan, in the land of Moab, Moses began to explain [this] law, [saying]: [6 The LORD our God spoke] to us in Horeb, as follows: “You have stayed long enough at this mountain; 7 turn and take your journey and go to the hill country [of the Amorites and to all their neighbors in the Arabah, in the hill country and in the lo]wland, in<sup>1</sup> the Negev and by the sea, the land of the Canaanites, and Lebanon, as far as the great river, the river [Euphrates. 8 S]ee,<sup>2</sup> I have set [the land] bef[ore you; go in and occupy] the land which the LORD swore to your ancestors, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, [to give to them and to their descendants after th]em.”

9 And I spoke [to you at th]at [time], saying, “I am not able to bear you by myself alone; 10 the LORD your God has multiplied you, [and see, you are this day like the stars of heaven in multitude. 11 The LORD, the God of] your [an]cestors, made you a thousand times as many as you are, and has blessed you, as [he promised] you! [12 How can I alone bear your load and your burden and you]r [strife?] 13 Choose wise and understanding and experienced men, according to your tribes, and [I will pu]t them [in authority over you].”

[14 Then you answered me, and said, “The thing which] you have spoken [is good for us] to do.” 15 So I took the heads of your tribes, wis[e and experienced] men, [and made them heads over you, commanders of thousands], commanders of hundreds, commanders of fifties, commanders of tens, and officers, according to y[our] tribes. [16 And I charged your judges at that time, as follows: “Hear the cases between your countrymen, and jud]ge righteously between one person and another, and the resident alien as well. 17 You shall not show partiali[ty in judgment; you shall hear the small and the great alike; you shall not be afraid of anyone; for the judgment] is [God’s]. Any case that is too hard for you, you shall bring to me, a[nd I will hear it].” ▲

[22 And] all of you [came] to me and said, “Let us send me[n before us, so that they may search the land for us and bring back to us a report of the way by wh]ich [we should go up], and the cities which we will encounter.” [23 And the thing pleased me and I took] twelve of your m[en, one man for every tribe.

24 Then they turned and went up into the hill country, and came to the valley of Eshcol, [and spied out the land.<sup>3</sup> 25 And th[ey took some of the fruit of the land in their hands and brought it down to us, and brought us back word again, and said, “It is a good land which the LORD our God is giving to us].”

[29 Then I said to you, “Do not dread or] be afraid [of them. 30 The LORD your God who goes before you—he will fight for you, according to all that he did for you in Egypt before your eyes, 31 and in the wilderness] where [you] saw [how the LORD your God carried you, as a man bears his son, in all the way that you went, until you came to this place]. 32 Yet in [this] thi[ng you did not believe the LORD your God, 33 who went before you in the way, to seek out a place for you to pitch your tents, in fire] by night, to show [you<sup>4</sup> the way you should go, and in the cloud by day].”

[34 Then the LORD heard the voice of your words, and was angry, and swore as follows: 35 “Surely not] one of [these] people [of this evil generation will se]e [the good land which I swore to give to your ancestors, 36 except Caleb son of Jephunneh—he shall see it]; and to him I shall give [the land that he has walked on, and to his children, because he has followed the LORD completely.” 37 Moreover, the LORD was angry with me because of you, saying], “You [also] shall [no]t enter to there;<sup>5</sup> 38 Joshua [son of Nun, who stands before you—he shall enter there; encourage him, for he shall cause Israel to inherit it.” 39 Moreover, your little ones, who you said would be a prey, and your children, who] this day do not know<sup>6</sup> of good [or evil—they shall enter there, and to them will I give it, and they shall occupy it. 40 But as for you, turn around and set out for the wilderness in the direction of the Red Sea].

41 Then you answered [and said to me, “We have sinned against the LORD! We will go up and fight, according to all that the LORD our God commanded us.” And each of your men strapped on his weapons of war, and thought it easy to go up into the hill country. 42 Then the LORD said to me, “Say to them, ‘Do not go up and do not fight, for I am not in your midst; otherwise you will be defeated by your enemies.’” 43 So I spoke to you, but you would not listen; you rebelled against the commandment of the LORD, and were presumptuous, and went up] into the hill country. 44 Then [the Amorites that lived in that hill country came out against you, and chased you like bees, and beat you down] in Seir, even to the<sup>7</sup> Hormah. 45 And [you returned and wept before the LORD; but the LORD did not listen to you]r [voice], nor gave ear to you. 46 So you stayed in Kadesh for [many] days, [according to the days that you spent there].

2[1 Then we turned, and journeyed to the wilderness on the way to the] Red [Sea], as the LORD spoke to me; and we circled Mount Seir for [many] day[s].

■ According to 4QDeut<sup>h</sup>, in chapter 2:3 God speaks to Moses and says, “You [singular] have circled this mountain long enough . . . ,” which focuses firmly on Moses as the recipient of God’s command. In contrast, the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint read, “You [plural] . . . ,” which emphasizes that the words that follow are being given by God to the Israelites as a people and that Moses is receiving the words as their representative as well as their leader. However, in view of the frequent use of the second-person plural elsewhere in this chapter, this particular reading in 4QDeut<sup>h</sup> seems less appropriate than that found in the other witnesses.

[2 Then the LORD]D [spoke] to me as follows: 3 “You<sup>8</sup> have circled this mountain long enough; now turn north. 4 And [command the people, saying, ‘You are to pass through the border of your brothers the children of Esau who dwell] in Seir. They will be afraid o[f yo]u, but be very careful. 5 Do not provoke [them; for I will not give you any of their land—no, not so much as for the sole of a foot to tread on, because I have given Mount Seir to Esau as a possession]. 6 You shall p[urchase] food [from them with money, so that you may eat; and you shall also buy water from them with money, so that you may drink. 7 For the LORD your God has blessed you in all the work of your hands; he has known your wanderings through this vast wilderness. These forty years the LORD your God has been with you, and you have lacked nothing].”

[8 So we passed by our brothers the descendants of Esau who dwell in Seir, away from the Arabah, away from Elath and from Ezion-geber. And we turned and] passed by the way of the wilderness [of Moab]. ▲

[24 “Arise, be on your way, and cross the valley of the Arnon. See, I have given into your hand Sihon the Amorite, king of Heshbon, and his land; start taking possession, and] contend with him in bat[tle. 25 Today I will begin to put the dread and fear of you upon the nations that are under the whole] heaven; they will hear t[he news of you, and will tremble and be in anguish because of you].”

[26 And I sent messengers from] the wilderness of Kedemoth to Sihon king of Heshbon [with words of peace, saying, 27 “Let me pass through your land]; I will go [only a]long by the highway; I will turn neither to the right hand nor to the left. 28 You shall sell me f[ood for mone]y, that I may eat, and [give me] water for money, [that] I may drink. Only let me pass through on foot, 29 just as [the descendents of Esau who dwell] in S[e]ir, and the Moabites who dwell in Ar, did for me—[until I cross over] the Jordan into the land whi[ch the LORD our God is giving to us.” 30 But] Siho[n ki]n[g of Heshbon] would [not] let us pass by him; for [the LORD] [your God hardened his spirit, and made his heart obstinate], so that he might deliver him [into] your hand, as he is [to]day.

[31 Then the LORD] said [to me, “Behold, I have begun to deliver up Sihon and] his land [to you]; start taking possession, so that you may i[n]herit] his [la]nd.”

[32 Then Sihon came out against us, he and all his people, to do battle at Jahaz. 33 And] the LORD our God [delive]red him [up before] us; [and we defeated him, and his sons, and all his people. 34 And we took all h]is [cities] at th[at]<sup>9</sup> time, [and utterly destroyed eve]ry [inhabited city, together with the women and the little ones—we left no survivors. 35 Only] the cattle [we took as plunder for ourselves, together with the spoil of the ci]ties [which we had taken. 36 From Aroer—which is on the edge of the valley of the Arnon—and from the ci]ty that is in the valley, even as far as Gilead, there was [no]t [a city too high for us; the LORD our God delivered up them all before us]. ▲

3[14 Jair the son of Manasseh took all the region of Argob, to the border of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and called them—that is, Bashan—after his own name, Hav]voth [Jair, as it is t]o th[is] d[ay. 15 And I gave Gilead to Machir. 16 And to the Reubenites and to the Gadit]es I [gave the territory] from Gilead to<sup>10</sup> the val[ley of the Arnon—the middle of the valley and its border—as far as the rive]r [Jabbok], which is the boundary of Ammonites; 17 the Arabah also, and the [Jordan and its banks, from] Chinnereth as far as [the sea of the Arabah], the Salt [Sea], under the slopes of Pisgah [on the e]ast.

■ In Deuteronomy 3:20 “until the LORD your God gives rest” is found in 4QDeut<sup>m</sup> and the Septuagint, while 4QDeut<sup>d</sup>, the Masoretic Text, and the Samaritan Pentateuch have “until the LORD gives rest.” The longer reading, which is repeated later in the verse, serves to remind us who the Lord is. This is one more instance of agreement between a particular scroll and the Septuagint for a particular reading. The same longer text is found only in 4QDeut<sup>m</sup> at Deuteronomy 5:5 and in 4QDeut<sup>e</sup> at Deuteronomy 7:4.

18 And I commanded you [at that tim]e, “The LORD your God has given you this land to occupy; [you shall cross over] armed [before] your [country]men the Israelites, all the men of valor. 19 But your wives, your<sup>11</sup> little ones, and your cattle (I know [that] you have much [ca]ttle) shall remain in your cities which I have given you 20 until the LORD your God<sup>12</sup> gives rest to your countrymen, as he has to you, and they also occupy the land which the LORD your God is giving them across the Jo[r]dan]. Then each of you shall return to his possession which I have given you.”

21 And I commanded Joshua at that<sup>13</sup> time, “Your eyes have seen all that the L[ORD] your [G]od has done to these two kings; so will the LORD do to all the kingdoms which<sup>14</sup> you [are about to cross]. 22 And<sup>15</sup> you<sup>16</sup> shall not fear them; for the LORD your God himself fights for you.”

23 And I pleaded wi[th the LORD at th]at [time], 24 “O LORD God, you have begun to show [your servant your greatness and] your mighty hand—for what god is there in heaven or on e[ar]th [who can perform such works and mighty acts like yours? 25 Please let me] go over, and see the good land that is acro[ss the Jordan]—that [fine hill country]—and Lebanon.”

26 But the LORD was angry with me for your sakes, and did not listen [to me; and] the LOR[D] said to me, “Eno]ugh! Speak no longer to me of [this] mat[ter. 27 Go] up on<sup>17</sup> the top of Pisgah, [and lif]t up your eyes westward, and northward, and southward, and eastward, an[d look with] your [ey]es; for you shall not cross over this Jordan. 28 But com[mission] Joshua, and encourage him, [and strengthen him; for] he will cross over at the head of this people, and he will cause them to inherit [the lan]d [that you will see.” 29 So we remained] in the valley opposite Beth-peor.

4[1 And now, O Israel, listen] to th[e statutes and] to the ordinances [which I am teaching you to do, so that you may live, and go in and take possession of the land which the LORD, the God of your fathers, is giving to you]. ▲

■ In 4:14 the traditional reading as found in the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint speaks of the land that the Israelites are “crossing over to possess.” But 4QDeut<sup>c</sup> has a longer reading: “crossing over the Jordan to possess.” (The same longer reading is found at 11:8 in 4QDeut<sup>k1</sup> and the Septuagint.) This small piece of additional information serves to make the text clearer by supplying the object of the verb; it is interesting to note that the New International Version translates “crossing the Jordan to possess,” which must have been a paraphrase for clearer sense, since the niv translators completed their work in the early 1980s, when they could not have had access to 4QDeut<sup>c</sup>.

[13 And he declared to you his covenant which he commanded you to d]o, even the te[n commandments; and he wrote them on two tablet]s of stone. [14 Then the LORD] comma[n]ded me [at that time to teach you] statutes and ordinances, that you might observe t[hem in the land] wh[ere you are crossing over the] Jordan<sup>18</sup> [to possess].

[15 For your own sake, be very careful, for] you saw [no] for[m] at all [on the day that the LORD spoke to you in Horeb from the midst of the fire— 16 lest you corrupt [yourself]es, and make [for yourselves a graven image in the form of any figure, the likeness of male or female, 17 the likeness of any] animal that [is on the earth, the likeness of any winged bird that flies in the sky, 18 the likeness of anything that creeps on the ground, the likeness of any fish that is in the waters under the earth]. ▲

[24 For the LORD your God] is [a devouring fire], a jeal[ous] God. [25 When you have had children and children’s children, and yo]u [have been long] in the land, and corrupt yourselves, and [ma]ke a graven image [in the form of anything, and do what is evil in the sight of the L]ORD your God, so as to provoke him to anger, 26 I call [heaven and earth] to witness against you [this day, that you shall] soon [utterly perish] from the land that you are crossing o[ver the Jordan to possess. You shall not prolong your days o]n [it, but shall] be ut[terly] destroyed. ▲

[30 When you are in distress and all these things have come upon you, in later days you shall return to the LORD] your [Go]d [and listen to his voice, 31 for the LORD your God is a merciful God; he will not fail you], nor [destroy you, nor forget t]he covenant of your ancestors] which he swore [to them].

[32 For ask now of the days that] are past, which were before you, since [the day] that [God] created [humans on the earth], and from the one end of heaven to [the othe]r: Has there been anything as [great as this] thing, or has anything been heard like it? 33 Did [ever a people] hear [the voice of God speaking from the midst of the fire as] y[ou]<sup>19</sup> have heard, and live? 34 Or [has any god tried to go and ta]k[e for himself a nation from the midst of another nation by trials], by signs and wonder[s, by war, by a mig]hty [hand] and an [outstretched] arm, [or by great terro]r[s, as the LORD your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes]? ▲

[47 And they took possession of his land and the land of Og king of Bashan, the two kings of the Amorites], who were acro[ss the Jordan to the east; 48 from Aroer, which is on the edge of the valley of the Arnon, as far as Mount Sion (that is, Hermon), 49 and all the Arabah across the Jordan to the east, as far as the sea of] the Arabah, under [the slopes of Pisgah].

51 Then Moses summoned all Israel, and said to them, “Hear, O Israel, the statutes and the ordinances which I am speaking in year hearing this day,<sup>20</sup> so that you may learn them, and be sure to carry them out. 2 The LORD our God made a covenant with us in Horeb. 3 The LORD did not make this covenant with our ancestors, but with us, yes with us who are here today, all of us alive today.<sup>21</sup>

4 The LORD spoke with you face to face on the mountain from the midst of the fire. 5 But<sup>22</sup> as for me, I was standing between the LORD and you at that time to declare to you the words<sup>23</sup> of the LORD your God;<sup>24</sup> for you were afraid because of the fire and did not go up to the mountain. And he said: 6 “I am the LORD your God who brought you from the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage.

7 “You shall have no other gods before me.

8 “You shall not make for yourself a graven image, or<sup>25</sup> any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth. 9 You shall not bow down to them, nor serve them—for I, the LORD your God, am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the parents on the children, to<sup>26</sup> the third and fourth generation of those who reject me, 10 showing<sup>27</sup> steadfast love to thousands of those who love me and keep my<sup>28</sup> commandments.

11 “You shall not take the name of the LORD your God in vain, for the LORD will not hold guiltless the one who takes his name in vain.

■ Our manuscripts present a shorter and a longer version of Deuteronomy 5:15. In the shorter, traditional version, which appears in the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint, the Lord has commanded the Israelites (“you”) to perform the sabbath day (though the Septuagint reads keep). But the longer version, which is found only in 4QDeut<sup>r</sup>, enjoins the Israelites to keep and to hallow the sabbath day and then provides two reasons for this observance as found in the Exodus version (Exod 20:11) of the fourth commandment: the Lord rested and blessed the sabbath day (see the text of verse 15, below). Another very early manuscript known as the Nash Papyrus has both reasons, but in the reverse order.

12 Observe the sabbath day, to keep it holy, as the LORD your God commanded you. 13 Six days you shall labor, and do all your work, 14 but the seventh day is a sabbath to the LORD your God. On it<sup>29</sup> you shall not do any work, you, your son, your daughter, your male servant, nor your female servant, your ox, nor your ass, nor your cattle, your stranger<sup>30</sup> who is within your gates, so that your male servant and your female servant may rest as well as you. 15 You shall remember that you were a servant in the land of Egypt, and the LORD your God brought you out from there with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm. Therefore the LORD your God commanded you to keep<sup>31</sup> the sabbath day to hallow it. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that is in them and rested the seventh day; so the Lord blessed the sabbath day and hallowed it.<sup>32</sup>

16 Honor your father and your mother, just as the LORD your God commanded you, so that your days may be long and that it may go well with you in the land which the LORD your God is giving to you.

17 You shall not commit murder.

18 You shall not commit adultery.

19 You<sup>33</sup> shall not steal.

20 You<sup>34</sup> shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.

21 You<sup>35</sup> shall not covet your neighbor's wife; you<sup>36</sup> shall not covet<sup>37</sup> your neighbor's house, his field, his male servant, his female servant, his ox, his ass,<sup>38</sup> or anything that belongs to your neighbor.

22 These are the words which the LORD spoke to all your assembly on the mountain from the midst of the fire, darkness, cloud, and thick darkness,<sup>39</sup> with a g[rea]t voice; and he added no more. Then he wrote them on two tablets of stone and gave them to me.

23 Then, [when] you [he]ard the voice from the midst of the darkness, while the mountain was burning with fire, you came near to me, all the heads of your tribes and your elders. 24 And you s[ai]d, "See, the LORD our God has shown us his glory and his greatness, and we have hea[r]d his voice from the midst of the fire; we have seen in<sup>40</sup> this day that the Lord<sup>41</sup> speaks with [huma]ns, and they live. 25 So now, why should we die? For this great fire will consume us; if we [con]tinue<sup>42</sup> to hear the voice of the LORD our God, then we shall die. 26 For who is there of all living beings who has heard the voice of the living<sup>43</sup> God speaking from the midst of the fire—as we have—and has lived? 27 Go near, and hear all that the LORD our God speaks<sup>44</sup> to you,<sup>45</sup> and tell us all that the LORD our God speaks to you; and [we] will hear it, and carry it out."

28 And the LORD heard your words, when you spoke t[o me.] Then the L[ORD] said [to me], "I have [he]ard [the words of this people, which] they have spoken to you; they have done well in all [that they have spoken. 29 If only there were] s[uch a heart] in them, that they would fear m[e and] keep [my] commandments<sup>46</sup> [alwa]ys, so that it might go well with them and with their children forever!

[30 "Go, say to them], 'Return to your tents.' 31 But as for you, stay here with me, and I will speak [to you] all [the com]mandment, the<sup>47</sup> [st]atutes and the ordinances, which you shall teach them, [so that they may carry them out] in the land [whi]ch I [g]ive them to possess."

32 You shall take care, [therefore, to do a]s the LORD [your G]od [has] c[ommanded] you; you shall not turn aside [to the] r[igh]t hand [or to the left]. 33 You shall walk [in a]ll the wa[y] that [the LORD] your God [has commanded] you so that you may live, and so that it may] go well with [you], and so that [you] may pr[olong your days] in the land which [you shall po]ss[ess].

61 Now this [is the commandment, the statutes, and the ordinances] w[hich the LORD] your [God comm]anded [me] to [teach you, so that you might do them in the land which you are crossing over] to pos[sess; 2 so that you might fear the LORD your God, to keep] all [his] st[atutes and his commandments, which I command you—you, and your son], and your son's son, [all the days of your life; and so that your days may be prolonged. 3 Hear therefore, O I]srael, [and take care to carry it out, so that it may go well with you, and so that you may increase mightily—just as the LORD, the God of your ancestors, has promised you, in a land flowing with milk and honey].

[4 Hear, O Israel, the LORD] our [God], the LORD is o[ne; 5 and you shall love the L]ORD [your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your might]. 6 And [these] word[s, wh]ich [I command you this day], shall be [on your heart. 7 You shall teach them diligently to your children, and shall speak of them when you sit in your house, and when you walk along the road, and when] you [lie] down, [and when you rise up. 8 And you shall bind them as a sign on your hand], and they shall be for frontlets [between your eyes. 9 And you shall write them on the doorposts of] your house [and on your gates].

[10 Then when the LORD] your [G]od [brings you] into [the land which he swore to your ancestors, to Abraham, to Isaac], and to Jacob, [to give you—a land with gr]e[at and fine cities which you did not build, 11 houses full of all good things which] you did not fi[ll, hewn cisterns which you did not dig, vineyards and olive trees which you did not plant—then when you eat and are satisfied, 12 be careful not to forget the LORD, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slavery.] ▲

7[1 When the LORD your God brings you into the land that you are about to enter and possess, and drives away many nations before you—the Hittites, the Girgashites, the Amorites, the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, seven nations mightier and stronger than you— 2 and when the LORD your God delivers them up before you, and you defeat them, then] you must [total]ly destroy t[hem. You shall make no treaty with them, nor show mercy to them. 3 You shall not intermarry with them]; you shall not give your daughters to [their] sons, [nor shall you take their daughters for] your sons. 4 Fo[r they will turn your sons away from following] me so that he<sup>48</sup> may serve [other] god[s; thus the anger of the LORD your] God<sup>49</sup> [will be kindled against you, and he will destroy you quickly]. 5 But th[is is how you must deal with them: you shall break down their altars, dash their pillars into pieces, cut down their Asherim, and burn their graven images with fire. 6 For you are a holy people to the LORD] your God; the LORD [your] God [has chosen you to be a people for his own possession, above all] the people[s that are on the face of] the earth. [7 The LORD did not set his love on you or choose] you [because you were more in number than any people—for you were the fewest of all peoples]. ▲

■ For Deuteronomy 7:15, one of the scrolls has been corrected in an interesting way. The original reading in 5QDeut is very much like that found in the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch: “. . . none of the evil diseases of Egypt, which you know.” However, 5QDeut has then been corrected with two additional Hebrew words, written above the line containing “which you know,” to produce “which you have seen and which you know.” This longer reading, which is also found in the Septuagint, makes the evil diseases of Egypt more vivid to the listeners by recalling that they have personally witnessed them. An important question for scholars is whether the corrector here is merely fixing an error, is attempting to make his text more vivid, or is deliberately altering the original reading to make it conform more closely with another text (in this case, one mirroring the Septuagint).

[12 And if you listen to these ordinances, and take care to carry them out, the LORD your God] will kee[p with y]ou [the covenant and steadfast love which he swor]e to your ancestors. 13 And he will love you, bless you, and multiply you; he will also ble[ss the offspring of your body and the fruit of your ground], your [grai]n and your new wine and your oil, the increase of your [ca]t[tle] and the youn[g of your flock in the] land w[hich he sw]ore to your ancestors to give you. 14 You will be blessed above all people[s]; there will [no]t be male or female barren among you or among your cattle. 15 And the LORD will take away from you all [sickness]; none of the evil d[iseases of Eg]ypt, which you have seen and<sup>50</sup> which you know, will he infli[ct] on you, but will lay them on all of those that hate you. 16 And you shall destroy all [the peoples that the L]ORD your God [shall] d[eliver to you]. Your eye [shall not pity] them, and you shall not serve [their gods—for that will be a snare to you].

17 If [you] say in your h[ear]t, “These [nations are] mo[re] than I; how can I dispossess them?” 18 you shall not be afraid of them. Remember [w]ell [what] the LORD your God did to Pharaoh, and to all [E]gypt— 19 the] great [trial]s today<sup>51</sup> which your eyes saw, the<sup>52</sup> s[ig]ns and wonders, [the] mighty hand and [out]stretched arm, by which the [LORD your God] brought you out. [So shall] the LORD your God [do] to all the peoples of whom you are afraid. 20 More[over,] the LORD your God will sen[d the hornet] among them, until

[those] who are left [and have] hidden [themselves] perish [befo]re you. 21 You shall not be afraid of them, for the LORD [your] God [is] in your midst, a gre[at and awes]ome God. 22 And the LORD your God will cast out those nations b[efo]re you [littl]e by little; you may not be able to<sup>53</sup> put an end to them at once, lest the wild animals multiply against you. 23 But the L[O]RD your God [will] deliver them up into your hand,<sup>54</sup> and will throw them into a great panic until they are destroyed. 24 And he will deliver their kings into your hand, [and] you shall [w]ipe out their names from under heaven. No one shall be able to stand before<sup>55</sup> you, until you have destroyed them. 25 The graven images [of their gods you shall bur]n with fire; you<sup>56</sup> shall not covet the silver [or the gol]d that is on them, nor take [it for yourself, lest you be ensnared by them; for] that is [an abomina]tion to the LORD your God. 26 And [you shall] not [bring an abomination into your house, or you will be set apart for destruction like it]. You shall [utterl]y detest it, and you shall utterly abhor it, [for it is set apart for destruction].

8[1 All the commandments which I command] you today you must diligently [observe, so that you may live, and multiply, and go in and possess] the l[and] which the L[ORD] swore [to your ancestors. 2 And you shall remember the entire way which] the LORD your God has led you these forty years [in the wilderness, in order to humble you], to<sup>57</sup> prove you, and<sup>58</sup> to know what was in your heart, whether or not you would keep his commandments. 3 And he [humbled you], and let you be hungry, and fed you with manna—which you had not known, neither had your ancestors known—so that he might make you realize that people do not live by bread alone, but people live by everything that pr[ceeds from the mouth of the] LORD. 4 Your clothing<sup>59</sup> did not grow old on you, nor [did your] feet [swell], these forty years. 5 So you shall know in your heart that as a man disciplines his son, so<sup>60</sup> the LORD your God disciplines you.

■ Most other versions of chapter 8:6 agree with the Masoretic Text by stating that we should keep God's commandments by fearing him. But one scroll, 4QDeut<sup>a</sup>, speaks of keeping God's commandments by loving him. This raises an interesting question: Just how far apart are fearing and loving God?

6 And you shall keep the commandments of the LORD your God, by walking in all<sup>61</sup> his ways and by loving<sup>62</sup> him. 7 For the LORD your God is bringing you into a good and spacious<sup>63</sup> land—a land of brooks of water, of fountains and springs, flowing out in valleys and hills; 8 a land of wheat and barley, vines, fig<sup>64</sup> trees and pomegranates; a land of olive oil and honey; 9 a land where you shall eat bread without scarcity, and<sup>65</sup> in which you shall not lack anything; a land whose stones are iron, and from whose hills you may dig copper.

10 And when you have eaten and are satisfied, you shall bless the LORD your God for the good land which he has given you. [11 Be careful lest you] forget the LORD your God by not keeping his commandments, [his ordinances, and his statutes, which I] co[mmand you this day]. 12 Otherwise, when you have eaten and are full, and have built [fine] house[s], and have lived in them,<sup>66</sup> 13 when<sup>67</sup> your herds and your flocks multiply, and your silver and your gold is multiplied, [and all that you have is multiplied, 14 then your heart will become proud, and you will forget the LORD] your [God] who brought you from the land [of Egypt], from the house of bondage. 15 H[e led you through the great and terrible wilderness, in which there were fiery snakes and scorpions, and thirsty ground] wh[ere there was n]o water; he brought [water] for you [from the rock of] flint; [16 he fed you in the wilderness with] manna [which your ancestors did not know, so that he might humble you, and so that he might prove you], to do you good in the end. [17 And] you may say in your heart, [“My power and the might of my hand have obtained for me this wealth.” 18 But you shall remember the LORD your God], for it is he who gives y[ou power to obtain] wealth, [so that] he may establish [his covenant which he swore to your ancestors, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob,<sup>68</sup> as it is] this [day].

■ As was mentioned in the introduction to Deuteronomy, this book lays great emphasis on God’s “covenant.” In 8:18 the traditional Masoretic Text refers only to the fathers (or ancestors) with whom God established the covenant. However, 5QDeut is much more vivid, spelling out just who these ancestors were: Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Here the Qumran scroll agrees with the Samaritan Pentateuch and the Septuagint.

19 And [if you forge]t [the L]ORD [your God, and walk] after [other gods, and serve them, and worship them], I call [the heavens] and [the earth]<sup>69</sup> as witnesses [against you] to[day], that you will [sur]ely per[ish. 20 Like the nations which the LORD is destroying before you, so you will perish—because you would not listen to the voice of the LORD] your [God].

9[1 Hear, O Israel, you are to pass over the Jordan this day, to go in to dispossess nations greater and mightier than your]self, cities great [and] fortified [up to heaven. 2 The people are great and tall, the sons of the Anakim, whom you know, and of whom you have heard it said, “Who can stand before the so]ns of Anak?” [3 But be assured today that the LORD your God is the one who crosses over before you like a devouring fire. He will defeat them and subdue them before you, so that you may drive them out and destroy them quickly, just as the LORD has promised you].

[4 Do not say in your heart when the LORD your God has driven them out before you, “Because of my righteousness the LORD has brought me in to possess this land”—no, it is because of the wickedness of th]ese [nations that the LORD is driving them out before you. 5 It is not because of your righteousness, or because of the upr]ightness of your heart, [that you are entering to possess their land—but because of the wickedness of these] nations [the LORD your God is driving them out before] you, and so that [he may establish the word which the LORD swore to] your ancestors, [to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob. 6 Know, therefore, that the LORD your God is not giving you] this [goo]d [land to possess] because of your righteousness; [for you are a stubborn people].

[7 Remem]ber, [do not forget how you provoked the L]ORD [your] G[od to wrath in the wilderness; from the day that you went from the land of Egypt until you came t]o<sup>20</sup> [this place, you have been rebellious against the LORD]. ▲

[10 And the LORD gave to me the two tablets of stone written] with the finger of God; [and on them was written in accordance with all the words which the LORD spoke with you on the mountain from the midst of the fire on the day of the assembly].

[11 Then at the end of forty days and forty nights the LORD gave] to me [the two tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant. 12 Then the LOR]D [said] to me, “[Arise, go down quickly from here, for your people] whom [you have brought from Egyp]t [have corrupted themselves]. They have [quickly] turned aside [from the way which I commanded them—they have made themselves a molten image.” 13 In addition, the LORD spoke to me as fol]lows: “I have seen [this people, and yes—they are a stubborn people. 14 Let me alone, so that I may destroy them] and blot out [their name from under heaven; then I will make of you a nation mightier and greater than they].” ▲

[17 Then I took hold of the two tablets, and thre]w them from [my] t[wo hands and smashed them before your eyes. 18 And I fell down before the LOR]D, as at the first, [for forty days and forty nights. I neither ate bread] no[r] drank [water because of all your sin which you had committed by doi]ng what was evil in the sight of [the LORD, so provoking him to anger. 19 For I was afraid of the anger and hot displeasure with] which the LOR[D] was angry enough [with you so as to destroy you. But the LORD listened to me that time also. 20 The LORD was so angry with Aaron that he was ready to destroy him, but at the same time I also interceded on behalf of Aaron. 21 Then I took your sin—the calf which you had made—and burned it with fire and crushed it, grinding it very small until it was as fine as dust]; and I [threw its dust into the brook that descended from the mountain].

[22 And at Taberah], at Mass[ah, and at Kibroth-hattaavah, you provoked] the LORD [to wrath. 23 And when the LORD sent you out from Kadesh-barnea, saying], “Go u[p and occupy the land which I have given you,” then you rebelled against t]he [commandment of the LORD your God, and you did not believe him or listen to his voice]. ▲

[27 “Remember your servants, Abraham, Isaac, and Ja]cob; [do not look at the stubbornness of this people, or at their wickedness, or at their sin. 28 Otherwise the land from whic]h he<sup>z</sup> brought u[s] out [will say, ‘Because the LORD was not able to bring them into the land which he promised them and because he hated them, he has brought them out to slay them in the wilderness.’ 29 Yet they are your people and your inheritance which you brought out by your great power and by your outstret]ched [arm].”

■ According to MurDeut, the only Deuteronomy scroll from Murabba‘at (see the general Introduction)—as well as the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint—Moses is reminded in Deuteronomy 10:2 of “words that were on the first tablets which he broke.” But 4QDeut emphasizes his transgression more strongly by stressing that these were the very words “of the Lord” himself.

[1 At that time the LORD said to me, “Hew for yourself two tablets of sto]ne, the<sup>z</sup> firs[t ones, and come up to me on the mountain, and make] yourself an ark of wood. 2 And I will write on the tablets the words of the Lord<sup>z</sup> [th]at [were on the first tablets which you broke, and you shall put them in the a]rk.”

3 So I made an ark [of acacia wood, and hewed two tablets of stone like the first ones, and went up on the mountain with the two tablets in my hand. 4 Then he wrote on the tablets the same words as before—the ten commandments that the LORD had spoken to you on the mountain out of the fire on the day of the assembly—and the LORD gave them to me. 5 And I turned and came down from the mountain and put the tablets into the ar]k [which] I had [m]ade; [and there they are, just as the LORD commanded me].

[6 Then] the children of Israel jour[neyed from Beeroth Bene-jaakan to Moserah. There Aaron died, and] there he was buried; and [Eleazar his son]

m[inistered in the priest's office in his place. 7 From there they journeyed to Gudgodah, and] from Gudgodah [to Jotbathah, a land of brooks of water]. 8 At [that time the LORD set apart the tri]be [of Levi to bear the ark of the covenant of the LORD], and<sup>74</sup> to st[and before the LORD to minister to him and to pronounce blessings in his name, to this day. 9 Therefore Levi has no portion n]or inheritance [with his countrymen; the LORD is his inheritance, in accordance with what the LORD your God spoke to him].

[10 And I stayed] on the mountain, [like the first time, for forty days and forty nights; and the LORD listened to me] that<sup>75</sup> [time also], an[d<sup>76</sup> the LORD would not destroy you]. 11 Then the L[ORD] said [to me, “Arise, take your journey before the people, and they will go in and possess the land which I] s[wor]e to their ancestors [to give to them].”

12 And now, I[srael, what does the LO]RD [your God require of you, but to fear the LORD] your [God], to walk in all [his ways, and to love him, and to serve the LORD your God] with all your h[ea]rt and with all [your soul, 13 and to observe the commandments of the LORD your God and his decrees that I am commanding you today, for your own good]?

[14 See, to the LORD your God belong heaven and the heaven of heavens], the earth, and all [that is in them. 15 Only the LORD had a delight in your ancestors to love] them, [and he chose their descendants after them, even you above all peoples, just as it is this day]. ▲

11[1 You shall love the LORD your God, therefore, and keep his requirements, his decrees, his ordinances, and his commandments always. 2 And know] today that I am not speaking with your children w[ho have not known and who have not seen the chastisement of] the LORD your God, his greatness, [his mighty hand and his outstretched arm, 3 and] his signs and his works, which [he did in the midst of Egypt to Pharaoh the k]ing of Egyp[t and to all his land; 4 and what he did to the army of Egypt, to their horses and to the]ir [chariots]; how he ma[de the water of the] Red Se[a] over[flow them as th]ey pur[sued after you], and how [the LORD] has des[troyed them to thi]s da[y; 5 and what he did to you in the wilderness, until you arrived at this place; 6 and what he did to Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab son of Reuben; how the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up, and their households, and] their tents, and [eve]ry [living thing that] followed them, from<sup>77</sup> the midst of all [Israel. 7 But your eyes have seen all] the great<sup>78</sup> works of the LORD that [he did].

[8 Therefore you shall keep] every commandment and the statute[s]<sup>79</sup> and the ordinances<sup>80</sup> [which I command you this day], so that you may be strong and multiply,<sup>81</sup> and go in and possess the land [which you] are crossing over the Jordan<sup>82</sup> to possess, 9 and so that you may prolong [your] da[ys in the land] which the LORD swore to your ancestors to give to them and to their descendants, a l[and] flowing with milk and honey. 10 For the land which you<sup>83</sup> are about<sup>84</sup> [to possess], it<sup>85</sup> is not as the land of Egypt from where [you came], where you s[owed your seed] and watered it with your feet,<sup>86</sup> like a garden of herbs; 11 but the land which you [are crossing] to possess is a land of hills and valleys [that drinks water] from the rain of heaven, 12 [a land] which the LORD your God cares for. The eyes of the LORD your God are always [upon it, from the beginning of] a year<sup>87</sup> even to the end of the year.

13 So if you shall list[en] diligently t[o my commandments which I command you] today, [to love the LORD your God, and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul, . . . ] ▲

[18 Therefore you shall fix] these [m]y [words] up[on your heart and in your soul, and you shall bind them as a sign on your hand, and they shall b]e as frontlets between yo[ur] eyes. ▲ [ . . . 21 so that your days may be multiplied, and the days of your children, in the land which] the LORD [swore to your ancestors to give them, like the days of the heavens above the earth]. And [the Lord] s[aid to Moses and Aaron, This is the ordinance of the Passover]; n[o] fore[igner shall eat of it; but every man's servant who is bought for money, when you have circumcised him], then he shall e[at of it].<sup>88</sup> ▲

■ From Deuteronomy 11:21 onward, 4QDeut<sup>a</sup> seems to contain an unusual text, although the scroll is quite fragmentary at this point. The remaining words and reconstruction show that verse 21 was followed by Exodus 12:43–46 at the bottom of one column, continuing on to the top of the next column, and ending with Exodus 12:51. This longer text is not found in the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, or the Septuagint.

[26 See, I am setting before you today a blessing and a curse: 27 the blessing, if you shall listen to the commandments of the LORD your God which] I [command you this day; 28 and the curse, if you will not listen] to the commandments of the L[ORD your God, but turn aside from the w]ay which I [command you] today, by g[oin]g after other gods which you have not known. 29 And when the LORD your God brings you into the land where you are going to possess it, you shall place the blessing on Mount] Gerizim and [the curse on Mount Ebal. 30 Are they] not [beyond the Jordan, som]e [distance to the west, in the land of the Canaanites who dwell in the] Arabah, opposite Gilgal [besi]de [the oaks of Moreh? 31 For you are to cross the Jordan to go i]n to possess [the lan]d which the LORD [your God is giving to you, and you shall possess it and dwell in it. [32 And] you [shall] be [sure] to carry out all the statutes and the ordinances which I am setting before you today.

12<sup>89</sup> And the [se are the statutes and the ordinances which you shall be careful] to carry out [in the] land which the LORD, the God of your ancestors], has given [you to possess—all the days that you live on the earth. 2 You shall surely destroy all the places where the nations that you dispossess have served their gods: on the high mountains, and on] the hills, and under every [green tree. 3 And you shall break down their altars, and dash] their pillars [to pieces, and burn] their Asherim with fire; you shall hew down the graven images of their gods]; you [shall obliterate] their name from that] place. [4 You shall not act like this toward the LORD your God. 5 But you are to seek the] place which the LORD [your] God chooses [from all your tribes to put his name there for his dwelling, and there you shall go], ▲

[11 Then to the place which the LORD your God chooses to cause his name] to dwell, you shall bring there all that I command you: your burnt offerings, and your sacrifices, [your tithes, and the heave offering of your hand, and all] your [choice vows] which you vow [to the LORD. 12 And you shall rejoice before the LORD your God: you, your sons, your daughters, your menservants, your female servants, and the Levite who is within your gates, since he has no portion or inheritance with you]. ▲

[18 Instead you shall eat them before the LORD your God in the place which the LORD your God shall choose: you, your son], your [daughter], [your male servant, your female servant, and the Levite who is within] your gates; [and you shall rejoice before the LORD] your [God] in all [that you put your hand to. 19 For your own sake, be very careful] not to forsake [the Levite as long as you live in the land].<sup>90</sup> ▲

[22 Just as] the gazelle and [the deer are eaten, so you shall eat of them; the unclean and the clean person may eat from them alike . . . 25 You shall not eat it, so that it may go well with you and with] your [children] after you, [since you will be doing what is right in the eyes of the LORD]. 26 Take [only your] [holy things] which you have [and] your [vows], and go to the place which the LORD shall choose]. ▲

[31 You shall not act like this toward the LORD your God. For they have performed for their gods every abominable act which the Lord] hates; [for they even burn their sons and their daughters in the fire to their gods. 32 Whatever I command you, you must be careful] to carry out; [you shall not add to it, nor take away from it].

■ In Deuteronomy 13:4 various texts differ as to what people must do (and in what order) to follow God. The probable reading in 1QDeut<sup>e</sup> speaks of serving him, listening to his voice, clinging to him, fearing him, and keeping his commandments. But in 4QDeut<sup>e</sup>, the Masoretic Text, and the Samaritan Pentateuch the order is different: we are told to fear God, keep his commandments, obey his voice, serve him, and cling to him. The Septuagint contains much the same text as the latter three but omits the command to serve God. These readings are significant for exegesis and interpretation, since they offer both a definition of what it means to follow God and a sequence in which the specified actions should be undertaken.

[1 If there arises in your midst a prophet or a dreamer of dreams, and he gives you a sign or a won]der, 2 and if the si[gn or the wonder] takes place, [concerning which he spoke to you; and if he says, “Let us go after other gods—which you have not known—and let us serve them,” 3 yo]u<sup>91</sup> [shall not li]sten t[o the words of] that prophet [or to that dreamer of dreams. For the LORD your God is testing you, to k]now whether you [love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul]. 4 You shall walk [after the LORD] your God, and you shall ser[ve him, and listen to his voice], and cling t[o him, and fear him, and kee]p [his commandments].<sup>92</sup> 5 And that prophet or dreamer of [dreams shall be put to death, because he has spoken rebellion against the LORD your God who brought you from the land of E]gypt and [redeemed you] from the hou[se of bondage, by drawing you aside from the way in which the LORD your God commanded you to walk. So you are to purge the evil from your midst].

[6 If your neighbor—whether the son of] your father [or<sup>93</sup> the son of] your [mother] or your son,<sup>94</sup> or the wi[fe you cherish, or your friend] who is closest to you—[entices you] secretly, [sayin]g, “Let us g[o and serve other gods”—ones which you have not known, neither you nor] your [an]cestors, 7 from the gods of [the peoples who are around you, near you or far off from] you, from the ends<sup>95</sup> of the earth to [the other end of the earth— 8 you shall not consent to him or listen to him]. Your [eye shall not pity] him; nor shall you spare h[im<sup>96</sup> or shield him, 9 but you must certainly put him to death. Your hand shall be fi]rst [upon him] to put him to death, and [afterward] the hands [of all the people. 10 You shall stone him to death with stones, because he has sought to dr]aw you aw[ay from the LORD your God who brought you out of the land of E]gypt, out of the house of bondage. 11 Then all Israel will hear and be afraid, and] will no longer [do evil such as this is in your midst].

12 If you hear it said concerning one of your cities which [the LORD your God is giving you to dwell in, 13 “Wicked men have gone out from your midst and have led the inhabitants of] their city [astray] by saying, [‘Let us go and serve other gods, which you have not known,’” 14 then you shall make inquiries, search out and investigate thoroughly. If the charge is established that such an abhorrent thing has been done among you, 15 you must certainly punish the inhabitants of that city with the edge of the sword, destroying it completely, everything in it and its livestock, [with the edge of the sword. . . . 18 when] you list[en to the voice of the LORD your God, by keeping all] his [com]mandments wh[ich I command you this day, to do what is right and] good<sup>97</sup> [in the eyes of the LORD your God].

14[1 You are the children of the LORD your God. You shall not cut yourselves, nor shave your forehead for the dead. 2 For you are a holy people to the LORD your God, and the LORD has chosen you to be] a people for his own possession [above all peoples who are on the face of the earth. 3 You shall not eat any abominable thing. 4 These] are the beasts [which you may eat: the ox, the sheep, and the goat]. ▲

[19 And all winged creeping things are] [unclean] to you; you shall not eat [of them].<sup>98</sup> 20 Of all clean birds you may eat. 21 You shall not eat of] anything that dies by itself. [You may give it] to the stranger [who is within your gates, so that he may eat it, or you may sell it to a foreigner]; for [yo]u a[re] a holy people [to the LORD your God. You shall not boil a kid i]n its mother’s milk.

[22 You shall indeed tithe all the increase of your seed, which comes from] the fields year [by year. 23 In the presence of the LORD your God, at the place he will choose as a dwelling for his name, you shall eat the tithe of your grain, your wine, and your oil, as well as the firstborn of your herd and flock, so that you may learn to fear the LORD your God always. 24 But if the road is too long for you, so that you are not able] to<sup>99</sup> carry the tithe—since [the place] is too distant [from you, where the LORD your God chooses to set his name when the LORD] your God [blesses you— 25 then you shall exchange it for money, bind up the money in your hand, and go to the place which] the LORD your God [cho]ses. [26 And you shall spend the money for whatever your heart desires: for oxen, or for sheep, or for wine, or for strong drink, or for whatever yo]ur [heart desires]. Then you shall eat there b[e]fore the LORD your God, and you shall rejoice, you and your household. 27 And as for the Le]vite who is within [your] ga[tes—you shall not neglect him, fo]r [he] has n[o portion or inheritance with you].

[28 At the end of every three year]s you shall bring [the full tith[e of your increase in the same year, and lay it up with]in your gates. 29 And [the Levite, because he has no portion or inheritance with you, and the foreigner, the orphan and the widow who are within your gates] shall co[me, and eat and be satisfied, so that the LORD your God may bless you in all the work of your hands which you undertake].

■ Deuteronomy 15:2 prohibits the exacting of debts at the end of every seven years. In the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch we are told that debt repayment is not to be required of one's neighbor or brother, whereas the Septuagint exempts only one's neighbor from debts. But 4QDeut<sup>c</sup> specifies no party from whom debts cannot be exacted, which seems to make the prohibition applicable to everyone who owes debt (and is thus more wide-ranging). Comparison of these different rulings shows that legal differences arose early on as to exactly who was exempted from paying debts at the end of the seventh year.

[1 At the end of every seven years you shall] grant a remission of debts. 2 And this is the m[anner of the remission]: every creditor [shall release] wh[at] [he has lent to his neighbor]; he shall [no]t exact it<sup>100</sup> because [the LORD's] remission has been proclaimed. [3 You may exact it of a foreigner, but whatever of] yours is with [your] b[rother your hand shall remit. 4 However, there shall be no p]oor [among you], for [the LORD will surely] bless [you in the land which the LORD] your God is giving [you for an inheritance to possess, 5 if only you listen fully to the voice of the L]ORD [your] Go[d, by being careful to carry out this entire commandment] which I command you [this day. 6 For the LORD your God will bless you, just a]s he promised you; [you] will lend [to many nations but not borrow, yo]u [will rule over] ma[ny natio]ns but [they shall not rule] over [you].

[7 If there is among you anyone in need—a member of your community in any of your towns within the land which the LORD your God is giving you—do not be hard-hearted or tight-fisted toward your poor neighbor. 8 Rather] you shall [indeed] open your hand to him, and [shall indeed] lend [him sufficient for his need, whatever he requires]. 9 Be care[ful] lest there be a [wicked] th[ought in your heart which says], “The seventh year, the year of remis[sion, is at hand,” and your eye is hostile toward your ne]edy [neighbor], and you [giv]e nothing to [him]. Then he may cry out [to the LORD against you, and it will be accounted as a sin to you. 10 You shall indeed give]e to him, and [your] he[art] shall not be g[rieved when you give to him; because of this the LORD your God will bless you in all your work, and in everything you put your hand to]. ▲

[14 . . . you shall supply him liberally from your flock, from your threshing-floor, and from your winepress; just as the L]ord<sup>101</sup> your G[od has blessed] you shall give to him. 15 A[nd you shall remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt, and the LORD your God redeemed you; therefore] I command you to d[o<sup>102</sup> this] thi[ng today. 16 And if he says to you, “I will not leave you,” becau]se he lov[es you and your house and because he fares well with you, 17 then you shall take an awl and thrust it] through his earlobe [into the door, and he shall be your servant forever. And you shall also do the same to your female servant]. 18 This will [not] seem hard [to you when you let him go free from you, for he has served you for six years, t]wice [as much as] the hire of a hired hand; [and the LORD your God will bless you] in all that you do.

[19 All the firstborn males that are born of] your herd [and of your flock you shall consecrate to the LORD your God; you shall do no work with the firstborn of your herd, nor shear the firstborn of your flock]. ▲

16[1 Observe the month of Abib and keep the Passover for the LORD your God, because in the month of Abib the LORD your God brought you out of Egypt by night. 2 And you shall sacrifice the Passover to the LORD your God, from the flock and] the herd, [in the place which the LORD chooses to make his name dwell there. 3 You shall ea]t [no] le[avened bread] with it; [for seven days you shall eat unleavened bread with it, the bread of affliction, since you came out of the land of Egypt in haste—so that you may remember the day when you came out of the land of Egypt all the days of your life. 4 And] no [leaven] shall be seen with you [in all your borders for seven days; nor shall any of the meat which you sacrifice on the evening of the first day remain all night until the mo]rning.

■ In a section concerned with the celebration of Passover, the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint allow the eating of unleavened bread for six days, followed by a solemn assembly on the seventh day (Deut 16:8). However, 4QDeut specifies that unleavened bread may also be eaten on the seventh (see verse 3), possibly before the solemn assembly.

[5 You are not allowed to offer the Passover sacrifice within any of your towns that the LORD your God is giving you, 6 but rather at the place which the LORD] your [Go]d [chooses] to make his name to dwell there. [There you shall sacrifice the Passover at evening, at the setting of the sun, at the time when you came out] o[f Egypt]. 7 Then you shall cook and eat [it in the place which] the LORD your God [chooses; and you shall return in the morning and go to your tents. 8 For s]even<sup>103</sup> days unleavened bread you shall eat,<sup>104</sup> [and on the seventh day there shall be a solemn assembly to the LOR]D your Go[d]; you shall not do any<sup>105</sup> [work] on it.<sup>106</sup>

9 You shall count off seven weeks [for yourself; from the time you begin to put the sickle to the standing grain you shall begin] to count seven weeks. 10 And you shall celebrate [the feast of weeks to the LORD your God with a gi]ft<sup>107</sup> of freewill offerings<sup>108</sup> from your hand, which you shall give [in ac]cordance with how [the LORD your God blesses you; 11 and] you [shall rejoice] before the LORD your God—[yo]u, your<sup>109</sup> son, [your daughter, your male servant, your female servant, the] Levite who is within your gates, [the foreigner, the orphan, and the widow who are] in your midst, in [the place which the LORD] your God [chooses] to [make his name dwell there. 12 Remember that you were a slave in Egypt, and carefully observe these statutes]. ▲

21 You shall not plant for yourself [an Asherah of any kind of tree beside the altar of the LORD your God which] you shall make for yourself. 22 Neit[her shall you set up for yourself a pillar, which the LORD your God hates].

171 You shall not sacrifice to the LOR]D your God an ox or a sheep on which there is a blemish or an]y defect, for [that is] an abomi[nation to the LORD your God].

2 If there is found in [your] midst—[within any of your gates which the LORD your God gives you—a man or woman who does what is evil in the sight of the LORD your God by transgressing] his covenant, 3 and has go[ne and served other gods and worshiped them, or the sun or] the moon o[r any of the host of heaven, which I have not commanded; 4 and if this is reported to you and you have heard of it], then you shall investigate this tho[roughly. And if it is really true, and if the matter is certain that such abomination has been committed] in Israel, 5 then [you] shall b[ring out that man or that] woman wh[o has done] this [evi]l [thing] to [your gates—that same man or woman—and you shall stone them to death with stones. 6 On the testimony of two witnesses, or of three witnesses, the one who is to die shall be put to death; but on the testimony of one witness he shall not be put to death. 7 The hands of the witnesses shall be] the firs[t against him to put him to death, and afterward the hands of all the people. So you must purge the evil from] your [mid]st. ▲

[12 And as for the man who acts presumptuously by not listening to the priest who stands to minister there before the LORD your God, or to the judge, that same] ma[n shall die. You must purge the evil from Israel. 13 And all the people shall hear and be afraid, and no longer act presumptuously].

[14 When you come to the land which the LORD your God] is giving you and you possess [it and dwell in it, and say, “I will set a king over me, like all the nations that are ar]ound [me,” 15 you must] inde[ed m]ake [king] ov[er you the one whom the LORD your God chooses. You shall make] king [over you one from among your countrymen]—you may not put [over you a foreigner, who is] not your countryman. [16 Even so], he shall [not] multiply [horses] for himself, [nor cause the people to return to Egypt, with the purpose of multiplying horses; for the LORD] has said to you, [“You shall] never again [return] that [way.” 17 Nor shall he multiply wives for himself] lest [his heart] tur[n away; nor shall he] g[rea]tly [mult]iply for himself [silver and gold].

18 And when [he sits on the throne of his kingdom, he shall write for himself a cop]y of [this] law [in] a book, in the pre[sence of the Levitical priests. 19 And it shall remain with him and he shall read] it<sup>110</sup> [al]l the days of his life, so that he may l[earn to fear the LORD his God by ke]eping all the words of this [law] and [these statutes, and by carrying them out], 20 so that [his] he[art] may not be exalted [above his countrymen, and so that he may turn not aside from the commandment to the right hand or to the left. Then] he will prolong his days [in his kingdom, both he and his children, in the midst of Israel].

18[1 The Levitical priests, indeed all the tribe of Levi], shall h[ave] no [portion or inheritance with Israel, but shall eat the offerings of the LORD made by] fire [that are his portion]. ▲

[6 And if a Levite moves from any of your towns anywhere in Israel], wh[ere] he is living, [and comes with all the desire of his soul to the place which the LORD chooses, 7 then he shall minister] in the name of the LORD [his] Go[d, as do all his countrymen the Levites who stand there before the LORD]. 8 They shall [have equal portions to] eat, besides what comes of the sale [of his family estate].

[9 When you come into the land which the LORD] your God is giving you, you sh[all not learn to imitate the abominations of those nations. 10 No one shall be found among you who makes] his son or [his daughter pass through] the fire, [one who practices] d[ivination or soothsaying, or interprets omens, or is a sorcerer, 11 or one who casts spells, or who consults ghosts or spirits, or who consults the dead]. ▲

[17 Then the LORD replied to me, “They are right in what they have said. 18 I will raise for them a prophet like you from among their countrymen; I will put my words in] his mouth, and he will speak to them [all that I command him. 19 And whoever does not listen to my words which] he will speak in my name, I [will hold] that person [accountable. 20 But the prophet who presumes to speak in my name a word that] I have not commanded him to speak, [or who] speaks [in the name of other go]ds—[that prophet will die.” 21 You may say in your] he[art, “How shall we recognize the wo]rd which [the LORD has] not s[poken?” 22 When a prophet speaks in the name of the LORD, but the thing does not come about or co]me [true], that is the mes[sage which the LORD has not spoken. The prophet has spoken it presumptuously; you shall not be afraid of him].

19[1 When the LORD your God has destroyed the nations whose land the LORD your God is giving you, and you have driven them out and settled in their towns and in their houses, 2 you shall set apart three cities for yourself in the midst of your land, whic]h the L[OR]D [your] G[od is giving to you to possess. 3 You shall prepare the] way, and divide the bor[ders of your land which the LORD] your [G]od [causes you to inherit] into three parts, so that [any manslayer] c[an flee there]. ▲

[8 And] if [the LORD your God] enlar[ges your border, as he swore to your ancestors, and gives you] all the land which he prom[ised to give to your ancestors— 9 provided you keep this entire commandment by carrying it out, as I command] you<sup>u1</sup> today, by lov[ing the LORD your God and by walking always in his ways—then you can add thr]ee cities [more for yourself], in addition to [these] three. [10 Do this so that innocent blood might not be shed in the midst of your land which the LORD your God is giving to you for an inheritance, and so that] bloodguilt will [not] be on you. [11 But if anyone hates his neighbor and lies in wait for him, and rises up against him and strikes him so that he dies, and then flees to one] from<sup>u2</sup> these cities, [12 the elders of his city shall send and take him from there, and deliver him into the hand of the avenger of blood so that he may die]. 13 Your eye [shall not pit]y him, bu[t you shall purge the guilt of innocent blood from Israel, so that it may go well with you].

[14 You shall not remove your neighbor’s boundary marker, which former generati]ons [have set], in your inheritance w[hich you will hold in the land that the LORD your God is giving to you to possess].

[15 A single witness shall not come forward against a person] with respect to any iniquity or a[n]y sin, in connection with any offense that he may have committed; a charge shall be sustained on the evidence of two witnesses, or on the evidence of three witnesses].

16 If [a malicious witness comes forward against anyone to accuse him of wrongdoing, 17 then both parties who have the dispute shall appear before the LORD, before the priests and the judges who [are in office at that time. 18 Then the judges are to conduct a thorough investigation; and] indeed, if [the witness] proves to be a false witness [and has testified] falsely against [his] brother, 19 then you shall do to him just as he had intended to do to] his brother. So you must purge the evil from your midst. 20 Then the rest will hear of this and be afraid, and will never] again [commit such an evil [thing] in your midst. 21 Your<sup>113</sup> eyes shall] show no [pity]: his<sup>114</sup> life [for life, eye fo]r eye, tooth for tooth, [hand for hand], foot for foot.

20[1 When you go out to war against [your] enemies, and you see horses and] chariots and<sup>115</sup> a people [more] numerous [than you, you shall not be afraid of them—for the LORD your God, who brought you up from the land of Egypt, is with you. 2 And [when you draw near to battle, the priest shall approach and speak to the people, 3 and say t]o [them], “Hear, [O Israel, you are drawing near today to make war against your enemies. Do not lose heart or be afraid or panic or be in dread of them, 4 for it is the LORD your God who goes with you, to fight for you against [your] enemies, to give you victory].”

■ Deuteronomy 20 lays down regulations for going to war. As we might expect, some verses (5, 9) refer to the role of the army officers. In verse 8 the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint again call these leaders officers, but 4QDeut<sup>42</sup> instead refers to them as judges. The Qumran scroll may have also used this term instead of officers in verses 5 and 9, but unfortunately the key words are not preserved. It is also interesting to note that both words are found in 4QDeut<sup>b</sup> and the Septuagint at Deuteronomy 31:28, whereas the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch use only the term officers.

[5 Then the officers shall speak to the people, sayi]ng, “Has anyone [built a new house and not yet dedicated it? Let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle and someone else [dedicates it. 6 And has anyone] plan[ted a vineyard and not yet used its fruit? Let him go and return to [his] house, lest he die in the battle and someone else use its fruit. 7 And is anyone] en[gaged to a woman, and [has] not [yet married her? Let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle and someone else marries her.” 8 And] the judges<sup>116</sup> [shall]

10 speak [further] to the p[eo]ple and say, “Is anyone fearful and faint-hearted? Let him go and return to his house, lest] his neighbor’s heart [melts] like his own heart.” 9 And [when the officers have finished speaking to the people they shall appoint arm]y [commanders] at [the he]ad of the people.

10 When you approach [a city] to [fight] against it, offer terms of peace [to it]. 11 And if it accepts your terms of peace [and ope]ns its gates to you, then all the people who are foun[d in it shall become] forced labor for you and shall serve you. 12 But if the city will not make peace wit[h you], but makes [war against you, then you shall besiege it; 13 and when] the LORD your Go[d] delivers it [into your hand], you shall kill e[very male from there with the] e[dge of the sword. 14 But] you shall take as plunder f[or yourself the women, the children, and the cattle, and all that is in the city, all] its [sp]oil; [and you shall eat the spoil of your enemies which the LORD your God gives you. 15 This is what you are to do] to all [the cities which are very far off from you, which are not the cities of the nations nearby].

[16 But of the cities of these nations that the LORD your God is giving to yo]u as an in[heritance you shall leave alive nothing that breathes. 17 For you shall utterly destroy them—the Hittites and the Amorites, the Canaanites and the] Perizzites, and<sup>117</sup> the Hi[vites, and the Jebusites—just as the LORD your God has commanded you, 18 so that they may not teach you both to practice] all [their] abominati[ons which they do for their gods and to sin against the LORD your God. 19 When you besiege] a city for a [long] tim[e, making war against it in order to take it, you shall not destroy its trees by wielding an ax against them; for you may] eat [from them], but [you shall not cut them down. For are the trees of the field people, that they should be besieged by you? 20 However, you may destroy and cut down trees that you know do not produce fruit, and use them for building siegeworks against the town that is making war with you, until it falls].

214 . . . and the elder[s] of th[at]<sup>118</sup> c[ity] shall bring the heifer down [to] a valley [with running water, which has been neither plowed] no[r] sown, and they shall break [the he]ifer’s neck there in [the valley. 5 Then] t[he priests, the sons of Levi, shall com]e near; [for] the LORD [your] Go[d] has ch[osen] [them] to minister to him a[nd to pronounce bless]ings in the name [of the LORD, and in accord]ance [with their word shall all cases of dispute and ass]ault [be settled]. 6 And all the eld[ers of tha]t [city] who are nearest to the slain man [shall wash their hands over the heifer whose neck was broken in the valley, 7 and they shall answer and say], “Our [han]ds have not shed<sup>119</sup> [this] b[lood, neither have our eyes seen it]. 8 O LORD, [forgive yo]ur [people] Israel, [wh]om you have

r[ede]med, and do not allow [innocent] blood [to remain in the midst of your people Israel.” And] the bloodguilt [shall be forgi]ven them. 9 So you shall purge the blood of the [inno]cent<sup>120</sup> fr[om your midst, when you do what is right in the sight of the LORD].

10 When you go out to w[ar against your enemies, and the LORD your God delivers them into your hands and you carry them away captive, 11 if you see among the] captives [a beautiful] wom[an, and have a desire for her and wish to take her as a wife for yourself, 12 you shall bring her home to your house. Then she shall] shave [her head, trim her nails, 13 discard her captive’s garb, and live in your house a full month, mourning for her father and mother. Then you may go in to her and be her husband, and she shall be your wife]. ▲

[15 If a man has two wives, one of them loved and the other unloved, and if both the loved one and the one he does not love bear him sons, the firstborn being the son of the unloved wife, 16 then on the day when] he wills [his property to his sons, he cannot make the son of the beloved wife the firstborn in preference to the unloved wife’s son, who is the actual firstborn]. ▲

[22 When someone is convicted of a capital offense and is executed, and you hang him on a tree, 23 his body shall not remain all night on the tree, but you shall indeed bury him that same day. For anyone who is hanged is under God’s curse; you must not defile your land which the LORD yo]ur [God] is giving [to] you [as an inheritance].

22[1 You shall not watch your neighbor’s ox or his sheep straying off and ignore them]; you shall certainly take them back [to your neighbor. 2 And if your neighbor is not near you, or if you do not know him, then you shall bring it home to your house and it shall rem]ain [with you until your neighbor looks for it; then you shall return it to him. 3 And you shall d]o [the same with his donkey], you shall do the same [with hi]s [garment, and you shall do the same with every lost item of your neighbor’s, which he loses] and you find—you m[a]y not ignore it. [4 You shall not see your neighbor’s donkey or] his [ox] fallen down on the road, and ignore th[em]; you shall certainly help [him] lift [them up].

5 A woman sh[all] not wear [a man’s clothing], nor shall a man pu[t on] a woman’s garment;<sup>121</sup> for whoever does [these things is] an abomination to the LORD your God.

[6 If] a bird’s nest [happens to be] before you on the road, whether in any tree or on [the ground, with fledglings or] eggs, and the mother is sittin[g o]n the fledglings or [on the eggs], you shall not take the mother [wi]th [the fledglings].

7 You shall certainly let the mother go, but you may take the fledglings for] yourself, [so that it may go well with you and you may prolong your days].

[8 When you build a new house, then you shall make a parapet around your roof, so that] you may [not] bring [bloodguilt on your house if anyone falls from it].

[9 You shall not sow your vineyard with two kinds of seed, or the wh]ol[e yield will have to be forfeited, both the seed which you have sown and the yield of the vineyard]. ▲

[12 You shall make yourself tassels on the four corners of your cloak] with [which you] cover [yourself].

[13 If any man takes a wife and goes in to her, and then spurns her, 14 and charges sha]meful things [against he]r and gi]ves her a bad name, saying], “I married [th]is [woman], but when I lay with [her I found no evidence of h]er virgi]nity,” 15 then the] girl’s [father] and mother [shall bring] a[nd submit the evidence of the girl’s virginity] to the elder[s of the city at the gate. 16 Then the girl’s father shall say to the elders, “I gave my daughter] to [this man as] a wife, [but he spurns her, 17 and now he has charged her with shameful things], saying, ‘[I found no evidence of] your daughter’s [virginity.’ But here is the proof of my daughter’s virginity.” Then they shall spread out the cloth] before the elder[s of the ci]ty. 18 And [the elders of that city] shall take [the man and punish him. 19 They shall fine him a hundred shekels of si]lver [and give these to the father of the girl, because he has given a bad name to a virgin of Israel. She shall remain his wife; he may not divorce her as long as he lives]. ▲

23[5 Yet the LORD your God would not listen to Balaam, but the LORD your God turned] the curse into a blessing [for you] becaus[e the LORD your God loved you. 6 You shall not promote their welfare n]or their prosperity [as long as you live].

[7 You shall not despise an Edomite, since he is your countryman; you shall] not [despise an Egyptian, since you were a foreigner residing in his land]. ▲

[10 If one of you becomes unclean because of a nocturnal emission, he is to go outside the camp and must not come within the camp. 11 But when evening arrives he shall bathe himself in water; and when] the sun [sets] he can come back wi[thin the camp].

[12 You shall also have a place outside the camp] where you can go to relieve yourself; 13 and [you shall have] a spade [among your tools, and when you sit down] outside<sup>122</sup> you shall dig with it a[nd rest]ore<sup>123</sup> and cover [your excrement. 14 For the LORD] your [God] walks in the midst of your camp, to sa[ve you and to deliver your enemies before you; this is why your camp shall be holy, so that he may not see anything indecent among you and turn away from you].

15 You shall [not] ha[nd ba]ck [to his master] a s[lave who has run away from his master to you. 16 He can live with you, in your midst, in any place that he chooses in any one of your towns, wherever he likes—you shall not oppress him].

17 No[ne of the daughters of Israel] shall be [a cult prostitute, nor shall any of the sons of Israel be a cult prostitute. 18 You shall not bring the] wages of a prostitute [or the wages of a male prostitute into the house of the LORD yo]ur [God to pay any vow; for] both of these [are an abomination to the LORD your God].

[19 You shall not charge interest to your countryman—whether interest on money, interest on food, or interest on anything that] may accrue interest. [20 You may charge interest to a foreigner, but you shall not charge interest to your countryman], so that the LORD [your God] may bless you [in all that you put your hand to in the land which you are entering] to possess.

[21 When you make a vow to the LORD your God, you shall not] be slow in paying it, for [the LORD your God will] surely [hold you responsible] and there would be [sin in you]. 22 But if you refrain [from] vowing there shall be no s[in] in you. [23 You shall be ca]reful to perform what goes forth from your lips, just as you have vowed [to the LORD your God as a freewill offeri]ng what [you] have promised with your own mouth.

24 When you go into your neighbor's vineyard, [you may eat] your [f]ill [of grapes for yourself], but you shall not pu[t] any in your basket. 25 When you go into your neighbor's [standing grain], then [you may] pl[uck the ears with your hands, but you shall] n[ot] put [a sickle] to your neighbor's standing grain.

■ Among other matters, Deuteronomy 24 deals with divorce. In verse 2, one scroll—4QDeut<sup>a</sup>—and the Septuagint assume that the wife has actually departed from the husband's house after he has sent her away (verse 1); this is reflected in the translation below. However, another scroll—4QDeut<sup>b2</sup>—along with the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch, specifies in verse 2 that she may become another man's wife only after she has physically departed. The second stipulation, more specific, prevents a situation where the rejected wife may be living in two homes at once.

[1 If a man takes a wife and marries her, but she fin]ds [no] favor in his eyes because he has found something objectionable about her, [then he shall write her a bill of divorce and put it in her hand and] send her from his house. 2 She<sup>124</sup> may then go and be [another] man's [wife. 3 And if the latter husband who took her] to be his wife<sup>125</sup> [dislikes her] and writes her a bill of divorce and puts it in her hand and sends her from his house, [or if the latter husband] who took her to be his wife [dies], 4 her former husband, [who had sent her away], cannot take her again to be his wife after she has been defiled. For [tha]t is [an abomination] before the LORD; you shall not bring sin upon the land which the LORD your God is giving you [as an inheritance].

5 When a man takes a new wife, he shall not go out with the army, nor shall he be charged<sup>126</sup> an[y duty]; for one year he shall be free at home and be happy with the wife he has marr[ied].

6 N[o one shall tak]e [a mi]ll or an upper millstone [as a pledge]; for he would be taking a man's life in pledge.

7 If a man is found kidn[apping any of his countrymen from the] Israel[ites, and mi]streats him or sells him, then [that] thi[ef] shall die. [So you shall purge the evil from your midst].

8 Guard [against an outbreak of] leprosy by taking care to observe and a[ct according to all that the Levitical priests teach you; just as] I [commanded] th[em, so you shall take care to do. 9 Remember what the LORD your God did to Miriam along the road as you came out of Egypt].

[10 When you make your neighbor a] lo[an of any kind, you shall not go into his house to take his pledge. 11 You shall stand outside, and the man to whom you are lending] shall bring [the pledge] out t[o you. 12 And if he is a poor man, you shall not go to sleep with his pledge in your possession; 13 you shall certainly restore to him] the pledge when the sun goes down, [so that he may sleep in his garment and bless you. And it will be regarded as a righteous act by you before the LORD your God].

14 You shall not take advantage of a hired servant who is poor and needy, [whether he is one] of [your] country[men, or of your foreigners who reside in your land in your towns. 15 You shall pay him his wages each day, before] the sun [goes down] on it, for he is poor and [sets his heart o]n [it. Otherwise he may cry to the LORD against you, and it would become s]in [in you].

16 Parent[s] shall not be put to death<sup>127</sup> [for their children, nor shall children be put to death for their par]ents; each [shall be put to death] for [his own] sin.

[17 You shall not pervert the justice that is due to resident aliens or to orphans, nor shall you take a] widow's [clothi]ng [as a pledge]. 18 Remember that [you] w[ere] a slave [in Egypt, and the LORD your God redeemed you from there; therefore I command you to do this thing.

[19 When you reap your harvest in your field, and have forgotten] a sheaf in the field, you shall not go again to retrieve it. It shall be left for the foreigner, the orphan [and the widow, so that the LORD] your God [may bless you] in all the work of your hands. 20 When you beat [your] olive tree, you shall not go over the boughs again]; this shall be [for the foreigner, the orphan] and the widow. 21 When you gather the grapes of your vineyard, [you shall] not [glean what is left over]. This is [for the foreigner, the orphan and the widow]. 22 And you shall remember that you were a slave in the land of Egypt; therefore I command you to do this thing].

251 If there is a dispute between people and they go to court, and the judges decide between them, they shall vindicate the righteous and condemn the guilty. [2 And if the guilty party deserves to be flogged, the judge shall make him lie down and be beaten in his presence] with the number of strokes in proportion to his offense. [3 He may give him forty lashes but no more, so that he does not beat him with many stripes more than these and] your neighbor [is degraded in] your eyes].

[4 You shall not muzzle the ox when it treads out the grain].

[5 If brothers dwell together and] one of them [dies] [leaving no son, the wife of the deceased shall not be married outside the family to a stranger; her husband's brother shall go in to her and take her for himself] as a wife, and perform the duty of a husband's brother [to her. 6 And the firstborn that she bears [shall assume the name of his deceased brother, so that his name may not be blotted out of Israel].

7 But if [the man] has no desire to take [his brother's wife, then his brother's wife shall go up to the elders at the gate and say, "My husband's brother refuses] to [raise up for his brother a name in] Israel; [he will] not perform the duty of a husband's brother to me." 8 Then the elders of his city shall call him and speak to him; and if he persists and says, ["I] do not want to take her," 9 then [his brother's wife] shall come to him in the presence of the elders and pull his shoe from his foot], and spit in [his] face, and she shall declare, "This is what is done to the man who does not build up his brother's house. 10 Throughout Israel his line will be known as 'The house of him whose sandal was pulled off].'" ▲

[13 You shall not have in your bag two kinds of] weights, [large and small. 14 You shall not have in your house two kinds of measures, large and small. 15 You] shall have only [an accurate and honest] weight, you shall have only an accurate and honest measure, so that your days] may be long [in the land which the LORD your God is giving you. 16 For] all who do such things, a[ll who act dishonestly, are an abomination to the LORD] your [G]o[d].

[17 Remember] wh[at Amalek did to you] along the road when you came out of E[gypt— 18 h]ow he met [you on the] road and struck down all [who lagged behind] at your rear, when you were faint [and we]ary; he did not [fear God]. 19 Therefore, [when the LORD your God has given you rest from all your surroundi]ng ene[mies], in the land [which the LORD your God is giving you for an inheritance to possess, you shall blot out the remembrance of Amale]k from under heav[en; you must not forget].

26[1 And when you come int]o [the land which the LORD] your [God] is giving [you for an inheritance, and possess it and dwell in it, 2 you shall take some of the first fruits of all the produ]ce of the ground w[hich you bring in from your land that the LO]RD your G[o]d [is giving you, and you shall put it] in a basket, and go to [the place which the LORD your God chooses as a dwelling for his name]. 3 Then you shall go to the priest [who is officiating] at [that] time and say to him, “I profess [this da]y before<sup>428</sup> the LORD [your] God [that I have come to the land wh]ich the LORD [s]wore to our ancestors to give [us.” 4 Then] the priest shall take the [basket from your hands and set it down before the altar of the L]ORD your God. 5 And [you] shall answer [and sa]y be[fore the LORD your God, “My father was a wandering Aramean, and he went down into Egypt and] resided there, few in number. [And there he became a great, mighty, and populous nation].” ▲

[14 I have not eaten from it while in mourning, nor have I removed any of it while unclean, nor offered any of it for the] dead. I have listened to the voice of the L[ORD my God; I have acted in accordance with all that you commanded me. 15 Look down from] your holy [dwelling] place, from heav[en, and bless your people Israel and the ground which you have given] us, just as [you] swore [to our ancestors, a land flowing with milk and honey]. ▲

■ Deuteronomy 26 closes with God’s promise that the Israelites are to be a holy people to the Lord their God. Whereas the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint end by saying that God has spoken this, the translation below adopts the reading of 4QDeut and some Septuagint manuscripts; here the promise is made more personal by stating that it was specifically spoken to the Israelite people who were present (“to you”).

[18 And the LORD has promised today that you are his people, his treasured possession, as he promised you, and that you are to keep [all his commandments]. 19 And he shall set you high above all the nations that he has made, [for fame and] for praise<sup>129</sup> and for honor; and for you to be a holy people to the LORD your God, just as [he] has spoken to you.<sup>130</sup>

27<sup>1</sup> Then Moses and the elders of Israel commanded the people: Keep all this commandment<sup>131</sup> [which I command you this day. 2 And on the day when you cross the Jordan to the land] which the LORD your God is giving you, you shall set up large stones for yourself and coat them with plaster. 3 Then you shall write on them all the words of this law, when you have crossed over, so that] you may go [into the land which the LORD your God is giving you—a land flowing with] milk and honey—just as the LORD, the God of your ancestors, has promised you. 4 And] when you have crossed [the Jordan, you shall set up these stones about which] I command you to[day, in Mount Ebal, and you shall coat the]m with plaster. [5 And] there you shall build an altar [to the LORD your God, an altar of stones on which you shall use no] iron tool. 6 [You shall build the altar of the LORD your God [from unhewn] stones, and you shall offer on [it burnt offerings to the LORD your God. 7 You shall sacrifice peace offerings, and eat] there, and [you] shall rejoice [before the LORD your God]. 8 Then you shall write very clearly on the stones all the words of this law].

[9 Then Moses and the Levitical [priests spoke] to [all Israel: “[Be silent, O Israel, and listen! Today you have become the people of the LORD your God. 10 Therefore you shall obey the] voice [of the LORD your God and carry out his commandments and his statutes that I am commanding you this day].” ▲

24 Cursed is the one who strikes down his neighbor in secret. And all the people shall say, “Amen.” 25 Cursed is the one who takes a bribe [to slay an innocent person. And all the people shall say, “Amen.” 26 Cursed is the one who does not uphold the words of this [law] by [carry]ing [them out. And] all the people [shall] say,<sup>132</sup> “Amen.”

28<sup>1</sup> And] if you listen carefully to the voice of the LORD your God so as to carry out<sup>133</sup> [all his commandments which] I command you today, the LORD your God will set you [on high above all the nations of the earth]. 2 All these blessings will come upon you and overtake you, [if you listen to the voice of the LORD] your [God]. 3 You will be blessed in the city, and you will be blessed [in the countryside. 4 The fruit] of your womb [will be blessed], and the fruit of your ground, the fruit of your livestock, the increase of your cattle, [and the young of your flock]. 5 Your basket and your kneading-bowl will be blessed.

6 You will be blessed when you come in, [and you will be blessed when] you [go o]ut.

7 The LORD will cause your enemies who rise [up] against you [to be defeated before you]; they [will] come out against you [one way], but [will flee before you] seven w[ays]. 8 The LORD will command] the blessi[ng upo]n you [in your barns and in all that you put your hand to; and he will bless you in the land which the LORD your God is giving to you. 9 The LORD will establish you as a holy people for him]self [just as he has sworn to you, if you keep the commandments of the LORD] your [G]od [and walk in his ways. 10 And all the peoples of the earth will see that] you [are c]alled [by the name of the LORD, and they will be afraid of you. 11 And the LORD will make you abound in prosperity, in the fruit of your body], in the fruit of your g[round, and] in the fruit of [your] c[attle]<sup>134</sup> in the land which the LORD swore to your ancestors to give you].

[12 The LORD will open for you his rich storehouse, the heavens, to give rain for your land in its season and to bless all the work of your hands. You will lend to] many [nations], and you [will not borrow. 13 The LORD will make you the head, and not the tail, and you shall only be] at the top, and not [at the bottom— if you listen to the commandments of the LORD your God which] I [comma]nd you tod[ay, by carefully observing them. 14 And do not turn aside from any of the words which I am commanding you this day, either to the right or to the left, by going after other gods to serve them].

■ Deuteronomy 26:19—“You will be cursed when you go in, and you will be cursed when you go out”—is completely absent from 4QpaleoDeut<sup>r</sup> and some Septuagint manuscripts but is present in the Masoretic Text, the Samaritan Pentateuch, the Septuagint, and modern Bibles. The longer text forms a counterpart to verse 6 earlier in the chapter: “You will be blessed when you come in, and you will be blessed when you go out.”

[15 But] if you<sup>135</sup> do not listen to the voice of the LORD [your] G[od, by carefully observing all his commandments and his statute]s [wh]ich I command you today, [all] these curses [will come upon you] and overtake you. 16 You will be cursed in the cit[y, and you will be cursed in the field]. 17 Your basket [will be cursed and also] your [kn]ea[ding-bo]wl. 18 The fruit of [your] womb will be [c]ursed, [as well as the fruit of] your ground, the increase of [your] cattle, and the young of your flock.<sup>136</sup>

20 The LO[R]D will send [upon you cursing, confus]ion, and re[buke] in all [that you] put [your] ha[nd to do, un]til [you] are des[troyed and until you perish quickly, because of the evil of your deeds in that you have forsaken me. 21 The LORD will make a plague cling to you until it consumes you from the land which you are about to] possess. [22 The LORD will inflict you] with consumption, with f[ever, with inflammation, with fiery heat, with drought, with bli]ght, and with mildew; [they] will pursue you<sup>137</sup> until [you perish. 23 Then the sky that is over your head will be bronze, and the earth] that is beneath you will be iron. [24 The LORD] will change [the rain of your land into powder and dust]; it will co[m]e down from] heaven upon you until you are destroyed.

[25 The LORD will cause you to be defeated before your enemies; you shall go out] on[e w]ay [against them, and shall flee seven ways before them; and you shall be tossed to and fro among all the kingdoms of the earth. 26 Your corpses shall be food for all the birds of the air and the animals of the earth, and there shall be no one to frighten them away. 27 The LORD will inflict you with the boil]s [of Egypt, and with ulcers, and with scurvy, and with the itch, from which you cannot be healed. 28 The LORD will inflict you with madness, and with blindness], and with confusion [of heart; 29 and you shall grope about] at noon, a[s blind people grope in darkness], and you shall not prosper in your ways; [and you shall only be] oppressed and robbed [continually, and there shall be no one to save you].

[30 You shall become engaged to a woman, and another man shall li]ve with her; [you shall build] a ho[use, and you shall not dwell in it; you shall plant a vineyard, but not enjoy its fruit]. ▲

33 A nation which [you do not know shall] consume [the fruit of your ground and all your labors; and you shall be only oppressed and crushed co]ntinua[lly; 34 so that you shall be driven mad by the sight of what you see. 35 The L]ORD [will] inflict y[ou in the knees, and in the legs, with grievous boils from which] you [can]not [be healed, from the sole of your foot to the crown of your head].

[36 The LOR]D [will bring] you, [and your king whom you set over you, to a nation that you have] not [known, neither you nor your ancestors; and there you shall serve oth]er [gods, of] w[ood and stone]. ▲

[43 The foreigner living among you shall rise above you higher and higher, but you shall sink lower and lower. 44 He shall lend to you, and you shall not lend to him; he shall b]e the he[ad, and you shall be the tail].

[45 And all these curses shall come upon you and pursue you and overtake you until you are destroyed, because you did not listen to the] voice of the LORD your God, [by keeping his commandments and his statutes which he commanded you; 46 and they shall be on you as a sign and for a portent, and on your descendants forev]er. 47 Because [you did] not [serve the L]ORD your God [with joyfulness and gladness of heart for the abundance of all things, 48 therefore you shall serve] your enemies which [the L]O[R]D shall se[nd] against you, in hunger and thirst, in nakedness [and lack of all things; and he shall put a yoke of iron on] your neck until [he] has destroyed [you].

[49 The LORD will bring a nation against you from far away], from the end of the earth, as [the eagle flies; a nation whose language you do not understand; 50 a nation of grim] countenance [who shall not respect the old or show favor to the young. 51 And it shall consume the fruit of your] livesto[ck and the fruit of your ground, until you are destroyed, leaving you neither grain, new wine, or oil, the increase of your cattle, or the yo]ung of [your] flock, [until they have made you perish. 52 And they shall besiege you in all your towns, until your high and fortified walls in which you trusted come down] throughout all [your land; and they shall besiege you in all your towns throughout all your land, which the LORD your God has given you]. ▲

[58 If] you are not care[ful to do all the words of this law that are written in this book, so that you may fear] this [glorious and awesome name, the LORD your God, 59 then the LORD will make your plagues overwhelming, and the plagues of your seed, even great] and lasting [plagues, and serious and chronic sicknesses. 60 And he will bring on you again all the diseases of Egypt which you were afraid of; and they shall cling to you. 61 Also every sickness and] every plague which [is] not [written in the book of this law, these the LORD will bring on you, until you are destroyed. 62 And you shall be left few in number, whereas] you were [like the stars of heaven for multitude; because you did not listen to the voice of the LORD your God]. ▲

[67 In the morning you shall say, “If only it were evening!” and at evening you shall say, “If only it were morning!” because of the dread of your heart which you shall fear and the sight of] your [eye]s w[hich you shall see. 68 And the LORD will bring you into Egypt again with ships, by a route wh]ich [I] pro[mised you, “You shall never see it again”; and there you shall sell yourselves to your enemies as male and female slaves, but no one shall buy you].

29[1 These are the terms of the covenant the LORD commanded Moses to make with the Israelites in the land of Moab, in addition to the covenant he had made with them at Horeb. 2 Moses summoned all Israel and said to them: You have seen all that the LORD did before your eyes in the land of Egypt, to Pharaoh, to all his servants and all his land; 3 the great trials which your eyes saw, the signs, and] those [grea]t [wonders]. 4 But [the LORD has no]t [given you a heart to know, and eyes to see, and ears to hear], to this day. 5 And I have [le]d [you forty years in the wilderness; your clothes have not grown old] on you, and your sandals have not worn off [your feet. 6 You have not eaten bread, nor have you drunk wine or strong drink, so t]hat you may know that I am the LORD [your

God]. ▲

[9 Therefore carefully observe the terms of this covenant, in order that you may succeed in everything that you do. 10 You] are standing [this day, all of you, before the LORD your God—your leaders, your tribes, your elders, and your officers, all the men of Isra]el, 11 your children, and [your] w[ives,<sup>138</sup> and your foreigner who is in the midst of your camps, from the hewer of your wood to the drawer of your water—12 so that you may enter into the covenant of the LORD your G]od, [and into his oath which the LORD your God makes with you this day; 13 so that he may establish you this day to himself for a people, and that he may be your God, as he spoke to you, and as he swore to your ancestors, to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Ja]cob. 14 Nor is it with you [only] that I make [this covenant and this oath, 15 but with] those who [are here] standing with us<sup>139</sup> this day before the LORD our God, and [also with those who are not here with us this day. 16 For you know] how we lived in the land of Egypt, and how [we came through the midst of the nations through which you passed; 17 and] you have s[ee]n [thei]r [abominations], and their idols of wood and stone, of silver and gold, [which were among them. 18 Beware lest there be among you a man or woman], or a family o[r tribe, wh]ose heart turns away this day from the LORD our God [to go and serv]e [the gods of those nations; lest there be among you a root that be]ars poisonous and bitter fruit.

19 And when he hears the words of [this curse, he blesses himself in his heart, saying], “I shall have [peace], though I walk [in the stubborn]ness of my heart,” this will [destroy the moist along with the dry]. 20 The LORD [will not] be willing [to pardon him, but rather the anger of the LORD and] his [jealou]sy [will burn] against that man, and all [the curses that are written in this book] shall cling<sup>140</sup> on him, [and the LORD will blot out his name from under heaven. 21 And the LORD will] set him apart [for calamity out of all the tribes of Israel, according to all the curses of the covenant that are written in this book of the law].

[22 The next generation, your children who rise up after you, as well as the foreigner who comes from a distant land, will see the devastation of that land and the calamities with which the LORD has afflicted it— 23 all its soil brimstone and salt, and a burnt-out waste, unsown, and growing nothing, where no vegetation can grow like the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboiim, which the LORD overthrew in his anger and] in his wrath— 24 indeed a[ll the nations] shall say, [“Why has the LORD done thus to this land? What does the heat of this great anger mean]?”

25 They shall conclude, “Because they forsook [the covenant of the LORD, the God of] their ancestors, [which he made with them when he brought them] out of the land of Egypt, [26 and wen]t [and served other gods, and worshiped them, gods they did not know, and which] he had not allotted to them. [27 Therefore the anger of the LORD burned against this land, to bring on it every curse that is written in this book. 28 The LORD rooted them out of] their [la]nd [in anger and in wrath and in great indignation, and cast them into another land, as it is this day].” ▲

■ Deuteronomy 30:9 speaks of the prosperity that God will bestow on his obedient people. Whereas the Masoretic Text refers to “the fruit of your cattle,” and “the fruit of your ground,” the order is reversed in 4QDeut<sup>b</sup>, the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint. The second sequence seems to lay greater emphasis on agriculture than on animal husbandry.

[3 . . . then the LORD your God will restore you from captivity, and have compassion on you, and will return and gather you from all the peo]ples, [from] where [the LORD your God has scattered you. 4 If any of your outcasts are in the uttermost parts of heaven, from there the LORD your God will gather you, and from the]re he will fetch you; 5 and the [LORD your God] will bring you [into the land which your ancestors possessed, and you shall take possession of it; and he will do you good, and multiply you more than your ancestors. 6 And the LORD your God will circumcise] your heart, and the heart [of your descendants, so that you will love the LORD your God with all your heart and with all your soul, so that you may live. 7 And the LORD] your [God will put] all these curses [on your enemies, and on those who hate you and who persecuted you. 8 Then you shall again obey the voice of the LORD, and carry out] all his commandments which I [command you this day. 9 And the LORD your God will make you abundantly] prosperous [in all the work of your hands, in the fruit of your body, *and in the fruit of your ground, and in the fruit of] your livestock.<sup>141</sup> For [the LORD] will again [rejoice over you for good, a]s he rejoiced [over your ancestors; 10 if you obey the voice of the LORD your God, by keeping] his commandments [and] his statutes which are written<sup>142</sup> [in this book of the law; if you] turn to the LORD your God with all [your] heart, [and with all your soul].*

[11 For this commandment which I] command you today [is not too hard for you, neither] is it<sup>143</sup> far away from you.<sup>144</sup> [12 It is] not in hea[ven, that you should say, “Who shall go up for us to heaven and bring it to us, and make us hear it, that we may do it?” 13 Neither] is it<sup>145</sup> beyond the sea, that you should say, “Who shall cross over [the sea for us and bring it to us, and make us hear it, that we may do it?” 14 But the world [is] very [near to you, in your] mouth and in your heart and in your hand,<sup>146</sup> that you may carry it out].

■ In the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch, Deuteronomy 30:14 describes the word of God as being in the mouth and heart of the Israelites. By including “and in your hand,” 4QDeut<sup>b</sup> and the Septuagint further emphasize that God’s word is in the Israelites’ possession and is to be carried out.

[15 See, I have set before you today life and prosperity, death and adversity, 16 in that I command you this day to love the LORD your God, to walk in his ways, and to keep his commandments and his statutes and his ordinances, so that you may live and multiply, and so that the LORD your God may bless you in the land which] you [are about to possess].

[17 But if] your heart [turns away] and you will not listen, but are drawn away to worship] other gods [and serve them, 18 I declare to you] today that [you shall] surely [perish; you shall not prolong your] days in the land, which you are crossing the Jordan to enter and possess. 19 I call heaven and earth to witness against you this day, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and curse]; therefore choose life, so that you may live, you and your descendants, 20 loving the LORD your God, obeying his voice], and clinging to him. For [he is your life, and the length of your days, so that you may dwell in the land which the LORD swore] to give to [your ancestors, to Abraham], to Isaac, and to Jacob.

311 And Moses finished speaking all<sup>147</sup> [these] words to all Israel. 2 And he said to them, “I am a hundred and twenty years old] today; I can no longer go out and [come in; and the LORD has said to me, ‘You shall not cross over the Jordan.’ 3 The LORD your God, he will] cross over before you; he will destroy [these nations before you, and you shall dispossess them; and Joshua shall cross over before you], as the LORD has spoken. 4 And [the LORD] will do [to them as he did to Sihon and to Og, the kings of the Amorites, and to their land, when he destroyed them]. 5 And the LORD will deliver them up before you,<sup>148</sup> [and you shall do to them in accordance with every commandment that I have commanded you. 6 Be strong and of good courage, do not be afraid or terrified because of them; for the] LORD [your] God, it is he who goes with you; he will not fail you, nor forsake you].”

[7 Then Moses summoned Joshua, and said to him in the sight of all Israel, “Be strong and of good courage, for you shall go with this people into the land] which [the LORD] has s[worn to their ancestors to give them; and you shall cause them to inherit it. 8 And the LORD, it is he who goes before you; he will] be with you, [he will not fail you, nor forsake you; do not be afraid or be discouraged].”

■ The Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch describe God’s law in Deuteronomy 31:9 as simply written down; they do not specify how this writing was done—whether inscribed on tablets, clay, or papyrus. But 4QDeut<sup>h</sup> and the Septuagint are more specific, stating that the writing was done “in a book,” perhaps reflecting the growing emphasis on books of the Law after the Jews returned from the Babylonian exile.

[9 Then Moses wrote] this [law] in [a book,<sup>149</sup> and delivered it to the priests], the sons of Levi, who carried [the ark of the covenant of the LORD, and to all the elders of Israel. 10 And] Moses [commanded] th[em, saying, “At the end of every seven years, in the] set time of the year of [remission, during the feast of tabernacles, 11 when] all Israel [comes] t[o appear before the LORD your God in the place which] he shall choose, you<sup>150</sup> shall read [this law before all Israe]l [in their hearing. 12 Assemble the people, the me]n and the w[omen] and the children, and your foreigner [who is within your gates, so that they may hear, and may learn, and may fear] the LORD their<sup>151</sup> [God], and be care[ful] to carry out all the words of [this] l[aw; 13 and so that their children, who have not known it, may hear and learn to fear the L]ORD your God [as long as you live in the land which you are crossing the Jordan to possess].”

14 Then [the LORD said to Moses, “Behold, your days are approaching when you must die; call Joshua, and present yourselves in the tent of meeting so that I may commission him.” So Moses and Joshua went and presented themselves in the tent of meeting].

[15 Then the LORD appeared in the tent in a pillar of cloud, and the pillar of cl]oud [stood] at<sup>152</sup> the door of the te[nt. 16 And the LORD said to Moses, “Behold, you shall sleep with your ancestors]; and this people will rise up, and prostitute themselves with the strange gods of the l[an]d, [where they go] to be among them, and will forsake<sup>153</sup> me, and break<sup>154</sup> my [cove]nant [which I have made with them. 17 Then my anger shall burn] against them in that day, and I will forsake you,<sup>155</sup> and I will hide my face [from them, and they shall be] devoured, and many evils and troubles shall c[ome on them]; so that they will say<sup>156</sup> [in] that [da]y, ‘Have not these disasters come on us be[cause] the Lord [my] G[od]<sup>157</sup> is not] a[mong us?’ 18 And] I [will surely hide] my [face] from hi[m<sup>158</sup> in] that [day] for all the evil which [they have] d[one, in that they have turned to other gods].

[19 “Now theref]ore write [the wor]ds of<sup>159</sup> [this] song for yourselves, [and teach it to the children of Israel]; put it<sup>160</sup> in their mouths, so t[hat this song] may be [a witness] for me [against the Israelites].” ▲

[24 And when] Moses [had finished] writing the words of this law in a book, until they were finished, 25 Moses commanded [the Levites who carried the ark of] the covenant of the LORD, saying, 26 “Take this<sup>161</sup> book of the law and put it alongside [the ark of the covenant of the LORD] your [God], so that it may be there as a witness against you. 27 For I know your rebellion, and your [stub]bornness; [behold, while I am still alive wit]h you this day, you have been rebellious against the LORD; so how much more after my death? 28 As[semble before me all the elders of] your tribes, [and your elders] and your judges<sup>162</sup> and your officers, so that I may speak these [words] i[n their ears], and call [hea]ven and earth [to witness against them]. 29 For I know that after [my] de[ath] you will [utterly] corrupt yourselves, [and turn aside from] t[he w]ay which I have commanded [yo]u; and [disaster] will b[efall you in the da]ys [to come]; because you will do [e]vil in [the sig]ht of the LORD, provoking him to anger [through the work of your hands].”

[30 Then Moses spoke in the ears of all the assembl]y of Israe[l] the words of this song, u[n]til they were finished].

32[1 Give ear, O heavens], and I will speak; and let the earth hear [the] wo[rds of my mouth. 2 May my te]ach[ing] drop as the rain]; my speech [condense like the de]w, [like gentle rain] on te[n]der grass, and like showers on new growth. 3 For I will proclaim the name of the LORD]; ascrib[e] greatness to [our God]. ▲

■ In the famous poem found in Deuteronomy 32, verse 8 tells us that God set the bounds of the peoples according to a certain number. Following the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch, most modern Bibles describe this as the number of the “children of Israel.” 4QDeut, however, specifies it as the number of the “children of God,” apparently denoting the divine beings who would serve as protectors for various nations. See also vs. 43.

[6 Is this how you repay the LORD, O foolish and unwise people?] Is [he] not [your father who bought you? He has made you and established you. 7 Remember the days of old], consider [the years of many generations; ask your father, and he will show you]; your elders, a[nd they will tell you]. 8 When [the Most High] gave [to the nations] their inherit[ance, when] he separated [humankind, he set the bounds of the peoples according to the number of] the children of God.<sup>163</sup> [9 For the LORD’s portion is his people; Jacob is the lot of] his [inher]itance.

■ Deuteronomy 32:43 is an unusual verse in view of its contents. As the list of variant readings shows, 4QDeut<sup>a</sup>—supported by the Septuagint—differs markedly from the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch. For example, in the Qumran scroll it is “the heavens” which rejoice, not the nations; and God will avenge the blood of “his sons,” not “his servants.” Moreover, the mention of gods “bowing down to God” and “recompensing those who hate him” is absent from the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch. This verse provides a striking example of the very different readings that sometimes appear in the Dead Sea Scrolls.

[39 See now] that I, ev[en I, am he, and there is no god with me; I kill and] I [make alive; I wound and I heal; and there is no one who] can del[iver from my hand. 40 For I] lift up my [han]d to [heaven, and say, “As] I [live forever, 41 i]f I whet [my] g[litterin]g swo[rd, and my] hand [takes hold] of judgment, I will render venge[ance] to my enemies, [and] will recompense [those who hat]e me. 33[1 And this is the] blessing, [with] whi[ch] Moses [the man of God ble]ssed [the Israelites before his death. 2 And he said]: [The LORD] came from Sinai, [and rose from Seir upon them; he shone forth from Mount Paran, and came] from the ten thousand[s of holy ones; at his right hand was a fiery law for them. 3 Indeed, he loves his people; all his holy ones are in your hand; and they] marched [at your feet; everyone received direction from him. 4 Moses charged us with a law, an inheritance for the assembly of Jacob]. 5 And he was [king in Jeshurun, when the leaders of the people were gathered, all the tribes of Israel together].

6 Let Reu[ben] live, [and not die out; nor let his numbers be few. 7 And this is the blessing of Judah: and he said, “Listen, O LORD, to<sup>176</sup> the voice [of Judah, and bring him in to his people. With his hands he contends for himself]; and you shall be for him<sup>177</sup> [a help against his enemies.” 8 And of Levi he said: “Your Thummim and your Urim are with your godly one, whom you proved at Massah, with whom you contended at the waters of Meribah; 9 who said of his father and of his mother, ‘I have not seen him’; neither did he recognize his brothers or acknowledge his own children. For they have observed your word and have kept your covenant. 10 They shall teach Jacob your ordinances, and Israel your law. They shall put incense before you, and whole burnt offering on your altar. 11 Bless, O LORD, his substance, and accept the work of his hands; crush the loins of those who rise up against him, and of those who hate him so that they do not rise again.”

12 Of Benjamin he said: “The beloved of the LORD shall dwell in safety by him. He covers him all the day long, and he dwells between his shoulders.” 13 And of Joseph he said: “Blessed by the LORD be his land, for the precious things of heaven, for the dew, and for the deep that lies beneath, 14 and for the precious things of the fruits of the sun, and for the precious things of the growth of the months, 15 and for the finest produce of the ancient mountains, and for the precious things of the everlasting hills, 16 and for the precious things of the earth and its fullness, and the favor of him who dwelt in the burning bush. Let the blessing come on the head of Joseph, and on the crown of the head of him who was separate from his brothers. 17 The firstborn of his herd—majesty is his! His horns are the horns of the wild ox. With them he shall push the peoples, all of them, to the ends of the earth. And they are the ten thousands of Ephraim, and they are the thousands of Manasseh.”

18 And of Zebulun he said: “Rejoice, Zebulun, in your going out; and, Issachar, in your tents. 19 They shall call the peoples to their mountain; there they shall offer sacrifices of righteousness. For they shall suck the abundance of the seas, and the hidden treasures of the sand.” 20 And of Gad he said: “Blessed is he who enlarges Gad; he lives like a lion, and tears the arm and the crown of the head. 21 He chose the best part for himself, for there a commander’s portion was reserved; when he came to the heads of the people, he executed the righteousness of the LORD and his ordinances with Israel.” 22 And of Dan he said: “Dan is a lion’s whelp that leaps out from Bashan.” 23 And of Naphtali he said: “O Naphtali, satisfied with favor, and full with the blessing of the LORD, possess the west and the south.” 24 And of Asher he said: “Blessed be Asher with children; let him be acceptable to his brothers, and let him dip his foot in oil.” ▲

[29 Happy are you, O Israel; who is like you, a people saved by the LORD, the shield of your help, and the sword of] your [tr]iumph! [Your<sup>178</sup> enemies] shall subm[it themselves to you; and you shall tread on their high places].

34[1 And Moses went up from the plains of Moab to Mount Nebo, to the top of Pisgah, which is opposit]e Jerich[o. And the LORD showed him all the land: Gilead as far as Dan, 2 and all Naphtali, and the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, and all the land of Judah, to the western sea, 3 and the Negev, and the plain of the valley of Jericho the city of palm trees, to Zoar. 4 And the LORD said to him, “This is the land which I swore to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, saying, ‘I will give it to your descendants’]; I have allowed you to se[e it with your eyes, but you shall not cross over there].”

■ In Deuteronomy 34:6 we read that Moses was buried in a valley in the land of Moab. According to the Masoretic Text and the Samaritan Pentateuch, it was he who buried Moses, which emphasizes God’s role in Moses’ being laid to rest. But 4QDeut<sup>l</sup>, some manuscripts of the Samaritan Pentateuch, and the Septuagint offer a very different picture by stating that they—the Israelites themselves—buried their great leader.

[5 So] Moses [the servant of the LORD died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of the LORD. 6 And] they<sup>179</sup> buried him [in the valley in the land of Moab opposite Beth-peor; but no one knows of his burial place to this day. 7 Moses was a hundred and twenty years old when he died, yet his sight was unimpaired and his strength was not gone. 8 And the Isra]el[ites wept] for [Moses in the plains of Moab for thirty days; then the days of weeping in the mourning for Moses were ended]. ▲

JUBILEES

The book of Jubilees is a fascinating ancient Jewish work that is very unfamiliar to most modern readers. Containing an account of things revealed to Moses during his forty days on Mount Sinai (Exod 24:18), Jubilees presents an overview of the history of humankind and of God's chosen people until Moses' time, and is revealed to him by an angel. This book, which is usually categorized as "rewritten Bible," may be divided into seven sections:

- An Introduction (chap. 1), in which God describes the apostasy of his people and their future restoration.
- A Primeval History (chaps. 2–4), dealing with the creation and Adam.
- Stories about Noah (chaps. 5–10).
- Stories about Abraham (chaps. 11–23:8).
- Thoughts on Abraham's death (chaps. 23:9–32).
- Stories about Jacob and his family (chaps. 24–45).
- Stories about Moses (chaps. 46–50).

The author follows the general outline of Genesis and the early part of Exodus, but in the process of retelling the biblical narratives, he at times omits, condenses, expands, supplements, or alters the biblical accounts. For example, the long account of the plagues in Exodus 7–10 receives only a few verses in Jubilees (48:4–11), and Reuben's apparent incest (Gen 35:22) is extensively explained in Jubilees 33:2–20.

Before the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls, Jubilees was known to scholars in Greek, Syriac, Latin, and Ethiopic translations, and was part of the most ancient canon of the Ethiopic church. The discovery of a large number of Jubilees manuscripts at Qumran was surprising to many, and has aroused considerable interest. Approximately fifteen Jubilees scrolls were found in five caves (two each in Caves 1 and 2,<sup>a</sup> one in Cave 3,<sup>b</sup> nine in Cave 4,<sup>c</sup> and one in Cave 11<sup>d</sup>). The actual total of these manuscripts is not certain, and may be as low as thirteen or as high as sixteen.<sup>e</sup> Whatever the precise number, all of them were written in Hebrew, and one on papyrus.

Is the form of Jubilees found in the Scrolls similar to the one that is preserved in the Ethiopic version?<sup>1</sup> On comparing the Judaean Desert fragments with the Ethiopic text, we may conclude that the Hebrew fragments demonstrate that the ancient translators of Jubilees took great care to render a mostly literal version, although not in every case.

To judge from both the large number of copies and other works related to it that were yielded by the caves,<sup>2</sup> Jubilees was extensively used at Qumran. As an influential pre-Qumranic writing, composed in the first third of the second century bce, the book is frequently compared by scholars to 1 Enoch. It has been suggested that Qumran scribes and readers gradually lost interest in compositions attributed to Enoch, and that Jubilees became increasingly important to the Qumran community during their later history.

Jubilees is especially significant in view of its relationship to several of the sectarian texts from Qumran. Prominent themes include the 364-day calendar, its division of the course of history into 94-year jubilee periods, and its practice of dating covenants to the third month (especially the fifteenth day), which may have inspired the practice at Qumran of renewing the covenant annually on the Festival of Weeks.

Several factors lead to the conclusion that Jubilees was viewed and used as Scripture by the Qumran community. First, a work called 4QText with a Citation of Jubilees (4Q228) seems to denote Jubilees by its Hebrew title “The Divisions of the Times,”<sup>3</sup> and later introduces the first word of the title by a citation formula: “For thus it is written in the Divisions [of the Times].”<sup>4</sup> Second, Jubilees claims to be divine revelation in that its contents are given by an angel of God<sup>5</sup> and have been inscribed on heavenly tablets.<sup>6</sup> Third, the fact that Jubilees is represented by such a large number of manuscripts shows that it was extensively used at Qumran, which points to its popularity and most likely its authoritative status. Jubilees is found in about fifteen scrolls; of all the biblical books at Qumran, only the Psalms, Deuteronomy, Isaiah, Exodus, and Genesis (in descending order) are represented by more manuscripts. Fourth, Jubilees is quoted in some of the nonbiblical scrolls, which indicates its authoritative status to the authors of such texts. For example, the Damascus Document (CD) 16:2–4 cites Jubilees as the source of information concerning the times when Israel would be blind to the law of Moses, while CD 10:7–10 may well be based on Jubilees 23:11, which refers to people’s loss of knowledge in their old age.

JOSHUA

Only two scrolls of the book of Joshua were recovered in the Judean Desert, but one of them makes quite an impact, and several other previously unknown parabiblical works related to Joshua that were found among the scrolls have enriched our knowledge of the ancient world.

4QJosh<sup>a</sup> is the oldest witness to the text of Joshua in any language, dating roughly to 100 bce, and it provides a dramatic example of the light that the scrolls shed on the Bible. It takes us back to an earlier stage in the development of the biblical text and thus helps solve a problem that has long puzzled readers.

In the traditional narrative, Joshua leads the people across the Jordan, fights the battle for Jericho, mounts another victory over the city Ai, and then eventually goes twenty miles north to Shechem to build an altar on Mount Ebal, opposite Mount Gerizim, where the Samaritans much later were to center their religion. He then immediately marches back down south, abandoning the newly built altar and leaving it exposed in enemy territory.

On a single fragment, 4QJosh<sup>a</sup> contains the end of the altar-building episode, followed by the beginning of chapter 5. This means that Joshua would have constructed the first altar in the Promised Land immediately after crossing the Jordan and before beginning any battles of conquest. This is, of course, what would be expected—that in thanksgiving for the fulfillment of the promise of the land, and in order to sanctify the land to the Lord, Joshua would have immediately erected an altar there at Gilgal. Gilgal continued to be known as an important place for worship,<sup>a</sup> whereas Mount Ebal is never referred to again as a worship site for Israel.

Two further pieces of evidence clinch the significance of this scroll's sequence of events. First, the historian Josephus, retelling the biblical story in the first century ce, also appears to have had a biblical text like 4QJosh<sup>a</sup>. He describes Joshua's building of an altar immediately after crossing the Jordan,<sup>b</sup> while not mentioning either the journey to Mount Ebal or an altar at the point where the Masoretic Text places it.<sup>c</sup> Though he does eventually describe an altar at Shechem, it is not until noticeably later in the narrative,<sup>d</sup> and certainly the tradition of Joshua's covenant ceremony at Shechem after the conquest would have been widely known.<sup>e</sup>

Second, both the Samaritan Pentateuch and the Old Latin version have the reading "on Mount Gerizim" in the text at Deuteronomy 27:4, a passage in which Moses commands the building of this altar. What this undoubtedly shows is that "on Mount Ebal" in the Masoretic and Greek tradition is a later Jewish polemical change from the unacceptable Samaritan claim that the first altar was built "on Mount Gerizim." Thus there was a three-stage history in the development of this command-fulfillment passage. First, the altar was simply to be built at an unspecified place—wherever the people crossed the Jordan. Second, northerners, perhaps the Samaritans, specified the site of the first altar as "on Mount Gerizim." Finally, Jewish scribes discounted that claim by changing "Mount Gerizim" anomalously to the otherwise insignificant "Mount Ebal."

This does not mean that the text of 4QJosh<sup>a</sup> is always superior. For example, at 7:14 it drops out almost a whole line, skipping from one phrase to the next occurrence of that similar phrase, thus losing the intervening text.

The text of Joshua was already known to have existed in two successive variant literary editions. As in the case of Jeremiah, the Greek text is an earlier, shorter edition of the book that was later developed into a fuller edition appearing in the Masoretic Text. 4QJosh<sup>a</sup> now presents yet an earlier version of the text—one that is shorter in spots. For example, at 8:3–14 the space available on the original scroll suggests that verses 12–13 were not yet in the text. The Greek text presents a somewhat longer text than 4QJosh<sup>a</sup>, and the Masoretic Text is still longer. The individual textual variants displayed by both 4QJosh<sup>a</sup> and the second scroll, 4QJosh<sup>b</sup>, move back and forth, agreeing sometimes with the Greek text, sometimes with the Masoretic Text, and at other points showing their own distinctive wording.

2 “. . . 11 [When we heard it, our hearts melted,] n[o] courage remained in any one [because of you. For it is the Lord your God who is God in the heavens above and on earth below.” 12 And she said, “Swear<sup>L</sup> [to me by the Lord, since I have been loyal to you, that you also will be loyal to my family . . . ].” ▲

■ The scribe of 4QJosh<sup>b</sup> here provides an example of intentional correction away from what we know as the traditional text toward what he thought was a better version. The scribe had finished verse 15 with “at the time of the harvest” and had begun verse 16. Subsequently, he inserted the word “wheat” above the line, thus modifying the line that appears in the Masoretic Text. The Greek text reflects the revision.

15 [When those who carried the ark reached the Jordan, and the feet of the priests] who carried the ark dipped in [the edge of the wat]er[—now the Jordan overflows all its banks] at<sup>2</sup> the time of the wheat<sup>3</sup> harvest—16 the waters which came down from [upstream] stood still [and rose up in one heap, a] long [way off], at Adam,<sup>4</sup> the city that is beside Za[rethan. The water which flowed down to the sea of the Arabah], the Salt [S]ea, was entirely cut of[f, and the people crossed opposite Jericho. 17 The priests who carried the ark of the cove]nant of the Lord [stood] on [dry ground in the middle of the Jordan], . . . Josh[ua]<sup>5</sup>. . .

■ Just as this earlier version agrees with the Greek text in not having “from here” (added by the Masoretic Text in verse 3), so too the space available in the missing part of the fragment suggests that it agrees with the Septuagint in not having other small additions made in the Masoretic Text: “twelve men” in verse 2, and in verse 3 “saying” and “from the place where the priests’ feet are standing.”

1 [When the whole nation had] fin[ished crossing the Jordan, the Lord said] to Josh[ua, 2 “From the people select one from each tribe 3 and give them this command: Pick up] for yourselves [twelve stones] from the middle of the [Jordan,<sup>6</sup> and carry them over wi]th you, and set t[hem down in the place where you camp tonight].” ▲

34 [After this he read all the words of the law, the blessing and the curse, just as it is written in the book of] the [l]aw. 35 There was not a word of all<sup>7</sup> Moses commanded [Jo]shua<sup>8</sup> which Joshua did not read before all [ . . . ] the Jorda[n,<sup>9</sup> and] the women and children, and the stra[n]gers] living among them.

The scroll apparently displays the original order, with the Masoretic and Greek texts secondarily rearranged (see the introduction to Joshua).

5X After they had removed [their feet from the Jordan, . . . ] the book of the law. After that, the ark-bearers<sup>10</sup> [ . . . . 5:2 At t]hat [time] the Lord said to Josh[ua, “Ma]k[e yourself flint knives, and again circumcise the children of Israel.”<sup>11</sup> 3 So Jo]shua [made flint] kn[ives] for [himself, and circumcised the children of Israel at the hill of the foreskins. 4 And this is the reason why Joshua had them circumcised: a]ll [the people who had come out of Egypt, all the males of military age, had died in the desert along the way, after leaving] E[gypt. 5 F]or all the people who had come out had been circumcised, but those born in the desert on the way, after leav]ing E[gypt, had not been circumcised. 6 For the Israelites journeyed forty years in the desert, until the whole nation, that is, the m]en of mili[tary age, who had come out of Egypt, died, because they did not obey the Lord—those to whom the Lord swore that they would n]ot see<sup>12</sup> [the land which the Lord had sworn to their ancestors that he would give us, a land flowing with milk and honey. 7 So th]eir [sons, whom he] r[aised up in their place, Joshua circumcised; they had been uncircumcised, because they had not circumcised them along the way.]

65 [When a long blast is sounded on the ram’s horn, when you hear the sound of the trumpet, all the people will give a] loud [shout]. Then [the city] wa[ll] will colla[pse], and the peo[ple] will advance,<sup>13</sup> [ea]ch one [strai]ght ahead. 6 [So] Joshua son of Nun [called] the [priests and said] t[o them], “Take up [the ark of the covenant], and have seven priests car[ry seven ra]ms’ [horns] ahead of [the ark of the Lord.” 7 Then] Joshua<sup>14</sup> [said] to the people, [“Go forward, march around the city, and let the armed guard march ahead of the ark of the Lord.” 8 After] J[oshua had spok]en [to the people, the seven priests carrying the seve]n [rams’] hor[ns advanced before the Lord, blowing the trumpet]s, and the ark of the [co]venant of the L[or]d went [after them. 9 The armed guard went ahead of the priests who were blowing] the tru[m]pets, and the rea[r gua]rd went [after the ark, while they sounded the trumpets. 10 Jo]shua [commanded the people] as foll[ows: Do not shout, do not let your voices be heard, do not let a word come out of your mouth,] until the t[ime I tell you, Shout! Then you shall shout]. ▲

712 [“So the Israelites cannot stand before their enemies; they turn their backs t]o [their] enemi[es], not their faces,<sup>15</sup> because they have been condemned to destruction. Now<sup>16</sup> I will no longer be [with you, un]less you destroy whatever you have that has been devoted to destruction. 13 Get up, sanctify the people, and say, [Sanctify yourselves] for tomorrow. For thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: There is a devoted thing in your<sup>17</sup> midst, [Israel]. You will [not] be able to [stan]d before your<sup>18</sup> enemies, until you remove the devoted thing from among you. 14 In the morning, [you shall come forward] by tribe[s. The]n the tribe the Lord selects shall come forward<sup>19</sup> [by house]holds. [Then the household which the Lord selects] shall come forward individually. 15 Then the one among them<sup>20</sup> who is selected shall be destroyed [by fire, he and all that he has, because he vi]olated the [co]venant of the Lord, because<sup>21</sup> he committed [a disgrace in Israel].”

16 [Early in the morning, Joshua had Israel come forward by tr]ibes; and he selected [the tribe of Judah. 17 He had the clans of Judah] come forward, [and he selected the] cla[n of the Zerahites. He had the clan of] the Ze[rahites come forward individually, and Zabdi was selected]. ▲

83 [So] Joshua and the whole army [rose up and marched on Ai. Joshua chose thirty thousand men], valiant warriors, and he sen[t] them out [at night, 4 giving them these orders: Listen closely. You are going to set an ambush] against the city from be[hind. Do not go too far from it, and all of you be on the alert.] 5 I and all [the troops with me will approach the city. Then, when they come out against us like] be[fore, we will run away from them. 6 They will come out a]fter us un[til we have drawn them away from the city, for they will think, They are running away from us like before. While we are running from them, 7 you rise up from the ambush and take possession of] the ci[ty. 8 . . . set the cit]y on fi[re. . . . ]

■ 4QJosh<sup>a</sup>—to judge from the relative positions of the extant words in 8:8–14—had a shorter text even than the Greek, which itself is shorter than the Masoretic Text. At the bottom of the fragment a later scribe, using much larger letters, added some words from verse 18: “[Extend the javelin in] your hand toward Ai.”

103 [Then Adoni-]zedek king of [Jerusalem sent a message to Hoham king of Hebron, Piram king of Jarmuth, Japhia] king of Lachish, and De[bir] ki[n]g of Eglon: 4 Come up to me and h[elp me defeat Gibeon, because] it has made peace with [Jo]shua and Israel.<sup>27</sup> 5 So [the five kings of the Amorites—the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the ki]n[g of Jarmuth, the ki]n[g of] Lach[ish, and the king of Eglon—with all their armies,] joined forces and march[ed on Gibeon, encamped there, and waged war against it]. ▲

8 [The Lor]d [said t]o [Joshua, “Do not fear them,] for I have delivered [them] into your hands. [Not one of them will be able to stand] before you.” 9 [Joshua] came [on them suddenly, having] mar[ched]<sup>28</sup> the whole night [from Gilgal. 10 The L]ord [threw them into a panic] befor[e] Israel, who [inflicted a crushing defeat on them at Gibeon and pursued them on the road up to Beth-horon, and attacked them all the way to Azekah and] Makkedah. 11 Then, [as] they [were fl]eeing [from Israel, while they were going down from Beth-horon], the Lord cast stone[s]<sup>29</sup> from the sk[y] on them [all the way to Azekah, and they died. More of them died] from the hailstones than the [Israelites] killed [with the sword]. ▲

17<sup>1</sup> [This was the lot for the tribe of Manasseh—he was the first]born of Jose[ph. Because Machir, firstborn of Manasseh and father of Gilead, was a warrior], he was assigned [G]ilead [and Bashan. 2 Then portions were assigned to the rest of the descendants of Manasseh according to their clans: to the descendants of Ab]iezer, H[elek, Asriel, Shechem, Hephher, and Shemida]. These were the [male] children of M[anasseh son of Joseph by their clans. 3 But Zelophehad, son of Hephher, son of Gilead], son of [Machir, son of Manasseh, had no sons, only daughters. These are the name]s of his daughters: M[ahlah and Noah, Hoglah, Milcah, and Tirzah. 4 They presented themselves to Eleazar] the priest and to Jo[shua son of Nun and to the leaders, saying, “The Lord himself commanded Moses to give us an in]heritance [a]mong [our brothers.” So, according to the word of the Lord, he gave them an inheritance among their father’s brothers.] ▲

11 [Within Issachar and Asher, Manasseh had Beth-shean and its towns,] the in[hab]itants of E[n]-Dor<sup>30</sup> and [its] t[owns, Ibleam and its towns, the inhabitants of Do]r and its towns, the inhabitant[s of Taa]nach [and its towns, and the inhabitants of Megiddo] and [its] towns—th[r]ee heights. 12 [But the Manassites could not drive out the inhabitants of tho]se cities, and the Canaa[nites] were determined to [live in that region. 13 La]ter, when the Israelites grew stronger, they subjected the Cana[anites to forced labor but did not completely] drive them out. 14 [The Jo]seph[ites spoke] to J[o]shua, saying, “W[h]y have you given [us an in]heritan[ce of only one lot and one district]? We are a numerous people, which the Lord has thus blessed.”<sup>31</sup> 15 [J]oshua [answered them, “If you are a numerous people, go up [to the] forest [and clear land for yourselves there in the land of the] Pe[rizzites and Rephaim, insofar as] the hill [country of] E[phraim is too small] for you.” ▲

JUDGES

The book of Judges is well known today—if not by name, certainly by its famous characters: Gideon and his fleece, Jephthah’s unfortunate daughter, and Samson and Delilah. The Qumran community was, however, evidently more interested in the weightier matters of law and the poetic praise of the Psalms than in the narratives of the “historical books.” The sparse pattern begun in Joshua (only two scrolls) continues to Chronicles (one scroll!).

Only three manuscripts of the book of Judges survived at Qumran, but they confirm the patterns of the early biblical text provided by other biblical manuscripts. 4QJudg<sup>a</sup> reveals that this earlier text is shorter than all other extant Hebrew and Greek witnesses, because it does not yet include a theological passage (Judg 6:7–10) inserted into the later versions.

4QJudg<sup>b</sup> may also have had a shorter text (see 21:18), although the evidence for the possibly missing text is no longer preserved on the fragments but is instead deduced from the reconstruction of the space available on the original manuscript.

6<sup>2</sup> [The power of Midian was strong over Israel. Because of Midian, the Israelites made themselves the hiding places that are] in the [moun]tains, [the] caves and [the strongholds. 3 Whenever Israel had sown its crops, the Midianites would come up, or the Amalekites] or other people from the east.<sup>1</sup> 4 They encamped again[st] them and destroyed [the land’s produce as far as Gaza. They left no]thing living in Israel: sheep, ox,<sup>2</sup> or do[nke]y. 5 Indeed, they [and their livestock would come up, with their tents and camels.<sup>3</sup> They entered,] numbering [like lo]custs—they<sup>4</sup> [were innumerable. They en]tered the la[nd to destroy it. 6 So Israel was brought very low because of Midian, and] the Is[rael]ites cried [to] the Lord.

- The Masoretic Text and all other traditions insert a theological paragraph here (Judg 6:7–10) reciting the Deuteronomistic pattern: Israel cried to the Lord, the Lord sent a prophet, and the prophet charged the people with disobedience. 4QJudg<sup>a</sup> retains the original, unembellished narrative.

11 [Then the messenger of the Lord came and sat under the oak in Ophrah] which belonged to Joash the Abiezrite,<sup>5</sup> while Gi[deon his son was beating out wheat in the winepress, to hide it from the Midianites]. 12 The messenger of the Lord [appeared] to him and said [to him, “The Lord is with you, valiant warrior.”] 13 Gideon [said to him], “With your permission, sir, if God<sup>6</sup> is [with us, why has all this happened to us? Where are all his wondrous works] which<sup>7</sup> our ancestors recounted to us, sayi[ng, ‘Did not the Lord bring us up from Egypt?’ But now the Lord has cast us off and delivered us into the power of Midian].” ▲

20 [The messenger of God said to him, “Take the meat and the unleavened cakes, lay them on this rock, and pour] out [the broth].” And he did so. 21 Then [the messenger of the Lord,] ext[ending the tip of the staff in his hand, touched the meat and the unleavened cakes], and flames rose [from the rock and consumed the meat and unleavened cakes. Then the messenger of the Lord vanished from his sight. 22 When] Gideon [sa]w that [he was the messenger of the Lord, Gideon said, “Oh no, Lord God! I have seen the messenger of the Lord face t]o [face].” ▲

81 [The men of Eph]raim [said to him], “Wh[y did you treat us this way, not calling us when you went] to [fi]g[ht with Midian]?” ▲

91 [Abimelech son of Jerubbaal went to Shechem, to his mother’s brothers, speaking with them and with the whole] cl[an of his maternal grandfather’s] fa[mily, saying, 2 “Please ask in the h]earing of [all] the people of She[chem: ‘What is better for you, that all seventy sons of Jerubbaa]l [rule over you] or that [one r]ule [over you? Remember that I am your flesh and blood.’”] 3 So] his mother’s [brothers said these things] about<sup>8</sup> him in [the hearing of all the people of Shechem. And they were inclined to follow] Abimelech, because [they] thought, [“He is our kinsman].”

4 [So they gave him seventy silver pieces out of the temple of Baal-berith, with which Abimelech hired] worthless [and reckless me]n [to follow him]. 5 Then [he] we[nt to his father’s house at Ophrah and executed his brothers, the sons of Jerubbaal, seventy people, on one stone. But Jotha]m, the [youngest] son of Jerubba[al, was spared because he hid himself. 6 Then everyone from

Shechem assembled together, along with everyone from Beth-millo, and they went and made] Abi[me]le[ch king by the oak of the pillar in Shechem]. ▲

28 [Gaal son of Ebed said, “Who is Abimelech and who are we of Shechem that we should serve him? Did not the son of Jerubbaal and Zebul his officer serve the men of Hamor the father of Sheche]m? So w[hy should we serve him? 29 If only this people were under me! I would depose Abimelech.” Then] they<sup>9</sup> [said] to A[bimelech], “[In]crea[se your army and come out]!”

30 [When Zebul the ruler of the city heard what Gaal son of Ebed had said, he became] extremely<sup>10</sup> [angry]. 31 He sent messengers to A[bimelech in secret, saying, “Listen, Gaal son of Ebed and his relatives are en]tering Shechem, and they indeed<sup>11</sup> are pressuring against<sup>12</sup> the [city against you].” ▲

40 Abimelech [pursued] them,<sup>13</sup> [while they fled from him, and many fell slain all the] way to the entrance of the g[ate] of the [city.<sup>14</sup> 41 Abimelech remained at Arumah, while Zebul drove out] Gaal [and his relatives, ridding Shechem of them].

42 The next da[y, the people went out into the] fields, and someone<sup>15</sup> informed [Abimelech. 43 So he took] his army, divided it into [th]r[ee co]mpanies, [and waited in ambush in the fields. He was watching, and when the people came out] o[f] the city, [he rose up against them and attacked them]. ▲

48 [ . . . He said to the troops wh]o were with him, “What xx [ . . . <sup>16</sup> me do, quickly do the same!” 49 So each of the troops also cut a branch and, fo]llow[ing Abimelech, they piled them against the stronghold and set the stronghold on fire over those inside. So all the people in the tower of Shechem also died, about a thousand men and women].

19<sup>5</sup> [Then, on the fourth day, they got up early in the morning, and he prepared to go. But the gi]rl[’s father said] to his son-in-law, [“Strengthen yourself with a bit to eat and then go.” 6 So the two of] them [sat down] toge[ther and ate] and drank. And [the gi]rl[’s father said to the man, “Decide to stay the night and e]njoy yourself.” 7 When the [man] prepared [to go, his father-in-law pressed him. So he stayed the night there again].

21<sup>12</sup> [They found among the inhabitants of Jabesh-gilead four hundred young women who had not had sexual relations with a man, and they brought them to the camp at Shiloh, which is in the l]and of [Ca]naan.

13 [The whole assembly sent word to the Benjaminites at the rock of Rimmon and] declared [peace] with them. [14 So Benjamin returned at that time, and they gave them the women whom they had spared from the women of Jabesh-gilead, but even so there were not enough for them. 15 The people felt compassion for Benja]min, because the L[ord] had made [a breach in the tribes of Israel. 16 So the elders of the congregation said, “How shall we get wives for those who are left, seeing the women of Benjamin have been killed?”] 17 And they said, [“There must be an inheritance for the survivors of Benjamin, so that a tribe may not be not blotted out from Israel. 18 But we may not give them wives from among our own daughters].”

■ The Masoretic Text gives a reason: the Israelites had sworn, “Anyone who gives a wife to Benjamin is cursed.” Spatial requirements in the reconstruction of 4QJudg<sup>b</sup> indicate either that the scroll did not yet contain this reason, which may be a subsequent embellishment (see also Judg 6:7–10 above), or that an equivalent amount of text was lost and/or perhaps written in the margin.

19 [Then they said, “Listen, there is a feast of the L]ord [every year] in [Shiloh,” which is north of Bethel, e]a[s]t of [the highway that goes] up [from Be]th[el to Shechem, and south of Lebonah. 20 So they instructed the Benjaminites, “Go and lie in wait in the vineya]rd[s, 21 and watch to] se[e if the women of Shiloh] c[ome out to take part in the dances. Then come out of the vineyards, and each of you seize a wife from the women of Shiloh and go to the lan]d [of Benjam]i[n. 22 T]hen, [when their] fathers [or brothers] come [to complain to us, we will say to them, ‘Be generous with us about them, because none of us] too[k] a wi[fe in] ba[ttl]e. And, bec]ause [you did not give them to them, you are innocent].”

23 [The Benjaminites did so. As many as there wer]e [forcibly carried off wives]<sup>17</sup> from<sup>18</sup> the dancing [women. Then they went and returned to their inheritance, and] they [rebui]lt the [cit]ies [and] l[i]ved in th]em. 24 So [the Israelites] left [there at that time, each one to] his [tribe] and to [his] famil[y]. [They] al[l went back to their inheritance. 25 In] that [period], there was n[o ki]ng [in] Isra[el. Every]one [did whatever seemed right in his own eyes].

SAMUEL

The book of Samuel—1 Samuel and 2 Samuel were treated as a single book in antiquity—offers some of the most dramatic learnings from the biblical Dead Sea Scrolls. The extensively preserved 4QSam<sup>a</sup> has been known since 1953, one year after its discovery, to differ widely and frequently from the traditional Masoretic Text.

There were four manuscripts of Samuel found at Qumran: one in Cave 1 and three in Cave 4. These Samuel manuscripts, while containing some errors, also preserve a large number of original or superior readings that help correct errors in the traditional Masoretic Text. For proper perspective, it should be pointed out that the textual form of 4QSam<sup>b</sup> is much closer than the Masoretic Text to the text from which the Septuagint was translated. Similarly 4QSam<sup>a</sup>, while showing many agreements with the Septuagint in contrast to the Masoretic Text, is the type of Samuel manuscript that the author of Chronicles used in composing that book.

The variants recorded in the following pages improve our knowledge of the text of Samuel beyond the traditional Masoretic Text. Some of these variants involve individual words or phrases. Intermittently, there are whole sentences either left out of the Masoretic Text by mistake or added by the scrolls as supplementary material. Arguably the single most dramatic passage among the newly discovered biblical scrolls occurs in 4QSam<sup>a</sup> at the beginning of 1 Samuel 11. An entire paragraph, missing from all our Bibles for two thousand years, has now been restored in the New Revised Standard Version. Its existence had already been footnoted in the New American Bible in 1970. This paragraph graphically describes the atrocities of King Nahash of the Ammonites. 4QSam<sup>a</sup> is the oldest extant witness to this text. The historian Josephus, writing in the second half of the first century ce, recounts the same details at the same point in his account of the history of the Jewish people, Jewish Antiquities. This demonstrates that the story was also in the Greek Bible that he was using. Thus our two most ancient witnesses attest to the existence of this passage in the biblical manuscripts of antiquity.

These manuscripts have also helped to realign scholars' assessments of the value of the ancient Septuagint translation. Traditionally, when the Septuagint differed from the Masoretic Text (which had been considered the Hebrew original), the Septuagint was routinely thought to be a "free" translation (or even a paraphrase, or just plain wrong). The Hebrew manuscripts of Samuel found at Qumran, however, very often agree with the Septuagint when it differs from the Masoretic Text. This demonstrates that the Septuagint was translated from a Hebrew text form similar to that of the Qumran manuscripts. The problem in assessing the Septuagint, as with so many historical documents, had been with scholars' vision and criteria, not with the data. The Septuagint, of course, just like the Masoretic Text, the Dead Sea Scrolls, and every other ancient manuscript tradition, does have its share of errors. But the important lesson here is that the Septuagint is not a free or false rendering, but rather a generally faithful translation of its Hebrew source.

1QSam (1Q7) has only eight fragments remaining. It is interesting to note that as the scroll lay rolled, a fragment roughly the size of a quarter was preserved at the same position on each of eight successive layers of leather.

4QSam<sup>b</sup> is the oldest of the manuscripts, dating roughly to 250 bce. One large fragment, containing nineteen continuous lines, is preserved, along with seven small fragments.

4QSam<sup>c</sup>, dating roughly to 100–75 bce, contains one small fragment from 1 Samuel 25:30–32 and numerous fragments that can be pieced together to form a generous amount of two consecutive columns containing 2 Samuel 14–15. The same idiosyncratic scribe who copied it also copied two other manuscripts, the main scroll of the Rule of the Community (1QS) and a collection of scriptural quotations entitled the Testimonia (4Q175). The same scribe is also responsible for a correction in the Great Isaiah Scroll (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>). Of the sixty-seven partial lines preserved of 4QSam<sup>c</sup>, there are twenty-one errors or corrections—roughly one for every three lines. It is likely that this scribe was entrusted with such an important task because he was a high-ranking community leader rather than because of his scribal skills.

4QSam<sup>a</sup> dates from the middle of the first century bce. It is one of the most extensively preserved and important biblical manuscripts. Hundreds of fragments are preserved, spanning from the first chapter of 1 Samuel to the final chapter of 2 Samuel.

1 SAMUEL

111 [Hannah made this vow: “Lord of hosts, if you truly look on the misery of your servant and remember me, and do not forget your servant but give your servant a so]n, then I will give him to [ . . .<sup>1</sup> and] no razor shall cross<sup>2</sup> [his head.”
12 As she continued praying before the Lord, E]li watched her mouth. 13 She<sup>3</sup> was speaking [in her heart; though her lips moved, her voice was not heard. So Eli] th[ought she was drunk]. ▲

22 [But Hannah did not go up, and] she [to]ld her husband, [“Not] until<sup>4</sup> [the child is weaned. Then I will bring him to appear] befo[re] the Lord and to stay before<sup>5</sup> [ . . . And] I will [dedicate] him as a Nazirite forever, all the days of<sup>6</sup> [ . . . .” 23 Elkanah her husband said to her,] “Do what seems good to you. Wait until [you have weaned him. May the Lor]d [establish] the words of your mouth.”<sup>7</sup> So the woman waited [and nursed her son until she weaned] him.

24 Whe[n she had weaned him], she took him<sup>8</sup> to Shiloh,<sup>9</sup> along with a three-year-old [bull, the calf of a] cow, bread,<sup>10</sup> [ . . . to the house of] the Lo[r]d in Shiloh. The child<sup>11</sup> [ . . . ] the sacrifice, as [ . . . ] 25 he slaughtered<sup>12</sup> [ . . . . 26 . . . ] “My lord! [As you live, my lord, I am the woman who stood beside you here, praying to] the Lord. [27 I prayed for this child, and the Lord granted me my request which I asked of him. 28 Therefore I in turn have given him to the Lo]rd. As long as [he lives he is dedicated to the Lord.” So she left] him there and she worshiped<sup>13</sup> [the Lord there].

21 [Hannah prayed: My heart exults in the Lord.] My strength is exalted in [the Lor]d. [My mouth speaks boldly against my enemies, because I rejoice in your salvation. 2 In]deed,<sup>14</sup> there is no one h[o]ly like the Lo[rd]. There is none righteous like our God. There is none holy besides] you. There is no rock like our God. 3 [Stop talking so very proudly. Let no in]solence [come out of] your mouth. For [the Lord] is a God of know[ledge and by him actions are weighed. 4

The bows of mighty m]en shatter,<sup>15</sup> but those who stumbled put o[n strength. 5 Those who were well-fed hire themselves out for bread, but those who were hungry hunger no more. The bar]ren woman bears [seven, but the woman with many children languishes. 6 The Lord kills and brings to life.] He sends down [to Sheol and raises up. 7 The Lord makes poor and rich. He brings low and exalts. 8 He raises the poor from the dust and lifts up the needy from the ash-heap. He makes them sit with] prince[s and inherit a seat of honor. For the pillars of the earth are the Lord's, and] on them [he has set the w]orl[d. 9 He guards] the path<sup>16</sup> of [his faithful ones, but the wicked are silenced in darkness]. He grants the re[quest of the one who prays]. He blesses the y[ears of the righteous.<sup>17</sup> For no one prevails by strength.] 10 The Lord will shatter his en[em]ies.<sup>18</sup> Who is [holy?<sup>19</sup> . . . ] when he repays [ . . . ] Who<sup>20</sup> [ . . . ] And he thundered<sup>21</sup> [ . . . ] his anointed [ . . . ].” ▲

■ The narrative sequence and details in 2:13–17 are quite at variance in 4QSam<sup>a</sup> and the Masoretic Text, and the Septuagint is generally but not consistently closer to the Masoretic Text than to 4QSam<sup>a</sup>.

16 If the man answered [and] s[aid] to the priest's servant,<sup>22</sup> “Let the priest burn<sup>23</sup> [the fat] first. Then take everything<sup>24</sup> you wish,” then he would say, “No, you shall give it to me now, or<sup>25</sup> [I will take] the ram by force to give him the meat.”<sup>26</sup> 13 And taking<sup>27</sup> a three-pronged fork in his hand, 14 he would thrust it into the boiler or pot<sup>28</sup> and take<sup>29</sup> everything the fork brought up. If [ . . . ] good alone [ . . . ] daily.<sup>30</sup> 17 The si[n of the servants] was very great [in the sight of the L]ord, because they<sup>31</sup> treated the Lord's offering with contempt.

18 Samuel [minister]ed [before the L]ord. The boy wore a linen ephod, 19 [and] every year [his mother] made [him a little robe and br]ought it to him when [she] came [up with her husband] to offer the [year]ly sacri[ifice]. 20 El[i] used to bless E[li]kanah and his wife], saying,<sup>32</sup> “May the L[ord] repay you with<sup>33</sup> children by this woman [in place of the one she prayed for] and dedicat[ed to the Lo]rd.” Then the man returned to<sup>34</sup> his home.

21 And the L[ord] visited<sup>35</sup> Hannah, and she bore more children,<sup>36</sup> t[hr]ee sons and two daughters. Meanwhile [the boy Samuel] grew up there<sup>37</sup> in the presence of the L[ord].

22 Now Eli, who was very old, ninety[-eight] years old,<sup>38</sup> heard what<sup>39</sup> his sons were doing<sup>40</sup> to the Israelites.<sup>41</sup> 23 So [he said to them, “Why] do you d[o these things]? F[or] even I<sup>42</sup> [hear of your evil] dea[lings from all the Lord's people.<sup>43</sup> 24 No, my sons, the repo]rt which I h[ear is not good. Do not act so. For the report wh]ich I hear God's people cir[culating is no]t goo[d].<sup>44</sup> 25 If one person sins gravely<sup>45</sup> against another, he will appeal to the Lo[r]d.<sup>46</sup> [But if someone sins against the Lord, who will intercede for him?] But they did not follow the] advice,<sup>47</sup> because [the Lord's will was to put them to death. 26 But the boy Samuel increased in stature and favor wi]th [the Lord] and with [people.]

27 [A man of God came to Eli and] said,<sup>48</sup> “Thus says the Lord, [I did<sup>49</sup> indeed reveal myself to your father's house, when they were in Egy]pt, slaves<sup>50</sup> of [Pharaoh]'s house. 28 [I chose your father's house<sup>51</sup> out of all the tr]ibes of Israel to be my priest, [to go up to my altar to burn incense and] to wear the eph[o]d.<sup>52</sup> I gave to [your father]'s house [all the fire offerings of the children of Israel]. 29 Why do you look down on<sup>53</sup> my sacrifice and my offering, [which I commanded for my dwelling, and honor your sons over me, to] fatten yourself<sup>54</sup> on the best of all the offerings<sup>55</sup> of [Israel in my presence.]<sup>56</sup>

30 [“Therefore thus says the Lord, the God of Israe]l: I said,<sup>57</sup> [your] h[ouse and your father's house would continue in my presence forever. But now the Lord says, Far be it from me! For those who honor me I will honor, but those who despise me will be cursed. 31 Watch, the time] is co[m]ing when I will cut off [your strength and the strength of your father's house,<sup>58</sup> 32 and] you will [ne]ver [again] have an old man in my<sup>59</sup> house. 33 [Anyone of yours I do not cut off from] my altar, it will be only to punish his<sup>60</sup> eyes and to grieve his spirit. All the descendants of your house will fall by the human sword.<sup>61</sup> 34 And [what happens to your two sons, Ho]phni and Phineha[s, will be the sign to you—on a single day both of them will die].

■ For the biblical redactor's linkage of this prophetic denunciation with a subsequent military defeat, see 1 Sam 4:11 below.

35 “I [will rai]se up [for myself a faithful priest, who will ac]t [in accordance with my heart and my mind]. I will build for [him a secure house, and he will continue in the presence of my anointed forever. 36 Then who]ever is left [in your house will come and bow down to him for a piece of silver and a loaf of brea]d, saying,<sup>62</sup> [‘Appoint me to one of the priests' offices so that I may have a bit of bread to eat].”

31 [The child Samuel ministered to the Lord under Eli.] The word of the Lo[r]d was rare in those days. Visions were infrequent. 2 At] that time, El[i, who had weak eyes and could not s]ee, [was sleeping in his place. 3 Before the] lamp of [God had gone out, when Samuel was sleeping in the temple of the Lord,<sup>63</sup> 4 the Lord [called,] “Sam[uel.”<sup>64</sup> He responded, “Here I am.”] ▲

18 [So Samuel told him] everythi[n]g, [hiding nothing from him. Then he said, “He is the Lord.] Let him do [what seems good to him.” 19 As Samuel] grew, [the Lord was with him and let none of his words fall] to the ground. 20 [All Israel from Dan to Beersheba] knew [that Samuel was confirmed] as [a prophet] of [the Lord]. ▲

49 [“Be strong! Be] men, Philistines! [Or you will be slaves to the Hebrews, as they were to you. B]e men and fig[ht!” 10 And the Philistines did fight. Israel was defeated, and] everyone [f]led to his tent. [The slaughter] w[as very great. Israel lost thi]r[ty th]ousand foot soldiers. [11 The ark of God was taken, and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, died.] 12 A ma[n of Benjamin ran from the battle lines and came to Shiloh the same day, with] his [clothes] torn [and with dust on his head]. ▲

58 [So they sent for and assembled all the lords of the Philistines and said, “What shall we do] with the ark [of the God of Israel?” They answered, “Let] them bring<sup>65</sup> [the ark of the G]od of Is[rael around to Gath.” So they brought the ark of the God of] Israel to G[ath].<sup>66</sup> 9 But then, wh[en] they [b]rought it to Gath,<sup>67</sup> [the hand of the L]ord went [against the city, throwing it into a very] great [panic. He afflicted] the people of the city, both small and [great, with an outbreak of] tumors. 10 [So they sent] the ark of the God of Israel<sup>68</sup> to [E]kron].

[Then, when the ark of God came to Ekron, the Ekron]ites [cried out], s[ay]ing, “Why have yo[u]<sup>69</sup> brought around [the ark of the God of Israel to us— to kill] us and our [peo]ple?” 11 So [they] sent [for and gathered to]gether [all the lords of the Philistines and said, “Send away the ark of] the God of I[sra]e[l], and let [it return to its own place, so that it does not kill us and our people.” For there was *p*anic of the Lor[d . . . ]<sup>70</sup> throughout [the city. The hand of God was very heavy th]ere. 12 For the [peopl]e who [did] not [die were stricken with the tumors, and the cry of the cit]y [went up to] h[eave]n.

61 [The ark of the Lord was in the territory of the Philistines s]even months. 2 Then the Philistine[s cal]led [for the priests, the diviners,] and the magicians,<sup>71</sup> saying, “What should we do [with the ark of the Lord? Tell us how to] send it to<sup>72</sup> its place.” 3 They answered, “[I]f [you send back the ark of] the covenant of the Lord,<sup>73</sup> God of Israel, do not send [it back empty. You must] return him a sin

[of]fering. Then [you] will be healed, [and you] will make atonement for yourselves. Will his hand not leave you?”<sup>74</sup>

4 [Then they asked, “What] is the sin offering [wh]ich we are to ret[ur]n to [him?” They answered, “Five] golden tumors,<sup>75</sup> [according to the number of the Philistine lords]. For there was one plague on [all of you and on your lords. 5 Therefore make images of the tumor]s and images of the<sup>76</sup> mice [that destroy the land, and you will give glory to the God of Israel. Per]haps he will lift [his hand from you and your gods and your land. 6 So why would you harden your] hear[ts, as the Egyptians and Pharaoh hardened their hearts]? Was it not only after he had made foo[ls of them, that they let the people go, and they went on their way? 7 Now then, get and prepare on]e [new cart] and two [milk cows which have never been yoked. Tie the cow]s to the [ca]r[t. But take their calves home, separate from them.”] ▲

12 [The cows went straight in the direction of Beth-shemesh. They went along the highway, lowing as they went, and did not turn aside, either to the ri]ght [or to the left, while the lords of the Philistines followed them to the] Beth-she[mesh borde]r. 13 [The people of Beth-shemesh were reaping their wheat harvest in the valley, when they lifted] their [ey]es [and saw the ark, and they rejoiced at the sight]. ▲

16 [The five lords of the Philistines saw this,] then re[turned to Ekron that day. 17 These are the golden tumors which] the Philist[in]es returned as a sin offering to the Lord: one for Ashdod, one for Gaza, on]e [for Ashkelon, one] for Ga[th, on]e [for Ekron. 18 The golden] mi[ce were numbered according to all the Phili]st[i]ne [cities belonging to the five lords]—the forti[fied] cities [and their country villages. The large stone] on [whi]ch they [se]t [the ark of the Lord is a witness to this day in the field of Joshua the Beth-shemeshite]. ▲

20 [The people of Beth-shemesh said, “Who is able to stand in the presence of] this holy Lord?<sup>77</sup> Where [should the ark go from here?” 21 Then they sent messengers] to the inhabitants of Ki[riath-je]arim, sayi[ng, “The Philistines have brought back the ark of the Lord. Come down and take] it back with you.”

71 [So] the people of Kiria[th-je]arim came and took the ark of the Lord. They brought it t]o [the house of Abina]dab, whi[ch is]<sup>78</sup> on the hill, and consecrated Eleazar his son to keep the ark of the Lord]. ▲

89 [Now listen to them. Only warn them strongly and instruct them] in the customs of [the ki]ng wh[o will rule over them. 10 So Samuel reported everything the Lord had said to the] people who had a[sked] him for a king. 11

[And] he said, “These [are the customs of the ki]n[g who will rule over you: He will take your sons and use them for his benefit, some to serve with] his [chariots], to be [his] horsemen, [and to run in front of his chariots. 12 Others he will assign to be captains of thousands and of fifties. He will assign some to plo]w [his] gr[ound and reap his harvest, others to make his weapons of war and the equipment for his chariots. 13 And he will take your daughters, to be perfumers and cooks and bakers.] 14 He will ta[ke your fields, your vineyards, your olive orchards]—the best of them—[and give them to his] attendant[s. 15 He will take a tenth of your seed and of your vineyard harvest, and give it to his officers and attendants. 16 He will take] your manservants and your maidservants<sup>79</sup> [and the best of your young men and your donkeys], and use them for his own work. 17 [He will take a tenth of] your flocks. [And you yourselves will be his servants. 18 When] that [day comes, you will cry for help be]cause of your kin[g], who[m you chose for yourself, but in] those [days,<sup>80</sup> the Lord will not answer you.” 19 But the people refused to listen to Samuel’s advice. They said, “No. There] must be a king [over us. 20 Then we too will be like all the other nations, and our king will be a judge for us and lead us and fi]g[ht our] b[at]tles].” ▲

96 [The servant said to Saul, “Look, there is a man of Go]d [in this city. The man is held in high esteem—everything he says is certain to happen. Now, let us g]o.<sup>81</sup> Perhap[s he will tell us which way we should go.” 7 Then S]aul [said],<sup>82</sup> “Bu[t if we go, what shall we bring the man? For the bread in our sacks is gone, and there is no gift to b]ring to the m[an of God. What do we have?”] ▲

11 [As] they [went up the road to the city, they met young women going out to draw water] and sai[d to them, “Is the seer here?” 12 They answered them, “He is.] Loo[k, he is ahead of you. Now hurry. He just arrived in the city, because the people have a sacrifice today at the high place].” ▲

16 [About this time tomorrow, I will send you a man from the land of Benjamin. You will anoint him prince over my people Israel, and he will save] my people from the power of [the Philis]tines. For I have looked on [my people, because their cry has come to me].

17 [When Samuel saw] Sau[l, the Lord s]aid to him, This is the m[an I spoke to you about. This man will rule over my people. 18 Then Saul drew near t]o<sup>83</sup> [Samuel inside the ci]ty,<sup>84</sup> and sai[d, “Please tell me where the seer’s house is.” 19 Samuel answered Saul, “I am h]e.<sup>85</sup> Go [on ahead of me to the high place. For you will eat with me today. In the morning I will send you off and will inform] you [about everything you have on your mind. 20 As] for the donk[eyes which you lost three days ago, do not worry about them, because they have been found. And for whom is every desirable thing in Israel? Is it not for you and for everyone in your father's house?" 21 Saul answered, "Am not I a Benjamite,] the smal[lest of the tribes of Israel? And is not my family the least of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? Why then do] you [speak] t[o me this] way?"

22 [But Samuel took Saul and his servant and led them into the hall, and had them sit at the h]ead of those [who were invited, about thirty people. 23 Then Samuel said to the cook, "Bring the portion] whi[ch] I [ga]ve [you, the one I told you to set aside." 24 So the cook took the leg and what was o]n it<sup>86</sup> and [plac]ed [it in front of Saul . . . ]. ▲

103 ["Then you will continue on from there. When you reach the oak of Tabor, three men] going up to [God at Bethel will meet you there, one carrying three kids, another carrying] three loaves of [bread, and another carrying a skin of wine. 4 They will greet you and give you two] loaves of bread [for a wa]ve offering,<sup>87</sup> which you should accept [from them].

5 ["After that you will come to the Hill of God, where there is a Philistine garrison.] Then, [as you reach the city, you will meet a band of pro]phets coming [down from the high place, with] a harp, [tam]bourine, [flute, and lyre playing in front of] them, [and they will be prophesying]. 6 Then the spi[rit of the Lord] will come on you in power, [and you will prophesy with them], and [you] will become [a new man. 7 When these signs have been fulfilled for you, then do whatever your] hands find [to do; for God is with you].

8 ["Then go down to Gilgal ahead of me. Now listen, I will come d]own to you to [of]fer [burnt offerings and to sacrifice peace offerings. But you must wait seven days until I come to you] and tel[l you what to do." 9 So, when he had turned around to leave Samuel,] God<sup>88</sup> [changed his heart, and all those signs were fulfilled that day].

10 [When they reached the hill,] a band of [prophets did in] fact [meet him, and the spirit of God came on him in power, and he prophesied along with them. 11 Then, when everyone who had known] him previously [saw this, that he was actually prophesying with the prophets, the people asked each] other, "What [has happened to the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets?" 12 And someone who lived there answered, "And who is] their father?" There[fore, "Is Saul also among the prophets?" became a saying].

13 [When he had finished prophesying, he went to the high place.] 14 Now [Saul's] uncle asked [him and his servant, "Where did you go?" He answered, "To look for the donkeys. When we realized that they were] not to be found, we went [to Samuel.” 15 Saul’s uncle said, “Tell me what Samuel said to you.” 16 So] Saul [said] to [his uncle, “He informed us that the donkeys had been found.” But he did not tell him wh]at [Samuel] had said [concerning the kingship].

17 [Now Samuel called the people together to the Lord at Mizpah. 18 He said to] all [the Israelit]es, [“Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel, I myself brought Israel out of Egypt. I delivered you from the power of the Egyptians and from the power of all the kingdoms that oppressed you.”] ▲

25 [Then Samuel explained to the people the or]dinances of [the kingship and wrote them in a book, and deposited it in the Lord’s presence. Then Samuel dismissed all the peo]ple; each went<sup>89</sup> to [his] pla[ce.<sup>90</sup> 26 S]aul [al]so [went to his house in Gibeah]. The valiant men<sup>91</sup> [wh]ose hearts the Lo[r]d<sup>92</sup> had touched [went] with Saul.<sup>93</sup> 27 But certain worthless men s[aid, “How will this man save us?” And] they despise[d] him and brought him no gift.<sup>94</sup>

■ The following passage in 4QSam<sup>a</sup> is one of the single most dramatic discoveries among the biblical scrolls. 4QSam<sup>a</sup> has an entire three-and-a-half-line paragraph missing from the Masoretic Text, the Septuagint, and all other biblical manuscripts. The first-century historian Josephus, however, documents that the passage was in the ancient form of the Bible that he used. The New Revised Standard Version of the Bible has incorporated the passage into its translation.

11[Na]hash king of the [A]mmonites oppressed the Gadites and the Reubenites viciously. He put out the right [ey]e of a[ll] of them and brought fe[ar and trembling] on [Is]rael. Not one of the Israelites in the region be[yond the Jordan] remained [whose] right eye Naha[sh king of] the Ammonites did n[ot pu]t out, except seven thousand men [who escaped from] the Ammonites and went to [Ja]besh-gilead.<sup>95</sup> 1 Then after about a month,<sup>96</sup> Nahash the Ammonite went up and besieged Jabesh-[gilead]. So all the people of Jabesh said to Nahash, [“Make a covenant] with [us, and we will serve you.” 2 But] Nahash [the Ammonite said t]o [th]em, “I will ma[ke it with you on this condition: that I gouge out the right eye of every one of you and so disgrace all Israel].” ▲

7 [He took a yoke of] ox[en and cut them in pieces and sent them throughout the territory of Israel by messengers, saying, “Whoever does not march out behind] Saul and be[hind Samuel, so shall it be done to his oxen.” The dread of the Lord fell on the people, and they came out as] on[e] man.

8 [When he mustered them at Bezek, the Israelites numbered three hundred thousand and the men of Judah] seventy thousand.<sup>97</sup> 9 [They said to the messengers who came, “Tell this to the people of Jabesh-gilead: ‘Tomorrow,] the Lord's del[iverance<sup>98</sup> . . . ] to you, they will open the<sup>99</sup> [. . . .]" 10 So] the men [of Jabesh] sai[d, "Tomorrow we will come out to you, and you may do with us whatever seems good to you]."

11 [The next day Saul divided the people into three companies, and they invaded the camp during the morning watch and slaughtered the Ammonites until the heat of the day. Those who survived] were scattered, so that no [two of them] were lef[t together. 12 Then the people said to Samuel, "Who is it that] sai[d, 'Shall Saul reign over us?' Bring the men, that we may put them to death.]" ▲

12<sup>7</sup> [So now, stand there so that I can argue the case with you, in the presence of the Lord, concerning all the Lord's righteous acts which he did for you and for] your [an]cestors. 8 Wh[en Jacob was in Egypt and] your<sup>100</sup> [ancestor]s [cried out] to the Lo[rd, then the Lord sent Moses and Aaron, who brought your ancestors out of Egypt and settled them in this place.] ▲

14 [If you revere the Lord and serve him, listen to his voice and do not rebel against the commandment of the Lord, if both you and the king who reigns over you follow] the Lo[rd your God, very well. 15 But if you do not listen to the voice of the Lord and you rebel against the commandment of the L]ord, then [the hand of the Lord] will [be against you, as it was against your ancestors].

16 [Now therefore stand there and watch this great] thing [which the Lord will do before your eyes. 17 Is it not wheat harvest today? I will call to the Lord to send thunder and rain, and you will know and realize that your wickedness is great, which you have done in the sight of the Lord, in asking for] a king [for yourselves].

18 So Sa[muel] called [to the Lord, and the Lord sent thunder and rain that day. Then] all [the peo]ple gr[eatly] fear[ed the Lord and Samuel. 19 So all the people said to Samuel, "Pra]y [for your servants to the Lord your God so that we do not die, because we have added to all our sins this evil of asking for a king for ourselves.]" ▲

14<sup>24</sup> [The Israelites were in distress that day, because S]au[l had put the army under oath, saying, "Cursed be anyone who eats any food until it is] evening and [I] have av[enged myself on my enemies." So no one tasted food. 25 The whole army entered the forest,] and there wa[s honey on the ground. 26 When the army entered the forest, the honey was dripping down; yet no one put his hand to his mouth, because the troops feared the oath.]

[27 But Jonathan had not heard when his father put the army under oath. So he stretched out the staff in his hand, dipped the end in the honeycomb, and put his hand to his mouth, and his eyes lit up. 28 Then one of the people spoke up, saying, “Your father strictly charged the army with an oath, ‘Cursed be anyone] who [eats food today.’” So the troops were weak.]

29 [Then] Jonathan said, “My father has caused trou[ble] for the country. [See how my eyes lit up because I tasted] a little of this honey.<sup>101</sup> 30 How [much better it would have been if the troops had eaten freely today of the spoil] they got [from their enemies. But as it is,] the slaughter<sup>102</sup> [among the Philistine]s has not been great.”<sup>103</sup>

31 [They struck down the Philistines that da]y [from Michmash to Aijalon. But the troops were very faint, 32 and] the troops [set] on<sup>104</sup> [the spoil. Taking sheep, oxen, and calves, they slaughtered them] on the ground and [the troops] at[e them with the blood. 33 Then they told Saul, “Look, the troops are sinning against the Lord] by eating [with the blood.” So he said, “You have been faithless. Roll a large stone to me now.”] 34 Then Saul s[ai]d, “Go out among the troops and te[ll them, ‘Everyone, bring his ox and his sheep to me and slaughter them here and eat. Do not sin against the Lord by eating with the blood.’” Everyone brought his ox with him that night and slaughtered them there.] ▲

47 [Now that Saul had assumed rule] over Isra[el, he fought in every direction against] all his enemies—against Moa[b, the Ammonites, Edom,] the king<sup>105</sup> of Zobah, and the Philistines. Wherever he tur[ned, he punished them. 48 He fought valiantly, conquering] the Amalekites and delivering Israel from the power of those who [des]poiled them.

49 Now Saul’s sons we[re] Jonathan, [Ishvi, and] Malchishua, and [his two daughters were] Merab, [the firstborn, and] Michal, the younger. 50 S[aul’s wife was Ahinoam daughter of Ahimaaz]. The captain of the<sup>106</sup> army [was Abner] son of Ner, [Saul’s uncle. 51 Kish, Saul’s father, and Ner, Abner’s father, were] sons of Abi[e]l. ▲

1525 [“Now, please pardon my sin and return with me, so that I may worship the L]ord.” 26 [But Samuel answered Saul, “I will not return with you. Because you have rejected the word of] the Lord, [the Lord has rejected you as king over Israel.” 27 As Samuel turned to go,] Saul<sup>107</sup> grabbed [the hem of his robe, and it tore. 28 Then Samuel said to him, “The Lord has torn the ki]ngdom of Israe[l away from you today and has given it to one of your neighbors, someone better than you. 29 Moreover, the Glory of Israel does not] change his mind<sup>108</sup> [or r]epen[t], fo[r] h[e is not a human being, that he should repent.” 30 Then he replied, “I have sinned. Yet, I beg you, honor me now, in front of the elders of [my] people and Israel—retu[ra]<sup>109</sup> with me, so that I may worship the Lord your God.” 31 So Samuel returned with Saul, and he<sup>110</sup> [worshiped] the Lord. 32 [Then] Samuel said, [“Bring Agag king of the Amalekites here to me.” And Agag came to him cheerfully, for he thought, “The threat of death is surely over.”] ▲

16<sup>1</sup> [The Lord said to Samuel, “How long will you grieve over Saul, seeing that I have rejected him as king over Israel? Fill your horn with oil, and go. I am sending] you [to Jesse the Bethlehemite, because I have selected a king for myself from his sons.” 2 But Samuel said, “How can I go? If Saul hears, he will kill me.” The Lord replied,] “Ta[ke]<sup>111</sup> a heifer [with you and say, ‘I have come to sacrifice to the Lord.’ 3 Invite Jesse to the sacrifice, and then I will show you what to do. You are to anoint for me the one] I indicate to you.”

4 [So Samuel did what the Lord said. When he arrived at Bethlehem, the elders of the city came trembling to meet him and said,] “Seer,<sup>112</sup> [do you come in peace?”] 5 And he said, [“Yes, in peace. I have come to sacrifice to the Lord. Consecrate yourselves and come with me to the sacrifice.” He also consecrated Jesse and his sons and invited them to the sacrifice.]

6 When they entered, he saw [Eliab and thought, “Surely the Lord’s anointed is in his presence.” 7 But the Lord said to Samuel, “Do not regard his appearance or] his [tall] frame, because I have rejected him. For the Lord does not see as humans see. Humans see the outward appearance, but the Lord sees the heart.”]

8 [Then] Jesse [called] Abinadab [and had him present himself to Samuel. But he said, “The Lord has not chosen this one either.” 9 Next Jesse had Shammah present himself. But he said,] “The Lord [has not chosen this one either].” 10 Jesse had seven of his sons present themselves to Samuel. But Samuel said to Jesse, “The Lord has not chosen these.” 11 Then Samuel said to] Jesse, [“Are all your sons here?” He replied, “There is still the youngest, but he is tending the sheep.” Samuel told Jesse, “Send for him. We will not sit down until he comes.”] ▲

■ The next passage illustrates how ancient narratives sometimes grew at the hand of narrators or scribes. 4QSam<sup>a</sup> gives the height of Goliath as “four cubits” (equaling about six feet), and this is what the original

Septuagint, followed by the historian Josephus, also records. Later Septuagint manuscripts read “five cubits,” and the Masoretic Text, followed by yet later Septuagint manuscripts, reads “six cubits” (equaling about nine feet).

17<sup>3</sup> [The Philistines were positioned on a mountain on one side, and Israel was positioned on a mountain on the other, with a valley between them. 4 [Then] a champion named Goliath, who was from Gath, came out [of the Philistine camp. His height was four<sup>113</sup> [cu]bits and a span. 5 [He had a bronze helmet on his head and wore bronze scale-armor—and] the armor weighed [five thousand shekels. 6 He had bronze greaves on his legs, and a bronze javelin was slung between] his [shoulder]s. ▲

18<sup>17</sup> [Saul said to David, “Here is my elder daughter Merab. I will give her to you as a wife. Simply be a valiant warrior on my behalf and fight [the Lord’s] battles.” But Saul was thinking, “I will not touch him. Instead let the power of the Philistines go against him.” 18 David answered Saul, [“Who am I, and what is my life or my father’s family in Israel, that I should be son-in-law to the king?”] ▲

19<sup>10</sup> [Saul tried to pin David to the wall with his spear, but he slipped away] from [Saul as he drove the spear into the wall. David fled and escaped that night. 11 Saul sent messengers to David’s house, to watch him, and to] kill him [in the morning. But Michal, David’s wife, told him, “If you do not save your life tonight, tomorrow you will be killed.” 12 So Michal let David] [down] through the window, [and he slipped away, fled, and escaped].

13 [Then Michal took an idol, laid it on the bed, put braided goats’ hair at its head, and covered it] with clothes. 14 [When Saul sent messengers to take David, she said, “He is sick.” 15 Then Saul sent the messengers to see David,] saying, “Bring [him to me in the bed so that I may kill him.” 16 When the messengers came in, there was the idol in the bed with the braided goats’ hair at] its [head]. 17 So [Saul] said [to Michal, “Why did you deceive me like this and send away my enemy so that he could escape?” Michal answered Saul, “He said to me, ‘Let me go. Th[en on the next da]y, the [seco]nd of [the mo]nth, [David]’s place was empty. [So Saul asked Jonathan his son, “Why has the son of Jesse not come] to the table<sup>115</sup> [either yesterday] or today?” 28 Jonathan answered Saul and [said,<sup>116</sup> “David earnestly asked my permission to go to Bethlehem. 29 He said, ‘Allow me to go, please, because] our family has [a sacrifice]<sup>117</sup> in the city, and as for me, my brothers have ordered me<sup>118</sup> to be there. Now, if I have found [favor with you, please let me get away and see my brothers.’ That is why he has not come to the table of] the king.”

30 Then Saul exploded in hot<sup>119</sup> anger at Jonathan, and he said to him, “You son of a rebellious slave girl!<sup>120</sup> [Do I not know that you are allied with the son of Jesse, to your own shame and to the shame of your mother’s nakedness?] 31 For as long as the son of Jesse lives on earth, your kingdom will not be established.<sup>121</sup> So no[w, send for him and bring him to me, for he must die.” 32 But Jonathan answered Saul] his father, and said,<sup>122</sup> “Why should he be put to death? What has he done?” 33 Then Saul hurled his spear at him to kil[l him. So Jonathan knew that his father was determined to put David to death.] 34 Jonathan shot up from<sup>123</sup> the ta[b]le in hot anger and ate no food that second day of the month, [because he was upset about David because his father had disgraced him].

35 [In the morning,] Jonathan [went out] to the field for his meeting with David and brought a small boy with him. 36 He said to the<sup>124</sup> boy, “Run [and find the arrows I shoot.” As the lad ran, he shot an arrow beyond him,] toward the city.<sup>125</sup> 37 The boy reached the spot where the arrow<sup>126</sup> Jonathan shot lay; then [Jonathan call]ed [out to the boy and said, “Isn’t the arrow beyond you?” 38 Then Jonathan called out] to the lad,<sup>127</sup> “Be quick, hurry, do not linger.” Jonathan’s boy picked up [the arrow and returned to his master. 39 But the boy was not aware of anything—only Jonathan and David understood] the matter. 40 Jonathan gave his weapons to<sup>128</sup> the boy and [sai]d [to him, “Go and carry them to the city.”]

41 [As soon as the boy had gone, David got up from his place on the south side of the stone and prostrated himself, with his face] to the ground, bowing three times. They kissed one [another and wept together, but David more. 42 Jonathan said to David, “Go in peace. For] both<sup>129</sup> of us [have sworn], in the name of the Lord, saying, ‘The Lord will be between me and you [and between my descendants and your descendants forever.’”] Then David<sup>130</sup> got up and left, and Jonathan went back to the city.<sup>131</sup>

21<sup>1</sup> Then David went to Nob, to [Ahimelech the priest. Ahimelech came trembling to meet David and said to him, “Why are you alone?] Why is no one with<sup>132</sup> you?” 2 David said to the priest,<sup>133</sup> “The king charged me with some business [and said to me, ‘Do not let anyone know anything about the matter on which I am sending you and with which I have charged you.’] So I arranged to meet<sup>134</sup> the young men at a certain plac[e. 3 Now then, what do you have on hand? Give me five loaves of bread or whatever you can find.”] 4 The priest answer[ed] [David] and said, “There is no ordinary bread on ha[nd],<sup>135</sup> but there is consecrated bread. If the young men have kept themselves] from women, they may eat i[t].”<sup>136</sup> 5 David answer[ed] the priest and sa[id to him, “Yes, women have been kept from us as previously whenever I set out.] All<sup>137</sup> the young men [a]re holy for [even an ordinary] jou[rney. So today how much more will they be so!” 6 So the priest gave him consecrated bread, because the only bread there was the bread of the Pres]ence, which had been taken from<sup>138</sup> before the Lo[r]d and replaced by hot bread on] the [day it was taken out.]

7 [Now one of Saul’s servants was there that day, detained before the Lord; his name was Doeg the Edomite, the head of the shepherds] who [worked for Saul. 8 David said to Ahimelech, “Do you have a spear or sword on hand? For I did not bring my sword or my weapons with] me, because [the king’s business] required [haste.” 9 The priest said, “The sword of Goliath the Philistine, whom you slew in the Elah valley, is here, wrapped in a cloth] behind an ephod.<sup>139</sup> [If you want to take that, take it. There is none except that here.” David replied, “There is none like that. Give it to me.”] ▲

239 [David learned that] Saul was plotting [evil] against him, [and he said to Abiathar the priest, “Bring the ephod here.” 10 Then David said, “O Lord, God of Israel,] your servant [has certainly hea]rd that Saul means [to come to Keilah to destroy the city on my account. 11 Will the citizens of Keilah surrender me into his hand?<sup>140</sup> Will Saul come down, as your servant has heard? O Lord,] God of Israel, tell<sup>141</sup> [your] serva[nt].” The Lord answered, “He will come down.” 12 Then David said, “Will the men of Keilah surrender me and my men into the hand of Sa]ul?” The Lord answered, “Th[ey] wi[ll].” 13 Then David and his men, numbering about six hundred, got up and left Keilah, and went wherever they could. Sau]l [was told that David had es]caped from [Ke]ilah; [so he did not go on].

14 [David lived in the wilderness in the strongholds and stayed in the hill country in the Ziph wilderness. Saul hunted for him every da]y, but the Lo[r]d<sup>142</sup> did not deliver him [into his hand. 15 David saw that Saul had come out to s]eek his life [while David was in the Ziph wilderness at Horesh. 16 Jonathan, Sau]l[’s son, got up and w]ent to [David at Horesh and encouraged him in the Lor]d.<sup>143</sup> 17

He said to him, “Do n[ot be afraid. For Saul my father will not find you. You will be king over Israel, and I will be second to you. Saul my father also knows this.”] ▲

24<sup>3</sup> [Coming to the sheepfolds on the wa]y, [where th]ere [was a cave, Saul went in to relieve himself, but David and] his [m]en [were sitting] in the rear of [the cave. 4 David’s men said to him, “Here is the day of w]hich [the Lord] said [to you, ‘I will indeed deliver your enemy into your hand, and you may treat him as you like.’” So David got up and secretly cut off an edge of Saul’s robe.] ▲

8 [Then David also got up and went out of the cave,] and he called [out to Saul, “My lord the king!” When Saul looked behind him, David bowed with his face to] the earth [and prostrated himself]. ▲

13 [“As the o]ld<sup>144</sup> pro[verb s]ays, [‘Out of the wicked comes wickedness.’ So my hand shall not be against you. 14 After] whom [have] you [the ki]ng<sup>145</sup> of [Israel come out? Whom do you pursue? After a dead dog] or<sup>146</sup> af[ter a single fl]ea. 15 [May the Lord be our judge and decide between us. May he take notice and argue] my [case] and deliver me [from your hand].”

16 [Then, when David finished saying these things to] Sa[u]l, [Saul said, “Is that your voice, my son David?” Wee]ping [out loud, 17 Saul] said to [David, “You are more righteous than I. For you have treated me] w[ell, though] I have done you harm. 18 [You have shown just now how] you [have done g]ood t[o me] in that when [the Lord] delivered me [into your hand, you did not kill me. 19 When a m]an [finds] his [ene]my, [does he l]et him go [safely] on his way? [May the Lord reward you with good for what yo]u [have done<sup>147</sup> toda]y. 20 Now [indeed, I know that you will certainly be king and that the kingdom of Israel will be placed] in your hand. 21 [So now, swear to me by the Lord that you will not cut off] my descendants [af]ter me and th[us eliminate my name from my father’s family.” 22 So David swore to Saul. Then Saul we]nt [home, but David and his men went up to the stronghold.] ▲

25<sup>3</sup> [The man’s name was Nabal, and his wife’s name was Abigail. The woman was intelligent and beautiful, but the man was stubborn and antagonistic in] business. The man<sup>148</sup> was a Caleb[ite. 4 When] David [heard] in the desert that [Nabal was shearing his sheep, 5 David] sent ten ser[vants. And] Dav[i]d [s]aid to<sup>149</sup> the servant[s, “Go up to Carmel, visit Nabal. Greet him] in my name 6 [and say,] ‘Live [long! P]eace [to you and to your house and to all that is yours. 7 I] have [jus]t heard [that you are shearing. Your shepherds have lately been with us, and we did not mistreat them, and] they [missed nothing all the time they were in Carmel. 8 Ask your servants and they will tell you. So let my servants find favor] in your sight; fo[r we come on a festive day. Please give whatever is on hand to the servants and to your son David.”]

9 [When David’s young men] arrived, [they said all these things to Nabal in David’s name and then waited. 10 Nabal answered David’s servants,] “Who is Da[vid? Who is the son of Jesse? There are many servants these days who break aw]ay<sup>150</sup> [from their masters. 11 So should I take] my [br]ead [and water and my meat, which I have slaughtered for] my [shear]ers, to give [it to men from I don’t know] where?” 12 [So David’s servants returned on their journey and went back. When they arrived,] they repeated [every word to him]. ▲

20 [Then as Abigail rode on her donkey, descending under the cover of the mountain, there were David and his men descend]ing toward [her, and she met them. 21 Now David had said, “All] for nothing [have I guarded everything this man had in the wilderness, so that] no[t one thing of all his belongings was missing. Yet he returns me evil for good.”] ▲

25 [“Please, my lord, pay no attention to this worthless man, Nabal. He is just like his name. His name is Folly, and fo]lly is with him. But I, [your maidservant, I did not see my lord’s servants whom you sent. 26 So now, my lord, as the Lor]d [lives] and as [your] soul lives, [seeing that the Lord has held you back from shedding blood, and from avenging yourself with your own hands, so now let] your [en]emies and those [who seek harm for my lord be as Nabal].” ▲

■ 4QSam<sup>c</sup> exhibits the rare method of writing four dots in place of the four letters yhw<sup>h</sup> for the divine name.

30 [“Then, when •••• has fulfilled for] my lord all [the good] he has promised [you and has appointed you prince over Israel,] 31 you [will no]t have this vengeance<sup>151</sup> and [distress for] my [lord, having shed blood without cause or having taken vengeance] himself. When ••••<sup>152</sup> has prospered [my] lord, [then remember your maidservant.”] ▲

39 [When David heard that Nabal was dead, he said, “Blessed be the Lord, who has taken up my] cause [for the insult I received from Nabal and has kept his servant from evildoing. Nabal’s evildoing the Lord has brought back on his own head.” Then David sent a message to Abigail to make her his wife. 40 When] David’s [servant]s [came to Abigail at Carmel, they said to her, “David has sent us to you,] to [make you his wife].” ▲

26<sup>10</sup> [But David said, “As the Lord lives, the Lord will strike him. Either his 21 [Then Saul said, "I have done wrong. Come back, my son David. I will no longer do you harm, because my life was precious to you today. 278 [David and his men went out and raided the Geshurites, the Girzites, and the Amalekites. Those peoples lived in land from ancient times, as far as Shur and] Egypt. 9 [When David attacked a region, he allowed neither man nor woman to live. But he took away sheep,] cattle, don[keys, camels, and clothes, and then returned to Achish. 10 Then] Achish asked, "Against [whom<sup>155</sup> did you make a raid today?" David replied, "Against the South of Judah"] or "To the South of Jera[hmee]"<sup>156</sup> or "Against<sup>157</sup> the South of [the Kenites." 11 David allowed neither man nor woman to live, to bring them] to Gath, thi[n]king, "Otherwise [they] might repo[r]t about us, saying, 'David did thus and so.'" That was what he did] the whole time he lived [in the country of the Philistines. 12 Achish trusted David,] thinking, ["He has made himself ut]terly [abhorrent to his people, to Israel. So he will be my servant always."]

281 [At that time,] the Philist[in]es mustered [their forces for war, to fight against Israel.] Achish [said] to Da[vi]d, "Be as[sured that you must go out with us in the camp, you and your men, to battle at Jezreel."<sup>158</sup> 2 [David s]aid [to Achish, "Very well, you will see what your servant can do."] Ach[ish said] to<sup>159</sup> [David], "Good, [I will make you my] bo[dyguard for life]." ▲

- The books traditionally labeled 1 Samuel and 2 Samuel were originally considered a single book. 2 Samuel followed 1 Samuel on the same scroll, 4QSam<sup>a</sup>.

2<sup>5</sup> [David sent messengers to the people of Jabesh-gilead and said to] them, “May you be blessed [by the Lord, because you have performed thi]s [act of faithfulness] toward<sup>1</sup> yo[ur] lord [Saul and buried him. 6 Now may the L]ord [show steadfast love and faithfulness] to<sup>2</sup> you. [And I too will return to you] the same [faithfulness] which [you have shown in this matter. 7 So now be firmly resolved and b]e valian[t, because your lord Saul is dead, and the house of Judah has anointed me ov]er them as [king.”<sup>3</sup> 8 But Abner son of Ner,] the commander of the<sup>4</sup> army wh[ich had been Saul’s, took Ishbosheth son of Saul and brought hi]m [over] to Mahana[im. 9 He made him king over Gilead, the Ashurites, Jezreel, Eph]raim, [Benjamin, and all Israel. 10 Ishbosheth son of Saul was forty years old when he began to reign over Israel, and he reigned two years.

Nevertheless the house of Judah followed David. 11 David was king in Hebron over the house of Judah for seven years and six months. 12 But [Abner son of Ner and those who followed Ishbosheth son of Saul] marched out [from Mahanaim to Gibeon]. 13 So Joab son of Zeruiah and David's followers marched out and came together with them at the pool of Gibeon. [They held up there, one band on one side of the pool and the other on the other side of] the pool. 14 [Then] Abner said [to Joab, "Let the young men come forward and compete] before us." Joab replied, "Let [them] come forward." 15 Then they came forward and were counted as they passed: twelve for the Benjaminites of Ishbosheth<sup>5</sup> son of Saul, and twelve of David's followers]. 16 But each [one] grabbed [his opponent by the head and thrust his sword in his opponent's side, and they fell together]. So that place was named [Helkath-hazzurim, which is in Gibeon]. ▲

25 [The Benjaminites rallied behind] Abner [and, as a single force, stood at the top of a hill]. 26 Then Abner called [to Joab and said, "Must the sword devour forever? Do] you not see that [it will be bitter in the end? How long will it be before you tell] your troops to stop pursuing their kinsmen?" 27 Joab replied, "As God lives, if] you had [not spoken, [the troops would not have given up pursuing their kinsmen until morning." 28 Then Joab sounded the trumpet and his troops stopped. They did not pursue Israel any further, and they ended the fighting.]

29 [Abner and his men marched all that night through the Arabah, crossed the Jordan, and marched through all Bithron and arrived at Mahanaim]. 30 After Joab gave up the pursuit of Abner, he assembled all his troops, and nineteen men, besides Asahel, were missing from David's followers. 31 [But David's followers had defeated] Benjamin, and of [Abner's] men [three hundred sixty died. 32 They carried Asahel away] and buried him in [his father's] tomb, [which was in] Bethlehem. Joab and] his men [marched all night], and day broke [on] them at Hebron.

31 Afterward, there [was a long war between the house of] Saul and the house of David. While David continued [to gain strength, the house of Saul] steadily [weakened].

2 Sons were born to David in Hebron. [His firstborn was Amnon [by Ahinoam of Jezreel; 3 his second was Dalaiyah<sup>6</sup> by Abigail the Carmelite;<sup>2</sup> the] third, Absalom son of Maacah daughter of] King Talmai of Geshur; 4 the fourth, Adonijah son of Haggith; the fifth, Shephatiah by<sup>8</sup> Abital; 5 and the sixth, Ithream, by [David's wife Eglah—these were born] to David [in Heb]ron.

6 [T]hrough[o]ut [the] war between the house of Sa[ul and the house of David, Abner was acquiring power for himself] in the house of Saul.

7 Now Saul had a concubine, Rizpah<sup>9</sup> [daughter of Aiah, and Mephibosheth son of] Saul<sup>10</sup> said to Ab[ne]r, “Wh[y have you] gone in to [my father’s] con[cubine?” 8 But Abner was furious at what Mephibosheth said,] and he said to him,<sup>11</sup> [“Am I a dog’s head from Judah? To this day I have shown loyalty to the house of Saul your father, to his kinspeople, and to his friends, and I have not surrendered you into the hand of David, and yet today you accuse me over this woman?”] ▲

23 [When Joab and his whole army arrived, he was informed that Abner] son of Ner [had come] to David,<sup>12</sup> and David had let him go, and he had gone away [in peace. 24 So Joab approached the king and said, “What] were you doing? Abner came to you! Why [did you let him go? Now he has gotten away. 25 You do realize] that [A]bner<sup>13</sup> [came] to deceive you [and to gather information on your comings and goings, to gather information on] everything you do?

26 Joab left David and sen[t] mes[sengers] after Abner, [and] th[ey brought him back from the cistern of Si]rah. David, however, knew [nothing] of it. 27 When [Abne]r ret[urn]ed to [Heb]ron,<sup>14</sup> [Joab] took hi[m] aside [within the] gate to speak [t]o him privately, [and th]ere [he stabbed him] in<sup>15</sup> the stomach. So [he] died [for shedding the blood of] Asahel, his brother.

28 When [David] hear[d about this afterward, he sa]id, “I and [my] king[dom] are forever innocent before the Lord. 29 [May] the blood of [Abner son of Ner f]all<sup>16</sup> o[n] Joa[b]’s [he]ad and on<sup>17</sup> a[ll] Joab’s<sup>18</sup> house. May [Joab’s] hou[se never] be without [someone with a discharge] or a leper or a man who h[olds the] spindle or who falls by the sword or who [la]cks food.” 30 For Joa[b and Abashai his brother murder]ed Abner [f]or having kil[led Asahe]l their brother [in battle] at Gi[beon.]

31 [David said t]o Joab [and to all the people who were with him], “T[ear] yo[ur cl]othes, [put on sackclo]th, and lament over [Abner.” King David] followed behi[nd the bie]r, 32 [and] when they buried Abner [at Hebron], the king wept [out] loud [at A]bner[’s grave]. Indeed, everyone wept. 33 [The king sang this lament] over<sup>19</sup> Abner: [Should] Abner die the dea[th of a scoun]drel?

34 [Your hands were not] b[ound] in fetters.<sup>20</sup>

Your feet were not p[ut] into shack[le]s.<sup>21</sup>

As a f[ool<sup>22</sup> before the ruthless, you fell].

[And] all<sup>23</sup> continued to wee[p] over him. 35 All the people [c]ame to [persuade David to take some food while] it was still day, but Dav[id sw]ore, “So may [God] d[o to me and more, if] before the sun rises [I taste brea]d or any[thing whatever.” 36 The people took note of it and it seemed good] to them, [just as everything] the [king d]id [seemed<sup>24</sup> to the people].

37 And [that day, all the people and] all [Israel knew that the king had not ordered the] death [of] Abner [son of Ner. 38 The king said to his servants, “Do] you [no]t know that this [very da]y a prince, a great man, has fallen [in Israel? 39 Today I was mild, though I am anointed] king, [while th]ese [m]en, the sons of Ze[ruihah, were more severe than I. May the Lord repay the wicked according to their wickedness.”]

4

■ There is confusion in the textual tradition of 2 Samuel 4 concerning two individuals: Ishbosheth, son of King Saul, and Mephibosheth, the lame son of Jonathan and grandson of Saul. In 4:1–2, 4QSam<sup>a</sup> transmits the incorrect name (instead of Ishbosheth); the Masoretic Text perhaps never had a name in verses 1–3 or had Mephibosheth and removed it without replacing the correct name. For both names, the latter part would originally have been -baal. The element -baal, however, was objectionable because it was the name of a Canaanite god, and it was replaced with -bosheth (meaning “shame”), probably in the Second Temple period.

1 [When] Mephibo[sheth son of Saul]<sup>25</sup> hear[d that] A[b]ner [had died] in Hebron, [he lost] his courage, [and all the Israelites were anxious]. 2 Mephibosheth son of Saul<sup>26</sup> had<sup>27</sup> [two captains of raiding band]s, [o]ne na[m]ed Baanah, and the other Rechab, sons of Rimmon the Be[e]rothite, Benja[min]ites —[since Beeroth] also [was considered to be]long to Benjami[n]. 3 (The Beero[th]ites fle[d] to Gittai[m and have been sojourners] there [until] this day.)

■ In the parenthetical verse 4, Mephibosheth is the correct name.

4 Now Jonathan [son of Saul] had [a son whose feet were lame. He was five year]s [old when the] re[po]rt of Saul and Jonathan ar[r]ived [from Jezreel], and [his nurse] picked him up [and fled. But in her haste to flee, he fell and became lame. His name was Mephibosheth.] ▲

9 [David answered Rechab and] his [bro]ther [Baanah], the sons of [Rimmon the Beerothite, saying to them, “As the Lord lives, who has saved my life] in every dang[er], 10 when someone told me, [‘See, Saul is dead,’—thinking he brought good news—I] seized him and killed him in Zikla[g—this was the reward I gave him for his good news. 11 How much more, when wicke]d [men] have kil[led a righ]teous [man in] his own h[ou]se [on his bed! Now do you think I will not require] his blood [from you and] wipe you of[f the earth?” 12 David gave orders to the you]ng men, [and they killed them, cut] off their hands and [feet, and hung them up beside the p]ool in Heb[ron. Then] he<sup>28</sup> took [the hea]d of Mephibosheth<sup>29</sup> and [buried it in the grave of Ab]ner at He[bron].

51 [Then all the tribe]s of Is[rael came to David] at Hebron, saying,<sup>30</sup> [“Look, we are your flesh and blood. 2 Pr]evi[ou]sly, when [S]aul wa[s king over us, you were the one who led] I[srae]l [out and brought it back, and the Lord said to you, ‘You will shepherd my people Israel, and you will be a ruler over Israel.’” 3 Thus all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron. King David made a covenant with them] in Hebro[n before the Lord, and they anointed David king over Israel].<sup>31</sup>

■ 4QSam<sup>a</sup>, followed by the Old Latin and 1 Chronicles (and probably Josephus), moves directly from 5:3 to 5:6. The Masoretic Text, followed by the Aramaic and Syriac, adds a chronological note about David’s age and the length of his reigns in Hebron and Jerusalem.

6 [The king] and his men [marched to Jerusalem against the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the region, who told David, “You will never get in here,] for<sup>32</sup> [the blind and the lame] will incite<sup>33</sup> [ . . . ”; thinking,] “David [cannot get in her]e.” 7 Nevertheless David captured the stronghold of Zion, which became [the city of David]. 8 That day, Da[vid had said], “Who[ever has a mind to de]feat [the Jebu]sites, let him seize<sup>34</sup> the water conduit and strike the bl[ind and] the [lam]e<sup>35</sup> whom David hates.” [That is w]hy they say, “The [bl]ind and the lame cannot [come into the house].”

9 David [occu]pied [the] stronghold and nam[ed] it the city of David. He built a city<sup>36</sup> [all around from] the Millo inward. 10 [All the while] Dav[id] became [greater and great]er, for the Lord of ho[s]ts<sup>37</sup> [was with him].

11 So King Hi[ram] of Tyre sent [messengers t]o David, with [cedar] lo[gs, woodworkers,] and maso[n]s,<sup>38</sup> [and th]ey built [David] a hou[se. 12 David recognized that the Lord had established him as king] over Isra[el and that he had exalted his kingdom for the sake of his people Israel. 13 Da]vid [took] more con[cub]jines [and wives from Jerusalem, after he arrived from Hebron, and] m[o]re [son]s and daughters [were born] to David. 14 [These are the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua,] Shobab, [Nathan,] Solo[mon, 15 Ibhar, Elishua, Nepheg, Japhia, 16 E]lishama, [Eliada, and Eliphelet]. ▲

62 [So David made preparations and went with all the people with] him to Baalah—that is, Kir[yath-jearim] of Judah<sup>39</sup>—to bring u[p from it the ark of G]o[d], which is [called by the name of the Lord],<sup>40</sup> enthron[ed on] the cherub[im]. 3 They placed the ark of God] on<sup>41</sup> a [new] ca[rt and brought it] out of the house of A[binadab, which was on a hill. Uzzah and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, drov]e [the] cart 4 [with<sup>42</sup> the ark of God. Ahio walked in front of the a]rk, 5 [while David and all] the Is[rae]l[i]tes<sup>43</sup> p[layed] be[fore the Lord with all their might, and] with songs<sup>44</sup> [and lyre]s, [harps], tambourines, [castan]ets, [and cymbals].

6 [When th]ey [came] to the thre[shing-floor of] Noran,<sup>45</sup> Uzzah touched his [ha]nd<sup>46</sup> to the ark of [G]o[d, grabbing it because the] oxen [had stumbled]. 7 Then the anger of the Lord flamed out against U[zzah, and] Go[d] struck him there [for touching his hand] to [the] ark,<sup>47</sup> and he died [there] be[fore G]o[d.<sup>48</sup> 8 Then] Da[vid] was angry, [because the Lor]d [had burst] out against Uzzah— [that] plac[e is named Pere]z-Uzzah [to this day]. 9 David was afraid of [the Lord that day], saying,<sup>49</sup> [“How can the a]rk of the Lo[rd come to me]?” ▲

12 [It was reported to King David that the Lord had blessed the house of Obed-edom and everything that was his because of the ark of God. So David went and brought the ark of God from the house of Obed-edom up to the city of David, with a ce]lebration. 13 And [when the bearers of the ark of the Lord had gone six steps, he sacrificed] sev[en] bul[l]s and seve[n rams.<sup>50</sup> 14 Then David danced before the Lord with all his might (Dav]id was wearing a linen ephod). 15 So Da[vid and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of the Lord with cheers and with] trumpet [blas]ts. 16 (Now, as [the ark of the Lord entered the city of David, Michal daughter of Saul looked out the window and saw King David leaping and dancing before the Lord, and she despised him in her heart].) 17 [Th]ey brought in [the ark of the Lord and set it in its place, in the middle of the tent Da]vid [had pitched for it]. Then David offered bu[rnt offerings and peace offerings before the Lord. 18 When David had finished offering the burnt offering and the peace offerings, he blessed] the [people in the name of the Lord of hosts]. ▲

76 [For I did not dwell in a house from the day I brought the Israelites up from Egyp]t [until now. Rather I have been moving about in tent and tabernacle. 7 In all] my [tr]avels [among the entire people of Israel, did I bring up such a thing to any of the leaders of Israe]l, [whom I had charged to shepherd my people Israel, saying “Why did you not build me a house of cedar?”] ▲ other than you, in all that we have] h[ear]d. 23 And who is like your people, like Israel? It is a singular nation on earth, whom] Go[d moved to redeem as a people, and to make a name for himself and to d]o [great things and marvelous things for you and for your land], in the pre[sence of your people, whom you redeemed out of Egypt, from the nations and] tents.<sup>51</sup> 24 Thus [you established your people Israel to be] your [people forever, and you, the Lord, became their] God.

25 “And [now, Lord God], the promise [you have made concerning your servant and his house, hold it up forever and do as you have said. 26 Let your name be exalted forever, with people saying, ‘The Lord of host]s [is Go]d [over Israel.’ May the house of your servant David be established in your presence. 27 Because you, the Lord of] hosts, the God of I[srael, have revealed this to your servant, saying, ‘I will build you a house,'] your servant [foun]d it in his heart to p[ray this prayer to you. 28 And now, Lord God, you a]re God, and your words [will come true, and you have promised this good thing to your servant. 29 So] now may you be [pl]eased to bless [the house of your servant, so that it may continue forever before you. For you, Lord God, have spoken, and with] your blessing [the house of your servant will be blessed forever].” ▲

82 [Then he defeated Moab, and making] them [lie down on the ground, he measured them off with a cord. He measured two lines of those to be put to death and one full line of those to be spare]d. So [the Moabites] be[came<sup>52</sup> vassals to David. 3 David also defeated Hadadezer] son of Rehob, [king of Zobah, when he went to restore his monument at the Euphrates. 4 Da]vid [took] a thousand<sup>53</sup> [horsemen and twenty thousand footmen. David also hamstringed all the chariot horses, after setting aside enough for a hundred chariots. 5 When the Arameans of Damascus came to aid King Hadadezer of Zobah, David killed twenty-two] thousand [Arameans. 6 Then David put garrisons among the Arameans of Damascus, and the Arameans became] vassals<sup>54</sup> [to Dav]id. [The Lord gave victory to David wherever he went.]

7 David [too]k [the gold shields from the servants of Hadadezer and brought them to Jerusa]ll[em], (which, [later on, were] also [taken by Shoshak king of Egypt, when] he [w]ent up to Je[rusalem] in the time of Rehoboam son of Sol[omon).<sup>55</sup> 8 From Betah and Berothai,] Hadadezer[’s cities], King David took a gr[eat] quantity<sup>56</sup> of bronze. ▲

104 [Hanun took David’s servants and shaved off half of their beards and cu]t off [half their] cl[otes at their buttocks, then sent them away. 5 When David was told about] the men,<sup>57</sup> he [sent messengers to meet them—for the men were] great[ly embarrassed. The king said,] “S[ta]y [in Jeri]cho [until your beards] have grown; [then return].”

6 [When the Ammonites saw that they and David had become enemies, Hanun and the Ammonites sent] a thousand silver talents [to hire] chariots and horsemen [from Aram-naharaim, Aram-maa]cah, [and Zobah. They hired thir]ty-[two] thousand chari[ots, the king of Maacah, and the me]n of Tob. [When they came and encamped near Medeba,] the Ammon[ites] mustered from [their cities. . . .<sup>58</sup> 7 When David heard about this, he se]n[t] Joa[b and the entire army, the warriors]. ▲

18 [As the Syrians fled before Israel, David killed seven hundred Syrian charioteers and forty thousand horsemen. He also] wounded [Shobach, the captain of their army], so that he died [there. 19 When all the kings who served Hadadezer saw that they were routed before Isra]el, they made peace [with Israel and served them. So the Syrians were afraid to help the children of Ammon any longer].

■ 4QSam<sup>a</sup> adds the detail that Uriah was Joab’s armor-bearer, which the Masoretic Text lacks. Josephus includes this detail, suggesting that an ancient form of the Septuagint had it, though it was excised from later Septuagint manuscripts to conform with the Masoretic Text.

2 [Then, in the evening, David got up from his couch and t]ook a walk [on the roof of the palace. From the roof he saw a woman bathing,] and the woman [was very beautiful. 3 So David sent messengers and inquired about the woman. One said, “Isn’t sh]e Bathsheba [daughter of] El[iam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite,] the armor-[b]earer of Joab?”<sup>59</sup>

4 [Then David sent] messengers [to bring her], and she came to [him]—just purified<sup>60</sup>—[and he lay with her]. Then she [returned to] her house. 5 But [the woman] concei[ved, and she se]nt a message to inform Davi[d, saying], “I am with child.” 6 So [D]avid [sent to Joab, saying, “Se]nd me [Uriah the Hittite,” and] Joab [se]n[t Uriah t]o [David. 7 When Ur]iah [had come] to [him, David] asked [him how Joab was doing and how the troops fa]r[ed and how the war was going]. 8 Then David [said] t[o Uriah, “Go to your house and wash your feet.” When] Uriah [left the palace, a banquet from the king was sent after him. 9 But Uriah slept at the door of the palace with all the servants of his lord, and did not go down to his house. 10 When they re]ported [to David, “Uriah did not go to his house,” David said to Uriah,] “Have [you] not [come from a journey? Why did you not go home?”] 11 Uriah replied] to David, “The ark, [Israel, and Judah are living in tents. My lord Joab] and my lord’s troops [are encamped in the open field. Can I then go into my house, to eat and drink] and to lie with [my wife? As you live, as your soul lives, I will not do such a thing.”] 12 David [sa]id to [Uriah, “Remain here today also. Then tomorrow I will let you go.”] So Uriah remained in Jerusalem that day and the next.] ▲

16 Then, as [Joab] held the sie[ge on the city, he assigned Uriah to the place where he knew] there were [skill]ed [war]riors. 17 [The] m[en of the city] came out [and fought against Joab. Some of the army, Dav]id[’s troops, fell]—and U[riah the Hittite] died as well. 18 [When Joab sent word to David, reporting to him] everything about the battle, 19 [he instructed the messenger, “When you have finished reporting] to [the ki]n[g all about the battle, 20 if the king becomes angry and says to you, ‘Why did you go so close to the ci]ty [to fight? Did you not realize that they would shoot from the wall? . . . .’”] ▲

124 [“A traveler came to the rich man, but he did not want to take something from his own flock or herd to prepare for the wayfarer who had come to him. Instead he took the poor man’s lamb and prepared it for the man] who had co[m]e to him.”] 5 David was furious at the man and said to Nathan, “As the Lord lives,] the man [who has done this shall die]!” ▲

8 [“I gave you] your [master’s house]—and [your master’s wives into your arms—and I gave you the house of Israel and of Juda]h. And if [that had been too] li[t]tle, I would have given you in addition such and such things. 9 Why have you despised the word of the L]ord, to d[o what is evil in his sight? Uriah the Hittite you struck down with the sword. You took] his [wi]fe as [your own, and you killed him using the sword of the Ammonites].” ▲

13 [David said to Nathan, “I have sinned against the Lord.”] Nathan said to David, “The Lord also has forgiven your sin]—you will [no]t d[ie]. 14 However, [because you have] despised the word<sup>61</sup> of the Lord by [this] a[ct, the child that has been born] to you will surely die.” 15 Then [Nathan] returned to his house. God<sup>62</sup> struck the [child which the whic]h<sup>63</sup> of Uriah [had borne] to David.<sup>64</sup> 16 So [David] pray[ed] to<sup>65</sup> God on behalf of the child. [David fast]ed [and went in and] lay in sackcloth<sup>66</sup> on the ground. 17 The [elders] of his house ca[m]e up] to<sup>67</sup> him, to get him to [rise up fr]om the gr[ound, but he would not, nor would] he eat<sup>68</sup> food with them. 18 Then [on the] seven[th d]ay, [the child died. David’s servants were afraid to t]ell him that the chi[ld was de]ad, [thinking, “Look, while the child was still alive, we spoke to him, and he would not listen to us.] How can we tell him [that the child is] de[ad! He may do something bad!” 19 But seeing his servants whispering together, David] realized [that] the child was dead, [and David asked his servants, “Is the child dead?” They answered, “He is dead.”] ▲

30 [He took the crown of their king from his head—it weighed as much as a gold talent and contained precious stones. Then it was set on David’s head. He carried a very great amount of] spoi[l out of the city. 31 He also led out the people who were in it and put them to work with saws, iron har]ro[ws, and iron axes, or put them to work making bricks. This is what he did in all the A]mmo[nite cities. Then David and the whole army returned to Jerusalem.]

13<sup>1</sup> [Then, later on, Absalom son of David had a beautiful sister, named Ta]mar, [and Amnon son of David lo]v[ed] her. 2 [Amnon was so tormented over his sister Tamar that he became ill.] For she was a virgin, [and it seemed to Amnon difficult to do anything to her. 3 But Amnon had a friend, named Jonathan<sup>69</sup> son of Shimeah, [David’s brother, and Jonathan was a very shrewd man. 4 He said to him, “Why,] pri[n]ce, [are you] so dejected [day after day? Will you not tell me?” Amnon told him, “I am in love with Tamar,] my brother Absalom’s [si]ster.” 5 [Jonathan said to him, “Lie down on your bed and pretend to be si]ck. When your [fa]ther [co]m[es] to see you, [say to him, ‘Allow my sister Tamar to come and give me food to eat,] prepa[ring the food in my presence, so that I may watch and eat it as she serves me.’” 6 So Amnon lay down] and pre[tended to be sick. When the king came to see him, Amnon said to the king, “Allow my sister] Tamar [to come and make me a couple of cakes in my presence, so that I may eat it as she serves me].” ▲

13 [“I, where will I carry my shame? As for you, you will be like any of the rogues in Israel. So] now, [please, speak to] the king. [He will not withhold me from you.” 14 But he would not listen to her advice, and being stro]nger than she, [he overpowered her and] lay with her.

15 [Then Amnon felt a burning hatred toward her]—the hat[red he fel]t [toward her was greater] than the pas[sion he had felt for her—and Amnon said to her, “Get up!] And<sup>70</sup> [get out!”] 16 She said [to him, “No! For se]nding [me away is a worse wrong than than the other you did to me.” But he would not listen to her, 17 and he called the servant who attended him and said, “Get this woman away from me! And lock the door behind her!”]

18 [She was wearing a gorgeous robe—the sort of robe which the king’s virgin daughters wore. When his servant put her out and bolted the door] behind

[her, 19 Tamar threw ashes on her head and ripped the gorgeous robe she was wearing,] and put[ting her hands on her head, she left, crying out as she went].

20 [Absalom her brother asked her,] “Has [your brother Amnon been with you? For now, my sister, keep quiet. He is your brother. Don’t keep thinking about this thing.” So Tamar lived in her brother Absalom’s house, desolate. 21 When King David] heard about [all these things, he was furious. But he would not inflict pain on his son Amnon’s spirit, because he lo]ved him, since [he was his] firstborn.<sup>71</sup> 22 [Absalom did not say anything to Amnon, either good or bad, but A]bsalom [hated Amnon, because he had raped his sister Tamar].

■ 4QSam<sup>a</sup>, followed by the Septuagint, preserves the note about David’s failure to punish Amnon and the reason for it. The Masoretic Text seems to have lost it when the scribe’s eye skipped from the negative that begins the skipped line to the negative that begins verse 22.

23 [Two years later, Absalo]m [had sheep-shearers in Baal-hazo]r, which [is near Ephraim, and Ab]salom [invited] al[l the king’s sons]. 24 Absa[l]om approached the king and said, [“Listen, your servant has sheep-shearers.] Let [the k]ing and his servants go to<sup>72</sup> his<sup>73</sup> servant.” 25 The king said [to Absalom, “No, my son, we should not] all go, [or] we will be a burden to you.” And though he pressed<sup>74</sup> him, he w[ould] not [go, but he blessed him. 26 Then Absalom said, “If not, let] my brother Amnon g[o].”<sup>75</sup> The ki[ng re]sponded, [“Why should he go with you?” 27 But Absalom pressed<sup>76</sup> him until he sent] Amnon and [all] the king’s sons [with him. Absalom prepared a roy]al [feast].<sup>77</sup>

28 Absalom [gave orders to] his servants, saying, [“Watch now, when Amnon’s spirits are high with wine, when] I [te]ll you, ‘Strike Amnon,’ kill hi[m].<sup>78</sup> Do not be afraid. Is it not I giving you orders? Be coura]geous and strong. 29 [A]bsa[lom’s servants] did [to Amnon as Absalom had commanded. All the ki]n[g’s sons rose, and each one, mounting] his [mu]le, fled.

30 [While they were on the way, a report reached David, saying that A]bsalo[m had struck down all the king’s sons and that not one of them was alive]. 31 The [king] stood up [and tore his clothes, and then lay on the ground, and all his servants stood by with] his<sup>79</sup> clothes [torn. 32 Jonathan son of Shimeah, David’s brother,] answered [and said, “My lord must not believe that they have killed all] the young men, all<sup>80</sup> the ki[ng]’s sons. [Amnon alone is dead. For at Absalom’s command,] this has been<sup>81</sup> [planned from the day] he [raped his sister Tamar. 33 So now my lord the king must not take the] th[ing to heart, to think that all the king’s sons are dead. Amnon alone is dead.” 34 Meanwhile Absalom fled.]

The young man [keeping the watch ra]is[ed his eyes and looked, and there was a large crowd approaching on the road behind him by the side of the mountain]. ▲

36 [Then, as soon as he had fi]nished s[peaking, in came the king’s sons, weeping out loud. The king and all] his servants [also] wept bitt[erly].

37 [Absalom, fleeing, went to] Talm[ai son of Ammihur, the ki]ng of Geshur in the la[nd of Maacah.<sup>82</sup> David mourned for his son every] day. 38 [But Absalom] fled and went to Gesh[ur and lived there three years. 39 Then the spiri]t of the king<sup>83</sup> [longed] for [Ab]salom. For [he had been comforted concerning Amnon’s death].

14<sup>1</sup> [When Joa]b son of Zeru[iah realized that the ki]n[g’s mind was on Absalom, 2 Joab sent to Tekoa and brought a wise] woman [from th]ere, [and he said to her, “Pretend to be in mourning. Put on mourning clothes] and do not anoint [yourself with oil, but look like someone who has been mourning for the dead a long time. 3 Then approa]ch the kin[g and say this to him.” And Joab put the words in her mouth.] ▲

■ While 4QSam<sup>a</sup> continues, at this point a separate manuscript, 4QSam<sup>c</sup>, begins. It contains a gratifying amount of connected text, continuing through 15:15.

7 [“Now you see, the whole clan has risen up against your maidservant. They say, ‘Hand over the one who struck down his brother, so that we can put him to death for the life of the brother he killed’—and so destroy the heir also. They will put out the only coal] I have [remai]ning<sup>84</sup> and leave my husband neither [name nor remnant on the face of the earth].”

8 The [ki]ng [said] to the wo[m]an, “Go home [in peace,<sup>85</sup> and I will issue an order for you].”

9 [Then the woman of Tekoa said to] the [ki]ng, “My lord, [the king,] let [the guilt be] on me [and on my father’s house, and let the king and the throne of his kingdom<sup>86</sup> be gu]iltless.”

10 The ki[ng] said, [“If anyone says anything to you, bring him to me, and he will not] bother you [again].”

11 Then she sai[d, “Please, let the king invoke •••• your God, so that the avenger of blood does not continue to destroy] o[r my son] be destroyed.”

■ 4QSam<sup>c</sup> exhibits the rare method of using four dots in place of the four letters yhw<sup>h</sup> for the divine name.

[He] said, [“As •••• lives, not one ha]ir [of your son will fall to the ground].”

12 [Then the woman said, “Allow] your [m]aidse[rv]ant [to say one more wo]rd [to my] lor[d the king].”

[“Speak,” he said.]

13 [“Why,” asked the woman, “have you planned just such a thi]ng against the [peo]ple of G[o]d? [For in speaking this word the king convicts himself, because the king does not bring home his banished one. 14 Indeed we must surely] die [and are like water spilled on the ground which cannot be recovered. God does not take away] life, [but devises a plan so that the one who has gone astray does not remain estranged from him. 15 So now, I have come to say this to my] lord<sup>87</sup> [because the people have made me afraid. Your handmaid thought, ‘I will speak t]o the king [now, and perhaps the king will grant the request of his servant. 16 For the king will decide to deliver] his servant [from the power of the one who wants<sup>88</sup> to eliminate both me and my son from the inheritance of God.” 17 Then the woman concl]uded, “Oh, let the [word of my lord the king be a comfort. For as an angel of God, so is] my [l]ord [the king to judge good and bad. May •••• your God be with you.”]

18 [The king responded to] the woman [of Tekoa and said],<sup>89</sup> “Do not [hide from me anything that I a]sk you.”

[The woman] answered, “L[et my lord the king sp]eak.”

19 [The kin]g [asked, “Has Joab been involved wi]th you in all this?”

[The woman said to the king,<sup>90</sup> “As your soul lives, my lord the ki]ng, it is<sup>91</sup> not to the right or to the left [from anything my lord the king has said. For your servant Joab,] he inst[ructed me, and] h[e] put [all these words] in the mouth of your handmaid. 20 Your servant J[oa]b has do]ne [this to show the] mat[ter in a different light. My lord is wise, like the wisdom of an angel of Go]d, [to kno]w what is<sup>92</sup> on earth.”

21 [The king] s[aid to Joab, “All right, I will do it.] So go and<sup>93</sup> bring back the young man A[b]salom.”

22 [Joa]b [fell to the ground on his face, prostrating himself and blessing the king. Joab said,] “Today your servant knows that I [have] f[ound] favor [in your sight, my lord the king, in that the king has granted] the request of your<sup>94</sup> servant.”

23 So Joab and we[n]t<sup>95</sup> to Ge]sh[ur and brought Absalom to Jerusalem. 24 Then the] king [said], “Let him go to his own house. He will n[o]t s[ee] my face.” [So Absalom went to his own house and] did not see the king[’s face].

25 Moreover, Absalom<sup>96</sup>—[in all Israel no one was so much praised as he for his fine appearance]. From the sole of his foot to the crown<sup>97</sup> of [his] head, [he was without flaw. 26 When he cut the hair of his head]—he used to cu[t] it at the end of every year; [when it became too heavy for him,] he cu[t] it—he used to weigh it, and it weighed] 200 shekels on the roy[al] standard. 27 [Absalom had three sons and] one [daughter, whose na]me was Tamar, and<sup>98</sup> she was [a beautiful woman].

28 [Absalom lived two full ye]ar[s in Jeru]salem [without seeing] the king's face. 29 [So A]bsalom [sent for Jo]ab, [to] se[nd him t]o the king, but he would not [come to him. Then he se]nt a second time to him,<sup>99</sup> and again he wou[ld] n[ot co]me. 30 So he said to [his] servants, ["Look, Joab's field is nex]t to [mine]. He has barley there. [Go and s]et it on fire." So [Absalo]m[']s servants] se[t the field on fi]re. [So] Joab's [s]ervants [came] to him with [their] cl[otes] torn [and said], "Absalom's [servant]s [have set the f]ield on fire.<sup>100</sup>

■ The Masoretic Text lost the entire last sentence, which is preserved in 4QSam<sup>c</sup> and the Septuagint, as well as the Old Latin. A scribe's eye simply skipped from one "on fire" to another.

31 [Then J]oab got up [and went to Absalom at his hou]se and demanded of him, "Why did your servants set [my field on fire]?"

32 Absalom answered Joab: "Look, I sent to you, [saying, 'Come here,' so that I may] send you to [the k]ing, to say, 'Why have I come from Ge[shur? It would have been better for me if I were still there.'] Now, let me s[e]<sup>101</sup> the king's face. If I am guilty of anything, [let him put me to death]."

33 [So Joab went t]o the king [and told] him. Then he called for Absalom, and he came [to the king and] bowed down,<sup>102</sup> [and the king kissed Absalom].

■ The scribe of 4QSam<sup>c</sup> at first skipped a full line of text at 15:1 but noticed the error and inserted the missing text above the line.

1 Afterward Absalom used to fur[nish]<sup>103</sup> himself with a chariot and horses, with fifty men to ru]n in front of him. 2 Absalom used to get up early [and stand] beside the road.<sup>104</sup> Then, wh[en a]nyone [had a law]suit which should c[o]me to the king for<sup>105</sup> a decision, Absal[om] would call to<sup>106</sup> him [and s]ay, "What city are you from?" The man would answer and say,<sup>107</sup> "Your [servant is] from o[n]e of the tribes of Israel." 3 Then Absalom would say to him, ["Look, your claims are good] and right, [but there is no o]ne from the king [to hear] you." 4 [Absalom] would say [further, "Oh,] if only they would appoint [me a judge in the land! Then everyone] who had<sup>108</sup> a suit or [cause] could co[me to] me, [and I would do him justice!]" 5 When anyo]ne [came near] to d[o obeisance to him, he exte]nded [his hand, took hold of him, and kissed him. 6 Absa]ll[om used to act] t[his] way toward all [the Israelites who came to the king for judgment, and] Absalom

[sto]le [the allegiance of the people of Israel].

7 [After four<sup>109</sup> years, Absalom said to the king, “Allow me to] g[o to fulfill a vow which I made to •••• in Hebron. 8 For your servant made a vow while] I [live]d at Geshur in Syria, [saying, ‘If] ••• [• does indeed bring me back to Jerusalem, then I will serve •] ••• .” 9 So [the king] said to him, [“Go in peace].”

[Thus] he went [to Hebron. 10 But Absalom sent messengers] from Jerusalem<sup>110</sup> throughout all the tr[ibes of Israel, saying, “As soon as you hear] the trumpet [bl]ast, [say, ‘Absalom is king in Hebron!’” 11 (Two hundred men went with Absalom] from Jerusalem. [They had been invi]ted [and went innocently, not knowing any of this.) 12 While he was offering sacrifices, he sen]t [and invit]ed<sup>111</sup> Ah[i]thophel [the] Gi[lonite, David’s counselor, from his hometown, Giloh. The con]spiracy gr[ew strong, as the people with Absalom increased constantly].

13 Then a [messenger] came [to David, saying, “The hearts of the Israelites have gone with Absalom.”]

14 Then [David] said [to all his servants with him at Jerusalem, “Come! We must flee]! Let us [escape from Absalom. Leave quickly, or he will soon overtake us] and bring ruin [on us and strike the city with the edge of the sword].”

15 [The] king[’s servants said] t[o the king, “Your servants are ready to do whatever my lord the king decides].” ▲

27 [The kin]g [said also to Zadok the priest, “Don’t you see? Return to the city while it is safe, you and your two sons with you, Ahimaaz your son, and J]onathan son of A[biathar. 28 Listen, I will wait at the fords of the wilderness, until word] comes from [you with intelligence for me.” 29 So Zadok and Abiathar carried the ark of God back] to [Jeru]salem, [and they stayed there].

30 [Meanwhile David went up on the ascent of the Mount of Olives. He wept as he w]ent, [barefoot and with his head covered. All the people with him, every one of them, covered their heads. They ascended, weeping as they went.]

31 [Someone reported] to<sup>112</sup> Davi[d, “Ahithophel is among the conspirators with Absalom].”

[David said, “Lord, turn Ahithophel’s counsel into foolishness.”] ▲

16<sup>1</sup> [When David was] jus[t past the top of the ascent, there was Ziba the servant of Mephibosheth. He met him, with a pair of] sad[dled don]keys, [bearing two hundred loaves of bread, a hundred clusters of raisins, a hundred pieces of summer fruit, and a ski]n of wine. 2 [The king said to Ziba, “What do you intend to do with them?” Ziba answered, “The donkeys are for the king’s household to ride on, the bread and summer fruit for the young men to eat, and the wine for those who are faint in the wilderness to drink.” ▲

10 [The king said, “What do I have to do with you, sons of Zeruiah? If he is cursing because the Lord told him, ‘Curse David,’ then] who [shall say, ‘Why have you done this?’”] 11 David said to Abishai and all his servants, “Look! My son, my own offspring, seeks my life. How much more would this Benjamite! Leave him alone. Let him] curse, for [the Lord] has directed him. 12 Perhaps the Lord will look on my difficulty, so that the Lord will recompense me with good for his cursing of me] today.”

13 So [David and his men continued] along the road, while Shimei went along on the mountainside opposite him, cursing as he went, throwing dust and stones at him]. ▲

17 [Absalom said to Hushai, “Is this your loyalty to your friend? Why [did you] not go with your friend?”]

18 [Hushai answered Absalom, “Rather, I serve the one whom the Lord, this people, [and all the Israelites have chosen, and with him I will remain].”] ▲

21 [Ahithophel said to Absalom, “Go in to your father’s concubines, whom he left to take care of the palace. Then all Israel] will hear [that you are abhorred by your father. Then the resolve of everyone with you will be strengthened.”]

22 [So they spread a tent] for Absalom on the roof, and Absalom went in to his father’s concubines] in the sight of all Israel]. ▲

1723 [When Ahithophel saw that his counsel had not been followed,] he saddled [his donkey and returned to his hometown. He set his house in order. Then he hanged himself and died. He was buried] in the tomb of his father]. ▲

182 [David sent out the army, one-third under Joab’s command, one-third under the command of Abishai son of Zeruiah, Joab’s brother, and one-third under the command of Ittai] the Gittite. [And the king said to the army, “I, myself, shall go out with you, too.”]

3 [But] the army [said], “You will [not] go out. [For if we must retreat, they will not care about us. Not if half of us were to die would they care<sup>113</sup> about<sup>114</sup> us. [You are worth ten thousand of us. So at present, it is better that] you be [ready to help] us [from the city].”]

4 [The king said to them, “Whatever seems best to you, I will do.” So the king] stood beside the gate, while the entire army marched out by hundreds and by thousands].

5 [The king gave orders t]o Joab, [Abishai, and Ittai, saying, “Deal gently, for my sake, with the young man Absalom.” And ever]y[one] heard<sup>115</sup> [the king give all the captains orders concerning Absalom].

6 [Thus the army marched out into the] field [a]g[ains]t [Israel], to do [batt]le [in the Ephraim forest. 7 The army of I]srael [was defeated] b[y David’s troops. There was a tremendous slaughter there that day, of twenty thousand men.] ▲

9 [Absalom happened on some of David’s troops. As] he<sup>116</sup> [rode his mule, the mule went under the thick branches of a large oak, and his head got caught in the] oak, and he hung<sup>117</sup> [between the sky and the ground, while the mule under him continued on].

10 A man<sup>118</sup> [sa]w it, and reporting it [to Joab, said, “I saw Absalom hanging in an oak]!”

11 Joab [sai]d to the man [reporting to him, “You saw it? Why didn’t you strike him to the ground right there? I] would have [paid you ten silver coins and a belt.”] ▲

196 [“You love those who hate you] and ha[te those who love you! Today you have declared that leaders and troops mean nothing to you!] No[w I see that] if Absa[lom had lived and all of us had die]d [today], the[n it would have seemed] righ[t to you. 7 So, get up, go out,] and sp[ea]k words of] comfort [to your] troo[ps now. For I sw]e[ar by the Lord], if [you do] no[t go out, not] one m[an will stay with you to]night, and that would be wor[se for you] than al[l the distress] th[at has come to you from your youth until now.” 8 So the ki]n[g got up and sat in the] gate. Ev[eryone heard the report that the king was there, sitting in the gate. So everyone came to the king.]

Now Israel had fled, ea[ch to his own home. 9 Everyone throughout all the tribes of Israel was arguing, sayin]g, “King Dav[id]<sup>119</sup> s[aved us from the power of our enemies—he delivered us from the power of the Philistines! But now he has had to flee] the la[nd, from Absalom. 10 But Absalom, whom we anointed over us, is dead in battle. So now why do you not say anything about] bring[ing back the king]?”

11 [King David sent a message] to Zadok [and Abiathar] the prie[sts, “Talk to the elders of Judah and ask, ‘Why are you the la]st [to bring the king back to his palace, when the talk of all Israel has reached the king]?’” ▲

13 [“S]ay [to Amas]a, [‘Are you not my flesh and blood? Thus may God do to me and mo]re if you are not the [comm]ander [of the army from now on, instead of Joab.’” 14 He united the hearts of the people of Judah,] and they sent<sup>120</sup> [word to the king, “Return with all your servants.” 15 The king returned. He arrived at the Jor]da[n, and Judah came to Gilgal to go out to meet the king, to bring the king across the Jordan]. ▲

26 [He answered, “My lord the king, my servant tricked me. For your servant told him, ‘Saddle the] donk[ey for me, so that I may ride it and go with the king’—for your servant is lame. 27 But he slandered your serv]ant to [my lord the king. Still my lord the king is like the angel of God. So do what seems right] to [yo]u. ▲

206 [David said to Abishai, “Now Sheba son of Bichri will do us more harm than Absalom. Take your lord’s servants and pursue him or he will find] fortifi[ed cities and escape from us].” 7 Joa[b]’s [m]en [followed him, along with the Cherethites, the Pelethites, and all the warriors]. They march[ed] out of Jer[usalem to pursue Sheba son of Bichri].

8 When they were at the [great stone in Gib]eon,<sup>121</sup> it dropped out. 9 Joab said [to Amasa, “Are you well,) my [bro]ther?” And Joab took [Amasa] by the beard with his right hand to [ki]ss [him. 10 Amas]a [did] no[t notice the dagger in] Joab[’s hand,) and he stabbed him with it in the abdo[men] and [his bowels spilled onto the ground. Without a second blow, he died. Then Joab and Abishai] his brother pursued She[b]a son of [Bichri].

11 [One of Joab’s young men stood by him and said,) “Who[ever] is for Joab and whoever is for Da[vid, follow Joab.” 12 Meanwhile Amasa lay wa]llowing [in his blood in the middle of the road. When the ma]n [saw] that all the [troops] stop[p]ed, he carried Ama]sa of[f the r]oa[d into the field and threw a garment over him, becau]se he recognized that everyone [who reached him came to a stop. 13 When he was removed from the road, all the troops] follow[e]d Joab [in pursuit of Sheba son of Bichri. 14 He marched through all the tribes of Israel to Abel Be]th-maa[cah and the whole region of the Berites, and they gathered together and followed him]. ▲

22 [ . . . So he blew the trumpet, and they dispersed from the city, and everyone returned home, while Joab returned to Jerusale]m t[o the king. 23 Now Joab commanded the entire army of Israel. Benaiah son of Jehoiada was in charge of the Cherethites and] Pelethites. 24 [Adoram was in charge of conscripted labor. Jehoshaphat son of Ahilud was the recorder, 25 and Sheva was scribe. Zadok and Abiathar were] priests, [26 and also Ira the Jairite was David’s priest].

211 [During Da]vid[’s reign, there was a famine lasting] thr[ee consecutive years. When Davi]d [inquired] o[f the Lord, the Lord answered, “It is because of the bloodguilt of Saul and his house, [because he put the Gibeonites to death.]”

[2 So the king called the Gibeonites and negotiated with them. Now the Gibeonites were not part of the Israelites, but a remnant of the Amorites. Though the Israelites had sworn to spare them, Saul tried to wipe them out in his zeal for the people of Israel and Judah.]

[3 David asked the Gibeonites, “What should I do for you? How can I make expiation, so that you will bless the heritage of the Lord?”]

4 [The Gibeonites told him, “This is no matter of silver or gold between us and Saul and his house. But it is not for us] to put [anyone] to d[eath in Israel].”

[So he said, “Whatever you ask, will I do on your behalf.”]

5 [They said to the king,] “The man w[ho consumed us and who plotted against us, that we should be destroyed from our place within the borders of Israel]— 6 have [seven of his sons] delivered to [us. We will execute them before the Lord in Gibeah of Saul, the chosen of the Lord.”]

[The king answered, “I will deliver them.”] ▲

15 [The Philistines again waged war with Israel. David and] the troops with him [went down and did battle with the Philistines. David became weary. 16 Ishbibenob, a] descendant [of the giants, whose spear] weighed [three hundred bronze shekels, w]as [ . . . ] angry<sup>122</sup> and intended [to kill David]. 17 But Abishai son of Ze[ruihah came] to his [aid, struck] the [Phi]li[stine] and killed him. Then David’s [m]en sw[ore],<sup>123</sup> “You will never ag[ain] go to battle with us, so that [you do] not [put out the lamp of I]srael.” 18 After [this there was another battle] of mighty men<sup>124</sup> with the Philistin[es, in which Si]b[becai]<sup>125</sup> the Hushathite [killed Saph], a descendant of [the giants]. ▲

■ 2 Samuel 22 presents a full version of Psalm 18. There are textual variants between the Psalm as it occurs in the Masoretic Text, and this chapter as it occurs in the Masoretic Text. There are also textual variants between the two Greek texts of the Septuagint as well as between the Greek and their Hebrew originals. The Psalm’s text as witnessed by 4QSam<sup>a</sup> adds yet another valuable source for comparison.

■ 2 Samuel 23:1–7 is called David’s Last Words. The latter part of verse 7 appears in the Great Psalms Scroll (11QPs<sup>o</sup>) at the top of column 27, just before the listing of David’s Compositions, and the remainder of 23:1–7 surely had been written in the lost bottom part of the preceding column of that scroll.

1 Now these are the las[t] words of David, [the oracle of David son of Jesse, the oracle of] the man God<sup>142</sup> lifted up, the anointed of [the Go]d of J[acob, the sweet Psalmist of Israel: 2 The spirit of the Lord] spoke in me, and his word was on [my] tongue. 3 [The God of Israel spoke, the Rock of Israel said to me: The one who rules over] people [righteo]usly, who rules [in the fear of God, 4 will be like the light of the morning, when the sun rises, a morning without clouds, with the splendor of the r]ain [on the grass of the land. 5 For is not my house like this with God? For he has established an everlasting covenant with me, ordered] in all things, and [secure: it is all my salvation, and all my desire. Will he not make it grow?] 6 But the ungodly [will be, all of them, like thorns to be pushed aside, because they cannot be grasped with the hand; 7 anyone touching them must use an iron bar] or the shaft of a s[p]e[a]r. They are consumed with fire; they are burned where they grow. ▲

9 [And next to him] among [the three migh]ty men [was Elea]zar the son of [A]hohi.<sup>143</sup> He was with David [when] they [taunted the Philistines who were gathered there] for battle and the Israelite tr[oo]ps had withdrawn. 10 He rose up and attacked the Philistines until his hand grew ti[re]d and was stuck to his sword. The Lord brou[ght] about a great victory that day, and the troops returned after him only to take spoil. 11 Next to him was Shammah [son of A]gee the Hararite. The Philist[in]es had banded together at Lehi where there was a plot of ground full of lentil[s, and the troops fled fro]m them. 12 But he [took his stand in the mid]dle of [the p]l[ot, defending it] and striking down [the Phi]lis[tines, while the Lord brought about a great victory]. ▲

24<sup>16</sup> [When the angel stretched out his hand toward Jerusalem to destroy it, the Lord relented from the calamity, and said to the angel destroying the people, “That is enough. Now stay your hand.” The angel of the L]ord was standing<sup>144</sup> b[y the threshing-floor of Arau]nah the [Jeb]usite. [David] rai[sed his eyes and saw the angel of the Lord standing bet]ween earth and [heav]en; [his] drawn sword was in his hand [stretched out toward Jerusalem. David and the elders, cover]ed [in sackclo]th, [fell down on] their [face]s.<sup>145</sup> 17 David sai[d] to the Lor[d, “was it not I who ordered the census of the people? Look,<sup>146</sup> I have sinned, and] I have done gre[a]t evil.<sup>147</sup> But [these sheep, what have they done? Set your hand against me and against my father’s house.” 18 Gad came to David] that [day] and said,<sup>148</sup> “Go up, [set up an altar to the Lord on the threshing-floor of Araunah the Jebusite.” 19 So David went up, as Gad had said, a]s the Lord had commanded. 20 Now [Araunah] loo[ked down . . . covered] in sackcloth, as Araunah was threshing wheat.<sup>149</sup> [He went out . . . cov]ered in sackcloth,<sup>150</sup> and came [ . . . ]. ▲

KINGS

Only three manuscripts of the book of Kings—the work that we now designate 1 and 2 Kings—were found in the various Judean Desert caves: one each on leather in Cave 4 and Cave 5, and a papyrus manuscript in Cave 6. The last presents a typical snapshot of the Qumran scrolls. About ninety-four fragments that presumably belonged to this manuscript were found, but only seventeen can be identified and placed, since the majority of the fragments preserve only a few letters each. Many have not even one complete or nearly complete word, while others with only “these” or “all” or “he made” or “[J]udah” could have come from multiple loci within the book.

Despite the limited scope of text on most fragments, however, there are enough indications of text significantly divergent from the traditional Masoretic Text to suggest that the text of Kings was pluriform in antiquity, just as the text of Samuel has been demonstrated to be.

In addition to numerous small variants, sometimes in agreement with the Greek text, there are more significant variants as well, with the Qumran manuscripts at times preserving the superior variant and the Masoretic Text at other times doing so. Just as 4QSam<sup>a</sup> recovers bits of text thought to be lost, so too 4QKgs preserves a passage (1 Kings 8:16) lost from the Masoretic Text when a scribe’s eye skipped from one phrase to a similar phrase below.

Moreover, an additional clue near the end of 1 Kings 7 (see note at 7:25–27) suggests that Kings may have had an expanded text on which the author of Chronicles based his composition. Though the evidence is slight, it tends to confirm that the ancient text of Samuel-Kings that the Jewish author of Chronicles used was not the Masoretic Text but one similar to those documented at Qumran.

1 KINGS

116 [Bathsheba bowed and prostrated herself before the king.] The [k]ing said,<sup>1</sup> “What [concerns you?” 17 She said to him, “My lord, you swore by the Lord your God to your maidservant, ‘Solomon your son will] reign aft[er] me; he is the [one who will sit on my throne].” ▲

27 [“Has this come about by order of my lord the king, and yet you have not informed your] ser[vants who is to sit on the throne of my lord the king after him?” 28 Then King David answered, “Call Bathsheba to me.”] She came into [the king’s presence and stood before him].

29 [Then the king swore, “As the Lord lives, who has saved my life from every] difficulty, 30 just [as I swore to you by the Lord the God of Israel —‘Solomon your son will reign after me,] he will sit on [my] thro[ne in my stead’—today I will accomplish that!” 31 Then Bathsheba bowed, face to the ground, prostrating herself] before the king, and said, “Let [my lord King David live forever].”

32 King David sai[d, “Call Zadok the priest, Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah son of Jehoiada.” When they arrived in the king’s presence,] 33 the king said to them, “Take [the servants of your lord with you, have Solomon my son ride on] my [mule], and lead him down to G[ihon. 34 Zadok the priest and Nathan the prophet are to anoint him there as king over Israel. Then] blow the trumpet and proclaim, ‘Long li[ve king Solomon.’ 35 Then come back up following him, and he will come and sit on my throne. For] he will rule in my stead; he is the one I have decreed to [be prince over Israel and over Judah].”

36 [Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered] the king and said, “Amen! [May the Lord, the God of my lord the king, declare this. 37 As the Lord has been with my lord the king,] so may he be [with Solomon. May he make his throne even greater than the throne of my lord King David].” ▲

312 [ . . . See, I have given you such a wise and understanding mind that there] has be[en no] one [like you before you, and no one like you will arise after you. 13 I have also given you what you have not requested, both] riches [and honor, so that all your days no other king will compare to you]. ▲

720 [There were capitals on top of both pillars, above] the rounded projection wh[ich was next to the network, and there were two hundred pomegranates in rows surrounding the two capitals].

21 [He set up] the pillar[s at the portico of the temple. Setting up the right pillar, he named it Jachin. Setting up the left pillar, he named it Boaz]. ▲

25 [It stood on twelve oxen, three facing north, three facing west, three facing south, and] three fa[c]ing [east. The sea was set above them, with all their hindquarters inward. 26 It was a handbreadth thick, and its brim was fash]ioned [like] the brim of a cup, [like] a lily blossom. [It held two thousand baths. 27 He made] ten bronze [stands], four [cubits long, four wide, and three high]. ▲

■ The fragment with 7:25–27 above offers an additional important clue about the pluriform text of Kings in antiquity. The fragment contains the left ends of the original lines of text but extends farther left to reveal the beginning of a line in the next column (which should contain the final verses of 1 Kings 7). Only the single word for chambers (with the last letter missing) has been preserved from the passage, which describes Solomon’s construction of the Temple and its vessels. In the Masoretic Text of Kings (1 Kings 7:48–51) that word does not appear, but it does in the related passage in Chronicles (1 Chron 28:12–18). Just as 4QSam<sup>a</sup> does at several points, 4QKgs here shows that it had an expanded wording on which the author of Chronicles based his text. Though the evidence is slight, it tends to confirm that the text of Samuel-Kings that the Jewish author of Chronicles used was not the Masoretic Text but one similar to those documented at Qumran.

29 [On the panels between the cross-bars were lions, oxen, and cherubim, and on the cross-bars as well. Above and below the lions and oxen were wr]eaths of [hanging] w[ork].

30 [Each stand had f]ou[r bronze wheels with bronze axles. Its four sides] ha[d] supports [under]neath a basin. [The supports were cast, with a wreath at their side. 31 Its opening was inside a capital, which extended up]ward [one cubit. Its opening was round, the way a pedestal is made, measuring a cubit and a half. At its opening, there were engravings. Their panels were square, not] roun[d. 32 The four wheels were underneath the panels, and the axles of the wheels were attached to the base. Each wheel was a] cubit and a half [high. 33 The wheels were made like a chariot wheel.] Their [axles, rims,] spokes, and hu[bs were all cast metal].

34 [There were four supports at the four corners of each stand;] the [s]upports were [of one piece] with the stand. 35 At [the top of the stand was a round band half a cubit high. And at the top of the stand,] the [s]tays and panels were of one piece [with it. 36 On the surfaces of the stays and panels, he engraved cherubim,] lions, and palm trees, on the open space<sup>2</sup> of ea[ch, with wreaths all around. 37 He made the ten bases this way:] all of th[em were cast alike], with one size and one shape.<sup>3</sup>

38 [And he made ten bronze basins,] each basin holding for[ty baths. Each basin measured four cubits. There was a basin on each of the ten] stands. 39 He placed [five of the stands on the right side of the temple and five on the] left side. [The sea he placed on the right side of the temple—that is, when facing east, toward the south. 40 Hiram also made] the pot[s,<sup>4</sup> shovels, and bowls].

[Thus Hiram finished all the work which] he had undertaken for [King Solomon in the house of the Lord: 41 the two pillars, the bowl-shaped capitals which were on the top of the two pillars,] and the [two] network[s to cover the two bowl-shaped capitals on the top of the pillars]; 42 also the [four hundred] pom[egranates for the two networks—two rows of pomegranates for each network—to cover the two bowl-shaped capitals on the pillars]. ▲

51 [Thus all the work that King Solomon had undertaken in the house of the Lord was completed. And Solomon brought in the things which David his father had dedicated—the silver, the gold, and the vessels—and put them in the treasuries of the] house of [the Lord].

81 [Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel, all the hea]ds of tribes, the lea[ders of the ancestral houses of the Israelites, to King Solomon in Jerusalem, in order to bring up the ark of] the covenant of the Lord from the city of D[avid, which is Zion].

2 [All the people of Israel assembled to King Solomon] at the time of the feast, [in the month of Ethani]m, se[venth] month.<sup>5</sup> 3 [All the elders of Israel came, the priests took up the ark, 4 and] they [brou]ght up the ark of the Lord. The ten[t of meeting and all the holy vessels that were in the tent—the pr]iests and the Levites [brought these up as well].

5 King Solomon and [all the congregation of Israel which had assembled to him gathered before the ark, sac]rificing [so many] sheep and oxen that they could not be counted or [numbered. 6 The priests brought in the ark of the covenant of] the Lord to its place, to<sup>6</sup> the inner sanctuary of the temple, to the most holy [place, under the wings of the cherubim. 7 For the cherubi]m spread<sup>7</sup> their wings over the place of the ark and covered [the ark and its poles. 8 The poles were so long that] the ends of the poles [were seen] from the holy place [in front of the inner sanctuary, though they could not be seen outside. They are still there today. 9 There was nothing in the ark except] the two tablets of stone<sup>8</sup> [which Moses put there at Horeb, when the Lord made a covenant with the Israelites, when they came out of the land of Egypt]. ▲

16 [“From the day I brought my people Israel out from Egypt, I have not chosen a city from among the tribes of Israel to build a house for my name to be there, nor did I choose anyone] to be a leader over [my] people [Israel, but I chose Jerusalem for my name to be there,<sup>9</sup> and I chose David] to be over my people, over<sup>10</sup> [Israel.] 17 Now David my father had it in mind to build a house for the name of the Lord, the God of I]srael. 18 But [the Lord] said [to David my father, ‘Because you had a mind to build a house for my name, you did well; for it was your intention].’” ▲

12<sup>28</sup> [After the king took counsel, he made two calves of gold. Then he said to them, “It is too much for you to travel to Jerusalem. Behold your gods,] I]srael, who brought you up from the land of Egypt].”

29 [He set up one in Bethel, and the o]ther he placed [in Dan. 30 This th]ing [became a sin, because the] people [journeyed even as f]ar as Dan [to worship before the one there. 31 He set up shrines for the hi]gh places and a]ppointed priests from among all the people, except from the Levites]. ▲

22<sup>29</sup> [But] the king of I]srael and Jehoshaphat king of Judah] march[ed to Ramoth-gilead. 30 The king of Isra]el [said] to Jehoshaphat [king of Judah,<sup>11</sup> “I will disguise myself and go into the battle, but you wear] your [robes].” So the king of [Israel disguised] himself [and went into battle. 31 Meanwhile the] kin[g of Syria gave orders<sup>12</sup> to his thirty-two] chariot [captains, saying, “Fight no one, either small or great, except the] ki[ng of Israel].” ▲

5<sup>26</sup> [Then he said to him, “Did I not go with you in spirit, when the man stepped down from his chariot to mee]t you? [Is this the time to receive money, garments, olive orchards and vineyards, sheep] and oxen, [and menservant]s and mai[dservants]?” ▲

6<sup>32</sup> [Elisha was sitting in his house, and the elders were sitting with him, when the king sent a man ahead of him. But before the messenger arrived, he said to the elders,] “Do [you] se[e how this son of a murderer has sent to take off my head? Listen,] when [the messenger] comes, [shut the door and keep the door shut to him. Is not the sound of his master’s feet] behind [him]?” ▲ and ate and [dr]ank. Then [they] carried [away silver and gold and clothing, and went off and hid it. When they came back, they entered] another [te]nt, and carri[ed] loot away from it as well, then wen[t and hid it].

7<sup>8</sup> [When the lepers reached the edge of the camp, they went into on]e [tent]

9 [Then they said one to another, “What we are doing is not right. T]oday [is a da]y of good [news, but we keep it to ourselves. If we delay until the morning light, we will be punished. Come on,] let us go and [tell the ki]ng[’s household].”

10 [So they came and called the gatekeepers of the city and told] them thi[s: “We went in]to [the camp of the Syrians and,] you see, [there was no one there, not a human voice, but the horses and donkeys were tied and the tents remained] just a[s they had been].” ▲

20 [And so it happened to him. The people trampled him at the gate, and he died, just as the man of Go]d [had said].<sup>13</sup>

- At the end of verse 20, pap6QKgs—in agreement with two Vulgate manuscripts—repeats the prophetic link in 7:17, cross-referencing the death of the king’s captain with the prophecy in 7:2. There Elisha, “the man of God,” had predicted that food would suddenly become plentiful, but the captain—because he had doubted Elisha’s word—would not eat any of it.

81 [Elisha said to the woman whose son he had restored to life, “Make preparatio]ns [and] leave, you [and your household, and sojourn wherever you can. For the Lord has called for a fam]ine which will come against<sup>14</sup> the land for se[ven years.” 2 So the woman made preparations and left, following the instructions of the man of G]o[d], living in<sup>15</sup> [the land of the Philistines] se[ven] yea[rs].

3 [The woman<sup>16</sup> returned from the land of the Philistines, and she came to the city,] to the king, concerning her house and [land.<sup>17</sup> 4 Meanwhile the king was talking with Gehazi, the servant of E]l[i]sha,<sup>18</sup> saying, “Please tell me [all the great things Elisha has done.” 5 Just as he was tell]ing [the] king [that he had restored to life one who was dead . . . ]. ▲

91 [Elisha the prophet summoned one of the prophetic group and said to him, “Gird up your loins, take this vial of] oil [in your hand, and go to Ramoth-gilead. 2 When you arrive there, find Jehu son of Jehoshaphat son of] Nimshi. Then go i[n, have him leave his associates, and take him to a private room].” ▲

10<sup>21</sup> Jehu [se]nt word [throughout Israel, and all the worshipers of Baal came, so that there was no one left who] did n[ot] come. [. . . ] ▲

ISAIAH

For both Jews and Christians, the Isaiah scrolls found in the Judean Desert are of great interest, in view of their contents and because the Great Isaiah Scroll (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>) is perhaps the best known of all the Dead Sea Scrolls. This, the only manuscript preserving a biblical book virtually in its entirety, was found wrapped in protective linen inside a pottery jar and is among the seven scrolls that were first discovered (and published soon afterward). The circumstances surrounding this scroll's discovery by the Bedouin in 1947, its transportation to the United States by the Metropolitan Samuel (head of the Syrian Orthodox Church), its clandestine purchase by the Israeli scholar Yigael Yadin, and its return to Israel in 1954 form a gripping tale.

The book of Isaiah was one of the three most popular books at Qumran, with twenty-one manuscripts recovered. The only books represented in greater number are the Psalms (with thirty-seven scrolls) and Deuteronomy (with thirty). At Qumran, two Isaiah scrolls were found in Cave 1, eighteen in Cave 4, and one in Cave 5; one additional manuscript was discovered further south at Wadi Murabba'at. While only 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> survives completely, a few other scrolls are quite substantial,<sup>a</sup> and together the fragmentary Isaiah scrolls preserve generous portions of the book. These manuscripts were copied over the course of nearly two centuries, ranging from about 125 bce (1QIsa<sup>a</sup>) to about 60 ce (4QIsa<sup>c</sup>).

Though large-scale variant editions are preserved for some other books (for example, Jeremiah and 1 Samuel), for Isaiah the scrolls and the other ancient witnesses preserve apparently only one edition of this book, with no consistent patterns of variants or rearrangements. Nevertheless, these scrolls (most notably 1QIsa<sup>a</sup>) contain hundreds of highly instructive variants from the traditional form of the Hebrew text—variants that teach us much about the late stages of the history of the book's composition and provide many improved readings. These variant readings fall into four categories.

First, some variant readings are major in that they involve one or more verses present in some texts but absent from others. A contrasting pair of examples can be seen in chapter 2. On the one hand, the second half of verse 9 and all of verse 10 are not in 1QIsa<sup>a</sup>; these were most likely a later addition to the text of Isaiah by some unknown scribe, though made early enough to be recorded in 4QIsa<sup>a</sup>, 4QIsa<sup>b</sup>, the Masoretic Text, and the Septuagint. On the other hand, verse 22 was not yet in the Hebrew text translated by the Septuagint but was inserted later into 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> and the traditional Masoretic Text. Numerous similar examples are scattered among the Isaiah scrolls and will be noted in the translation. The existence of such variants provides a privileged window—one that was unavailable before the scrolls—on the gradual growth process of the biblical text in general.

A second category of variant readings involves hundreds of differences—often insignificant for purposes of understanding or interpretation—in spelling, the forms of names, the use of the plural versus the singular, and changes in word order, to name a few. While these are quite minor variants, when taken together they provide rich evidence for the use of Hebrew, different spelling systems, and scribal conventions during the late Second Temple period.

A third category includes a wide spectrum of variants, usually a single word or two, ranging between the large-scale compositional variants described in the first category and the mostly insignificant alternative spellings in the second. One example is found at 1:15, which in 4QIsa<sup>f</sup> and the Masoretic Text concludes with “your hands are filled with blood,” while 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> completes the parallelism by adding “your fingers with iniquity.” Another example is at 2:20, where the idols of silver and of gold are described in the Masoretic Text as “which they have made for themselves to worship,” but in 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> as “which their fingers have made to worship.”

The final category involves errors made by the Qumran scribes or found in the text that they were copying.<sup>b</sup> These are often difficult to identify as real errors, since a reading that to some scholars is “incorrect” may represent for others an alternative reading or a different textual tradition. But even with all necessary caution, we sometimes find that certain scribes were careless or wrote down variants that are better explained in terms of errors than viable alternative textual forms. One example is found in Isaiah 16:8–9, where 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> reads:

8 For the fields of Heshbon and the vineyards of Sibmah languish. 9 I will water you with my tears, Heshbon and Elealeh, for the battle cry has fallen upon your summer fruits and upon your harvest.

The Masoretic Text, however, has a much longer passage (which is also found in the Septuagint, but with some variations):

8 For the fields of Heshbon and the vineyards of Sibmah languish. The leaders of the nations have broken down its choice branches, which reached as far as Jazer and extended into the wilderness; its shoots were spread and wide, even crossing the sea. 9 Therefore I will weep with the crying of Jazer for the vine of Sibmah. I will water you with my tears, Heshbon and Elealeh, for the battle cry has fallen upon your summer fruits and upon your harvest.

In this example, the eye of the scribe must have skipped from Sibmah (which follows languish in the Hebrew) in verse 8 to Sibmah in verse 9, resulting in the omission of the intervening text. But was this omission made by the scribe who copied 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> or by an earlier scribe whose text the Qumran scribe was now copying? Since there are several more such lengthy examples (as well as many smaller ones) in 1QIsa<sup>a</sup>, the most likely conclusion is that our scribe was somewhat careless and was responsible for many or most of the errors in this large scroll.

Because Isaiah is a lengthy book virtually preserved in its entirety in IQIsa<sup>a</sup>, and since there are so many Isaiah scrolls, for the translation of this book and accompanying variants a somewhat different approach has been taken here than with other books in The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible. The translation that follows is consistently from 1QIsa<sup>a</sup>, with the readings from the other scrolls shown in the footnotes. Some of the insignificant variants (usually involving spelling) are not noted. Moreover, in this translation the Septuagint is sometimes, but not always, collated for variant readings. The main reason for this is that Isaiah is mainly poetry,<sup>c</sup> and the Septuagint contains a rather free Greek translation of the unvocalized Hebrew poetry; it is thus often difficult to tell exactly which Hebrew form is being translated. However, most of the more significant Septuagint variants are recorded.

Isaiah was one of the most influential and most quoted books among the Dead Sea Scrolls, providing evidence of its influence on authors both of general Jewish works imported to Qumran and of works that were specifically composed by the Qumran covenanters. Five commentaries, or pesharim, on Isaiah were found in Cave 4 and another in Cave 3. Using a system of quoting a base text and commenting on it, these commentaries underscore the authoritative and scriptural status of the book of Isaiah at Qumran.

With its emphasis on prophecy and the end times, it is not surprising that the book of Isaiah was so popular at Qumran, just as it was among New Testament authors. In fact, the Qumran ascetics and all four Evangelists quoted Isaiah 40:3 for purposes of self-identity, in support of the respective missions of both the desert community and John the Baptist. The Hebrew form of the verse is quoted in the Community Rule:

. . . [T]hey shall separate from the session of perverse men to go to the wilderness, there to prepare the way of truth, as it is written:

In the wilderness prepare the way of the Lord, make straight in the desert a highway for our God.

(1QS 8:13–14)

The New Testament authors, however, quote this verse from the Septuagint, which had lost the exact sense of the parallelism:

This is the one of whom the prophet Isaiah spoke when he said:

The voice of one proclaiming in the wilderness:

“Prepare the way of the Lord, make straight his paths.”

(Matt 3:3; see Mark 1:3, Luke 3:4, John 1:23)

The Qumran covenanters show that they were fulfilling Isaiah’s prophecy by separating from the Jerusalem Jews and going out to the wilderness to prepare the way of the Lord through study of the Torah. In contrast, the Gospel passages see Isaiah 40:3 as describing John the Baptist in the wilderness calling his audience to prepare for the arrival of Jesus. In these two different, self-defining uses of the same scriptural passage, the Qumran covenanters view the Isaiah passage as fulfilled in themselves, while the Evangelists present it as about to be fulfilled in John’s witness to Jesus the Messiah.

11 The vision of Isaiah son of Amoz, which he saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Yehizqiyah,<sup>1</sup> kings of Judah. 2 Hear, heavens, and listen, earth; for the Lord has spoken. Children have I nourished and raise[d], but they have rebelled against me. 3 The ox knows its owner, and the ass its masters’ manger; Israel<sup>2</sup> does not know, and<sup>3</sup> my people does not un[dersta]nd. 4 Ah, sinful nation, people laden with iniquity, seed of evildoers, corrupt children! They have abandoned the Lo[rd], they have despised the Holy One of Israel. They are estranged, gone backward.

5 Why would you sti[ll] be beaten, that you continue to rebel? The whole head is sick, and the whole heart weak. 6 From sole of foot to head there is no healthy spot, but bruises and sores and bleeding wounds; they have not been pressed out nor bound up nor softened with oil. 7 Your country is desolate, your cities burned with fire; your land—right in front of you foreigners are devouring it. They have brought devastation upon it,<sup>4</sup> as overthrown by for[eign]ers. 8 And the daughter of Zion is left<sup>5</sup> like a hut in a vineyard and<sup>6</sup> like a shelter in a cucumber field, like a besieged city. 9 If the Lord of hosts had not left us a few survivors, we would have become like Sodom, we would have been like Gomorrah.

10 Hear the [word] of the Lord, rulers of Sodom, and<sup>7</sup> listen to the instruction of our God, people of Gomorrah! 11 What is the multitude of your sacrifices to me? says the Lord. I have had enough burnt offerings of rams and fat of fed beasts. I do not delight in the blood of bulls or lambs or goats. 12 That you enter to see my face<sup>8</sup>—who has required this of you, to<sup>9</sup> trample my courts? 13 Do not continue to<sup>10</sup> bring meaningless offerings! Incense is an abomination unto me. New moon and sabbath, the calling of assemblies—I cannot bear iniquity with her<sup>11</sup> solemnity. 14 Your new moons and your feasts I detest. They have become a burden to me that I am weary of carrying. 15 When you spread out your hands, I will turn my eyes away from you. Even multiply<sup>12</sup> prayers, I will not listen. Your hands are filled with blood, your fingers with iniquity.<sup>13</sup>

16 Wash and<sup>14</sup> make yourselves clean; and<sup>15</sup> remove the evil of your actions from my sight. Cease to do evil, 17 learn to do good. Seek justice, guide the injured, get justice for the orphan, defend the widow. 18 Come n[ow], and let us reason together, says the Lord. Though your sins be like scarlet,<sup>16</sup> they shall be as white as snow; though they be red<sup>17</sup> like crimson, they shall be like wool. 19 If you are willing and obey, you shall eat the good of the land. 20 But<sup>18</sup> if you refuse and rebel, you shall be devoured by<sup>19</sup> the sword; for the mouth of the Lord has spoken.

21 Alas, she has become a harlot, the faithful c[i]ty! She was filled with justice; righteousness dwelled [within her, but now] murderers. 22 Your silver has turned<sup>20</sup> to dross, your wine mixed with water. 23 Your rulers are r[ebels and friends of] thieves. They all love<sup>21</sup> bribes and chase<sup>22</sup> after rewards. They do not seek just[ice] for the orphan, [nor does the cause of] the widow reach them.

24 Therefore says the Lord, the Lord of hosts, [the Mighty One of Israel], Ah,<sup>23</sup> I will take vengeance on his<sup>24</sup> adversaries and avenge myself on his<sup>25</sup> enemies. 25 He<sup>26</sup> will turn my hand against you, and I will [refine . . .]<sup>27</sup> your dross and will take aw[ay] all your alloy. 26 I will restore your judges as at first [and your counselors] as at the beginning. Afterward they will call<sup>28</sup> you the City of Righteousness, Faithful Town. 27 Zion will be redeemed with justice, and her repentant ones<sup>29</sup> with righteousness. 28 But rebels and sinners will both be crushed, and those who abandon the Lord will perish. 29 For they will be ashamed of the terebinths that you desired, and you will blush for the gardens that you chose. 30 For you will be like a terebinth whose leaves are withering and like a garden that has no water.<sup>30</sup> 31 Your strong one<sup>31</sup> will become as tow, and your<sup>32</sup> work a spark; they will both burn together, with none to quench them.

21 The word that Isaiah<sup>33</sup> son of Amoz saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem. 2 It shall come to pass in the latter days that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be<sup>34</sup> established above mountains<sup>35</sup> and be<sup>36</sup> exalted above the hills, and all nations shall flow over<sup>37</sup> it. 3 Many peoples shall go and say, "Come, let us go up to<sup>38</sup> the house of the God of Jacob, so they<sup>39</sup> may teach us his ways, so we may walk in his paths." For out of Zion goes forth instruction, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. 4 He will judge between the nations and give judgment<sup>40</sup> for many peoples; they will beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning-hooks; and<sup>41</sup> nation will not lift up sword against nation, nor will they learn war anymore. 5 House of Jacob, come, let us walk in the light of the Lord. 6 Indeed you have abandoned your people, the house of Jacob, because they are filled (with practices) from the east<sup>42</sup> and are soothsayers like the Philistines; they shake hands with the children of foreigners. 7 Their land is full of silver and gold, and there is no limit to their treasures. Their land is full of horses, and there is no end to their chariots. 8 Their land is full of idols; they worship the work of their own hands, that which their own fingers have made. 9 But humanity will be humbled and a mortal brought low.<sup>43</sup>

■ The second half of verse 9 and all of verse 10 were a late addition to the text by a scribe. It was not yet in 1QIsa<sup>a</sup>, though it was early enough to be in 4QIsa<sup>a</sup>, 4QIsa<sup>b</sup>, the Masoretic Text, and the Hebrew text from which the Septuagint was translated. See also verse 22 below.

11 And<sup>44</sup> the haughty looks of humankind will be brought low,<sup>45</sup> and human pride will be abased;<sup>46</sup> the Lord alone will be exalted on that day. 12 Indeed the Lord of hosts will have his day: against all that is proud and haughty and lifted up,<sup>47</sup> and it will be brought low; 13 against all the cedars of Lebanon, tall and lofty, and against all the oaks of Bashan; 14 against all the [hig]h mountains and against all the lofty hills; 15 against every tall tower and against every fortified [wall]; 16 against all the Tarshish ships and against all the stately vessels. 17 The haughtiness of humanity will be humbled, and human pride will be brought low; the Lord alone will be exalted on that day. 18 The idols will totally vanish.<sup>48</sup> 19 People will go into caves in the rocks and into holes in the earth, before the [terror of the Lo]rd and before the glory of his majesty, when he rises to terrify the earth. 20 [On t]hat [day] humans will throw away to the moles and bats their idols of silver and their idols of gold, which their [fin]gers [have made]<sup>49</sup> to worship. 21 They will go into the crevices [in the rocks and into the cr]acks in the cliffs, before the terror of the Lord and before the glory of his majesty, when he rises to terrify the earth. 22 Have no more to do with mortals, who have but a breath in their nostrils, for what are they worth?<sup>50</sup>

■ Verse 22 was a late addition to the text. It was not yet in the Hebrew text from which the Septuagint was translated, though it was early enough to be in 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> and the Masoretic Text. See also 2:9b–10 above.

31 Indeed, the Lord, the Lord of hosts, is removing from Jerusalem and from Judah support and staff, the entire supply of food, and the entire supply of water; 2 soldier and warrior, judge and prophet, diviner and elder, 3 captain of fifty, and dignitary and counselor, expert artificer and skillful enchanter.

4 I will make young boys their rulers, and infants will govern them. 5 The people will be oppressed, everyone by another, and everyone by his neighbor. The young will be disrespectful of the old, and the base of the honorable.

6 One person will take hold of another in his own house and say, “You have clothing; be our ruler, and let this ruin be under your command.” 7 But<sup>51</sup> in that day he will lift up his voice, saying, “I will not be a healer. In my house there is neither food nor clothing.<sup>52</sup> You will not make me ruler of the people.”

8 For Jerusalem is ruined, and Judah is fallen;<sup>53</sup> because their speech and their actions are against<sup>54</sup> the Lord, provoking his glorious eyes. 9 The expressions<sup>55</sup> on their faces bear witness against them. They announce their sin like Sodom, and<sup>56</sup> they do not hide it. Woe to them! For they have worked evil on themselves. 10 Say to<sup>57</sup> the righteous that it will be well. For they will eat the fruit of their actions. 11 Woe to the wicked! It will be ill. For the recompense of his hand<sup>58</sup> will be repaid<sup>59</sup> to him.

12 As for my people, children are their oppressors, and women rule over them. My people, your leaders mislead and confuse the courses<sup>60</sup> of your paths. 13 The Lord rises to argue a case, stands up to judge the peoples. 14 The Lord will enter into judgment against the elders of his<sup>61</sup> people and his princes: You have consumed the vineyard. The spoil of the poor is in your houses. 15 What do you mean by crushing my people and grinding the face of the poor? says my Lord, the Lord of hosts.<sup>62</sup> away the beauty of their anklets and headbands, crescents, 19 and<sup>67</sup> pendants, and bracelets, veils 20 and<sup>68</sup> turbans, armllets and sashes,<sup>69</sup> perfume boxes, amulets, 21 and<sup>70</sup> signet rings and nose rings, 22 and<sup>71</sup> festal robes, mantles,<sup>72</sup> purses, 23 mirrors, fine linen, headdresses and veils. 24 Then, instead of perfume<sup>73</sup> there will be<sup>74</sup> stench; instead of a sash, a rope; instead of well set hair, baldness; instead of a fine robe, sackcloth; instead of beauty, shame.<sup>75</sup> 25 Your men will fall by the sword and your forces<sup>76</sup> in battle. 26 Her gates will lament and mourn, and she will be cleaned out and sit upon the ground.

2 On that day the branch of the Lord will be beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the land will be the pride and boast of the escaped remnant of Israel and Judah.<sup>79</sup> 3 Then, whoever is left in Zion and whoever remains in Jerusalem will be called holy, everyone in Jerusalem inscribed for life, 4 when my Lord has washed away the filth of the daughters of Zion and cleansed the blood of Jerusalem from within it by the spirit of judgment and by the spirit of storm.<sup>80</sup> 5 The Lord will create<sup>81</sup> over the whole site of Mount Zion and over its assembly a cloud by day 6 from the heat,<sup>82</sup> and a refuge and hiding place from storm and rain.

51 I will sing<sup>83</sup> for my beloved my love-song about his vineyard. My beloved had a vineyard on a very fertile hill. 2 He dug it out, cleared it of stones, and planted it with choice vines. He built a watchtower within it and also hewed out a winepress in it. Then he waited for it to produce grapes, but it produced wild grapes. 3 Now, inhabitants<sup>84</sup> of Jerusalem and people of Judah, judge<sup>85</sup> between me and my vineyard. 4 What more could have been done in<sup>86</sup> my vineyard than what I have done for it? Why, when I expected it to produce grapes, did it raise<sup>87</sup> wild grapes? 5 Now<sup>88</sup> I will tell<sup>89</sup> you what I intend to do to my vineyard. I will take away<sup>90</sup> its hedge, and it will be<sup>91</sup> devoured.<sup>92</sup> I will break down its wall, and it will be<sup>93</sup> trampled down. 6 I will make it a waste. It will not be pruned or hoed, and briars and thorns will spring up. I will command the clouds to drop no rain upon it.

7 Now, the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, and the people of Judah are his delightful<sup>94</sup> plant. He expected justice, but there was bloodshed;<sup>95</sup> righteousness, but there was an outcry. 8 Woe to those who join house to<sup>96</sup> house, who add field to field, till there is no more room, and you place yourselves alone<sup>97</sup> in the midst of the land! 9 In my hearing, the Lord of hosts declared, Surely many houses will be desolate, large and beautiful houses without inhabitant. 10 For ten acres of vineyard will yield only one<sup>98</sup> bath, and a [homer of] see[d will yie]ld only an ephah. 11 W[oe to those who rise early in the] morning to pursue strong drink, holding on<sup>99</sup> in the darkness while wine inflames them. 12 They have banquets with [lyre and harp, timbrel and flu]te, [and] wine, but they pay no attention<sup>100</sup> to the deeds<sup>101</sup> of the Lord, nor [do they consider] the work of [his hands].

13 [Therefore] my people are [exil]ed without knowledge. My<sup>102</sup> nobles die of hunger, and their multitude is [parched with thirst. 14 Therefore] Sheol has increased its appetite and opened its mouth without limit. Splendor and multitude, the uproarious and jubil[ant] descend into it. 15 People<sup>103</sup> are bowed down, humans are humbled, the eyes of the haughty are lowered. 16 But the Lord of hosts is lifted up<sup>104</sup> in justice; the holy God proves himself holy in righteousness. 17 Then the lambs will feed as in their pasture, and the fatlings and the aliens will eat among the waste places.

18 Woe to those who pull iniquity with ropes of falsehood, sin with a cart rope, 19 who say, “Let him hurry, let him expedite<sup>105</sup> his work, so that we can see it. Let the plan of the Holy One of Israel happen,<sup>106</sup> so that we can recognize<sup>107</sup> it.” 20 Woe to those who call evil good and good evil, who put darkness for light and light for darkness, who put bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter! 21 Woe to those who are wise in their own eyes and discerning in their own sight! 22 Woe to those who are mighty at drinking wine and powerful at mixing strong drinks, 23 who acquit the guilty for a bribe and remove the innocent status of the righteous from him!

24 Therefore as the tongue of fire devours the stubble and as fire<sup>108</sup> sinks down in the flames,<sup>109</sup> just so their root will become rotten and their blossom will go up like dust, because they have rejected the law of the Lord of hosts and despised the word of the Holy One of Israel. 25 Therefore<sup>110</sup> the anger of the Lord<sup>111</sup> was kindled against his people, and he stretched out his hands<sup>112</sup> against them and afflicted them. The mountains tremble, and their corpses are like refuse in the middle of the streets. For all this his anger has not turned away, his hands are<sup>113</sup> stretched out still.

26 He will send up a signal to the nations far away and will whistle for them from the end of the earth. And, indeed, they come speedily and swiftly. 27 No one<sup>114</sup> is weary<sup>115</sup> or stumbles. And<sup>116</sup> no one slumbers or sleeps. The belts around their waists will not come undone,<sup>117</sup> nor will their sandal-thongs break. 28 Their arrows are sharpened and all their bows bent. Their horses’ hooves are like flint and their chariots like a whirlwind. 29 With a roar like a lion, they roar. And like young lions, they growl,<sup>118</sup> lay hold of the prey, and carry it off, and there is no one to rescue it. 30 They will roar<sup>119</sup> over it on that day like the roaring of the sea. If one looks<sup>120</sup> to the land, there is darkness and distress. The light grows dark in the clouds.

6 Then one of the seraphs flew to me, holding a live coal in his hand, which he had taken fr[o]m the [altar] with tongs. 7 He [touched my mouth and] said, “Now this has touched your<sup>130</sup> lips; your iniquity is removed, and your sins<sup>131</sup> forgiven.” 8 And I heard the voice of my Lord saying, “Whom will I send, and who will go for us?” Then I said, “Here am I; send me.”

9 So he said, “Go, and say to this people: Hear indeed, but do not<sup>132</sup> understand; see<sup>133</sup> indeed, but do not<sup>134</sup> comprehend. 10 Make the heart of this people fat,<sup>135</sup> dull their ears, and blind their eyes; so they do not see with their eyes, or hear<sup>136</sup> with their ears, with<sup>137</sup> their heart understand, or turn back and be healed.”

11 Then I said, “How long, Lord?”<sup>138</sup> And he answered, “Until cities lie waste, without inhabitant, and houses without occupant, and the land becomes utterly desolate, 12 and the Lord banishes the inhabitants, and desolate places<sup>139</sup> are multiplied in the midst of the land. 13 Even if a tenth remain in it, it too will in turn be burnt, like a terebinth or oak, the stump of which, felled,<sup>140</sup> remains.” The<sup>141</sup> holy seed is its stump.

71 In the days of Ahaz son of Jotham, son of Uzziah, king of Judah, Rezin king of Aram and Pekah son of Remaliah, king of Israel, went up to attack Jerusalem, but they were unsuccessful.<sup>142</sup> 2 When it was reported to the house of David that Aram had allied itself with Ephraim, the heart of his people<sup>143</sup> trembled, as the trees of the<sup>144</sup> forest tremble in the<sup>145</sup> wind.

3 Then the Lord said to Isaiah, Go meet Ahaz, you and Shear-jashub your son, at the end of the conduit of the upper pool, on the highway to the fuller’s field.

4 Say to him, “Take care, be calm, and<sup>146</sup> do not be afraid. Do not lose heart over these two smoldering stumps of torches, because of<sup>147</sup> the fierce anger of Rezin and Aram and the son of Remaliah, 5 because Aram, Ephraim, and the son of Remaliah have plotted against you, saying, 6 ‘Let us go up against Judah and terrify it. Let us conquer it for ourselves and install the son of Tabeel as king in it.’ 7 Thus says my Lord, the Lord: It will not stand. It will not happen. 8 For the head of Aram is Damascus,<sup>148</sup> and the head of Damascus is Rezin—within sixty-[fiv]e years Ephraim will be shattered, no longer a people— 9 the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of [Samaria is] Remaliah’s [son]; if you will not believe, surely you will not be established.”

10 [The Lord again] spoke to Ahaz, 11 “Ask for a sign from the Lord your God, [one as deep as Shjeol or as high as heaven above.” 12 But Ahaz said, “I will not ask. [I will] not [test] the Lord.” 13 So he answered, “Listen, house of David! Is it not enough that you [weary] people; must you weary my God also? 14 Therefore the Lord<sup>149</sup> himself<sup>150</sup> will give y[ou a sign. Loo]k, the young woman has conceived and is bearing a son, and his name will be<sup>151</sup> Immanuel. 15 He will eat cur[ds and honey] by the time he knows to refuse evil and choose good. 16 For before the child knows to refuse evil and choose good, the land whose two kings you dread will be deserted. 17 And<sup>152</sup> the Lord will bring on you, your people, and your father’s house days that have not come since the day that Ephraim separated from Judah—the king of Assyria.”

18 On that day, the Lord will whistle for the fly that is at the end of the rivers of Egypt and for the bee that is in the land of Assyria. 19 They will all come and settle in the steep ravines and in the clefts of the rocks and on all thorn bushes and in all pastures. 20 On that day the Lord will shave with a razor hired from the region beyond the River—with the king of Assyria—the head and the hair of the feet, and it will cut off the beard as well. 21 On that day, a man will keep alive a young heifer and two sheep. 22 And from the abundance of milk which they produce he will eat curds. Indeed, the one<sup>153</sup> left within the land will eat curds and honey. 23 On that day, every place where there once were a thousand vines worth a thousand shekels of silver will be<sup>154</sup> grown over with briers and thorn bushes. 24 With bows<sup>155</sup> and arrows, people will go out, because the entire land will be briers and thorns. 25 As for all the hills that used to be cultivated with a hoe, you will not go near for fear of iron<sup>156</sup> briers and thorns, but they will be<sup>157</sup> rangeland for cattle and sheep to trample.

81 The Lord said to me, Take a large tablet and write on it in ordinary script, “For Maher-shalal-hash-baz,” 2 and call<sup>158</sup> faithful witnesses, Uriah the priest and Zechariah son of Jeberechiah, to testify for me.

3 I went in to the prophet,<sup>159</sup> and she conceived and bore a son. Then the Lord said to me,<sup>160</sup> Name him Maher-shalal-hash-baz. 4 For before the child can call<sup>161</sup> his father or his mother,<sup>162</sup> the wealth of Damascus<sup>163</sup> and the spoil of Samaria will be carried off by the king of Assyria.

5 The Lord spoke to me yet again, saying, 6 Because this people has refused the waters of Shiloah that flow gently and rejoice in Rezin and [Remaliah's] son 7 now then, the Lord God<sup>164</sup> will indeed bring up against them the waters of the River, [strong and many<sup>165</sup>—the kin]g of Assyria and all his glory—and it will rise [above all its channels and overflow all] its banks. 8 It will sweep into Judah; it will overflow and pass through. It will reach up to the neck, and its outstretched wings will fill the breadth of your land. Immanuel!<sup>166</sup>

9 Band together, nations, but be shattered. Listen, all distant countries, gird yourselves but be shattered.<sup>167</sup> 10 Take counsel together, but it will be brought to nothing. Speak a word, but it will not stand. For Immanuel!<sup>168</sup> 11 For the Lord spoke to me with great power,<sup>169</sup> instructed<sup>170</sup> me not to walk in the way of this people, saying, 12 Do not call a conspiracy everything that this people calls a conspiracy. Do revere or be in awe of what they revere. 13 The Lord of hosts—consider him holy, revere him, be in awe of him. 14 He will be<sup>171</sup> a sanctuary but also a stone of stumbling and a rock of offense to both the houses of Israel, a trap and a snare to the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 15 Many among them will stumble and fall, be broken, snared, and captured.

16 Bind up the testimony, and<sup>172</sup> seal the instruction among my disciples. 17 I will wait for the Lord, who is hiding his face from the house of Jacob, and I will hope for him. 18 Here I am, with the children the Lord has given me as a sign and a wonder<sup>173</sup> in Israel from the Lord of hosts, who dwells in Mount Zion.

19 When they say to you, “Consult the ghosts and familiar spirits which chirp and mutter. Should not a people consult their god,<sup>174</sup> or the dead for the sake of the<sup>175</sup> living, 20 for instruction and testimony?”—surely there will be no dawn for one who speaks like this. 21 They will go through it, while<sup>176</sup> severely distressed and hungry. When he is hungry, he will become angry<sup>177</sup> and curse by his king and by his god,<sup>178</sup> and look up. 22 Then he will look to the<sup>179</sup> land, and there will be distress and darkness, the gloom of anguish. Then they will be driven into darkness.

91 For one who was in anguish there will be no gloom.<sup>180</sup> In the former time he treated the land of Zebulun and the<sup>181</sup> land of Naphtali with contempt, but in the latter time he will make it glorious, by the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan, Galilee of the nations.

2 The people who walked in darkness have seen a great light. On those who lived in the land of deep shadows, light has shined. 3 You have expanded the nation, you have increased its joy. They rejoice in your presence, as with the joy at harvest, as people cheer when they divide spoil. 4 For the yoke of their burden and the pole on their shoulder, the rod of their oppressors, and<sup>182</sup> you have broken,<sup>183</sup> as in the day of Midiam.<sup>184</sup> 5 For every boot tramping in the tumult and the garments rolled in blood will be burned as fuel for fire.

6 For a child is born to us, a son is given to us. The government will be on his shoulders. He is called<sup>185</sup> Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, the<sup>186</sup> Prince of Peace. 7 His government will expand, and peace will be endless for the throne of David and his kingdom, to establish it<sup>187</sup> and to sustain it<sup>188</sup> with justice and righteousness from now on and forevermore. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will do this.

8 The Lord<sup>189</sup> sent a word against Jacob, and it fell upon Israel. 9 All the people were evil<sup>190</sup>—Ephraim and the inhabitants of Samaria, who said in arrogance and pride of heart, 10 “The bricks have fallen, but we will build with hewn stone. The sycamores have been cut down, but we will substitute cedars.” 11 The L[ord] raised the adversaries of Rezin against him and spurred his enemies on— 12 Aram from the east and the Philis[tines from the w]est—and they devoured Israel with an open mouth. And<sup>191</sup> for all this,<sup>192</sup> his anger is not turned away, his hands<sup>193</sup> are stretched out still.

13 The people did not turn to<sup>194</sup> him who afflicted them, nor did they seek the Lord of hosts. 14 So the Lord will cut off from Israel head and tail, palm branch and reed, in<sup>195</sup> one day. 15 The elder and dignitary is the head, and the prophet who teaches lies is the tail. 16 Those who guide this people mislead, and those who are guided by them are confused. 17 For that reason my Lord does not spare<sup>196</sup> their young men or have compassion on their orphans and widows. For everyone is godless and an evildoer, and every mouth speaks profanity. For all this, his anger is not turned away, his hands<sup>197</sup> are stretched out still.

18 For evil consumed like a fire. It devoured the briars and thorns. It kindled in the thickets of the forest, and they rolled upward in a column of smoke. 19 From<sup>198</sup> the wrath of the Lord of hosts the<sup>199</sup> land was burned up,<sup>200</sup> and the people were<sup>201</sup> like the fuel for a fire—no one spared his neighbor. 20 On the right hand, they snatched but remained hungry. On<sup>202</sup> the left, they ate but were not satisfied. Everyone ate<sup>203</sup> the flesh of his own arm. 21 Manasseh devoured<sup>204</sup> Ephraim, and Ephraim Manasseh, and together they went against Judah. And<sup>205</sup> for all this, his anger is not turned away, his hands<sup>206</sup> are stretched out still.

5 Woe to Assyria, the rod of my anger! The staff in their hands is my punishing wrath. 6 Against an ungodly nation I will send him, and against the people of my fury I will command him to take spoil and to seize booty and to trample them down<sup>211</sup> like the mire of the streets. 7 This is not what he intends nor is he aware of this; rather he intends to destroy and to cut off many nations. 8 For he says, “Are not my commanders all kings? 9 Was not Calno just like Carchemish? Was not [Ha]math just like Arpad? Was not Samaria just like Damascus?<sup>212</sup> 10 Because my power has found the kingdoms of the worthless gods,<sup>213</sup> whose images were greater than those of Jerusalem and of Samaria, 11 will I not do to Jerusalem and her idols as I have done to Samaria and her worthless gods?”

12 For<sup>214</sup> my Lord has finished all his work on Mount Zion and on Jerusalem; I will punish the product of the arrogant heart of the king of Assyria and his haughty boasting. 13 For he says,<sup>215</sup> “I have done this with my own strength and understanding—[fo]r I am intelligent. I have moved the boundaries of nations and pl[u]ndered their treasuries. [Like a bull,] I have brought down those [who sit on thrones]. 14 My hand has found the wealth of the peoples like a nest. Just as they gather [abandoned] eggs, I myself have gathered [the entire wor]ld, and none moved a wing or opened a mouth to chirp.” 15 Does the ax vaunt itself over the one who chops with it, or the saw think itself better than the one who uses<sup>216</sup> it? As if a rod raised the<sup>217</sup> person who lifted it, or a staff lifted one that is not wood!

16 Therefore my Lord, the Lord of hosts, will send leanness to those who are fat, and under their weight will kindle a flame, burning like fire. 17 The light of Israel will become a fire and his holy one a flame, and it will burn and consume its thorns and thistles in a single day. 18 He will destroy the bounty of its forest and farm land, both soul and body, and it will be like a sick person wasting away. 19 So few trees will remain of its forest that a child could record them.

20 From that day, what remains of Israel and those of the house of Jacob who have escaped will never again rely on the one who beat them, but will sincerely rely on<sup>218</sup> the Lord, the Holy One of Israel. 21 Only a remnant will return, a remnant of Jacob, to the mighty God. 22 For though your people, Israel, were like the sand of the sea, only a remnant of them will return. Destruction is decreed, overwhelming victory. 23 For my Lord, the Lord of hosts will execute the decreed annihilation, throughout the land.

24 Therefore thus says my Lord, the Lord of hosts: My people living in Zion, do not be afraid of the Assyrian, of the rod that strikes you<sup>219</sup> or the staff lifted up against you, in the fashion of Egypt. 25 For very soon, my indignation will cease. Then my anger will be directed to his destruction. 26 The Lord of hosts will brandish<sup>220</sup> a whip against it, as in the slaughter of Midian at the rock of Horeb. His rod will be against the sea, and he will lift it up, as he did against Egypt. 27 On that<sup>221</sup> day, his burden will be removed from your shoulder and his [y]oke from your neck, and the yoke will be broken because of fatness.

28 He has come on<sup>222</sup> Aiath. He has passed through Migron. At Michmash he stored<sup>223</sup> his baggage. 29 He has crossed<sup>224</sup> by<sup>225</sup> the pass. He has lodged at Geba. Ramah trembles. Gibeah of Saul has fled. 30 Cry aloud, daughter of Gallim! Listen, Laish! Answer her, Anathoth! 31 Marmenah<sup>226</sup> retreated. The inhabitants of Gebim fled for safety. 32 This very day he will halt at Nob. He will shake<sup>227</sup> his fists<sup>228</sup> at the mount of the daughter<sup>229</sup> of Zion, the hill of Jerusalem. 33 See, the Lord, the Lord of hosts, will lop off treetops with terror, and the tall trees will be hewn down, and the lofty will be brought low. 34 He will cut down the thick[et]s of the forest with an ax, and Lebanon in its majesty will fall.

111 A shoot will come forth from the stump of Jesse, and a branch from his roots will bear fruit. 2 The spirit of the Lord will rest upon him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and mig[h]t, the spirit of knowledge and the fear of the Lord. 3 His delight will be in the fear of the Lord. He will not judge by appearances, nor decide by what he hears, 4 but with righteousness he will obtain justice for the poor and decide with equity for the meek of the<sup>230</sup> land. He will strike the<sup>231</sup> land with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips the wicked will be killed.<sup>232</sup> 5 Righteousness will be the belt around his waist and faithfulness<sup>233</sup> the belt around his loins.

6 The wolf will live with the lamb, and the leopard will lie down<sup>234</sup> with the kid, and the calf and the young lion will graze<sup>235</sup> together, and a little child will herd them. 7 The cow and the bear will graze together, and their young will lie down,<sup>236</sup> and the lion will eat straw like the ox. 8 A baby will play<sup>237</sup> on the viper's hole, and the toddler will put his hand on the dens<sup>238</sup> of adders.<sup>239</sup> 9 They will not hurt or destroy on my<sup>240</sup> holy mountain. For the earth will be full<sup>241</sup> of the knowledge of the Lord,<sup>242</sup> as the waters cover the sea.

10 On that day, the root of Jesse, which stands as a signal for the peoples—the nations will seek him, and his dwelling will be<sup>243</sup> honored. 11 On that day, my Lord will extend his hand a second time to recover the remnant of his people that are left, from Assyria, Egypt, Pathros, Nubia, Elam, Shinar, Hamath, and the coastlands. 12 He will raise a signal for the nations and assemble the banished of Israel and gather the dispersed of Judah from the corners<sup>244</sup> of the earth. 13 Ephraim's envy will cease, and Judah's hostility will end. Ephraim will not envy Judah, and Judah will not be hostile toward Ephraim. 14 They will swoop down<sup>245</sup> on the back of the Philistines in the west together, and<sup>246</sup> they will plunder the peoples of the east, extending their hand against Edom and Moab. And the Ammonites will obey them. 15 The Lord will utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptian sea, and with a<sup>247</sup> scorching wind he will wave his hands<sup>248</sup> over the River and split it into seven streams, so that people can march over in sandals. 16 There will be a highway for the remnant of his people who remain from Assyria, just as there was for Israel on the day that it came up out of the land of Egypt.

121 On that day you will say, I [give thanks] to you, Lord. You had been angry with me, but<sup>249</sup> your anger turned<sup>250</sup> and you comforted me. 2 God, God<sup>251</sup> is truly my salvation. I will trust and not be afraid, because the Lord is my strength and song; he<sup>252</sup> has become my salvation. 3 With joy you will draw water from the wells of salvation.

4 On that day you<sup>253</sup> will say, I give thanks<sup>254</sup> to the Lord, call on his name, declare his deeds among the peoples, celebrate that his name is exalted. 5 Sing to<sup>255</sup> the Lord, because he has done excellent things. This should be known<sup>256</sup> through all the earth. 6 Shout and cheer, inhabitant of Zion, because great in your presence is the Holy One of Israel.

131 The oracle of Babylon which Isaiah the son of Amoz saw. 2 Raise a signal on a windswept mountain, shout to them, wave your hand, for him to enter<sup>257</sup> the gates of the nobles. 3 I have commanded my holy ones; I have called my warriors to carry out my wrath, my proudly [b]oasting ones. 4 The roar of a mob on the mountains, like a large army! The noise of kingdoms, nations gathering together! The Lord of hosts is mustering an army for battle, 5 coming from a far country, from the end of the heavens, the Lord and the instruments of his wrath, to destroy the whole earth. 6 Wail, because the day of the Lord is near, like destruction from the Almighty it comes. 7 Therefore all hands<sup>258</sup> will be weak, and all human courage will fail. 8 They will be terrified. Seized by pangs and throes, they will writhe like a woman in childbirth. They will look at one another in astonishment, and<sup>259</sup> their faces will be afire.

9 Indeed, the day of the Lord is coming, cruel,<sup>260</sup> with wrath and fierce anger, to make earth<sup>261</sup> desolate and to destroy sinners<sup>262</sup> from it. 10 Indeed the stars of the heavens and their constellations will not shine<sup>263</sup> their light—when it rises, the sun will be dark, and the moon will not glow. 11 I will punish the world for its evil, and the wicked for their sins. I will end the pride of the insolent and lay low the haughtiness of the tyrants. 12 I will make people scarcer than fine gold, mortals than the pure gold of Ophir. 13 Therefore I will shake the heavens, and the earth will be dislodged<sup>264</sup> by the wrath of the Lord of hosts, on the day of his rage. 14 Like a hunted gazelle and like unherded sheep, all will<sup>265</sup> seek their own people and flee to their own land. 15 Everyone who is found will be [thrust throu]gh, and everyone who is captured will fall by the sword. 16 Their infants will be dashed to pieces before their eyes, and<sup>266</sup> their houses will be plundered, and their wives [tak]en.<sup>267</sup> 17 Indeed, I am stirring up the Medes against them, people [w]ho have no regard<sup>268</sup> for silver and no pleasure in gold. 18 Their bows will destroy the youth, and on infants they will have no pity,<sup>269</sup> and<sup>270</sup> their eyes will have no compassion on children. 19 Babylon, the glory of kingdoms, the beauty and pride of the Chaldeans, will be like Sodom and Gomorrah when God over[thr]ew them. 20 It will never again be inhabited; it will not be lived in from generation to generation. Arabs will not pitch tents there; shepherds will not make their flocks lie down there. 21 Rather wild creatures will lie down there, and their houses will be full of jackals. Ostriches will live there, and wild goats will dance there. 22 Wolves will howl in their towers and jackals in their luxurious palaces.<sup>271</sup> Its<sup>272</sup> time is drawing near, and its days will not be drawn out any further.<sup>273</sup>

14<sup>1</sup> For the Lord will have compassion on Jacob, and will yet choose Israel, and set them in their own land; and the sojourner will join himself with them, and they will cleave to the house of Jacob. 2 And many<sup>274</sup> peoples will take them and bring them to their land and their place,<sup>275</sup> and the house of Israel will possess them in the land of the Lord as servants and as handmaids. They will take captive those whose captives they were, and will be rulers<sup>276</sup> over their oppressors.

■ The last section of Isaiah 14:4 begins with “How the oppressor has ceased!” but then goes on to make little sense in the traditional Masoretic Text: “How the golden city has ceased!” The reading in 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> is “How

(his) assault has ceased!” which makes far better sense and is partially supported by the Septuagint, which has “(How his) attacker has ceased!”

3 And then, on the day the Lord will give you rest from your sorrow, from your trouble, and from the hard service with which they made you serve,<sup>277</sup> 4 you will take up this parable against the king of Babylon, saying: How the oppressor has ceased! How (his) assault<sup>278</sup> has ceased! 5 The Lord has broken the staff of the wicked, the scepter of the rulers 6 who smote the peoples in anger with unending blows, who ruled the nations in anger, with a persecution that no one could restrain. 7 The whole earth is at rest and is quiet; they break forth into singing. 8 Indeed, the fir trees rejoice at you, and the cedars of Lebanon,<sup>279</sup> saying, “Since you have been laid low, and<sup>280</sup> no hewer has come up against us.”<sup>281</sup> 9 Sheol from below is excited over you to meet you at your arrival. It stirs up<sup>282</sup> the dead for you, even all the chief ones of the earth; it has raised up<sup>283</sup> all the kings of the nations from their thrones. 10 They will all<sup>284</sup> answer and say to you, “Have you also become as weak as we are? Have you become like us?” 11 Your pomp and the noise<sup>285</sup> of your harps have been brought down to Sheol; the worm has spread under you, and your covering is a worm.<sup>286</sup>

12 How you are fallen from the heaven,<sup>287</sup> O day-star, son of the morning! How you have been cut down to the ground—you who laid low the nation!<sup>288</sup> 13 You said in your heart, “I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God; I will sit<sup>289</sup> upon the mount of gathering in the furthest parts of the north. 14 I will ascend above the heights of the clouds, I will make myself like the Most High.” 15 Yet you will be brought down to Sheol, to the uttermost parts of the Pit. 16 They who see you will gaze at you; they will think about you, saying, “Is this the man, the one who<sup>290</sup> made the earth tremble, the one who<sup>291</sup> shook kingdoms, 17 who made the world like a wilderness (and) overthrew its cities,<sup>292</sup> who did not release his prisoners to their homes?” 18 All the kings of the nations<sup>293</sup> sleep in glory, each in his own house. 19 But you have been cast away from your grace like a reprehensible branch, clothed with the slain who have been pierced through with the sword, who go down to the Pit,<sup>294</sup> just like a dead body trodden underfoot. 20 You will not be under<sup>295</sup> with them in burial, because you have destroyed your land and have slain your people; the seed of evildoers will never be remembered<sup>296</sup> again. 21 Prepare slaughter for his children because of their ancestors’ iniquity, so that they will not rise up and possess the earth, and cover the surface of the world with cities.

22 I will rise up against them, says the Lord of hosts, and cut off from Babylon name and remnant, and offspring (and) posterity,<sup>297</sup> says the Lord. 23 I will also make (it)<sup>298</sup> a possession for the hedgehog,<sup>299</sup> pools<sup>300</sup> of water; and I will sweep (it)<sup>301</sup> with the broom of destruction, says the Lord of hosts. 24 The Lord of hosts has sworn: Surely as I have thought, so will she be;<sup>302</sup> and as I have purposed, so it will stand. 25 I will defeat the Assyrian in my land, and tread him underfoot on my mountains. Then his yoke will depart from you,<sup>303</sup> and his burden from your shoulder.<sup>304</sup> 26 This is the plan that has been imposed on the whole earth, and this is the hand that is stretched out upon all the nations. 27 For the Lord of hosts has planned this, so who will cancel it? His hands are stretched out, so who will turn it back?

28 This oracle happened in the year that king Ahaz died. 29 Do not rejoice, all you Philistines, that the rod which struck you has been broken; for an adder will come forth from the serpent's, and its issue will be a fiery flying serpent. 30 The firstborn of the poor will feed, and the needy will lie down in safety; and I will kill your root with famine, and I will slay<sup>305</sup> your remnant. 31 Wail, O gate; cry, O city. You have melted away, all you Philistines; for smoke is coming out of the north, and there is none who metes out payment<sup>306</sup> among its kinsmen.<sup>307</sup>

32 What then will they<sup>308</sup> say to the kings<sup>309</sup> of the nation? That the Lord has founded Zion, and in it<sup>310</sup> the afflicted of his people take refuge.

151 The oracle concerning Moab: Yes, in a night Ar of Moab has been laid waste and brought to nothing; yes, in a night the city<sup>311</sup> of Moab has been laid waste and brought to nothing.<sup>312</sup> 2 They have gone up to Bayith and Dibon, to the high places to weep; Moab wails over Nebo, and over Medeba. There is baldness on all its head,<sup>313</sup> and<sup>314</sup> every beard is cut off. 3 In its<sup>315</sup> streets they dress themselves with sackcloth; on its housetops and in its open squares everyone is wailing and melting<sup>316</sup> into tears. 4 Heshbon and Elealeh are crying out, their voice is heard as far as Jahaz; this is why the armed men of Moab cry aloud, each man's soul trembles<sup>317</sup> within him.

5 My heart cries out for Moab; her nobles are fleeing to Zoar, to Eglath-shelishiyah. For they go up with weeping by the ascent of Luhith; for they raise up a cry of destruction in the road of Horonaim. 6 For the waters of Nimrim will be deserted; the grass has withered away, the tender grass is gone, and nothing green remains. 7 Therefore they will carry away over the Brook of the Arabs<sup>318</sup> the wealth they have amassed and what they have accumulated. 8 For the cry has traveled around the borders of Moab, whose wail has reached Eglaim, whose wail has reached Beer-elim. 9 For the waters of Dibon are full of blood; indeed, I will bring still more upon Dibon,<sup>319</sup> like a lion upon the Moabites who escape, upon<sup>320</sup> those who remain in the land.

For the extortioner has been brought to nothing, destruction ceases, the oppressor is eliminated<sup>322</sup> from the land. <sup>5</sup> Then a throne will be established in mercy, and one will sit upon it in truth, in the tent of David, judging, seeking justice, and being quick to do what is right.

■ In verses 8–9, after “languish” and before “I will water you,” the Masoretic Text has “The leaders of the nations have broken down its choice branches, which reached as far as Jazer and extended into the wilderness; its shoots were spread and wide, even crossing the sea. 9 Therefore I will weep with the crying of Jazer for the vine of Sibmah.” The eye of the scribe of 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> must have skipped from Sibmah (which follows languish in the Hebrew) in verse 8 to Sibmah in verse 9, resulting in the omission of the intervening text. Examples such as this lead to the conclusion that this scribe was somewhat careless (see the earlier introduction to Isaiah). The longer text is also found in the Septuagint, but with some variations.

<sup>6</sup> We have heard of the pride of Moab, how he became very proud;<sup>323</sup> (we have heard) of his arrogance, his pride, and his anger—indeed, of his boastings.<sup>324</sup> <sup>7</sup> Therefore let not Moab wail,<sup>325</sup> (but) let everyone wail for Moab! You will mourn for the raisin-cakes of Kir-hareseth, being utterly devastated. <sup>8</sup> For the fields of Heshbon and the vineyards of Sibmah languish.<sup>326</sup> <sup>9</sup> I will water you with my tears, Heshbon and Elealeh, for the battle cry has fallen upon your summer fruits and upon your harvest. <sup>10</sup> Gladness has been taken away, as well as joy from the fruitful field; in the vineyards people will sing no songs<sup>327</sup> and<sup>328</sup> there will be no joyful noise. No treader will tread out wine in the presses; I have made the vintage cry out to end. <sup>11</sup> Therefore my heart sounds like a harp for Moab, and my innermost being for Kir-heres.

<sup>13</sup> This is the word that the Lord spoke concerning Moab in times past. <sup>14</sup> But now the Lord has spoken again: Within three years, just like the years of a hired laborer, Moab's glory will be disgraced together with all its great multitude; and the remnant will be very small and<sup>331</sup> of no account.

171 The oracle concerning Dramascus: See, Dramascus<sup>332</sup> is eliminated from being a city but will be a heap of ruins. 2 The cities of Oraru<sup>333</sup> are deserted; they will be places for flocks, which will lie down with no one to make them afraid. 3 Fortresses will come to an end in Ephraim, and the kingdom in Dramascus.<sup>334</sup> As for the remnant of Syria, it will be<sup>335</sup> like the glory of the children of Israel, says the Lord of hosts.

4 On that day the glory of Jacob will be diminished, and the health of his body will be reduced. 5 It will be like when harvesters gather standing grain, and their arms reap the ears of corn; indeed, it will be like when people glean corn in the valley of Rephaim. 6 Yet gleanings will be left in them, just like the shaking of an olive tree, with two or three berries on the top of the highest bough and four or five on the branches of<sup>336</sup> a fruitful tree, says the Lord, the God of Israel.

7 On that day people will look to their Maker, and their eyes will concentrate on the Holy One of Israel. 8 They will not look upon<sup>337</sup> the altars, their works,<sup>338</sup> they will not<sup>339</sup> concentrate on what their fingers have made, (whether)<sup>340</sup> the Asherim or the sun-images. 9 On that day their strong cities will be like the deserted places<sup>341</sup> of the Hivites and the Amorites, which were deserted before the Israelites; it will all be desolation.

10 For you have forgotten the God of your salvation, and have not remembered the rock of your strength; this is why you plant attractive plants but dress them with foreign slips. 11 At the time when you plant you hedge it in, and in the morning you make your seed blossom—but the harvest flees away at the time of grief and tragic sorrow.

12 Ah yes, the cries of many peoples who cry out like the roaring of the seas; and the tumult of nations who rush along like the rushing of mighty waters! 13 The nations will be in tumult like the rushing of many waters, but he will rebuke them; and they will flee far away and will be chased like mountain-chaff before the wind, and like the whirling dust before a storm. 14 At dusk—look, there is terror! And before morning comes and<sup>342</sup> they are no more. This is the portion of those who despoil us, and the lot of those who rob us.

181 Ah, the land of the rustling of wings, beyond the rivers of Ethiopia, 2 which sends out ambassadors by sea in vessels of papyrus upon the waters, saying, Go, swift messengers, to a tall and handsome nation, to a people that were frightening from their very beginning, a nation that metes out and tramples, whose land is divided by the rivers!

3 All you inhabitants of the world, and dwellers on the earth: when a signal is lifted up on the mountains, then watch; and when the trumpet is sounded, then listen! 4 For this is what the Lord has told me: I will be still, and I will watch in my dwelling-place, like clear heat in sunshine and like a cloud of dew in the heat<sup>343</sup> of harvest. 5 For before the harvest, when the budding is over and the blossoms become ripening grapes, he will cut off the sprigs with pruning-hooks, and take away and cut down the spreading branches. 6 And<sup>344</sup> they will be left together for the ravenous mountain<sup>345</sup> birds and for the wild animals;<sup>346</sup> the ravenous birds will feast all summer long on them, and all the wild animals<sup>347</sup> will feast all the winter on them.

7 At that time a present will be brought to the Lord of hosts from a tall and handsome people,<sup>348</sup> from a people that were frightening from their very beginning, a nation that metes out and tramples, whose land is divided by the rivers, to the place of the name of the Lord,<sup>349</sup> to Mount Zion.

191 The oracle concerning Egypt: See, the Lord is riding on a swift cloud and coming to Egypt. The idols of Egypt will tremble at his presence; and the heart of the Egyptians will melt within them. 2 And I will stir up Egyptians against Egyptians; everyone will fight against his brother, and everyone against his neighbor, and city<sup>350</sup> against city, and kingdom against kingdom. 3 The spirit of the Egyptians will fail within them, and I will confound their plans. They will consult idols<sup>351</sup> and the spirits of the dead, the mediums and the spiritists. 4 I will deliver the Egyptians into the hand of a hard master; a fierce king will rule over them, says the Lord God of hosts.

5 The waters of the Nile<sup>352</sup> will dry up, and the riverbed will become parched and dry. 6 And the canals<sup>353</sup> will become foul; and<sup>354</sup> the streams of Egypt will dwindle and dry up, reeds and rushes, and they will wither away.<sup>355</sup> 7 The reeds along the Nile,<sup>356</sup> on the brink of the Nile, and all the sown fields of the Nile, will dry up and<sup>357</sup> be driven away, and there will be nothing in it.<sup>358</sup> 8 Those who fish will mourn, and all who cast hooks into the Nile will lament, and those who spread nets upon the waters will pine away. 9 Those<sup>359</sup> who work with combed flax and the weavers of white cloth will be in despair. 10 Its<sup>360</sup> weavers will be broken in pieces, and all who work for wages will be sick at heart.

11 The princes of Zoan are utterly foolish; the advice of Pharaoh's wisest counselors has become stupid. How can you say to Pharaoh, I am one of the wise men, a disciple of ancient kings? 12 Where are your wise men now? Please let them tell you and make known what the Lord<sup>361</sup> has planned against Egypt. 13 The princes of Zoan have become fools, the princes of Memphis are deluded; those who are the cornerstones of her peoples led Egypt astray. 14 The Lord has mixed<sup>362</sup> in its midst a spirit of confusion; and they have led Egypt astray in everything it does, like a drunkard staggers around in his own vomit. 15 And there will be no work for Egypt which its head or tail, palm branch or rush, can do.<sup>363</sup>

16 On that day the Egyptians<sup>364</sup> will be like women; they will tremble and be afraid<sup>365</sup> at the uplifted hand of the Lord of hosts when he brandishes his hand against her.<sup>366</sup> 17 The land of Judah will become a terror to the Egyptians; everyone to whom Judah is mentioned will be afraid, because of the plan that the hand of the Lord of hosts<sup>367</sup> is planning against them. 18 On that day there will be five cities in the land of Egypt that speak the language of Canaan and swear allegiance to the Lord of hosts. One of these will be called the City of the Sun.<sup>368</sup>

■ The ending of 19:18 is rather complex but fascinating. The original reading seems to be that of 1QIsa<sup>a</sup>, which also occurs in 4QIsa<sup>a</sup>, a few Masoretic manuscripts, and several translations such as the Latin Vulgate: “City of the Sun,” most likely Heliopolis in Egypt (cf. Jer 43:13). The Masoretic Text, however, reads “City of Destruction.” Since the words sun and destruction are very similar in Hebrew, involving a difference of only one letter, it is possible that one of the two readings is simply an error. But there is a more likely explanation: that destruction is a deliberate word play on sun for the purpose of denigrating Heliopolis, which was one of Egypt’s most important cities and was associated with sun worship.

19 On that day will there be an altar to the Lord<sup>369</sup> in the heart of the land of Egypt, and a pillar to the Lord at its border. 20 It will be a sign and a witness to the Lord of hosts in the land of Egypt; for when they cry to the Lord because of their oppressors he will send<sup>370</sup> them a savior and he will go down<sup>371</sup> and will rescue them. 21 So the Lord will make himself known to Egypt, and the Egyptians will acknowledge the Lord on that day. They will even worship with sacrifices and burnt offerings; they will make vows to the Lord and will carry them out. 22 The Lord will strike Egypt, striking but healing. Then they will return to the Lord, and he will respond to them and will heal them.

23 On that day will there be a highway from Egypt to Assyria. The Assyrians will come to Egypt and the Egyptians to Assyria, and they<sup>372</sup> will worship with the Assyrians. 24 On that day Israel will be the third, along with Egypt and Assyria, a blessing in the midst of the earth, 25 whom the Lord of hosts has blessed, saying, Blessed be Egypt my people, and Assyria the work of my hands, and Israel my heritage.

20<sup>1</sup> In the year that the supreme commander, who was sent by Sargon the king of Assyria, came to Ashdod and attacked Ashdod and took it— 2 at that time the Lord spoke through Isaiah the son of Amoz: Go and loosen the sackcloth from your hips, and take your sandals<sup>373</sup> off your feet. And he did so, walking around naked and barefoot.

3 Then the Lord said, Just as my servant Isaiah has walked around naked and barefoot for three years as a sign and a portent against Egypt and Ethiopia, 4 so the king of Assyria will lead away the Egyptians as captives and the Ethiopians as exiles, both young and old—naked and barefoot, even with their buttocks bared, to the shame of Egypt. 5 And they will be afraid and put to shame because of Ethiopia their hope<sup>374</sup> and Egypt their boast. 6 At that time the inhabitants of this coastland will say, “See, this is what has happened to those we relied on and on whom we rely<sup>375</sup> for help and deliverance from the king of Assyria! How then can we ourselves escape?”

6 For this is what the Lord said to me: Go, post a lookout, and<sup>380</sup> let him announce what he sees. 7 When he sees chariots, each man with a pair of horses,<sup>381</sup> riders on donkeys or riders<sup>382</sup> on camels, let him listen diligently, very diligently. 8 The lookout<sup>383</sup> shouted, O Lord, I stand continually upon the watchtower in the daytime, and am stationed at my post throughout the night. 9 Look, there comes a troop of riders, horsemen in pairs. Then he answered and said, Fallen, fallen is Babylon, and they have shattered all the images of her gods<sup>384</sup> to the ground. 10 O my threshed one and child of my stone wall,<sup>385</sup> I am telling you what I have heard from the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel.

11 The oracle concerning Dumah.<sup>386</sup> Someone is calling to me from Seir: Watchman, what (is left) of the night? Watchman, what (is left) of the night? 12 The watchman says, Morning is coming but also the night. If you would inquire, then inquire; come back again.

13 The oracle concerning Arabia. You will lodge in the scrub in Arabia, you caravans of Dedanites. 14 Bring water for the thirsty, O inhabitants of the land of Tema, meet the fugitive with bread.<sup>387</sup> 15 For he has fled<sup>388</sup> from the swords, from the drawn sword, and from the bent bow, and from the heat of battle.

16 This is what the Lord<sup>389</sup> says to me: Within three years,<sup>390</sup> according to the years of a hired worker, the pomp<sup>391</sup> of Kedar will come to an end. 17 The surviving numbers of the bowmen, the warriors of the sons of Kedar, will be few; for the Lord, the God of Israel, has spoken.

221 The oracle concerning the Valley of Vision: What troubles you now, that you have all gone up to the housetops, 2 you that were full of noise, tumultuous city, joyful town? Your slain have not been killed with the sword, nor are they dead in battle. 3 All your rulers have fled together; she is captured<sup>392</sup> without any bow. All of you who were found were captured, although they fled (while the enemy was) still far away. 4 Therefore I said, Look away from me, and<sup>393</sup> let me weep bitterly. Do not try to console me over the destruction of my beloved people.<sup>394</sup>

5 For the Lord God of hosts has a day of tumult and trampling and confusion in the Valley of Vision, a battering down of his holiness on<sup>395</sup> the mountains. 6 Elam bore the quiver with charioteers and cavalry, and Kir uncovered the shield. 7 And it comes to pass<sup>396</sup> that your choicest valleys were full of chariots, and the cavalry took their positions at the gate. 8 He has taken away the defense of Judah. On that day you looked to the weapons of the House of the Forest, 9 and you saw that the breaches in the city of David were many, and you stored up the waters of the lower pool. 10 Then you counted the houses of Jerusalem, and broke down the houses in order to fortify the wall. 11 You also made a reservoir between the walls<sup>397</sup> for the waters of the old pool. But you did not look upon<sup>398</sup> the One who made it, or have regard for the One who planned it long ago.

12 And in that day the Lord God of hosts, called (you) to weeping and mourning, to baldness and putting on sackcloth; 13 but see, there is joy and revelry, slaughtering of cattle and killing of sheep, eating flesh and drinking<sup>399</sup> wine: Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we will die! 14 But the Lord of hosts has revealed himself in my hearing: Surely for you<sup>400</sup> this iniquity will not be forgiven you until you die, says the Lord God of hosts.

15 This is what the Lord God of hosts<sup>401</sup> says: Come, go to this steward, to Shebna who is in charge of the household, and say, 16 What are you doing here, and who are your relatives here<sup>402</sup> that you have cut out a tomb here for yourself, cutting your tomb on the height and chiseling a resting-place for yourself in the rock? 17 Beware, the Lord is about to hurl you away violently, my strong fellow. And<sup>403</sup> he is about to seize<sup>404</sup> you firmly, 18 whirl you round and round, and toss you like a ball into a large country. There you will die, and there<sup>405</sup> your splendid chariots will lie—you disgrace to your master's house! 19 I will depose you from your office, and you are pulled down<sup>406</sup> from your position.

20 On that day I will summon my servant Eliakim son of Hilkiah,<sup>407</sup> 21 and will clothe him with your robes<sup>408</sup> and fasten your girdle on him. I will entrust your authority into his hand, and he will be a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and to the house of Judah. 22 I will place on his shoulder the key to the house of David; he will open and no one will shut it, he will shut and no one will open it. 23 And I will fasten him like a peg in a firm place, and he will become a throne of honor to his father's house. 24 So they will hang on him all the glory of his father's house: its offspring and issue—every lesser vessel, from the cups to all the flagons.

25 On that day, says the Lord<sup>409</sup> of hosts, the peg that was fastened in a firm place will give way; it will be cut down and will fall, and the load that was on it will be cut off. The Lord has spoken.

231 The oracle concerning Tyre:

■ The oracle to Tyre is particularly interesting in the light of the Dead Sea Scrolls and the Septuagint. Study of the translation presented below and of the various alternative readings in the footnotes shows that while many readings are common to all the texts that are referred to, some readings are special to certain scrolls, to the Septuagint, and to the Masoretic Text, while others are shared by two or more of these sources but not by others. Several articles and at least one book have been written on the oracle to Tyre in the light of the Isaiah scrolls, the Septuagint, and other witnesses.

Wail, you ships of Tarshish, for Tyre is destroyed and left without house or harbor. From the land of Cyprus<sup>410</sup> it was reported to them. 2 Be silent,<sup>411</sup> O you inhabitants of the coast, you merchants of Sidon, whose messengers crossed over<sup>412</sup> the sea 3 and were on many waters. Her revenue was the grain of Shihor, the harvest of the Nile, and she became the marketplace of nations.

4 Be ashamed, O Sidon, for the sea has spoken,<sup>413</sup> the stronghold of the sea: I have neither labored nor given birth, I have neither reared young men nor brought up young women. 5 When the report comes to Egypt, they will be in anguish at the report concerning Tyre. 6 O you crossing over<sup>414</sup> to Tarshish; wail, you inhabitants of the coast! 7 Is this your happy city whose origin is from days of old, and<sup>415</sup> whose feet carried her to settle far away? 8 Who has planned this against Tyre, the bestower of crowns, whose merchants were princes,<sup>416</sup> whose traders were the honored of the earth? 9 The Lord of hosts has planned it, to defile all the pride of glory,<sup>417</sup> to shame all the honored of the earth. 10 Cultivate<sup>418</sup> your own land like the Nile, O daughter of Tarshish, for there is no longer a harbor. 11 He has stretched out his hand over the sea, he has made<sup>419</sup> the kingdoms tremble; the Lord has given orders concerning Canaan to destroy her fortresses. 12 He said, You will rejoice no longer,<sup>420</sup> O crushed virgin daughter of Sidon; get up, cross over to Cyprus—even there you will find no rest.

13 Look at the land of the Chaldeans, this is the people; it was not Assyria. They made Tyre (a place) for desert creatures,<sup>421</sup> they erected her siege towers,<sup>422</sup> they stripped her palaces, they made her a ruin. 14 Wail, you ships of Tarshish, for your<sup>423</sup> stronghold is destroyed. 15 And it will happen at that time to Tyre as in the song of the prostitute.<sup>424</sup> 16 Take up a harp, walk about the city, you forgotten prostitute! Make sweet melody, sing many songs, so that you will be remembered.

17 At the end of seventy years the Lord will deal with Tyre. Then she will return to her trade, and will prostitute herself with the kingdoms<sup>425</sup> of the world upon the face of the earth. 18 Yet her merchandise and her earnings will be set apart for the Lord; they will not be stored or hoarded but her merchandise will become abundant food and choice attire for those who dwell in the presence of the Lord.<sup>426</sup>

241 See, the Lord<sup>427</sup> is about to lay waste the land<sup>428</sup> and devastate it; he will turn it upside down and scatter abroad its inhabitants. 2 And as it will be with the people, so with the priest; as with the slave, so with his master; as with the maid, so with her mistress; as with the buyer, so with the seller; as with the lender, so with the borrower; as with the creditor, so with his debtor. 3 The earth will be totally emptied and completely laid waste; for the Lord has spoken this word.

4 The earth dries up and withers, the world languishes and fades away; heaven fades away<sup>429</sup> together with the earth. 5 The earth also lies polluted under its inhabitants, because they have transgressed the laws,<sup>430</sup> violated the statutes, and broken the everlasting covenant. 6 Therefore a curse consumes,<sup>431</sup> and those dwelling in it are held guilty; therefore the inhabitants of earth<sup>432</sup> are burned up, and few people are left. 7 The new wine dries up, the vine, the oil<sup>433</sup> decays, all the merrymakers groan. 8 The gaiety of timbrels ceases, the noise of merrymakers ends, the mirth of the harp is silent. 9 No longer do they drink wine with singing, and<sup>434</sup> strong drink is bitter to those who drink it. 10 The chaotic city is broken down; every house is shut up so that no one can enter. 11 There is an outcry for wine in the streets; all gaiety turns to gloom, the gladness of the land is banished. 12 Desolation<sup>435</sup> is left in the city, its gate<sup>436</sup> is battered to ruins. 13 For so it will be on the earth and among the peoples, as when an olive tree is beaten, or as at the gleaning when the grape harvest is ended.

14 They lift up their voices, they shout<sup>437</sup> for joy; they cry out<sup>438</sup> from the west<sup>439</sup> over the majesty of the Lord. 15 Therefore in the east<sup>440</sup> glorify the Lord, in the coastlands of the sea glorify the name of the Lord, the God of Israel. 16 From the ends of the earth we hear songs of praise: Glory to the Righteous One. But I say, I am pining away, I am pining away. Woe is me! For the treacherous deal treacherously—the treacherous deal very treacherously! 17 Terror, and the pit, and the snare are upon you, O inhabitant of the earth! 18 Then whoever flees at the sound of the terror will fall into the pit, and whoever climbs out of the pit will be caught in the snare. For the windows above are opened, and the foundations of the earth shake. 19 The earth is utterly broken, the earth is torn asunder, the earth is violently shaken. 20 The earth<sup>441</sup> staggers like a drunkard, it sways to and fro and like a hut.<sup>442</sup> Its transgression lies heavy upon it, and it falls<sup>443</sup>—never to rise again.

21 On that day the Lord will punish the host of the high ones in heaven,<sup>444</sup> and the kings of the earth upon the earth. 22 They<sup>445</sup> will be gathered together in a dungeon;<sup>446</sup> they will be shut up in prison, and after many days will be punished. 23 Then the moon will be abashed and the sun will be ashamed; for the Lord of hosts will reign on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, and before his elders there will be glory.

251 O Lord, you are my God! I will exalt you and praise your name, for you have done marvelous things, plans formed long in faithfulness and truth. 2 For you have made the city a heap of rubble, the fortified city a ruin, the foreigners' palace<sup>447</sup> a city no more—it will never be built. 3 Therefore strong peoples will glorify you, cities of ruthless nations will fear you. 4 For you have been a refuge to the poor, a refuge to the needy in their distress, a shelter from the storm and a shade from the heat. For the breath of the ruthless is like a storm against a wall, 5 like heat in a dry place. You subdue the uproar of foreigners like heat with the shade of clouds; the song of the ruthless will be stilled.

6 On this mountain the Lord of hosts will make for all peoples a feast of rich food, a feast of aged wine, of choice meats filled with marrow, of refined and aged wines. 7 And on this mountain he will destroy the shroud that covers all peoples, the sheet that is spread over all nations; 8 he has swallowed up<sup>448</sup> death forever. Then the Lord God will wipe away the tears from all faces, and he will remove the disgrace of his people from all the earth—for the Lord has spoken. 9 And you will say<sup>449</sup> on that day: See, the Lord<sup>450</sup>—this is our God; we have waited for him so that he might save us. This is the Lord for whom we have waited; let us be glad and we will rejoice<sup>451</sup> in his salvation! 10 For the hand of the Lord will rest on this mountain.

The Moabites will be trodden down in their place, just as straw is trodden down in the water of<sup>452</sup> a manure pit. 11 They will spread forth his hands in the midst of it, as swimmers spread out their hands to swim, but the Lord will lay low their pride together with the cleverness of their hands. 12 He brings down the high fortifications of your walls and lays them low; he will cast them<sup>453</sup> to the ground, even to the very dust.

16 O Lord, in distress they<sup>474</sup> sought you; they were distressed, they poured out their magical prayer<sup>475</sup> when your chastenings were<sup>476</sup> upon them. 17 Like a woman with child who writhes in pain and cries out in her pangs as she approaches her time, so have we been before you, O Lord. 18 We have been with child, we have been in pain, but we gave birth only to wind. We have not won your deliverance<sup>477</sup> for the earth, nor have inhabitants of the world been born. 19 But your dead will live, their dead bodies will rise. The dwellers in the dust will awake and shout for joy!<sup>478</sup> For your dew is like the dew of the dawn, and the earth will give birth to the dead.

20 Come, my people, enter your chambers and shut your doors behind you. Hide yourselves<sup>479</sup> for a little moment until the wrath is past. 21 For<sup>480</sup> the Lord is coming from his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their sins; the earth will disclose the blood shed on it, and will no longer conceal its slain.

271 On that day the Lord will punish with his cruel and great and strong sword Leviathan the gliding<sup>481</sup> serpent, Leviathan the coiling serpent, and he will kill the dragon that is in the sea.

2 On that day: A diminishing<sup>482</sup> vineyard, sing about it! 3 I the Lord am its keeper; every moment I water it. I guard it night and day so that no one can harm it. 4 I have no anger. If only there were briars and thorns<sup>483</sup> confronting me in battle! I would march against them, and<sup>484</sup> I would set them all on fire. 5 Or else let it rely on my protection; let it make peace with me, let it make peace with me.

6 In days to come Jacob will take root, and<sup>485</sup> Israel will blossom and put forth shoots, and fill the whole world with fruit. 7 Has (the Lord) struck them down as he struck down those who struck them? Or have they been slain as their slayers<sup>486</sup> were slain? 8 By banishment, by exile you contended with them; he removed them in the day of the east wind with his fierce blast. 9 Therefore by this the guilt of Jacob will be forgiven, and this will be the full fruit of the removal of his sin: when he makes all the altar stones like pulverized chalkstones, no Asherim or incense-altars will remain standing. 10 For the fortified city is desolate, a habitation abandoned and forsaken like the desert; there the calves graze, there they lie down and strip its branches bare. 11 When its boughs are dry, they are broken off; women make a fire<sup>487</sup> of them. For this is a people without understanding; so he who made them will not have compassion upon them, and he that formed them will show them no favor.

12 And on that day the Lord will thresh from the river<sup>488</sup> Euphrates to the Wadi of Egypt, and you will be gathered one by one, O people of Israel. 13 And on that day a great trumpet will be sounded, and those who were perishing in the land of Assyria and those who were driven out to the land of Egypt will come and bow down to<sup>489</sup> the Lord in the holy mountain at Jerusalem.

<sup>5</sup> In that day the Lord of hosts will be a glorious crown and a beautiful diadem for the remnant of his people, <sup>6</sup> and a spirit of justice to the one who sits in judgment, and strength to those who turn back the battle at the gate.<sup>492</sup>

<sup>9</sup> To whom will he teach knowledge, and to whom will he interpret the message? Those who are weaned from milk, and taken from the breast? <sup>10</sup> For it is precept upon precept, precept upon precept, line upon line, line upon line, here a little, there a little.

<sup>11</sup> But by men of strange lips and with another tongue will he speak to this people, <sup>12</sup> to whom he said, This is the rest, give rest to him that is weary,<sup>494</sup> and this is the refreshing; yet they would not listen. <sup>13</sup> Therefore the word of the Lord will be to them precept upon precept, precept upon precept, line upon line, line upon line, here a little, there a little—so that they may go, and fall backward, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken.

<sup>14</sup> Therefore hear<sup>495</sup> the word of the Lord, you scoffers, who rule this people that is in Jerusalem. <sup>15</sup> Because you have said, We have made a covenant with death, and we are in agreement with Sheol; when the overflowing scourge examines,<sup>496</sup> it will not come to us; for we have made lies our refuge, and under falsehood we have hid ourselves. <sup>16</sup> Therefore thus says the Lord,<sup>497</sup> Behold, I am laying<sup>498</sup> in Zion a foundation stone, a tried stone, a precious cornerstone of sure foundation; whoever believes will not be in panic. <sup>17</sup> And I will make justice the line, and righteousness the plummet; and the hail will sweep away the refuge of lies, and the waters will overflow the hiding-place. <sup>18</sup> And your covenant with death will be annulled, and your agreement with Sheol will not stand; when the overflowing scourge passes through, then you will be trodden down by it. 19 As often as it passes through, it will take you; for morning by morning it will pass through, by day and by night—sheer terror<sup>499</sup> to understand the message. 20 For the bed is too short for people to stretch themselves<sup>500</sup> on it, and the covering to wrap themselves<sup>501</sup> in it. 21 For the Lord will rise up on<sup>502</sup> Mount Perazim; he will be angry in<sup>503</sup> the valley of Gibeon, so that he may do his work, his strange work, and bring to pass his act, his strange act. 22 But as for you,<sup>504</sup> do not be scoffers, lest your bonds<sup>505</sup> be made strong; for I have heard a decree of destruction from the Lord<sup>506</sup> of hosts, upon the whole earth.

23 Give ear, and hear my voice; listen, and hear my speech. 24 Does he who plows to sow plow continually? Does he continually open and harrow his ground? 25 When he has leveled its surface, does he not cast abroad the caraway, and scatter the cumin, and put in the wheat in rows, and the barley in the designated place, and the spelt as its borders?<sup>507</sup> 26 For his God instructs him aright, and teaches him.

29<sup>1</sup> Ah, Arue! Arue!<sup>514</sup> the city where David encamped! Add<sup>515</sup> year to year, let the feasts come round; 2 then I will distress Arue!, and there will be mourning and lamentation, and she will be to me as Arue!<sup>516</sup> 3 And I will encamp against you all around, and will lay siege against you with towers, and I will raise siegeworks against you. 4 And you will be brought down, and will speak from the ground, and your speech will be low from the dust; your voice will be like that of a ghost from the ground, and your speech will whisper from the dust.

■ Several possibilities exist for the multitude referred to in Isaiah 29:5. Is the best reading “your strangers,” mentioned in the Masoretic Text, “the ungodly,” referred to in the Septuagint, or “your enemies,” as found in 1QIsa<sup>a</sup>? A solution is offered by the parallel phrase later in the verse—“and the multitude of the ruthless ones”—which suggests that the reading in 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> is the preferred one. “Your enemies” (or “Your foes”) is found in several modern translations, including the Revised Standard Version, the New Revised Standard Version, and the New International Version.

5 But the multitude of your enemies<sup>517</sup> will be like fine dust, and the multitude of the ruthless ones like chaff that blows away. Suddenly, in an instant 6 you will be punished by the Lord of hosts with thunder, with an earthquake and great noise, with whirlwind and tempest, and the flame of a devouring fire. 7 And the multitude of all the nations that fight against Aruel,<sup>518</sup> even all that fight against her and her fortification<sup>519</sup> and distress her, will be like a dream, a vision of the night. 8 And it will be as when a hungry man dreams, and see—he eats but awakes and is empty; or it will be like when a thirsty man dreams, and see—he drinks but wakes up faint, and is still thirsty. So will the multitude of all the nations be that fight against Mount Zion.

9 Tarry and wonder, take your pleasure and be blind; they are drunken,<sup>520</sup> but not from wine,<sup>521</sup> they stagger, but (not) with strong drink.<sup>522</sup> 10 For the Lord has poured out upon you the spirit of deep sleep, and has closed your eyes, you prophets; and he has covered your heads, you seers. 11 And this whole vision has become to you like the words of a book that is sealed, which people deliver to one who is learned, saying, “Read this, I pray you”; but he says,<sup>523</sup> “I cannot, for it is sealed.” 12 Then they deliver the book<sup>524</sup> to one who is not learned, saying, “Read this, I pray you”; but he says,<sup>525</sup> “I am not learned.”

13 And the Lord said, Inasmuch as this people draw near to honor me with their mouth and with their lips, but have removed their hearts far from me, and fear of me<sup>526</sup> has been like a human commandment<sup>527</sup> that has been taught them; 14 therefore, see, as for me<sup>528</sup> I am about to do a marvelous work among this people, even a marvelous work and a wonder; and the wisdom of their wise men will perish, and the insights<sup>529</sup> of their prudent men will be hidden.

15 Woe to those who hide deep their counsel from the Lord, and whose works have been<sup>530</sup> in the dark, and who say, “Who sees us?” and “Who has known<sup>531</sup> us?” 16 He has overturned things from you.<sup>532</sup> Will it be thought of like the potter’s heat,<sup>533</sup> so that the thing made should say of the one who made it, “He did not make me”; or the thing formed say of the ones<sup>534</sup> who formed it, “He has no understanding”?

17 Is it not yet a very little while, and Lebanon will be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field will be regarded as a forest? 18 And on that day the deaf will hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind will see out of gloom<sup>535</sup> and darkness. 19 The meek also will increase their joy in the Lord, and the poor among men will rejoice in the Holy One of Israel. 20 For the terrible one is brought to naught, and the scoffer ceases, and all who watch for iniquity are cut off, 21 those who make a man an offender in his cause, and lay a snare for him who reproves in the gate, and turn aside the just with meaningless arguments.

22 Therefore thus says the Lord, who redeemed Abraham, concerning the house of Jacob: Jacob will not now be ashamed, neither will his face now grow pale. 23 But when he sees his children, the work of my hands, in the midst of him, they will sanctify my name; yes, they will sanctify the Holy One of Jacob, and will stand in awe of the God of Israel. 24 Moreover, those who err in spirit will come to understanding, and those who complain will receive instruction.

301 Woe to the rebellious children, says the Lord, who take counsel, but not of me; and who make a league, but not of my spirit, so that they may add sin to sin; 2 who set out to go down into Egypt, and have not asked my counsel; to strengthen themselves in the strength of Pharaoh, and to take refuge in the shadow of Egypt! 3 Therefore the strength of Pharaoh will be your shame, and the refuge in the shadow of Egypt will be your longing.<sup>536</sup> 4 For their princes is<sup>537</sup> at Zoan, and their ambassadors have come to Hanes. 5 Destruction is odious<sup>538</sup> to a people that cannot profit them, that are not a help<sup>539</sup> nor profit, but a shame and also a reproach.

6 The oracle concerning the beasts of the South. Through the land of trouble and dryness<sup>540</sup> and anguish, where there is no water,<sup>541</sup> the lioness and the lion, the viper and fiery flying serpent, which carries<sup>542</sup> their riches upon the shoulders of young asses, and their treasures upon the humps of camels, to a people that will not profit them. 7 For Egypt helps in vain and to no purpose; therefore I have called her “Rahab who sits still.”

8 Now go, write it<sup>543</sup> before them on a tablet, and inscribe it in a book, so that it may be for times to come forever and ever. 9 For it is a rebellious people, lying children, children who will not hear the law of the Lord, 10 who say to the seers, “Do not see,” and to the prophets, “Do not prophesy right things to us; speak to us smooth things, prophesy deceits, 11 get out<sup>544</sup> of the way, turn aside from the path, cause the Holy One of Israel to cease before us.” 12 Therefore, thus says the Holy One of Israel: Because you despise this word, and trust in oppression and you rejoice,<sup>545</sup> and rely on it, 13 therefore this iniquity will be to you like a breach ready to fall, swelling out in a high wall, whose crash comes suddenly, in an instant.<sup>546</sup> 14 And he will break it like a potter’s vessel is broken, breaking it in pieces without sparing,<sup>547</sup> so that there will not be found among its pieces a shard with which to take fire from a hearth, or to scoop up water from a cistern.

15 For thus said the Lord,<sup>548</sup> the Holy One of Israel: In returning and rest you will be saved; in quietness and in confidence will be your strength. But you were unwilling; 16 but you said, “No, for we will flee upon horses.” Therefore you will flee; and, “We will ride upon the swift”; therefore those who pursue you will be swift. 17 One thousand will flee before<sup>549</sup> one; at the threat of five you will flee, until you are left like a beacon upon the top of a mountain,<sup>550</sup> and like an ensign on a hill.

18 And therefore the Lord will wait, so that he may be gracious to you; and therefore he will be exalted, so that he may have mercy upon you. For the Lord is a God of justice; blessed are all those who wait for him.

19 For the people will dwell in Zion and in Jerusalem;<sup>551</sup> you<sup>552</sup> will weep no more, the Lord<sup>553</sup> will surely be gracious to you at the sound of your cry; when he hears, he will answer you. 20 And although the Lord gives you the bread of adversity and the water of affliction,<sup>554</sup> yet your teachers will not hide themselves<sup>555</sup> anymore, but your eyes will see your teachers. 21 And your ears will hear a word behind you, saying, “This is the way, walk in it”; when you turn to the right hand and when you turn to the left. 22 And you will defile your graven images overlaid with silver, and your molten images plated<sup>556</sup> with gold: you will cast them away like an unclean thing; you will say to them, “Away with you!”

23 And he will give the rain for your seed, with which you will sow the ground, and bread of the increase of the ground; it will be<sup>557</sup> abundant and plenteous. On that day your cattle will feed in large pastures; 24 the oxen likewise and the young asses that till the ground will eat leavened<sup>558</sup> fodder, which one winnows<sup>559</sup> with shovels and forks. 25 And there will be upon every lofty mountain, and upon every high hill, brooks and canals<sup>560</sup> of water, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers fall. 26 Moreover, the light of the moon will be like the light of the sun, and the light of the sun will be sevenfold, like the light of seven days,<sup>561</sup> on the day when the Lord binds up the hurt of his people, and heals the wound he has inflicted.

27 See, the name of the Lord comes from afar, burning with his anger, and in thick rising smoke. His lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is like a devouring fire, 28 and his breath is like an overflowing stream; and it reaches<sup>562</sup> even to the neck, to winnow<sup>563</sup> the nations with the sieve of destruction; and a bridle that causes people to err will be in the mouths of the peoples.

29 You will have a song as in the night when people keep a holy feast,<sup>564</sup> and gladness of heart as when one goes with a pipe to come to the Lord’s mountain, to the Rock of Israel. 30 And the Lord will make heard, make heard<sup>565</sup> his glorious voice, and will show the descending blow of his arm, with the indignation of his anger, and the flame of a devouring fire, with a blast, a tempest, and hailstones. 31 For through the voice of the Lord the Assyrians will be dismayed, with his rod he will smite them. 32 And every stroke of the staff of his foundation,<sup>566</sup> which the Lord will lay upon them, will be with the sound of timbrels and harps, and in battles with the brandishing of his arm he will fight with her.<sup>567</sup> 33 For an opening<sup>568</sup> place has been prepared of old; yes, it was for the king; it will be made ready,<sup>569</sup> he has made it deep and large, and<sup>570</sup> its pile is fire and much wood. The breath of the Lord, like a stream of brimstone, kindles it.

311 Woe to those who go down to<sup>571</sup> Egypt for help, and rely on horses, and trust in the chariot<sup>572</sup> because they are many, and in horsemen because they are very strong—but do not look to<sup>573</sup> the Holy One of Israel nor seek the Lord! 2 Yet he is also wise and will bring disaster, and will not recall his words, but will arise against the house of the evildoers, and against the help of those who work iniquity. 3 Now the Egyptians are humans, not God; and their horses are flesh, not spirit; when the Lord stretches out his hand, both he who helps will stumble, and he who is helped will fall; they<sup>574</sup> all will be consumed together.

4 For thus says the Lord to me: Just as the lion or the young lion growling over his objects of prey,<sup>575</sup> if a multitude of shepherds is called forth against him, will not be dismayed at their voice, nor daunted at their noise, so the Lord of hosts will come down to fight upon Mount Zion and upon its hill. 5 Like birds hovering, so the Lord of hosts will protect Jerusalem; he will protect and deliver it, and<sup>576</sup> he will pass over and bring it to safety.<sup>577</sup>

6 Turn back to him whom, to him whom<sup>578</sup> you have deeply betrayed, O children of Israel. 7 For on that day everyone will cast away his idols of silver, and his idols of gold, which your own hands have sinfully made for you.

8 And the Assyrians will fall by a sword not of man; and a sword not of men will devour them; and they will flee not before<sup>579</sup> the sword, and their young men will be put to forced labor. 9 And their rock will pass away by reason of terror, and their princes will be dismayed at the banner, says the Lord, whose fire is in Zion and whose furnace is in Jerusalem.

321 Behold, a king will reign in righteousness, and princes will rule in justice. 2 And each will be like a refuge from the wind and a shelter from<sup>580</sup> the storm, like streams of water in a dry place, in<sup>581</sup> the shade of a great rock in a weary land. 3 And the eyes of those who see will not be dim, and the ears of those who hear will listen. 4 And the heart of the rash will understand knowledge, and the tongues of stammerers will be ready to speak plainly. 5 People will no longer call a fool<sup>582</sup> noble, nor a villain said to be honorable. 6 For a fool speaks nonsense, and his heart plans<sup>583</sup> iniquity, in order to practice profaneness and to speak error against the Lord, to leave the craving of the hungry unsatisfied, and to deprive the thirsty of drink. 7 And the villainies of a villain are evil; and<sup>584</sup> he devises evil plans to ruin the poor<sup>585</sup> with lying words, even when the needy ones speak<sup>586</sup> what is right. 8 But the noble person devises noble things, and by noble deeds he stands.

9 Rise up, you women who are at ease, and hear my voice; you careless daughters, give ear to my speech. 10 For days beyond a year you will be troubled, you careless women; for the vintage will fail, the ingathering will not<sup>587</sup> come. 11 Tremble, you women who are at ease; be troubled, you careless ones; strip yourselves and make yourselves bare, and put on sackcloth and beat your breasts<sup>588</sup> around your loins.<sup>589</sup> 12 Beat your breasts for the pleasant fields, for the fruitful vine, 13 for the soil of my people growing up in thorns and<sup>590</sup> briers; yes, for all the joyous houses in the jubilant city. 14 For the palace will be forsaken, the populous city will be deserted; the hill and the watchtower will become dens forever, a delight of wild asses, a pasture for<sup>591</sup> flocks; 15 until a spirit is poured upon us from on high, and the wilderness becomes a fruitful field, and the fruitful field is considered a forest. 16 Then justice will dwell in the wilderness, and righteousness will abide in the fruitful field. 17 The effect of righteousness will be for peace,<sup>592</sup> and the result of righteousness will be quietness and confidence forever. 18 And my people will abide in a peaceful habitation, in secure dwellings, and in quiet resting places. 19 But it will hail when the forest comes down, and the wood<sup>593</sup> will be completely laid low. 20 Happy will be you who sow beside every stream, and<sup>594</sup> who let out freely the ox and the donkey.

■ In Isaiah 32:19 the Masoretic Text tells us that “the city” will be completely laid low, but 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> specifies “the wood” (or “the thicket”). While these may simply be two alternative and equally valid readings, the two Hebrew words involved are very similar: h‘yr (“city”) versus hy‘r (“wood”). The parallel term “the forest,” found earlier in the verse, suggests that 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> in fact preserves the better reading—“the wood.” “The city,” as found in the Masoretic Text, seems to be the inferior reading, which most likely arose through an early scribal misreading of the more common h‘yr for hy‘r.

331 Woe to you, O destroyer, who yourself have not been destroyed; woe to you, O traitor, with whom<sup>595</sup> no one has dealt treacherously! When you have sunk down in<sup>596</sup> destroying, you will be destroyed; and when you have finished<sup>597</sup> dealing treacherously, you will be dealt with treacherously.

2 O Lord, be gracious to us; we long for you. And<sup>598</sup> be our arm every morning, our salvation<sup>599</sup> in the time of trouble. 3 At the sound of tumult peoples fled; at your silence<sup>600</sup> nations scattered. 4 And your spoil is gathered like the caterpillar gathers; like<sup>601</sup> locusts leap men have leapt<sup>602</sup> upon it. 5 The Lord is exalted, for he dwells on high; he has filled Zion with justice and righteousness. 6 There will be<sup>603</sup> stability in your times, abundance and salvation,<sup>604</sup> wisdom and knowledge; the fear of the Lord is your treasure.

7 Look, their brave men cry out<sup>605</sup> in the streets; the envoys of peace weep bitterly. 8 The highways lie deserted, travelers have left the road; (the enemy) has broken the covenant, has despised witnesses<sup>606</sup> and has regard for no one. 9 The land mourns and languishes; Lebanon is ashamed and withers, Sharon is like a desert, Bashan<sup>607</sup> and Carmel shake off their leaves.

10 Now will I arise, the Lord has said,<sup>608</sup> now will I lift myself up; now I will be exalted. 11 You conceive chaff,<sup>609</sup> you bring forth stubble; your breath is a fire that will devour you. 12 And the peoples will be like the burnings of lime, like thorns cut down, that are burned in the fire.

13 Those who are far away have heard<sup>610</sup> what I have done; and those that are near have acknowledged<sup>611</sup> my might. 14 The sinners in Zion are afraid, trembling has seized the godless: Who among us can live with the devouring fire? Who among us can live with everlasting burnings? 15 The one who walks righteously and he has spoken<sup>612</sup> uprightly; the one who despises the gain of oppression, who waves his hand<sup>613</sup> from taking a bribe, who blocks his ears<sup>614</sup> from hearing of bloodshed, and who shuts his eyes from looking on evil— 16 such a person will dwell on high; his place of defense will be the fortresses of rocks, his bread will be given him, his waters will be sure.

17 Your eyes will see the king in his beauty; they will behold a land that reaches afar. 18 Your heart will muse on the terror: Where is that one who counted? Where is the one who weighed the tribute? Where is the one who counted the towers? 19 You<sup>615</sup> will not see the fierce people, a people of a deep speech that you cannot comprehend, of a strange tongue that you cannot understand.

20 Look on Zion, the city of our appointed festivals!<sup>616</sup> Your eyes will see Jerusalem, a peaceful habitation, a tent that will not be removed; its stakes will never be pulled up, nor any of its cords be broken. 21 But there the Lord in majesty will be for us a place of broad rivers<sup>617</sup> and streams, where no galley with oars can go, nor any stately ship can pass. 22 For the Lord is our judge, and<sup>618</sup> the Lord is our lawgiver, and<sup>619</sup> the Lord is our king, and<sup>620</sup> he will save us.

23 Your rigging hangs loose; it cannot hold indeed<sup>621</sup> the base of the mast, nor keep<sup>622</sup> the sail spread out. Then prey and abundant spoil will be divided; even the lame will carry off plunder. 24 And no inhabitant will say, “I am sick”; the people who live there will be forgiven their iniquity.

341 Come near, nations, to hear; and pay attention, peoples. Let the earth hear and everything in it, the world and all that it brings forth. 2 For the Lord is angry against all the nations and furious at all their host. He has doomed them and<sup>623</sup> has determined that they be slaughtered.<sup>624</sup> 3 Their slain and their corpses will be cast down, and their stench will rise up. The<sup>625</sup> mountains will be soaked with their blood. 4 The valleys will be split, all the host of the heavens will fall,<sup>626</sup> and the heavens will be rolled up like a scroll. All their host will wither, like a leaf withering<sup>627</sup> off the vine or like withering off the fig tree. 5 Indeed my sword will be seen<sup>628</sup> in the heavens. Watch, it will come down upon Edom, upon the people I have doomed for judgment. 6 The Lord has a sword filled with blood, gorged with fat, with the blood of lambs and goats, with the fat of rams' kidneys. Indeed the Lord has a sacrifice in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom. 7 The wild oxen will fall with them and the young bulls with the mighty steers. Their land will be drunk with blood and their soil saturated with fat.

■ From the end of verse 9 through the end of verse 10 the punctuation of 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> shows that the series of clauses was intentionally divided in a way different from that chosen in the Masoretic Text.

8 Indeed the Lord has a day of vengeance, a year of recompense for the cause of Zion. 9 Its streams will be turned into pitch, and its soil into sulfur, and its land will become pitch. 10 It will burn night and day and will never be extinguished. Its smoke will go up from generation to generation, and it will lie waste forever and ever. No one will pass through it.<sup>629</sup> 11 The pelican and the porcupine will possess it, and the owl and the raven will dwell in it. Over it he will stretch a line, and chaos,<sup>630</sup> and plumb lines of emptiness, and its nobles. 12 They<sup>631</sup> will call it No Kingdom There, and all its princes will be nothing.<sup>632</sup> 13 Thorns will grow in its palaces, nettles and thistles in its fortresses. It will be a habitation of jackals, an abode for ostriches. 14 Desert cats will meet hyenas,<sup>633</sup> and goat-demons will call to each other. There too, liliths will settle, and they will find themselves<sup>634</sup> a place of rest. 15 The owl<sup>635</sup> will make its nest there, and lay, and hatch, and gather under her shade; indeed, indeed,<sup>636</sup> buzzards will gather there, every one with its mate.

16 Study and read from the book of the Lord: and not one<sup>637</sup> will be missing, each its mate.<sup>638</sup> For it is his<sup>639</sup> mouth that has commanded, and it<sup>640</sup> is his spirit that has gathered them.<sup>641</sup> 17 It is he who has cast the lot for them, and his hands<sup>642</sup> divided it for them<sup>643</sup> with the line forever.<sup>644</sup>

■ 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> ends chapter 34 with “forever” in Isaiah 34:17 and then continues with the beginning of Isaiah 35:3. A later hand has inserted the passage containing the last few words of 34:17 and 35:1–2, which the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint also contain. It is possible that the passage had been in the text from which the scribe of 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> was copying and he simply omitted it by mistake. But 35:1–2 makes sense by itself and appears more likely to have been a late supplement that was inserted into the originally shorter text of 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> on the basis of a growing variant text. The Masoretic Text also sets it off as a separate paragraph explicitly through the use of paragraph markers. The last words of Isaiah 34:17 can be understood as referring to the wild animals that will inhabit the ruined land just described in Isaiah 34 or to the redeemed exiles of Isaiah 35 who will inherit Zion.

353 Strengthen the weak hands, support the stumbling knees. 4 Say to those who are disheartened, “Be strong, do not fear; see, your God will bring<sup>645</sup> vengeance, he will bring<sup>646</sup> divine recompense to save you.” 5 Then the eyes of the blind will be opened, and the ears of the deaf will unclose. 6 Then the lame will leap like a deer, and the tongue of the mute will sing. Yes, water will burst out in the wilderness, and streams will run<sup>647</sup> through the desert. 7 The scorching desert will become a pool, and the thirsting ground fountains of water; in the habitation of jackals, a grassy resting place with<sup>648</sup> reeds and rushes. 8 A highway will be there,<sup>649</sup> and they will call it<sup>650</sup> The Holy Way.<sup>651</sup> The unclean will not pass over it; it and for whomever is traveling,<sup>652</sup> even fools, will not go astray. 9 There will be no lion or violent beast there; it will not<sup>653</sup> come up on it, and<sup>654</sup> it will not be found<sup>655</sup> there. But the redeemed will walk, 10 and the ransomed of the Lord will return and enter Zion with singing. Everlasting joy will be upon their heads. They will attain<sup>656</sup> joy and happiness, and sorrow and mourning will flee away.

6 Indeed, you are depending on Egypt, that broken reed of a staff, which pierces the palm of anyone who leans on it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who trust in him.’

■ 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> and the Masoretic Text both contain the last two-thirds of verse 7, though the Septuagint does not. The Septuagint is probably original, while the other traditions have inserted a typically Deuteronomistic theological commonplace.

7 “But if you<sup>664</sup> say to me, ‘We trust in<sup>665</sup> the Lord our God’—is he not the one whose high places and altars Hezekiah removed, after which he said to Judah and Jerusalem, ‘You will worship before this altar in Jerusalem?’<sup>666</sup>— 8 come now, make a wager<sup>667</sup> with my lord, the king of Assyria. I will give you two thousand horses, if you are able to supply riders for them. 9 How can you reject one captain from<sup>668</sup> among the least of my master’s servants, and entrust yourselves<sup>669</sup> to Egypt for chariots and horsemen? 10 Now do you think that it is without the Lord that I have come up against this land to destroy it? It was the Lord who said to me, ‘Go up to this land to<sup>670</sup> destroy it.’” 11 Then Eliakim and Shebna and Joah said to him,<sup>671</sup> “Please speak with<sup>672</sup> your servants in Aramaic since we understand it. But do not speak this message so that the men sitting on<sup>673</sup> the wall can hear.”

■ 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> reads “Speak with your servants,” while the Masoretic Text has “Speak to your servants.” But 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> also writes “with us” in the margin. It is possible that an early form of the text simply read “with us” and was changed to mirror more diplomatic language. The scroll conflates the two readings.

12 But the Rabshakeh said, “Was it to you and against your lord<sup>674</sup> that my lord sent me to speak this message? Was it not rather against the men sitting on the wall, who will have to eat their own dung and drink their own urine with you?” 13 Then the<sup>675</sup> Rabshakeh stood and called out with a loud voice in Judean. He said, “Listen to the words of the great king, the king of Assyria. 14 Thus says the king of Assyria,<sup>676</sup> ‘Do not let Hezekiah deceive you, for he will not be able to deliver you. 15 Do not let Hezekiah compel you to trust in the Lord, thinking, The Lord will surely deliver us, and<sup>677</sup> this city will not be given into the power of the king of Assyria.’ 16 Do not listen to Hezekiah, for thus says the king of Assyria: ‘Make your peace with me, and come out to me; then everyone will eat from his vine and everyone from his fig tree, and everyone will drink from the water of his own cistern 17 until I come and take you to a land like your own land, to<sup>678</sup> a land of grain and wine, a land of bread and vineyards. 18 Beware lest Hezekiah persuade you by saying, The Lord will deliver us. Has any of the gods of the nations saved his land from the power of the king of Assyria? 19 Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharyaim? Have they saved Samaria from my power? 20 Which among all the gods of those countries has delivered their country from my power, so that the Lord might deliver Jerusalem from my power?” 21 But they did not speak or answer at all, for the king’s command was: “Do not respond to him.” 22 Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, who was over the household, Shebna the scribe, and Joah son of Asaph the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes torn and reported the words of the Rabshakeh to him.

37<sup>1</sup> When Hezekiah the king<sup>679</sup> heard this, he rent his clothes, covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the Lord. 2 He sent Eliakim, who was over the household, and Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amoz. 3 They said to him, “Thus says Hezekiah: This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke, and of disgrace; for children are at the point of birth, but there is no strength to bring them forth. 4 Perhaps the Lord your God will hear the words of the Rabshakeh, whom the king of Assyria his master has sent to scorn the living God, and will rebuke the words which the Lord your God has heard: therefore lift up a prayer for the remnant that is left in this city.”<sup>680</sup> 5 So the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah. 6 And Isaiah said to them,<sup>681</sup> “Thus you will say to your master, ‘Thus says the Lord: Do not be afraid of the words that you have heard, those with which the servants of the king of Assyria have blasphemed me. 7 Behold, I will put a spirit in him,<sup>682</sup> and he will hear a rumor, and he will return to<sup>683</sup> his own land; I will make him fall by the sword in his own land.’”<sup>684</sup>

■ 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> adds “in this city,” writing it and the next three verses smaller and as a clear afterthought. The text originally went from verse 4 to verse 8. The intervening verses 5–7 appear to be a secondarily inserted prophecy pointing toward the manner of Sennacherib’s death in 37:36–38.

8 So the Rabshakeh returned and found the king of Assyria fighting Libnah; for he had heard that he had left Lachish. 9 He heard a report about<sup>685</sup> Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, “He is coming out to fight you.” When he heard this, he returned<sup>686</sup> and sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, 10 “Say<sup>687</sup> this to Hezekiah king of Judah, ‘Do not let your God in whom you trust deceive you<sup>688</sup> by saying, Jerusalem will not be delivered into the power of the king of Assyria. 11 Indeed, you have heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands, absolutely annihilating them. Will you be rescued? 12 Have the gods of the nations rescued them, those nations which my fathers destroyed, Gozan, Haran, Rezep, and the people of Eden who were in Telassar? 13 Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, the king of Lair and<sup>689</sup> of Sepharyaim and<sup>690</sup> of Na, Ivvah, and Samaria?'”<sup>691</sup>

14 Hezekiah received the letters from the messengers and read them.<sup>692</sup> Then Hezekiah went up to the house of the Lord and spread it<sup>693</sup> out before the Lord. 15 Hezekiah prayed to the Lord, saying, 16 “Lord of hosts, God of Israel, enthroned above the cherubim, you alone are God of all the kingdoms of the earth; you made heaven and earth. 17 Incline your ear, Lord, and listen. Open your eyes, Lord, and see. Listen to every word of Sennacherib, which he sent to mock the living God. 18 Truly, Lord, the kings of Assyria have devastated all the lands,<sup>694</sup> 19 and they have cast<sup>695</sup> their gods into the fire—for they were not gods but the works<sup>696</sup> of human hands, wood and stone; thus they have destroyed them. 20 Now, Lord our God, I will save us<sup>697</sup> from his power, so that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that you alone, Lord, are God.”<sup>698</sup>

21 Then Isaiah son of Amoz sent to<sup>699</sup> Hezekiah, saying, “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel to whom you prayed<sup>700</sup> about Sennacherib<sup>701</sup> king of Assyria; 22 this is the word which the Lord spoke concerning him: The virgin daughter of Zion has despised you and mocked you. The daughter of Jerusalem has shaken her<sup>702</sup> head at you. 23 Whom have you mocked and blasphemed? Against whom have you raised your voice and arrogantly lifted up your eyes? Against the Holy One of Israel. 24 By your servants you have reviled my Lord and said, ‘With my many chariots I myself have climbed the highest mountains, to the farthest parts of Lebanon where I cut it<sup>703</sup> down, its tallest cedars and its choicest cypresses. I entered its highest point, its most fertile forest. 25 I myself cried out<sup>704</sup> and drank foreign<sup>705</sup> waters, and with the sole of my foot I dried up all the rivers of Egypt.’ 26 Did you not hear how in the distant past I decided to do it, in ancient times planned<sup>706</sup> it? Now I have made it happen that fortified cities should become devastated, besieged heaps.<sup>707</sup> 27 Their inhabitants had little<sup>708</sup> power. They were dismayed and ashamed.<sup>709</sup> They were wild plants, grassy<sup>710</sup> sprouts, grass on the roofs, scorched by the east wind.<sup>711</sup> 28 But I know your rising up<sup>712</sup> and sitting down, your going out and coming in, and your raging<sup>713</sup> against me. 29 I have heard of your arrogance,<sup>714</sup> so I will put my hook in your nose and my bit on your lips,<sup>715</sup> and I will turn you back on the way on which is destruction.<sup>716</sup>

above.<sup>723</sup> 32 For a remnant will go forth out of Zion<sup>724</sup> and escapees from Jerusalem.<sup>725</sup> The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this.

33 “Therefore thus says the Lord concerning the king of Assyria: He will not enter this city, nor build up a siege-mound against it, nor shoot an arrow there, nor oppose it with a shield.<sup>726</sup> 34 By the way he came, he will return. He will not enter this city, says the Lord. 35 I will defend this city to save it, for my own sake and for my servant David’s sake.”

36 Then the angel of the Lord went out, and struck 185,000 in the camp of the Assyrians. When morning came, there they were, all of them dead bodies. 37 So Sennacherib king of Assyria broke camp, left, and returned, and remained at Nineveh. 38 As he was worshiping in<sup>727</sup> the temple of Nisroch his god, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer struck him down with the sword, and they escaped to the land of Ararat. And his son Esarhaddon reigned in his place.

381 In those days Hezekiah became deathly ill. Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz came to him and said to him, “Thus says the Lord: Set<sup>728</sup> your house in order, because you are going to die, you will not live.”

2 Then Hezekiah turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord, 3 and said, “Remember, Lord, how I have conducted myself before you faithfully and wholeheartedly and have done what is good in your eyes.” And Hezekiah wept bitterly.

4 Then the word of the Lord came to Isaiah, 5 “Go, tell Hezekiah, ‘Thus says the Lord, the God of David your father: I have heard your prayer, and<sup>729</sup> I have seen your tears. See now, I will add fifteen years to your life. 6 Moreover I will rescue you and this city from the power of the king of Assyria. I will defend this city for my sake and my servant David’s sake.<sup>730</sup> 7 This will be the sign to you from the Lord, that the Lord does this thing which he has spoken: 8 See now, I will make the shadow on the steps of the upper<sup>731</sup> dial of Ahaz, marking the<sup>732</sup> setting sun, return backward ten steps.” Then the sun returned ten steps on the dial, steps on which it had descended.

9 A writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, after he had been sick and recovered from his illness:

10 I said, At the height of my life I must go. I must visit the gates of Sheol —bitter are<sup>733</sup> my years. 11 I said, I will not see the Lord<sup>734</sup> in the land of the<sup>735</sup> living. And<sup>736</sup> I, among the inhabitants of the grave, will no longer look upon humans. 12 My dwelling is pulled up and vanishes<sup>737</sup> from me like a shepherd’s tent. Like a weaver, I make an accounting of<sup>738</sup> my life. My threads are cut from the loom. Day and night you bring me to the finish. 13 I am laid bare<sup>739</sup> until morning. Just like a lion, he breaks all my bones. Day and night you bring me to the finish. 14 Like a swallow or a crane I chirp, I moan like a dove. My eyes look feebly on high. My Lord, I am in distress;<sup>740</sup> so<sup>741</sup> be my security. 15 What can I say, I tell myself, since he has done this to me?<sup>742</sup> I will walk slowly all my years because of the bitterness of my soul. 16 My Lord is against them yet they live,<sup>743</sup> and all of them<sup>744</sup> who live have his spirit.<sup>745</sup> Now you have restored my health and let me live. 17 Indeed, for my own good it was exceedingly bitter<sup>746</sup> for me. You yourself loved my life, delivering it from the pit of its confinement.<sup>747</sup> Yes, you have tossed all my sins behind your back. 18 For Sheol cannot glorify you, death cannot<sup>748</sup> praise you, and<sup>749</sup> those who descend into the grave cannot hope for your loyalty. 19 The living, it is the living who will praise you, as I do this day. Parents will make your faithful God known to their children. 20 O Lord, save me! The living, the living will praise you, as I do this day. Parents will make your loyalty known to their children. O Lord, save me!<sup>750</sup> And we will make music with stringed instruments all the days of our lives in the house of the Lord.<sup>751</sup>

21 Isaiah said, “Have them take<sup>752</sup> a cake of figs and apply it to the boil so that he may recover.” 22 Hezekiah said, “What will be the sign for me to go up to the house of the Lord?”<sup>753</sup>

- The original scribe stopped after the opening words of verse 20; then a second scribe inserted additional text: a repetition of verse 19 and the beginning of 20, plus the rest of 20. Yet a third scribe added the two odd sentences in 21–22, which occur in 2 Kings 20, after verse 39. The resulting text (without the repetition) agrees with the text transmitted by the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint.

39<sup>1</sup> At that time Merodach-baladan son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a gift to Hezekiah, when<sup>754</sup> he heard that he had been sick but he lived.<sup>755</sup> 2 Hezekiah was delighted that they came and showed them all of his<sup>756</sup> treasure-houses: the silver, gold, spices, precious oil, all his armor, and everything that was in his storehouses. There was nothing in his palace or his entire kingdom<sup>757</sup> that Hezekiah failed to show them. 3 Then the prophet Isaiah came to King Hezekiah and said to him, “What did these men say, and where did they come from to visit you?” Hezekiah said, “From a far country—they came to visit me from Babylon.” 4 Then he said, “What did they see in your palace?” Hezekiah answered, “They saw everything in my palace. There is nothing in my storehouses that I did not show them.” 5 Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, “Listen to the word of the Lord of hosts: 6 The time will indeed come when everything that is in your palace and that your ancestors have stored up till now will be carried<sup>758</sup> to Babylon. They will come in, and<sup>759</sup> nothing will be left, says the Lord. 7 Some of your own sons who will have come from your loins,<sup>760</sup> whom you will have begotten, they will take away to be<sup>761</sup> eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.” 8 Then Hezekiah said to Isaiah, “The word of the Lord which you have spoken is good,” since he thought, “There will be peace and stability in my lifetime.”

401 Comfort, comfort my people! says your God. 2 Speak tenderly to Jerusalem,<sup>762</sup> and declare to her that her hard service is completed,<sup>763</sup> that her punishment is accepted. Indeed she has received from the Lord’s hand double for all her sins.

3 A voice cries out, “In the wilderness prepare the way of the Lord, and<sup>764</sup> in the desert make a smooth highway for our God. 4 Let every valley be raised and every mountain and hill be lowered. Let the uneven spots be leveled and the rough places made a plain. 5 The glory of the Lord will be revealed, and all flesh together will see it. The mouth of the Lord has spoken.”

6 A voice says, “Proclaim!” So I<sup>765</sup> said, “What am I to proclaim?” “All flesh is grass, and all its beauty is like the flowers of the field. 7 The grass withers, the flowers fade, when the breath of . . . . blows on it.” (Surely the people are the grass.) 8 The grass<sup>766</sup> wITHERS, the flowers fade, but the word of our God,<sup>767</sup> but the word of our God<sup>768</sup> stands forever.

■ The original scribe either wrote an early, short form of Isaiah 40:7–8 or skipped some original text; the early, short form is more likely, since it makes sense by itself and the Septuagint has the identical short form. In either case a later scribe filled in the longer form, repeating “but the word of our God,” which the original scribe had already written. That later scribe is the same one who copied the Rule of the Community (1QS) from Cave 1, and he used four dots as a substitute for the divine name yhw.

9 Climb up a high mountain, messenger to Zion! Raise your voice powerfully, messenger to Jerusalem! Raise it; do not be afraid! Say to the cities of Judah, “Here is your God!” 10 Look, the Lord God comes with power, and his arm rules for him. Look, his payment is with him, and his reward before him. 11 Like a shepherd he pastures his flock; he gathers the lambs in his arms, carries them near his heart, and gently leads the nursing sheep.

12 Who has measured the waters of the sea<sup>769</sup> in his palm? marked out the heavens with his compass<sup>770</sup> and measured out the dust of the earth in a measuring bowl? weighed the mountains in scales and the hills in a balance?

13 Who has directed the spirit of the Lord, or as his counselor has taught him?<sup>771</sup>
14 With whom did he consult, to instruct him and guide him in the ways of justice? or taught him knowledge or showed him the ways of wisdom? 15 Look, the nations are like a drop from a bucket and are considered but dust on the balance. Look, he even<sup>772</sup> lifts up the islands like powder. 16 Lebanon is not sufficient fuel, nor are its beasts a sufficient burnt offering.<sup>773</sup> 17 All the nations are as nothing to him, and<sup>774</sup> he considers them as<sup>775</sup> nothingness and chaos.

■ Verses 14b–16 and the first two words of verse 20 were not written by the original scribe but were added by a later scribe in the space curiously left blank by the original scribe.

18 To whom will you compare me—God?<sup>776</sup> or what likeness will you compare to me?<sup>777</sup> 19 The idol?—a craftsman made the image,<sup>778</sup> and a smith with gold and<sup>779</sup> hammered it out and cast silver chains; 20 the poor person an offering,<sup>780</sup> wood that will not rot,<sup>781</sup> and chooses<sup>782</sup> a skillful artisan and<sup>783</sup> seeks<sup>784</sup> to set up an image that will not topple.

21 Have you not known? Have you not heard? Have you not been told from the beginning? Have you not understood from the foundations of the<sup>785</sup> earth? 22 He is the one who dwells above the disk of the earth, whose inhabitants are like grasshoppers. He is the one who stretches the skies like a curtain and spreads them out like a tent to dwell in, 23 who brings princes to nothing, who makes the judges of the earth like a void. 24 Scarcely are they planted, scarcely are they sown, scarcely have<sup>786</sup> their stalk taken root in the earth, and<sup>787</sup> then he blows<sup>788</sup> on them and they wither, and the whirlwind carries them away like stubble.

25 To<sup>789</sup> whom will you<sup>790</sup> compare me that I should be similar? says the Holy One. 26 Raise your eyes heavenward and see: Who has created these? He who draws out their host by number, who calls them all by name, by his great might and his<sup>791</sup> powerful strength, and<sup>792</sup> not one is missing. 27 Why do you say, Jacob, and claim, Israel, “My way is ignored by the Lord, and my case is passed over by my God?” 28 Do you not know? Have you not heard? The Lord is the eternal God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He does not faint, he does not grow weary, and<sup>793</sup> his understanding is unfathomable. 29 The<sup>794</sup> one who gives might to the faint will make power abound in those without strength. 30 Even youths faint and grow weary and young men collapse, 31 but those who wait for the Lord will renew their strength. Then<sup>795</sup> they will ascend with wings like eagles. They will run and not grow weary. They will march and not faint.

41 1 Be silent before me, coastlands, and let the peoples renew their strength. Let them come near then speak together; let us approach for a ruling. 2 Who has roused victory from the east and<sup>796</sup> summoned it to his path and<sup>797</sup> delivers nations before him and brings down<sup>798</sup> kings, and<sup>799</sup> makes their swords like dust, their bows like wind-driven<sup>800</sup> chaff? 3 And<sup>801</sup> he pursues them and<sup>802</sup> travels on safely, by a way that his feet had not known.<sup>803</sup> 4 Who has acted and done it, calling the generations from the beginning? I, the Lord, the first and with the last, I am he.

5 The coastlands have seen and are afraid. The ends of the earth, together,<sup>804</sup> they have drawn near and come.<sup>805</sup> 6 They all help their neighbor. They<sup>806</sup> say to each other, “Take heart.” 7 The carpenter encourages the smith, and the one who smoothes with the hammer<sup>807</sup> encourages the one who strikes the anvil. He says<sup>808</sup> of the soldering, “It is good,” and reinforces it with nails, so that it cannot loosen.

8 But you, Israel my servant, Jacob whom I have chosen, seed of Abraham my friend, 9 you whom I encouraged at the ends of the earth and called from its corners and said to you, “You are my servant. I have chosen you, and I have not rejected you.” 10 Do not fear, for I am with you. Do not be anxious, for I am your God. I strengthen you. I indeed help you. I indeed hold you up with my vindicating right hand. 11 Look!<sup>809</sup> All who are incensed at you will be disgraced and put to shame. Those who contend with you will all die.<sup>810</sup> 12 Those who quarrel with you will be nothing,<sup>811</sup> and non-existent those who fight you. 13 For I am the Lord your God, who strengthens your right hand, who says to you, “Do not be afraid. I will help you.” 14 Do not fear, you worm Jacob and<sup>812</sup> people of Israel. I will help you,<sup>813</sup> says the Lord and your<sup>814</sup> Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel.

15 See, I will make you<sup>815</sup> into a new, sharp, multi-edged thresher. You will thresh and crush mountains and turn the hills to chaff. 16 You will winnow them, and the wind will carry them away, and the whirlwind will scatter them. You will rejoice in the Lord, and<sup>816</sup> you will glory in the Holy One of Israel.

17 The poor, the needy, those seeking<sup>817</sup> water when there is none, whose tongues are parched with thirst—I, the Lord, will answer them. I, the God of Israel, will not abandon them. 18 I will open up rivers on the bare heights and fountains<sup>818</sup> in the midst of the valleys. I will make the<sup>819</sup> wilderness a pool of water and the dry land springs of water. 19 In the wilderness, I will put the cedar, the acacia, the myrtle, and the olive; in the desert, I will set the cypress, the yew,<sup>820</sup> and the elm together; 20 so that together they may see and recognize, consider<sup>821</sup> and comprehend, that the hand of the Lord has done this, and the Holy One of Israel created it.

21 Present your case, says the Lord. Submit your arguments, says the King of Jacob. 22 Let them approach and tell us what will happen.<sup>822</sup> The former things, what were they? Tell us, so that we may consider them and know. Or<sup>823</sup> the latter things or the things to come, let us hear. 23 Report on what is to come in the future, so that we may know that you are gods. Yes, do good or do evil, so that we together may hear<sup>824</sup> and see it. 24 Indeed, you and your work are nothing,<sup>825</sup> and whoever chooses you is an abomination. 25 You are<sup>826</sup> stirring one up from the north, and they are<sup>827</sup> coming from the rising of the sun. And<sup>828</sup> he is called by his<sup>829</sup> name. Rulers will come like mire<sup>830</sup> and like the potter, and<sup>831</sup> he will trample the clay. 26 Who has declared it from the beginning, that we may know? beforehand,<sup>832</sup> that we may say, “It is right”?<sup>833</sup> Indeed, no one declared it, no one made a proclamation, no one heard your words. 27 First, for Zion, there is slumber.<sup>834</sup> To Jerusalem, I will send a messenger. 28 When I look, no one is there among them, no one gives counsel or responds when I inquire of them. 29 Indeed, none of them exists, and<sup>835</sup> their works are nothing. Their molten images are formless wind.

421 Here is my servant, whom I support, my chosen, in whom my soul delights. I have placed my spirit on him so that<sup>836</sup> he may deliver his<sup>837</sup> justice to the nations. 2 He will not cry out or raise his voice or make it heard in the street. 3 A crushed reed he will not break, and a faintly burning wick he will not quench.<sup>838</sup> He will truly bring forth justice. 4 And<sup>839</sup> he will not grow faint or be crushed until he has established justice on earth; and the coastlands will inherit<sup>840</sup> his law.

5 Thus says the God, and God<sup>841</sup> who created the heavens and stretched them out, who spread out the earth and its produce, who gives breath to the people upon it, and spirit to those who walk on it: 6 I<sup>842</sup> have called you in righteousness and have taken hold of your hand. I have preserved you and established you as a covenant to the people,<sup>843</sup> as a light to the nations, 7 to open blind eyes, to lead those bound<sup>844</sup> out of the dungeon and<sup>845</sup> those sitting in darkness out of the prison.

8 I the Lord am the one, and<sup>846</sup> I will not give my name or my glory to another nor my praise to idols. 9 See, the former things have come about, and I am announcing the<sup>847</sup> new things. Before they unfold I am making you aware of them.

10 Sing to the Lord a new song and<sup>848</sup> his praise from the end of the earth, you who travel the sea and everything in it, coastlands and their inhabitants. 11 Let the desert cry out,<sup>849</sup> its cities and the<sup>850</sup> villages that Kedar inhabits, and<sup>851</sup> let the inhabitants of Sela sing for joy. Let them shout aloud<sup>852</sup> from the tops of the mountains. 12 Let them give glory to the Lord and declare his praise in the coastlands.

13 The Lord goes forth like a warrior. He fires up his furor like a man of war. Showing his anger, he shouts aloud.<sup>853</sup> He prevails against his enemies.

14 Certainly<sup>854</sup> I have kept silent for a long time. I have kept still and restrained myself. Now I will cry out like a woman giving birth; I will gasp and pant together. 15 I will devastate mountains and hills and dry up all their vegetation. I will make the rivers islands and dry up the ponds. 16 I will help the blind walk by a way that<sup>855</sup> they do not know. In paths they do not know I will lead them. I will make the dark places<sup>856</sup> before them light and rough places level. I will do these things and I will not abandon them. 17 Those who trust in idols will be turned back and<sup>857</sup> utterly shamed,<sup>858</sup> who say to images, “You are our gods.”

18 Listen, you who are deaf; look, you who are blind, and see. 19 Who is blind but my servant or deaf like my messenger whom I send? Who is blind like the one allied with me and blind like the Lord’s servant? 20 You have seen<sup>859</sup> many things, but you do not observe. His ears are open,<sup>860</sup> but he does not hear.

21 The Lord had desired, for the sake of his vindication, that<sup>861</sup> he should increase his torah and glorify it.<sup>862</sup> 22 Instead, this is a people despoiled and plundered. All of them are trapped in holes and hidden in prisons.<sup>863</sup> They have become prey whom no one rescues, a spoil<sup>864</sup> and no one says, “Restore.” 23 Who is among you that<sup>865</sup> will hear this? Indeed<sup>866</sup> let him pay attention and listen for the time to come. 24 Who gave Jacob over to be despoiled and Israel to plunderers? Was it not the Lord, against whom we have sinned, and in whose ways they were not willing to<sup>867</sup> walk and whose instruction they would not obey? 25 So he poured upon him the heat of his anger<sup>868</sup> and the fierceness<sup>869</sup> of war. It set hi[m] on fire all around, but he did not recognize it. It burned him, but he did not think about it.

431 But now thus says the Lord who created you, Jacob, and who formed you, Israel: Do not fear, for I have redeemed you. I have called you by name; you are mine. 2 When you pass through the waters, I will be with you, and through the rivers, they will not overwhelm you. When you walk through the fire, you will not be scorched, nor will the flame burn you.

3 I<sup>870</sup> am the Lord your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Redeemer.<sup>871</sup> And<sup>872</sup> I give Egypt for your ransom,<sup>873</sup> Cush and the people of Seba<sup>874</sup> in exchange for you. 4 Because you are precious in my sight and honored, and I love you, I give people in your stead and nations in exchange for your life. 5 Do not fear, for I am with you. I will bring your children from the east and gather you from the west. 6 I will say to the north, "Give up!" and to the south, "Do not hold back!" Bring<sup>875</sup> my sons from afar and my daughters from the ends<sup>876</sup> of the earth, 7 everyone who is called by my name, whom I created for my glory, whom I formed, whom I made. 8 Bring forth<sup>877</sup> the blind who have eyes and the deaf who have ears.

9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the peoples be assembled. Who is among them that<sup>878</sup> could declare<sup>879</sup> this or announce<sup>880</sup> the former things? Let them produce their witnesses so they can be vindicated. Let them proclaim<sup>881</sup> so people will say, "It is true."

10 You are my witnesses, says the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen, so that you might know and trust me and understand that I am the one; before me no God was formed nor will there be after me. 11 I, I am the Lord, and besides me there is no savior. 12 I declared, I saved, I made it known. There was no strange god among you. You are my witnesses, says the Lord: I am God. 13 From this day forth, I am the one, and no one can deliver out of my hand. I work, and who can undo it?

14 Thus says the Lord, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: For your sake I will send to Babylon,<sup>882</sup> and I will break down all the bars, and the Chaldeans' ringing cry will become lamentation. 15 I am the Lord, your Holy One, the Creator of Israel, your King. 16 Thus says the Lord, who makes a way in the sea and a path through the mighty waters, 17 who brings forth chariot and horse and<sup>883</sup> army and warrior together. They lie down, they cannot rise. They are extinguished, quenched like a wick.

18 Do not remember<sup>884</sup> the former things, nor consider the things of old. 19 I am about to do a new thing, and<sup>885</sup> it is now springing up. Do you not recognize it? I am making a road in the wilderness and paths<sup>886</sup> in the desert. 20 Wild animals, jackals and ostriches, will honor me, because I am putting<sup>887</sup> water in the wilderness and rivers in the desert, for my people, my chosen,<sup>888</sup> to drink, 21 the people which I formed for myself, and<sup>889</sup> that they might speak<sup>890</sup> my praise.

22 And<sup>891</sup> yet you have not invoked me, Jacob; indeed you are weary of me, Israel. 23 You have not brought me sheep for a burnt offering,<sup>892</sup> nor have you honored me with<sup>893</sup> your sacrifices. You have not made meal offerings for me.<sup>894</sup> I have not wearied you about frankincense. 24 You<sup>895</sup> have not bought me sweet cane with silver, nor satisfied me with the fat of your sacrifices. Instead, you have burdened me with your sins; you have wearied me with your iniquities.

25 I, I am the one who blots out your transgression<sup>896</sup> for my own sake, and I will remember your sins no longer.<sup>897</sup> 26 Recall it for me. Let us argue together. Present your case, so that you may be vindicated. 27 Your first ancestor sinned, and your interpreters have transgressed against me. 28 Therefore I profaned the holy princes; I devoted Jacob to destruction, and Israel to reviling.

441 But now hear, Jacob my servant and Israel whom I have chosen: 2 Thus says the Lord who made you, and formed you from the womb, who will help<sup>898</sup> you: Do not fear, Jacob my servant and Jeshurun whom I have chosen. 3 For I will pour water upon thirsty ground and streams on parched land. Just so<sup>899</sup> will I pour my spirit upon your descendants and my blessing upon your posterity. 4 They<sup>900</sup> will spring up<sup>901</sup> like<sup>902</sup> that which grows in the green grass, like willows by watercourses. 5 One will say, “I am the Lord’s,” and another will go by the name of Jacob, and another will have inscribed on his hand, “the Lord’s,” and adopt the name of Israel.

6 Thus says the Lord, the King of Israel and its Redeemer, the Lord of hosts is his name:<sup>903</sup> I am the first and I am the last, and apart from me there is no God. 7 Who is like me? Let him proclaim and announce it and set it in order for himself,<sup>904</sup> making them<sup>905</sup> an ancient people. And the future let him say; what<sup>906</sup> is to come let them declare to them.

8 Do not be in awe. Do not be afraid.<sup>907</sup> Have I not declared to you of old? I announced it. You are my witnesses. Is there a god besides me? I know that there is no other rock. 9 Now,<sup>908</sup> all forming of<sup>909</sup> images is nothing, and the things they value will not profit. Their own witnesses do not see; they<sup>910</sup> do not know. So they will be put to shame.

10 Who would fashion a god or cast an image that is useless? 11 Certainly, all associated with it will be put to shame. The artisans, they are only human. Let them all gather together and<sup>911</sup> stand up. Then<sup>912</sup> let them be in awe. They will be put to shame together. 12 The ironworker prepares a tool with the coals and hammer, and<sup>913</sup> fashions it, working by the strength of his arm. Yes, if he were hungry, he would have no strength. If he were to drink no water, he would become faint.

13 The woodworker stretches it<sup>914</sup> out with a line; he traces its shape with a stylus. He fashions<sup>915</sup> it with planes and shapes it with a compass. He makes it like a human figure, with human beauty, to dwell in a shrine.

14 He cuts down cedars and takes a holm tree [or an o]ak. He secures for himself trees from the forest. He plants a fir tree, and the rain makes it grow. 15 He divides it up<sup>916</sup> for humans to burn. He takes part of it and warms himself. He kindles a fire and bakes bread. Or perhaps<sup>917</sup> he constructs a god and worships it; he makes it an idol and bows down to it. 16 Half of it he burns in the fire, and<sup>918</sup> over<sup>919</sup> that half is meat so he may eat. He sits by its coals, warms himself,<sup>920</sup> and says, “Ah, I am warm in front of<sup>921</sup> the fire.” 17 The remainder of it he makes into a god. To blocks of wood he<sup>922</sup> bows down to it and worships, prays to it and says, “Deliver me, for you are my god.”

18 They do not know. They do not understand. For their eyes are smeared, they cannot see; and their minds, they cannot think. 19 No one gives it any thought; there is no knowledge or understanding to think to think,<sup>923</sup> “Half of it I burned in the fire. I also baked food on its coals. And<sup>924</sup> I roasted meat and ate it. And<sup>925</sup> the rest of it I will make into abominations?<sup>926</sup> Will I bow down to blocks<sup>927</sup> of wood?” 20 He tends ashes. A deceived mind has turned him from the way. It cannot his life,<sup>928</sup> nor does he say, “There is a lie in my right hand.”<sup>929</sup> 21 Remember these things, Jacob, Israel,<sup>930</sup> for you are my servant. I have formed you; you are a servant to me. Israel,<sup>931</sup> you must not mislead me.<sup>932</sup>

22 I have blotted out your transgression like a cloud and your sins like mist. Return to me; for I have redeemed you. 23 Shout, heavens, for the Lord has done it. Shout aloud, depths of the<sup>933</sup> earth. Burst out with singing, mountains, forest, and every tree in it. For the Lord has redeemed Jacob and will glorify himself in Israel. 24 Thus says the Lord, your Redeemer and the one who formed you in the womb: I am the Lord who made everything, who alone stretched out the heavens, who spread out the earth unassisted; 25 who frustrates the omens of the idle talkers and makes diviners mad, who turns the sages back and renders their knowledge foolish;<sup>934</sup> 26 who confirms the word of his servant and brings to fruition the counsel of his messengers; who says of Jerusalem, “It will be inhabited,” and of the cities of Judah, “They will be rebuilt, and I will raise up their ruins”; 27 who says to the deep, “Be dry; I will dry up your rivers”; 28 who says of Cyrus, “He is my shepherd and will carry out everything I desire,” saying of Jerusalem, “It will be rebuilt,” and of my<sup>935</sup> temple, “Your foundation will be laid again.”

451 Thus says the Lord to his anointed, Cyrus, whose right hand I have strengthened to subdue nations before him, as I expose the loins of kings, to open the doors<sup>936</sup> before him and gates they cannot keep shut: 2 I myself will go before you, and he<sup>937</sup> will make the mountains<sup>938</sup> level. I will shatter bronze doors, cut through iron bars. 3 I will give you concealed treasures and secret riches hidden away, so that you will know that I, the Lord, who call you by name, am the God of Israel. 4 For Jacob my servant’s sake, Israel<sup>939</sup> my chosen, I have called you, and he has established you with a name,<sup>940</sup> though you did not know me. 5 I am the Lord, and there is none else besides me; and there are no gods.<sup>941</sup> I will help you, though you did not know me, 6 so that they may know from east to west that there is none besides me. I am the Lord, and there is none else.

7 I form light and create darkness; I make goodness<sup>942</sup> and create evil. I am the Lord, who does all these things. 8 Shout out, skies above and clouds, and let righteousness stream down.<sup>943</sup> The one who says to the earth, “Let salvation blossom, and let righteousness sprout forth.”<sup>944</sup>

9 Woe to the one who contends with his makers,<sup>945</sup> being just a potsherd among the potsherds of the<sup>946</sup> earth. Woe to the one who says<sup>947</sup> [to] the one who [f]orms him, “What are you doing?” or “Your work has no human<sup>948</sup> hands?” 10 Woe to the<sup>949</sup> one who says to a father, “What are you begetting?” or to a woman, [“What are you] bearing?”

11 Thus says the Lord, the creator of the signs: Question me concerning my children, and concerning the work<sup>950</sup> [of my hands co]mmand me? 12 I myself made the earth and humanity I created upon it. My own hand stretched out the skies; I commanded all [their host]. 13 I have aroused him with righteousness, and I will make all his paths smooth. It is he who will rebuild [my city] and free my [ex]iles, not for price nor reward, says the Lord of hosts.

14 [Thus says] the Lord: The wealth of Egypt, and the merchandise of Cush, the<sup>951</sup> Sabceans, men of height,<sup>952</sup> will come over to you, and they will be yours. They will walk [behind you]; in chains they will come over. They will bow down to you; they will pray to you, “Surely God is in you; and there is no other [Go]d [at all].” 15 Truly you are a hidden God, O God of Israel, the Savior. 16 They will be shamed, indeed, disgraced, all of them to[gether]; the makers of idols will walk<sup>953</sup> in confusion. 17 But Israel will be saved by the Lord with everlasting salvation. You will not be shamed or disgraced ever again.

18 For thus says the Lord who created the heavens—he is God and<sup>954</sup> the one who fashioned the earth and made it; and<sup>955</sup> he is the one who established it; not for<sup>956</sup> chaos did he create it, but to be inhabited he formed it—I am the Lord and there is no other. 19 I have not spoken in secret, at a place in a land of darkness; I did not say to the descendants of Jacob, “Seek me in chaos”; I, the Lord, spea[k] righteousness, declaring what is right. 20 Assemble and enter; draw near and come,<sup>957</sup> escapees from the nations. Those who carry their wooden idols know nothing, nor do those who pray to a god that cannot save. 21 Explain, present a case, even let them take counsel together. Who announced this long ago, declared it of old? Was it not I, the Lord? There is no other god besides me; a just God and Savior, and<sup>958</sup> there is none besides me. 22 Turn to me and be saved, all the ends of the earth; for I am God, and there is no other. 23 By myself I have sworn, from my mouth righteousness has gone forth, a word that will not come back: that to me every knee will bow, and<sup>959</sup> every tongue will swear. 24 “Only in the Lord,” one will say<sup>960</sup> of me, “are victories and might; to him will come<sup>961</sup> all who were incensed against him and they will be shamed. 25 In the Lord all the descendants of Israel will have victory and glory.”

3 Listen<sup>966</sup> to me, house of Jacob, and all the remnant of the house of Israel, carried from birth, and<sup>967</sup> borne from the womb: 4 Even<sup>968</sup> till old age I am he, and even till I have grown gray I will carry you. It is I who have made, and I who will bear, and I who will carry and save. 5 To whom will you liken me, and consider me equal,<sup>969</sup> or compare me, that I<sup>970</sup> may seem similar? 6 Those who pour gold into<sup>971</sup> a purse and weigh silver in a balance hire a goldsmith, that he may make<sup>972</sup> a god; and<sup>973</sup> they prostrate themselves and even worship it. 7 And<sup>974</sup> they lift it<sup>975</sup> onto their shoulder and carry it and set it in its place. It stands there and does not move<sup>976</sup> from its place. Indeed, one may cry out to<sup>977</sup> it, but it cannot answer nor deliver anyone from distress.

8 Remember this, and remain firm; recall it to mind, you sinners. 9 Remember the former things of old; for I am God, and there is no other. I am God, and there is none like me, 10 declaring from the beginning things to follow,<sup>978</sup> and from ancient times things that have not yet happened, saying, My counsel will stand, and whatever I desire he<sup>979</sup> will do; 11 calling a bird of prey from the east, and from a distant country a man with his<sup>980</sup> purpose. Indeed, I have spoken, I will certainly bring it to pass; I planned it,<sup>981</sup> I will certainly do it. 12 Listen to me, you bold-hearted, who are far from triumph: 13 my triumph is brought near, and<sup>982</sup> it is not far off, and my deliverance, and<sup>983</sup> it will not tarry. I<sup>984</sup> will give deliverance in Zion, and<sup>985</sup> to Israel my glory.

471 Come down and sit in the dust, virgin daughter of Babylon. Sit on<sup>986</sup> the ground without a throne, daughter of the Chaldeans; for no more will they call<sup>987</sup> you delicate and attractive. 2 Take the millstones and grind meal. Remove your veil, strip off your robes,<sup>988</sup> uncover your leg, pass through the rivers. 3 Your nakedness will be<sup>989</sup> uncovered, and your shame will also be seen. I will exact vindication, and no mortal will I spare. 4 Our Redeemer—the Lord of hosts is his name, the Holy One of Israel. 5 Sit silent,<sup>990</sup> and enter into the darkness, daughter of the Chaldeans; for no more will they call<sup>991</sup> you mistress of kingdoms. 6 I was angry with my people, and<sup>992</sup> I profaned my heritage and gave them into your power. You<sup>993</sup> showed them no mercy; upon the elderly you laid<sup>994</sup> your yoke very heavily. 7 You said, “Always shall I be mistress forever.” You did not take<sup>995</sup> these things into your<sup>996</sup> thinking nor were you mindful<sup>997</sup> of their consequences.<sup>998</sup>

8 Now hear this, voluptuous one, sitting securely enthroned, who says in her heart: “I am the one, and there will be none besides me; I will not live as a widow, nor will I see<sup>999</sup> the loss of children.” 9 Both these things will come upon you suddenly on a single day: childlessness and widowhood. They will come upon you in full, despite the multitude of your incantations and your very powerful spells. 10 You trusted in your knowledge.<sup>1000</sup> You<sup>1001</sup> said, “No one sees me”—but your wisdom and your knowledge have misled you. You said in your heart,<sup>1002</sup> “I am the one, and there will be none besides me”— 11 but evil will come<sup>1003</sup> upon you and<sup>1004</sup> you will not know how to charm it away; disaster will befall you of which you will not be able to<sup>1005</sup> rid yourself, and devastation will come upon you suddenly, and<sup>1006</sup> you will have no foreknowledge of it.

12 But<sup>1007</sup> stand up now with your spells and with the multitude of your incantations, with which you have toiled<sup>1008</sup> from your youth until today<sup>1009</sup> 13 according to<sup>1010</sup> your multiple schemes. Let them stand up now and save you, those who conjure<sup>1011</sup> the heavens and<sup>1012</sup> gaze at the stars, predicting at the new moons what is about to happen to them.<sup>1013</sup> 14 See, they are like stubble that the fire burns. They did<sup>1014</sup> not deliver themselves from the power of the flame. This is no coal for warming oneself, no hearthfire to sit before. 15 So will those be to you, those with whom you have toiled,<sup>1015</sup> those with whom you have trafficked from your youth. They each wander on their far-off way; there is none to save you.

481 Hear this, house of Jacob, who are called by the name of Israel and have come forth from the loins<sup>1016</sup> of Judah, who swear by the name of the Lord and invoke the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in righteousness— 2 for they call themselves after the holy city, and rely upon the God of Israel; the Lord of hosts is his name: 3 I announced the former things long ago; it<sup>1017</sup> went forth out of my mouth, and I disclosed them. Suddenly I acted, and they came to pass.

■ In verse 4 the text from which the scribe copied apparently read “Because I knew that. . . .” But either that original copy or the scribe knew another tradition, recorded in the Masoretic Text, and so placed dots above and below three of the letters to yield “my knowledge” instead of “I knew.”

4 Because of my knowledge that you are stubborn, that your neck is an iron sinew, and your forehead brass, 5 I had declared it to you long ago; before it happened I had announced it to you, lest you should say, “My idol did them;

my<sup>1018</sup> carved or metal idol commanded them.” 6 You had heard it. Observe all this; and yourselves, will you not declare it? From now on, I make new things known to you, hidden things which<sup>1019</sup> you have not known. 7 They are created now, not long ago. Before today you<sup>1020</sup> had not heard them, lest you should say, “Look, I knew them.”<sup>1021</sup> 8 And<sup>1022</sup> neither had you<sup>1023</sup> heard, nor did you know, nor was your ear uncovered<sup>1024</sup> long ago. Indeed, I knew that<sup>1025</sup> you would act very deceitfully, and they would call<sup>1026</sup> you a rebel from the womb. 9 For my name’s sake I delay my anger, and for my beginning<sup>1027</sup> I restrain it for you, so that I need not cut you off.

10 Look, I have refined you, but not with silver; I have purified<sup>1028</sup> you in the furnace of affliction. 11 For my own sake, for my own sake, I do it; indeed, how can I be profaned?<sup>1029</sup> And my glory I will not give to another.

■ There are many minor variants between the scrolls and the Masoretic Text in the following passage. Many are probably inadvertent changes or misreadings, but the meaning is sometimes noticeably affected.

12 Listen to these things,<sup>1030</sup> Jacob, and Israel whom I have called: I am he; I am the first, I am also<sup>1031</sup> the last. 13 Moreover, my hands laid<sup>1032</sup> the foundation of the earth, and<sup>1033</sup> my right hand spread out the heavens. I call to them, and<sup>1034</sup> they stand up at once. 14 Let all of them assemble and listen.<sup>1035</sup> Who is there among them that could declare<sup>1036</sup> these things? The Lord loves me, and he will accomplish my purpose<sup>1037</sup> against Babylon, its<sup>1038</sup> army the Chaldeans. 15 I myself have spoken; indeed, I have called and<sup>1039</sup> I have brought him, and his path will be successful.<sup>1040</sup> 16 Draw near to me, and<sup>1041</sup> hear this: from the beginning I have not spoken in secret; at<sup>1042</sup> the time it came to be, I was there. And now the Lord God has sent me and his spirit.

17 Thus says the Lord, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: I am the Lord your God, who teaches you to profit, who leads you<sup>1043</sup> on the way by which<sup>1044</sup> you should go. 18 But<sup>1045</sup> would that you had paid attention to<sup>1046</sup> my commandments! Then your peace would be<sup>1047</sup> like a river, and your vindication like the waves of the sea. 19 Your descendants would be like the sand, and your offspring<sup>1048</sup> like the grains of sand. Their name would not be cut off or destroyed from before me.

22 And<sup>1053</sup> there is no peace, says the Lord, for the wicked.

491 Listen to me, O coastlands; pay<sup>1054</sup> attention, peoples from afar. The Lord has called me from the womb; while yet inside my mother my name he pronounced. 2 He made my mouth like a sharp sword; in the shadow of his hands<sup>1055</sup> he hid me. He made me like<sup>1056</sup> a polished arrow; in his quivers<sup>1057</sup> he concealed me. 3 He said to me, “You are my servant, Israel, in whom I will glorify myself.”

4 I<sup>1058</sup> said, “For nothing have I labored. I have exhausted my strength on worthlessness<sup>1059</sup> and on<sup>1060</sup> emptiness. Yet my cause is with the Lord, and my reward is with my God.”

5 And now says the Lord—who formed you<sup>1061</sup> from the womb as his servant, to bring Jacob back to him again, that Israel might be gathered to him;<sup>1062</sup> I have gained honor in the sight of the Lord, and my God has been my help<sup>1063</sup>— 6 he says, “It is too small a thing that you should be my servant, to raise up the tribes of Israel<sup>1064</sup> and bring back the preserved of Jacob.<sup>1065</sup> I will also give you as a light to the nations, to be my salvation to the ends<sup>1066</sup> of the earth.”

7 Thus says my Lord,<sup>1067</sup> the Lord your Redeemer, Israel,<sup>1068</sup> and his Holy One, to one despised,<sup>1069</sup> to ones abhorred<sup>1070</sup> as a nation, to a servant of rulers—kings see and rise, and princes<sup>1071</sup> will bow down, because of the Lord who is faithful, the Holy One of Israel, the one<sup>1072</sup> who chose you— 8 thus says the Lord: In a time of favor I will answer<sup>1073</sup> you, and in a day of salvation I will help<sup>1074</sup> you. I have protected you, and given you as a covenant of the people, to reestablish the land, to redistribute the inheritances that have been devastated; 9 saying to prisoners, “Come out!” and<sup>1075</sup> to those who are in darkness, “Go free!” They will feed upon all the mountains,<sup>1076</sup> and their pasture will be on all the heights. 10 They will not hunger or thirst, nor will the scorching desert or sun harm them; for one who has compassion on them will lead them and guide them along springs of water. 11 I will turn all my mountains into a road, and my highways will be elevated. 12 See, they will come from afar: these from the north and from the west, and others from the land of Syene.<sup>1077</sup>

13 Sing out, heavens, and rejoice, earth! Break out, mountains<sup>1078</sup> into song! The Lord is comforting<sup>1079</sup> his people and will have compassion upon his oppressed ones.

■ In the second clause of verse 14 the scribe of 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> first wrote “my Lord” (in agreement with the Masoretic Text), then wrote “my God” above it, at least as an alternative reading but probably as the preferred reading.

14 But Zion had said, “The Lord has abandoned me; my God<sup>1080</sup> has forgotten me.” 15 Can a woman forget her infant, lack compassion for the child of her womb? Even these may forget; I, however, I will not forget you. 16 Look, I have inscribed you upon the palms of my hands, and<sup>1081</sup> your walls are constantly before me. 17 Your builders<sup>1082</sup> are working faster than your destroyers, and those who devastated you will depart from you. 18 Look up<sup>1083</sup> all around and see: they have all gathered to come to you. As I live, says the Lord, you will be clothed with all of them like ornaments and adorn yourself with them like a bride. 19 Indeed, your ruins, your desolate places, your destroyed land—indeed now you will be too cramped for inhabitants, and those who would swallow you up will be far distant. 20 You will yet hear the children of your bereavement say, “This place is too cramped for me. Make space for me where I may settle.” 21 Then you will say to yourself, “Who has begotten these for me—though I was bereaved and barren, and<sup>1084</sup> an exile and cast away—who<sup>1085</sup> has raised these? Behold, I was left in solitude; these, from where did they come?”

22 For<sup>1086</sup> thus says the Lord:<sup>1087</sup> Watch, I will lift up my hand to the nations and raise my signal to the<sup>1088</sup> peoples. They will bring your sons in their arms, and your daughters will be carried on their shoulders. 23 Ho,<sup>1089</sup> kings will be your foster fathers and their princesses those nursing for you. They will bow to you with their faces to the earth and lick the dust of your feet. Then you will know that I am the Lord. Those who wait for me will not be shamed. 24 Can they seize prey<sup>1090</sup> from a warrior, or<sup>1091</sup> the captives of a tyrant<sup>1092</sup> be rescued? 25 Thus says the Lord: Even the prey<sup>1093</sup> of the warrior will be seized,<sup>1094</sup> and the captives<sup>1095</sup> of the tyrant will be rescued. I myself will oppose those who oppose you,<sup>1096</sup> and I myself will save your children. 26 Those who maltreat you I will make eat<sup>1097</sup> their own flesh; and they will be drunk with their own blood as with sweet wine. Then all flesh will know that I am the Lord, your Savior, and your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

501 Thus says the Lord: Where is your mother's divorce decree, by which I sent her away? Or to which of my creditors have I sold you? Look, because of your sins you were sold, and because of your transgressions your mother was sent away. 2 Why, when I came, was there no one there? When I called, was there no answer? Was my hand too limited to redeem? Have<sup>1098</sup> I no strength to rescue? Look, with my rebuke I dry up the sea, transform the rivers into a wilderness. Their fish stink for lack of water and die of thirst. 3 I spread darkness over the heavens and make sackcloth their covering.

4 My Lord the Lord has given me a learned tongue to know how to sustain the weary with words. And<sup>1099</sup> he stirs morning after morning, and<sup>1100</sup> he stirs my ear to listen like those being instructed. 5 My Lord God<sup>1101</sup> has opened my ear, and I did not rebel; I have not shrunk back. 6 I gave my back to those who beat me and my cheeks to those who pulled out the beard.<sup>1102</sup> My face I did not turn aside<sup>1103</sup> from insults and spitting. 7 My Lord the Lord will help me, so I will not be shamed. So I have made my face like flint, and I know that I will not be put to shame. 8 He who justifies me is near. Who will dispute with me? Let us stand up together. Who has a case against me? Let him approach me. 9 See, my Lord the Lord will help me. Who is it that will condemn me? See, they will all wear out like a garment; the moth will eat them. 10 Who among you revere<sup>1104</sup> the Lord, obeying the voice of his servant? Who walk<sup>1105</sup> in darkness<sup>1106</sup> and have no light? Let him trust in the name of the Lord, and rely upon his God. 11 But, all those<sup>1107</sup> who light a fire, who surround yourselves with torches, walk by the light of your fire, and by the torches that you have set ablaze. You will have this from my hand: you will lie down in the place of torment.

51 1 Listen to me, you who pursue righteousness, who seek the Lord. Look to the rock from which you were hewn, to the quarry from which you were dug. 2 Look to Abraham your father, and to Sarah who bore you. For when he was only one person I called him. I made him fruitful<sup>1108</sup> and made him many. 3 For the Lord will comfort Zion, comfort all her waste places. He will make her wilderness like Eden, and her desert like the garden of the Lord. Joy and gladness will be found<sup>1109</sup> in her, thanksgiving and the sound of music. Sorrow and mourning will flee away.<sup>1110</sup>

4 Pay attention to me, my people! Listen to me, my nation! For a law will go forth from me, and my justice will be a light for the peoples. I will quickly bring 5 my victory near; my salvation will go forth. His arm<sup>1111</sup> will judge<sup>1112</sup> the peoples, the coastlands will wait for him,<sup>1113</sup> and in his<sup>1114</sup> arm they will hope. 6 Raise your eyes to<sup>1115</sup> the heavens, and look to the earth beneath, and see who created these.<sup>1116</sup>

Its inhabitants will die like a gnat, but my salvation will be forever, and my victory will not fail.

7 Listen to me, you who know righteousness, people who have my law in their hearts. Do not fear the insults of mortals, nor be dismayed at their hateful words.<sup>1117</sup> 8 For the moth will eat them up like a garment, and the worm will eat them like wool; but my victory will be forever, and my salvation to all generations.

9 Awake, awake, be clothed with strength, arm of the Lord! Awake, as in the days of old, ancient times. Was it not you who broke<sup>1118</sup> Rehob<sup>1119</sup> to pieces, who pierced the sea monster? 10 Was it not you who dried up Sea, the waters of the great deep, who made in<sup>1120</sup> the depths of the sea a path for the redeemed to pass over? 11 The dispersed<sup>1121</sup> of the Lord will return, and enter Zion with singing. Everlasting joy will be<sup>1122</sup> upon their heads. They will attain<sup>1123</sup> joy and gladness, and<sup>1124</sup> sorrow and mourning will flee away.<sup>1125</sup>

12 I, I am he who comforts you. Who are you, that you are afraid of humans who will die, and of mortals made<sup>1126</sup> like grass? 13 that you forgot the Lord who made you, who stretched out the heavens and established the earth, and you continue to fear every day the fury of the oppressor since he is ready to destroy? Where is the fury of the oppressor?<sup>1127</sup> 14 Distress<sup>1128</sup> will quickly be freed. He will not die for the Pit, nor will he lack food.

15 I am the Lord your God, stirring up the sea, so that its waves roar—the Lord of Hosts is his name. 16 I<sup>1129</sup> have put my words in your mouth, and with the shadow of my hand have covered you, to plant the heavens and to establish the earth, to say to Zion, “You are my people.”

17 Awake, awake, stand up, Jerusalem, who drank at the hand of the Lord the cup of his anger. To the bottom of the cup of staggering you drank and drained it. 18 There is no one to guide you<sup>1130</sup> out of all the children she bore, none to take her by the hand out of all the children she raised. 19 These two things have come upon you—who will empathize with you? ruin and destruction, famine and the sword. Who will comfort you? 20 Your sons have fainted. They lie at the end of every street, like an antelope in a trap, filled with the anger of the Lord, the rebuke of your God.

21 Therefore listen to this, afflicted one, drunken<sup>1131</sup> one, but not with wine: 22 Thus says your Lord, the Lord your God, who pleads the cause of his people: See, I have taken out of your hand the cup of staggering. The deep cup of my anger you will never again drink. 23 I will put it into the hand of those who afflicted and oppressed you,<sup>1132</sup> who said to you, “Bow down, so that we may step over,” so that you had to make your back like the ground, like the street, for them to step over.

521 Awake, awake, put on strength,<sup>1133</sup> O Zion; put on your beautiful garments, O Jerusalem, the holy city; for the uncircumcised and the unclean will not enter you.<sup>1134</sup> 2 Shake yourself from the dust; and<sup>1135</sup> arise, and<sup>1136</sup> sit on your throne, O Jerusalem; loose the bonds from your neck, O captive daughter of Zion.

3 For thus says the Lord: You were sold for nothing; and you will be redeemed without money. 4 For thus says the Lord:<sup>1137</sup> My people went down long ago into Egypt to sojourn there; the Assyrian, too, has oppressed them without cause. 5 Now therefore, what<sup>1138</sup> am I doing here, says the Lord, seeing that my people are taken away without cause? Those who rule over them are deluded,<sup>1139</sup> says the Lord, and continually, all the day long, my name is blasphemed. 6 Therefore my people will know my name; in that day<sup>1140</sup> they will know that it is I who speaks; here am I.

■ In the moving poetry presented in 52:7–12, several differences are evident between 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> and the Masoretic Text. For example, the Masoretic Text ends verse 8 with “the return of the Lord to Zion,” whereas 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> goes on to read “with compassion,” thus reminding the reader that although God is a mighty king (cf. vs 7), he now comes in mercy. Another difference is found at the end of verse 12, where only 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> ends with “He is called the God of all the earth,” thus encouraging the exiles to leave Babylon with confidence, since God’s presence and power are universal, as was mentioned earlier in verse 10.

11 Depart, depart, go out from there, touch no unclean thing; go out from the midst of her. Purify yourselves, you who carry the vessels of the Lord. 12 For you will not go out in haste, nor will you go in flight; for the Lord will go before you, and the God of Israel will be your rear guard. He is called the God of all the earth.<sup>1149</sup>

■ The fourth Servant Song is found in Isaiah 52:13–53:12, and is quoted more frequently in the New Testament than any other Old Testament passage. As the translation indicates, 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> and the other scrolls preserving text from this Servant Song contain mostly small differences in comparison to the received text on which modern translations are based, but vs 11 is rather striking, with its emphasis on “lighT” (which is not found in the Masoretic Text). While it is possible that vs 3 reads: “. . . no majesty that we should look at ourselves, and no attractiveness that we should desire ourselves,” the Hebrew in 1QIsa<sup>a</sup> is more likely a different form from that found in the Masoretic Text and has the same meaning (“. . . look at him, . . . desire him”).

13 See, my servant will prosper, and<sup>1150</sup> he will be exalted and lifted up, and will be very high. 14 Just as many were astonished at you<sup>1151</sup>—so was he marred<sup>1152</sup> in his appearance, more than any human, and his form beyond that of the sons of humans<sup>1153</sup>— 15 so will he startle<sup>1154</sup> many nations. Kings will shut their mouths at him; for what had not been told them they will see; and what they had not heard they will understand.

531 Who has believed our message? And to whom<sup>1155</sup> has the arm of the Lord been revealed? 2 For he grew up before him like a tender plant, and like a root out of a dry ground; he had no form and he had no majesty<sup>1156</sup> that we should look at him,<sup>1157</sup> and had no attractiveness that we should desire him.<sup>1158</sup> 3 He was despised and rejected by others, and<sup>1159</sup> a man of sorrows, and familiar<sup>1160</sup> with suffering; and like one from whom people hide their faces and<sup>1161</sup> we despised him,<sup>1162</sup> and we did not value him.

4 Surely he has borne our sufferings, and carried our sorrows; yet we considered him stricken, and<sup>1163</sup> struck down by God, and afflicted. 5 But he was wounded for our transgressions, and<sup>1164</sup> he was crushed for our iniquities, and<sup>1165</sup> the punishment that made us whole was upon him, and by his bruises we are healed. 6 All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned, each of us, to his own way; and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all.

7 He was oppressed and he was afflicted, yet he did not open his mouth; like a lamb that is led to the slaughter, as<sup>1166</sup> a sheep that before its shearers is silent, so he did not open<sup>1167</sup> his mouth. 8 From detention and<sup>1168</sup> judgment he was taken away<sup>1169</sup>—and who can even think about his descendants?<sup>1170</sup> For he was cut off from the land of the living, he was stricken<sup>1171</sup> for the transgression of my people. 9 Then they made<sup>1172</sup> his grave with the wicked, and with rich people<sup>1173</sup> his tomb<sup>1174</sup>—although he had done no violence, nor was any deceit in his mouth.

10 Yet the Lord was willing to crush him, and he made him suffer.<sup>1175</sup> Although you make his soul an offering for sin, and<sup>1176</sup> he will see his offspring, and<sup>1177</sup> he will prolong his days, and the will of the Lord will triumph in his hand. 11 Out of the suffering of his soul he will see light,<sup>1178</sup> and<sup>1179</sup> find satisfaction. And<sup>1180</sup> through his knowledge his servant,<sup>1181</sup> the righteous one, will make many righteous, and he will bear their iniquities. 12 Therefore will I allot him a portion with the great, and he will divide the spoils with the strong; because he poured out his life to death, and was numbered with the transgressors; yet he bore the sins<sup>1182</sup> of many, and made intercession for their transgressions.<sup>1183</sup>

541 Sing, O woman barren and<sup>1184</sup> who never bore a child; burst into song, and shout for joy, and<sup>1185</sup> you who were never in labor! For the children of the desolate woman will be more than the children of her that is married, says the Lord. 2 Enlarge the place of your tent, and let the curtains of your dwellings be stretched wide; and<sup>1186</sup> do not hold back, lengthen your cords, and strengthen your stakes. 3 For you will spread out to the right hand and to the left, and your descendants<sup>1187</sup> will possess<sup>1188</sup> the nations and will populate the deserted towns.

4 Do not be afraid; for you will not be ashamed; and do not fear shame, for you will not be humiliated. For you will forget the disgrace of your youth, and the reproach of your widowhood you will remember no more. 5 For your maker is your husband; the Lord of hosts is his name, and the Holy One of Israel is your Redeemer; he is called the God of the whole earth. 6 For the Lord has called you back like a wife deserted and grieved in spirit, like the wife of a man's youth when she is cast off, says the Lord your God.<sup>1189</sup> 7 For a brief moment

I abandoned you; but with great compassion I will gather you. 8 In a surge of anger I hid my face from you for a moment, but with my<sup>1190</sup> everlasting lovingkindness I will have compassion on you, says the Lord your Redeemer.

9 For this is to me like the waters of Noah: when I swore that the waters of Noah would never again go over the earth, so have I sworn that I will not be angry with you again<sup>1191</sup> and will not rebuke you. 10 For the mountains may collapse and the hills reel,<sup>1192</sup> but my steadfast love will not depart from you, neither will my covenant of peace totter, says the Lord who has compassion on you.

11 O afflicted (city), passed back and forth<sup>1193</sup> and not comforted, behold, I am about to set your stones in antimony and lay your foundations with sapphires. 12 And I will make your battlements of rubies, and your gates of jewels, and all your walls of precious stones. 13 And all your children will be taught by the Lord; and great will be your children's prosperity. 14 In righteousness you will be established; you will be far from tyranny, for you will not be afraid, and far from terror, for it will not come near you. 15 See, if anyone does attack you, it will not be from me; whoever will attack<sup>1194</sup> you, they will fall<sup>1195</sup> because of you. 16 See, it is I who have created the blacksmith who fans coals in the fire, and produces a weapon for his purpose. It is I<sup>1196</sup> who have created the ravager to wreak havoc. 17 No weapon that is forged against you will be effective.<sup>1197</sup> This is the heritage of the Lord's servants, and their righteousness from me, says the Lord.

551 Ho, everyone who is thirsty, come to the waters; and you that have no money, come, buy<sup>1198</sup> wine and milk without money and at no cost. 2 Why spend your money on what is not bread, and your labor on what does not satisfy?<sup>1199</sup> Listen carefully to me, and eat what is good, and let your soul delight itself in rich food. 3 Incline your ear, and come to me; and<sup>1200</sup> listen, so that you may live; and I will make<sup>1201</sup> with you an everlasting covenant, my faithful, sure love for David. 4 See, I have made him a witness to the peoples, a leader and commander of the peoples. 5 See, you will call a nation that you do not know, and a nation that does not know<sup>1202</sup> you will run<sup>1203</sup> to you, because of the Lord your God, even<sup>1204</sup> the Holy One of Israel, for he has glorified you.

6 Seek the Lord while he<sup>1205</sup> may be found, call upon him while he is near. 7 Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous person his thoughts; let him return to the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him, and to our God, for he will freely pardon. 8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, nor are your ways my ways, declares the Lord. 9 For as<sup>1206</sup> the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts.

10 For as the rain and snow come down from heaven, and do not return there without watering the earth and making it bring forth and sprout, yielding seed for the sower and bread for eating,<sup>1207</sup> 11 so will my word be that goes out of my mouth; it will not return to me empty, but it will accomplish what I desire, and achieve the purpose for which I sent it.

12 For you will go out in joy, and come back<sup>1208</sup> with peace; the mountains and the hills will burst into song before you, and all the trees of the fields will clap their hands. 13 Instead of thorn bushes pine trees will grow, and<sup>1209</sup> instead of briars myrtles will grow; and they<sup>1210</sup> will be for the Lord's sign and for an everlasting renown<sup>1211</sup> that will not be cut down.

561 For<sup>1212</sup> thus says the Lord: Maintain justice, and do what is right, for soon my salvation will come, and soon my deliverance will be revealed. 2 Blessed is the one who does this, and the person that holds it fast, who observes the sabbath without profaning it,<sup>1213</sup> and restrains his hands<sup>1214</sup> from doing any evil.

3 Let<sup>1215</sup> no foreigner who has joined himself to the Lord say, "The Lord will surely exclude me from his people"; and let no eunuch say, "I am just a dry tree." 4 For thus says the Lord: To the eunuchs who observe my sabbaths, and who choose the things that please me and hold fast my covenant: 5 to them I will give in my house and within my walls a monument and a name better than sons and daughters. I will give them<sup>1216</sup> an everlasting name that will not be cut off.

6 Also the foreigners who join themselves to the Lord,<sup>1217</sup> to be his servants, and to bless the Lord's name and observing<sup>1218</sup> the sabbath without profaning it, and who hold fast my covenant: 7 these I will bring to my holy mountain, and make them joyful in my house of prayer. Their burnt offerings and their sacrifices will rise up to be accepted<sup>1219</sup> on my altar; for my house will be called a house of prayer for all peoples. 8 Thus says the Lord God, who gathers the outcasts of Israel: I will gather still others to them besides those already gathered.<sup>1220</sup>

9 All you wild animals,<sup>1221</sup> come and devour—even<sup>1222</sup> all you wild animals.<sup>1223</sup> 10 His watchmen<sup>1224</sup> are blind, they are all without knowledge; they are all mute dogs, they cannot bark; they dream, lie down, love to sleep. 11 The dogs have a voracious appetite, they can never have enough. And as for them, they are the<sup>1225</sup> shepherds who lack understanding; they have all turned to their own way, each one to his gain, each and every one. 12<sup>1226</sup> Come, they say, let us<sup>1227</sup> fetch wine, and let us fill ourselves with strong drink! And tomorrow will be like today,<sup>1228</sup> or even much better.

3 But as for you—come here, you children of a sorceress, you offspring of adulterers and prostitutes!<sup>1236</sup> 4 Whom are you mocking? And<sup>1237</sup> against whom do you make a wide mouth and stick out your tongue? Are you not children of transgression, the offspring of lies, 5 you who burn with lust among the oaks, under every spreading tree, who slaughter your children in the ravines, under the clefts of the rocks? 6 Among the smooth stones of the ravines is your portion. There they go as<sup>1238</sup> your lot; to them you have poured out drink offerings, you have brought grain offerings. Am I to be appeased for these things? 7 You have made your bed on a high and lofty mountain, and there you went up to offer sacrifice. 8 Behind the doors and the doorposts you have set up your pagan sign; for in deserting me you have uncovered your bed, you have climbed up into it and have opened it wide, and you<sup>1239</sup> have made a pact for yourself with them; you have loved their bed, you have looked on their penis. 9 You went to Molech<sup>1240</sup> with olive oil and increased your perfumes; you sent your ambassadors far away, you sent them down to Sheol itself! 10 You grew weary with your many wanderings,<sup>1241</sup> but you would not say, “It is useless.” You found new strength for your desire, and so you felt no regret.

11 Whom did you dread and you feared me,<sup>1242</sup> that you lied and you did not remember me and<sup>1243</sup> did not lay to heart these things?<sup>1244</sup> Have I not kept silent for a long time, and so that you do not fear me? 12 I will denounce your righteousness<sup>1245</sup> and your works, for your contingents<sup>1246</sup> (of idols) will not benefit you. 13 When you cry out, let your contingents deliver you! The wind will carry them all off, and<sup>1247</sup> a mere breath will take them all away. But whoever<sup>1248</sup> takes refuge in me will possess the land, and inherit my holy mountain.

14 And one has said,<sup>1249</sup> “Build up, build up the road,<sup>1250</sup> prepare the highway! Remove every obstacle from my people’s way.” 15 For thus says the high and lofty One who inhabits eternity, whose name is Holy: he will dwell<sup>1251</sup> in the height and in the holy place,<sup>1252</sup> and also with the one who is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite. 16 For I will not accuse forever, nor will I always be angry; for then the spirit would grow faint before me—the souls that I have created. 17 At his wicked covetousness I was angry and I struck him, and<sup>1253</sup> I hid my face and was angry—but he kept turning back in his willful ways.<sup>1254</sup> 18 I have seen his ways,<sup>1255</sup> but I will heal him,<sup>1256</sup> and restore to him<sup>1257</sup> comfort<sup>1258</sup> to him and to those who mourn for him,<sup>1259</sup> when<sup>1260</sup> I create the fruit of the lips, (saying), 19 Peace<sup>1261</sup> to the one who is far away and near, says the Lord, and I will heal him. 20 But the wicked are tossed like the sea;<sup>1262</sup> for it is not able to<sup>1263</sup> keep still, and its waters toss up mire and mud. 21 But<sup>1264</sup> there is no peace, says my God, for the wicked.

581 Shout aloud, do not hold back! Lift up your voice like a trumpet! Declare to my people their rebellions,<sup>1265</sup> and to the house of Jacob their sins. 2 They<sup>1266</sup> seek me day after day,<sup>1267</sup> and are eager to know my ways, as if they were a nation that practices righteousness and has not forsaken the justice of their God. They ask me for just decisions; they are eager to draw near to God. 3 Why have we fasted (they say), but you do not see? Why have we humbled ourselves,<sup>1268</sup> but you take no notice? Look, on your fast day you serve your own interest and oppress all your workers. 4 Look, you fast only for quarreling, and for<sup>1269</sup> fighting, and for hitting with wicked fists. You cannot fast as you do today and have your voice heard on high. 5 Is this the kind of fast that I have chosen, only a day for a person to humble himself? Is it only for bowing down one's head like a bulrush, for lying<sup>1270</sup> on sackcloth and ashes? Is this what you<sup>1271</sup> call a fast, an<sup>1272</sup> acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the<sup>1273</sup> fast that<sup>1274</sup> I choose: to loose the bonds of injustice, and<sup>1275</sup> to untie the cords of the yoke, and<sup>1276</sup> to let the oppressed go free, and to break every yoke? 7 Is it not to share your bread with the hungry, and to bring the homeless poor into your house; when you see the naked, to cover him with clothing,<sup>1277</sup> and not to raise yourself up<sup>1278</sup> from your own flesh and blood? 8 Then your light will break forth like the dawn, and your healing will spring up quickly; and your vindication will go before you, and<sup>1279</sup> the glory of the Lord will be your rear guard. 9 Then you will call, and the Lord will answer; you will cry for help, and he will say, Here I am.

If you do away with the yoke among you, and<sup>1280</sup> with the pointing finger, and with evil talk, 10 if you spend yourself for the hungry and satisfy the needs of the afflicted soul, then your light will rise in darkness, and your gloom will be like the noonday. 11 And the Lord will guide you always, and satisfy your soul in parched places,<sup>1281</sup> and they will<sup>1282</sup> strengthen your bones; and you will be like a watered garden, like a spring of water, whose waters never fail. 12 And your people will rebuild the ancient ruins; you will raise up the age-old foundations,<sup>1283</sup> and people will call you<sup>1284</sup> Repairer of the Breach, Restorer of Streets to Live In.

13 If you keep your feet from trampling the sabbath, from<sup>1285</sup> pursuing your own interests on my holy day, if you call the sabbath a delight and<sup>1286</sup> the Lord's holy day honorable; and if you honor it by not going your own ways<sup>1287</sup> and<sup>1288</sup> seeking your own pleasure or speaking idle words— 14 then you will take delight in the Lord, and he<sup>1289</sup> will make you ride upon the heights of the earth; and he<sup>1290</sup> will feed you with the heritage of your ancestor Jacob—yes, the mouth of the Lord has spoken.

59<sup>1</sup> See, the Lord's hand is not too short to save, nor his ears<sup>1291</sup> too dull to hear. 2 Instead, your iniquities have been barriers between you and your God, and your sins have concealed his face from you so that he does not hear. 3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity; your tongue<sup>1292</sup> mutters wickedness. 4 No one sues fairly, and no one pleads his case honestly; they have relied<sup>1293</sup> on empty arguments and speak lies; they conceive<sup>1294</sup> trouble and give birth to<sup>1295</sup> iniquity. 5 They hatch<sup>1296</sup> adders' eggs<sup>1297</sup> and weave<sup>1298</sup> a spider's web; whoever eats their eggs dies, and a crushed (egg) hatches out futility.<sup>1299</sup> 6 Their webs cannot become clothing, they cannot cover<sup>1300</sup> themselves with what they make. Their deeds are deeds of iniquity, and acts of violence are in their hands. 7 Their feet rush into evil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood. Their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity; ruin, destruction, and violence<sup>1301</sup> are in their highways. 8 The way of peace they do not know, and there is no justice in their paths. They have made their roads crooked; no one who walks in them knows peace.

9 Therefore justice is far from us, and righteousness does not reach us. We wait for light, but see—there is darkness; (we wait) for brightness, but we walk in darkness.<sup>1302</sup> 10 Let us grope<sup>1303</sup> along the wall like the blind, let us grope like those who have no eyes; we stumble at midday as in the twilight, among vigorous<sup>1304</sup> people we are like the dead. 11 We all growl like bears, we<sup>1305</sup> moan mournfully like doves; we look for justice, but there is none; and<sup>1306</sup> for deliverance, but it is far from us. 12 For our transgressions before you are many, and our sins testify<sup>1307</sup> against us; for our transgressions are with us, and as for our iniquities, we acknowledge them: 13 they have rebelled,<sup>1308</sup> and denying the Lord, and turning away from following our God, and they have spoken<sup>1309</sup> oppression and revolt, and uttering<sup>1310</sup> lying words from the heart. 14 I will drive back justice,<sup>1311</sup> and righteousness stands at a distance; for truth has fallen in the public squares, and uprightness cannot enter. 15 Truth is absent, and whoever avoids evil is plundered.

And the Lord saw this, and it displeased him that there was no justice. 16 He saw that there was no one, and was appalled that there was no one to intervene; so his own arm brought him victory, and his righteous acts<sup>1312</sup> upheld him. 17 He put on righteousness like a breastplate, and a helmet of salvation on his heads;<sup>1313</sup> he put on garments of vengeance for clothing, and wrapped himself in fury like a mantle. 18 According to their actions, so he will repay—wrath to his enemies, retribution to his foes; to the coastlands he will render requital. 19 So will they fear the name of the Lord from the west, and his glories<sup>1314</sup> from the rising of the sun; for he will come as a pent-up stream that the breath of the Lord drives along.

20 And a Redeemer will come to Zion, to those in Jacob who turn from transgression, says the Lord. 21 And as for me, this is my covenant with them,<sup>1315</sup> says the Lord: and<sup>1316</sup> my spirit that is upon you, and my words that I have put in your mouth, will not depart from your mouth, or from the mouths of your children, or from the mouths of your children's children,<sup>1317</sup> from now on and forever.

601 Arise, shine; for your light has come, the glory<sup>1318</sup> of the Lord has risen upon you. 2 For see, darkness will cover the earth and thick darkness the peoples, but the Lord will arise upon you, and his glory will appear over you. 3 Nations will come to your light, and kings before<sup>1319</sup> your dawn.

4 Lift up your eyes and look around: they all assemble, they come to you; your sons will come from far away, and your daughters will be carried on the hip.<sup>1320</sup> 5 Then you will look and be radiant; your heart will swell with joy,<sup>1321</sup> because the wealth of the seas will be brought to you, the riches of the nations will come to you. 6 A multitude of camels will cover you, the young camels of Midian and Ephu;<sup>1322</sup> all those from Shebu<sup>1323</sup> will come. They will bear gold and frankincense, and proclaim the praise of the Lord. 7 All Kedar's flocks will be gathered to you, the rams of Nebaioth will serve you; and<sup>1324</sup> they will come up with acceptance upon<sup>1325</sup> on my altar, and I will glorify my glorious house.

8 Who are these that fly like clouds, and like doves to their dovecotes?<sup>1326</sup> 9 For the coastlands will wait for me, the ships of Tarshish in the lead, to bring my<sup>1327</sup> children from far away, their silver and gold with them, for the name of the Lord your God, and for the Holy One of Israel, because he has glorified you. 10 Foreigners will rebuild your walls, and their kings will serve you. Though in my wrath I struck you down, in my favor I have shown you mercy. 11 Your gates will always stand open, day or night, and<sup>1328</sup> they will not be shut, so that nations will bring you their wealth, with their kings led in procession. 12 For the nation or kingdom that will not serve you will perish; those nations will be utterly ruined. 13 He has given you<sup>1329</sup> the glory of Lebanon, and it will come<sup>1330</sup> to you, the cypress, and the plane,<sup>1331</sup> and the pine, to adorn the place of my sanctuary; and I will glorify the place where my feet rest. 14 All<sup>1332</sup> the descendants of those who oppressed you will come bowing low before you, and all who despised you will bow down at your feet; they will call you the City of the Lord, Zion of the Holy One of Israel. 15 Although you have been forsaken and hated, with no one traveling through, I will make you the everlasting pride, the joy of all generations. 16 You will suck the milk of nations, you will suck the breasts of kings; then you will know that I, the Lord, am your Savior and your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

17 Instead of bronze I will bring gold, and instead of iron I will bring silver; instead of wood, bronze, and instead of stones, iron. I will appoint Peace as your sentry and Righteousness as your taskmaster. 18 And<sup>1333</sup> violence will no longer be heard in your land, nor devastation or destruction within your borders; you will call your walls Salvation, and your gates Praise. 19 The sun will no longer be your light by day, nor for brightness will the moon shine on you by night;<sup>1334</sup> for the Lord will be your everlasting light, and your God will be your glory. 20 Your sun will not<sup>1335</sup> set, or your moon withdraw itself; for the Lord will be your everlasting light, and your days of mourning will end. 21 Then your people will all be righteous; they will possess the land forever. They are the shoot<sup>1336</sup> that the Lord planted,<sup>1337</sup> the works of his hands,<sup>1338</sup> so that I might be glorified. 22 The least of them will become a thousand, and the smallest one a mighty nation. I am the Lord; in its time I will do this quickly.

611 The spirit of the Lord<sup>1339</sup> is upon me, because the Lord has anointed me; he has sent me to bring good news to the oppressed, and<sup>1340</sup> to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim freedom for the captives, and release from darkness<sup>1341</sup> for the prisoners; 2 to proclaim the year of the Lord’s favor, the day<sup>1342</sup> of vengeance of our God; to comfort all who mourn; 3 to provide for those who mourn in Zion—to bestow on them a garland instead of ashes, the oil of gladness instead of mourning, a mantle of praise instead of a disheartened spirit. And people will call them<sup>1343</sup> oaks of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, in order to display his splendor. 4 They will rebuild the ancient ruins, they will restore the places formerly devastated; they will repair the ruined cities, they will erect again<sup>1344</sup> the places devastated for many generations. 5 Strangers will stand and feed your flocks, foreigners will work your land and dress your vines; 6 but you will be called priests of the Lord, and<sup>1345</sup> you will be named ministers of our God. You will feed on the wealth of the nations, and in their riches you will glory. 7 Instead of your shame (you will receive) double, and instead of dishonor they will rejoice in your lot;<sup>1346</sup> therefore you<sup>1347</sup> will inherit a double portion in their land,<sup>1348</sup> everlasting joy will be yours.<sup>1349</sup>

8 For I the Lord love justice, and<sup>1350</sup> I hate robbery and iniquity; I will faithfully give (you) your reward<sup>1351</sup> and make an everlasting covenant with you.<sup>1352</sup> 9 Your<sup>1353</sup> descendants will be known among the nations, and your<sup>1354</sup> offspring among the peoples; all who see them will acknowledge them, that they are a people whom the Lord has blessed. 10 I shall greatly rejoice in the Lord, my soul will delight in my God; for he has clothed me with garments of salvation, he has arrayed me in a robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom, as a priest<sup>1355</sup> with a garland, and as a bride adorns herself with her jewels. 11 For as the soil brings forth its shoots, and as a garden makes what is sown in it spring up, so the Lord God<sup>1356</sup> will make righteousness and praise spring up before all the nations (62:1) for Zion's sake.<sup>1357</sup>

621 And<sup>1358</sup> I will not keep silent,<sup>1359</sup> and for Jerusalem's sake I will not remain quiet, until her vindication shines out like the dawn, and her salvation like a burning torch.<sup>1360</sup> 2 The nations will see your vindication, and all the kings your glory; and people will call you<sup>1361</sup> by a new name that the mouth of the Lord will bestow. 3 You will be a crown of splendor in the Lord's hand, and a royal diadem in the hand of your God. 4 And<sup>1362</sup> you will no longer be called Deserted, and your land will no longer be called Desolate; but people will call you<sup>1363</sup> My Delight Is in Her,<sup>1364</sup> and your land Married;<sup>1365</sup> for the Lord takes delight in you, and your land will be married. 5 For just as<sup>1366</sup> a young man marries a maiden, so will your sons marry you, and just as a bridegroom rejoices over his bride, so will your God rejoice over you.

6 Upon your walls, O Jerusalem, I have posted watchmen; all day and all night they will not<sup>1367</sup> be silent. You who acknowledge the Lord, take no rest, 7 and give him<sup>1368</sup> no rest until he prepares and establishes<sup>1369</sup> Jerusalem and makes it an object of praise throughout the earth. 8 The Lord has sworn by his right hand and by his mighty arm: I will never again give your grain<sup>1370</sup> as food for your enemies, foreigners<sup>1371</sup> will not drink the wine for which you have toiled;

9 but surely<sup>1372</sup> those who harvest it will eat it and praise the name of<sup>1373</sup> Lord, and those who gather it will drink it in the courts of my sanctuary, says your God.<sup>1374</sup>

10 Pass through<sup>1375</sup> the gates, prepare the way for the people! Build up, build up the highway! Clear it of stumbling-stones,<sup>1376</sup> speak among the peoples.<sup>1377</sup>

11 Behold the Lord! Proclaim<sup>1378</sup> to the ends<sup>1379</sup> of the earth; say to daughter Zion, “See, your salvation is coming! See, his reward is with him, and his recompenses are<sup>1380</sup> before him.” 12 People will call them “The Holy People,” “The Redeemed of the Lord”; and they will call you<sup>1381</sup> “Sought After,” “The City Not Deserted.”

631 Who is this coming from Edom, from Bozrah with his garments stained crimson? Who is this robed in such splendor, marching in his great strength? It is I, announcing vindication, mighty to save.

2 Why are your robes red, and your garments like theirs who tread the winepress?<sup>1382</sup>

3 I have trodden the winepress alone, and from my people<sup>1383</sup> no one was with me,<sup>1384</sup> and I have stained<sup>1385</sup> all my clothing. 4 For the day of vengeance was in my heart, and the year for my redeeming work had come. 5 I looked, but there was no helper, I was appalled that there was no one to take hold of me,<sup>1386</sup> so my own arm brought me victory, and my wrath supported me. 6 I trampled down peoples in my anger; in my wrath I made them drunk, and I poured out their lifeblood on the ground.

7 I will recount the gracious deeds of the Lord, the praiseworthy acts of the Lord, in accordance with all the Lord has done for us, and the great goodness to the house of Israel that he has shown them according to his mercy, according to the abundance of his steadfast love. 8 For he said, Surely they are my people, children who will not act falsely, and so he became their savior. 9 In all their distress he was not distressed,<sup>1387</sup> but the angel of his presence that saved them; in his acts of love<sup>1388</sup> and in his pity<sup>1389</sup> he redeemed them; he carried them and lifted them up<sup>1390</sup> all the days of old.

10 Yet they rebelled and grieved his holy spirit; so he changed and became their enemy, and<sup>1391</sup> he himself fought against them. 11 Then they remembered the days of old, of Moses his servant. Where is the one who brought up<sup>1392</sup> out of the sea the<sup>1393</sup> shepherds of his flock? Where is the one who set his holy spirit among them, 12 and<sup>1394</sup> who made his glorious<sup>1395</sup> arm march at Moses’ right hand, who divided the waters before them to win<sup>1396</sup> an everlasting name, 13 who led them through the depths? Like a horse in the open desert they did not stumble; 14 like cattle that go down into the plain, the spirit of the Lord gave them rest. For<sup>1397</sup> you led your people, to win for yourself a glorious name.

15 Look down from heaven, and see from your holy and glorious dwelling. Where are your zeal and your might? The yearning of your heart and your compassion? They are withheld from me. 16 But you are our father, and<sup>1398</sup> Abraham does not know us and Israel has not acknowledged<sup>1399</sup> us; you are he,<sup>1400</sup> O Lord, our father, our Redeemer from long ago is your name. 17 Why, O Lord, do you make us stray<sup>1401</sup> from your ways and harden our hearts, so that we do not fear you? Come back for the sake of your servants, for the sake of the tribes that are your heritage. 18 Your holy people took possession<sup>1402</sup> of it for a little while, but now our enemies have trampled down your sanctuary. 19 For a long time we have been like those whom you do not rule, like those who are not called by your name.

641 O that you would tear open the heavens and<sup>1403</sup> come down, so that the mountains would quake at your presence— 2 as when fire kindles brushwood and the fire causes water to boil—to your adversaries to make known your name, to your adversaries before you,<sup>1404</sup> so that the nations might quake at your presence! 3 When you did awesome deeds that we looked for,<sup>1405</sup> you came down, the mountains quaked before you. 4 Since<sup>1406</sup> ancient times no one has heard, and<sup>1407</sup> no ear has perceived, and<sup>1408</sup> no eye has seen any God besides you, who acts on behalf of those who wait for him. 5 You meet those who gladly do right, those who remember you in your ways. See, you were angry, and we sinned against them for a long time, but we will be saved. 6 All of us have become like one who is unclean; all,<sup>1409</sup> all our righteous acts are like a polluted cloth. And we all shrivel up like a leaf, and like the wind our iniquities<sup>1410</sup> sweep us away. 7 There is no one who calls on your name or strives to take hold of you; for you have hidden your face from us, and have given us<sup>1411</sup> into the hand of our iniquity.

8 But as for you,<sup>1412</sup> O Lord, you are our Father; and<sup>1413</sup> we are clay,<sup>1414</sup> and you are our potter; we are all the work of your hands.<sup>1415</sup> 9 Do not be angry beyond measure, O Lord, and do not remember our iniquity for a long time.<sup>1416</sup> Please look now, we are all your people. 10 Your holy cities have become a wilderness; Zion has become like<sup>1417</sup> a wilderness, Jerusalem a desolation. 11 Our holy temple and our splendor, where our ancestors praised you, have become<sup>1418</sup> a conflagration of fire, and all our dearest places have become<sup>1419</sup> ruins. 12 After all this, can you hold yourself back, O Lord? Will you keep silent, and punish us so severely?

651 I let myself be sought out by those who did not ask me,<sup>1420</sup> be found by those who did not seek me. I said, “Here I am, here I am,” to a nation that did not call on my name. 2 I held out my hands all day long to a disobedient<sup>1421</sup> people, who walk in a way that is not good, pursuing their own inclinations; 3 a people who continually provoke me to my face, they<sup>1422</sup> keep sacrificing in gardens and waving their hands<sup>1423</sup> on stone altars;<sup>1424</sup> 4 who sit inside tombs, and spend the night in secret places; who eat swine's flesh, with the broth<sup>1425</sup> of detestable things in<sup>1426</sup> their pots; 5 who say, "Keep to yourself; do not touch<sup>1427</sup> me, I am<sup>1428</sup> too holy for you." Such people are smoke in my nostrils, a fire that keeps burning all day long. 6 See, it stands written before me: I will not keep silent, but I will repay; I will indeed repay into<sup>1429</sup> their laps 7 both your iniquities and your ancestors' iniquities together, says the Lord; because they offered incense on the mountains and insulted me on hills,<sup>1430</sup> I will measure into<sup>1431</sup> their laps full payment for their previous actions.

8 Thus says the Lord: As when wine is found in the cluster, and people have said,<sup>1432</sup> "Do not destroy it, for there is a gift in it," so I will do for my servants' sake, by not destroying them all. 9 I will bring forth descendants from Jacob, and from Judah they will inherit<sup>1433</sup> my mountains; my chosen people will inherit it, and my servants will settle there. 10 Sharon will become a pasture for flocks, and the Valley of Achor for the resting of herds,<sup>1434</sup> for my people who have sought me. 11 But as for you who forsake the Lord, who forget my holy mountain, who spread a table for Fortune and fill<sup>1435</sup> drink offerings<sup>1436</sup> for Destiny; 12 I will destine you for the sword, and all of you will bend down for the slaughter. For I called, but you did not answer; I spoke, but you did not listen—but you did evil in my sight, and chose what I took no pleasure in.

13 Therefore thus says the Lord:<sup>1437</sup> See, my servants will eat, but you will go hungry; my servants will drink, but you will go thirsty; my servants will rejoice, but you will be put to shame; 14 my servants will sing in gladness<sup>1438</sup> of heart, but you will lament<sup>1439</sup> from anguish of heart, and will wail from brokenness of spirit. 15 You will leave your name for my chosen ones to use as a curse, and the Lord God will put you to death permanently.<sup>1440</sup> 16 Then whoever takes an oath<sup>1441</sup> by the God of faithfulness, and whoever takes an oath in the land, will swear by the God of faithfulness; for the former troubles are forgotten and are hidden from my eyes.

17 For see, I am about to create new heavens and a new earth; the former things will not be remembered, nor will they come to mind. 18 But be glad<sup>1442</sup> and rejoice<sup>1443</sup> forever in what I am creating; for I am about to create Jerusalem as a joy, and its people as a delight. 19 I will rejoice over Jerusalem, and take delight in my people; no longer will the sound of weeping be heard in it, or the cry of distress. 20 And<sup>1444</sup> there will no longer be in it a young boy<sup>1445</sup> who lives but a few days, or an old person who does not live out his days; for one who dies at a hundred years will be considered a mere youth, and one who falls short of a hundred will be considered accursed. 21 They will build houses and dwell in them; they will plant vineyards and eat their fruit. 22 They will not build for others to inhabit; they will not plant for others to eat; for like the days of a tree<sup>1446</sup> so will be the days of my people, and my chosen ones will long enjoy the work of their hands. 23 They will not toil in vain or bear children doomed for calamity; for they will be offspring blessed<sup>1447</sup> by the Lord—and their descendants with them. 24 Before they call I will answer; while they are yet speaking I will hear. 25 The wolf and the lamb will feed together, and the lion will eat straw like the ox; but as for the serpent—its food will be dust! They will not harm or destroy on my entire holy mountain, says the Lord.

661 Thus says the Lord: Heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool. Where is the house that you would build for me, and where will my resting-place be? 2 All these things my hand has made, and so all these things came into being, says the Lord. But this is the one whom I will look upon: the one who is humble and contrite in spirit, and who<sup>1448</sup> trembles at<sup>1449</sup> my word.

3 Whoever slaughters an ox is like<sup>1450</sup> one who kills a human being; whoever sacrifices a lamb is like one who breaks a dog's neck; whoever makes a grain offering is like one who offers pig's blood; whoever makes a memorial offering of frankincense is like one who blesses an idol. These have chosen their own ways, and they take delight in their abominations; 4 so I also will choose harsh treatment for them, and will bring upon them what they dread. For when I called, no one<sup>1451</sup> answered, when I spoke, they did not listen; but they did what is evil in my sight, and chose what displeases me. 5 Hear the word of the Lord, you who tremble at his words:<sup>1452</sup> Your own brothers who hate you and exclude you because of my name have said, "Let the Lord be glorified, he will see<sup>1453</sup> your joy"—but it is they who will be put to shame.

6 Listen, an uproar in<sup>1454</sup> the city! A noise from the temple! It is the sound of the Lord, dealing retribution to his enemies! 7 Before she went into labor she gave birth; before her pangs came upon her she delivered<sup>1455</sup> a son. 8 Who has ever heard of such a thing? And<sup>1456</sup> who ever sees<sup>1457</sup> such things? Can a country be born in one day, or can a nation be a child in one moment? Yet no sooner Zion was in labor then she delivered her children. 9 Am I to open the womb and not deliver? says the Lord. And when I bring to delivery, am I to close<sup>1458</sup> the womb? asks your God.

10 Rejoice with Jerusalem, and be happy for her, all you who love her; rejoice with her in gladness, all you who mourn over her— 11 so that you may nurse and be satisfied at her comforting breasts, and so that you may drink deeply with delight from her glorious bosom.

12 Thus<sup>1459</sup> says the Lord: I shall extend prosperity to her like a river, and the wealth of nations like a flooding stream; and you will nurse and you<sup>1460</sup> will be carried on her hip, and bounced on her knees. 13 Like a child whom his mother comforts, so I will comfort you; and you will be comforted in Jerusalem. 14 And when you see this, your heart will rejoice and your bodies will flourish like grass; and the hand of the Lord will be made known beside his servants, but his indignation against his enemies. 15 For see, the Lord will come with fire, and his chariot<sup>1461</sup> like the whirlwind, to pay back his anger, yes his anger,<sup>1462</sup> in fury, and his rebukes<sup>1463</sup> in flames of fire. 16 For with fire and with his sword the Lord will proceed to judgment<sup>1464</sup> on all humanity,<sup>1465</sup> and those slain by the Lord will be many.

24 And they will go out and look upon the dead bodies of the people who rebelled against me; for their worm will not die, nor will their fire be quenched, and they will be an object of revulsion to all humanity.<sup>1480</sup>

JEREMIAH

The prophet Jeremiah preached during the closing years of the kingdom of Judah, and witnessed the destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple by the Babylonians in 587 BCE. After many Jews were exiled to Babylon, he chose to stay in Jerusalem in order to help those who had remained to begin again. But a few years later this prophet was forced to flee to Egypt in exile and soon thereafter was heard of no more.

Six Jeremiah scrolls were found at Qumran: one in Cave 2<sup>a</sup> and five in Cave 4.<sup>b</sup> Although these manuscripts between them preserve much of the book's fifty-two chapters, they are all so badly damaged and fragmentary that not even a trace of twenty-one chapters is preserved.<sup>c</sup> These Jeremiah manuscripts were copied over a period of approximately two hundred years, ranging from about 200 BCE (4QJer<sup>e</sup>) to the latter part of the first century BCE (4QJer<sup>c</sup>).

Two important scrolls are 4QJer<sup>b</sup> and 4QJer<sup>d</sup>, which reflect a Hebrew text that is very different than the Masoretic form of Jeremiah from which modern Bibles have been translated. It is also interesting to note that the biblical text in these two manuscripts is very similar to the Hebrew text from which the Septuagint (LXX) was translated. This is true not only in small details but also in major aspects where the Septuagint differs from the Masoretic Text. Most notably, 4QJer<sup>b</sup> and 4QJer<sup>d</sup> (before they were damaged) and the Septuagint present a version of Jeremiah that is about 13 percent shorter than the longer version found in modern Bibles! One example of this shorter text is in Jeremiah 10:3–11, which is a satire on idols. While the Masoretic Text has all nine verses, the Greek Bible and 4QJer<sup>b</sup> lack verses 6–8 and 10, which extol the greatness of God.<sup>d</sup>

Another fascinating scroll is 4QJer<sup>a</sup>, one of the oldest of all the Dead Sea Scrolls (copied, as we noted, about 200 BCE or even earlier). This manuscript contains a large number of corrections; in fact, no other Qumran text has as many corrections in proportion to the length of the document. The most noticeable example is in column 3, which contains additions made by a second scribe after the original scribe had written Jeremiah 7:28 to 9:2 but had omitted a long section (7:30 to 8:3). The second scribe's attempt to insert so much missing text has resulted in a most unusual format: he squeezed Jeremiah 7:30–31 into the gap between 7:29 and 8:4, then filled in 7:32 to 8:3a sideways along the left margin and wrote 8:3b upside down at the bottom of the page!

Besides the six Jeremiah scrolls, several other Qumran scrolls mention Jeremiah or have some relationship to his book. One of these is the Epistle of Jeremiah,<sup>e</sup> written in Greek and found in Catholic and Orthodox Christian Bibles as part of the Apocrypha (Baruch 6); a translation of papEPJer gr follows the book of Jeremiah in The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible. The theme of the Epistle of Jeremiah, supposedly written by Jeremiah himself, is condemnation of idolatry; the preserved text in the Qumran scroll is from verses 43–44. Another interesting text is 4QApocryphon of Jeremiah A (4Q383), where we find the phrase “And I, Jeremiah,”<sup>f</sup> which claims the prophet to be the speaker.

A final text worthy of mention is 4QApocryphon of Jeremiah C (4Q385b). This fragment, which contains two columns, draws on Jeremiah 40 to 44, although 1:4–6 recalls the fall of Jerusalem as found in Jeremiah 52:12–13. It is also interesting to note that the name Nebuzaradan in 4Q38b and 4QJer<sup>d</sup> (43:6) is spelled the same, and slightly different to the form in the Masoretic Text.<sup>g</sup> The first column seems to be concerned chiefly with Jeremiah's relations with the deportees to Babylon, whereas the second is clearly about his relations with the Jews in Egypt. The first column includes the following lines:

- 2 [. . . and] Jeremiah the prophet [went] from before the Lord.
- 3 [to go with the] exiles who were led captive from the land of Jerusalem and came [to]
- 4 [. . . ] king of Babylon, when Nebuzaradan, the Chief Cook, struck
- 5 [. . . ] and he took the utensils of the House of God, the priests
- 6 [. . . ] and the Israelites and brought them to Babylon. And Jeremiah the prophet went
- 7 the river and he commanded them what they should do in the land of [their] exile
- 8 [. . . to listen to] the voice of Jeremiah concerning the words which God had commanded him
- 9 [. . . so that] they should keep the covenant of the God of their ancestors in the land
- 10 [of their captivity . . . and should not d]o as they had done, they themselves and their kings and their priests

11 [and their princes] . . . [they de]file[d the na]me of God . . .

It appears that Jeremiah is here being portrayed here in terms similar to Moses. For the Qumran community who passed down these texts, both Moses' prophetic status and Jeremiah's Mosaic status seem to have been of particular interest.

4

■ Chapters 1:1 to 4:4 were originally among the Jeremiah scrolls, but are unfortunately now lost. The first preserved passage from Jeremiah is in 4QJer<sup>c</sup>, beginning at 4:5; the prophet goes on to predict the invasion and destruction of the kingdom of Judah.

5 [Announce in Judah and proclaim in Jerusalem, and say, “Sound the trumpet in the land!” Cry aloud and say, “Gather together, and let us go to] the fortified [cities]!” ▲

13 See, [he goes up] like the clo[uds, and his chariots are like the whirlwind; his horses are swifter than eagles]. Woe to us—for [we are ruin]ed! 14 [O Jerusalem], wash [your] heart of wickedness, [so that you may be saved. How long] will [your wicked th]oughts [dwell] within you? 15 [For a voice is declaring from Dan, and proclaiming disaster] from Mount Ephraim: 16 “T[ell it to the nations, now! Proclaim over Jerusalem]: ‘Besiegers are com[ing from a distant land, and raising their war cry against the cities of Judah’].” ▲

71 [The word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, sayi]ng: 2 Stand [at the gate of the LORD’s house, and proclaim there this message, and say: Hear the word of the LORD, all you people of Judah who enter through these gates to worship the LORD.] ▲

15 [And I will thrust you out of my sight, just as I have thrust out all your brothers, all the offspring of E]phraim.

16 [So as for you, do not pray for this people, nor lift up any plea or prayer for them; do not interce]de with me. For [I will] not [listen to you. 17 Do you not see what they are doing in the cities of Judah and in the st]ree[ts of Jerusalem? 18 The children gather wood, the fathers light the fire, and the women knead dough . . . ;<sup>1</sup> and they pour out dr]ink offer[ings] to [other] go[ds in order to provoke me to anger. 19 But am I the one they are provoking? asks the LORD. Is it not themselves], to [their own shame]? ▲

27 [And you shall speak all these words to them, but they will not listen to you; and you shall call to them, but they will not answer you. 28 And you shall say to them: “This is] the nati[on that did not obey the voice of the LORD their God, and did not accept discipline; truth has perished, and] is cut off from [their mou]th. 29 [Cut off your hair, and cast it away, and take up a lamenta]tion [on the bare heights]; for [the LORD] has rejected [and forsaken the generation of his wrath].”

30 [For the children of Judah have done what is evil in my sight, sa]ys the LORD; they have set their abominations in [the house whi]ch [is called by my name, to defile it. 31 And] they ha[ve built] the high places of Topheth, which is in the valley [of the son of Hinnom, to burn their sons and] their da[ughters] in the fire—which I did not command, [no]r did it enter my mind. 32 [Therefore, beho]ld, the days are coming, says the LORD, when it will no lon[ger] be called [Topheth, or the Valley of the son of Hinnom, but the Valley of Slaughter: for they will bury the dead in Topheth until there is no more room left. 33 Then the corpses of this people will be food for the birds of the air], and for the animals of the ea[r]th; and no o[ne will frigh]ten them away. 34 Then I will bring to an end from the cities of Judah, and from [the streets of Jerusalem, the sound of joy and the sound of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride; for the land will become a waste].

81 [At that time, says the LORD], they will bring out<sup>2</sup> the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of its princes, and [the bones of the priests, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem from] their [graves]. 2 Then they will spread them before the sun [and all star]<sup>3</sup>, which they have loved and which they have served, and after which [they have followed], and which [they have consulted, and which they have wor]shipped. And they<sup>4</sup> will not [be gathered up nor buried, but will be like] dung upon the surface of the ground. 3 [And] death [will be preferred to li]fe by all the remnant [that remains] of this evil family, that remains [in all the pla]ces where [I have] scattered them,<sup>5</sup> [says the L]ORD of hosts.

4 [Then you shall say to them, Thus says the LORD: When men fall down, do they not get up again? When someone goes astray,<sup>6</sup> 5 why then] has this people of [Jerusalem] turn[ed away in perpetual backsliding? They cling to deceit, they refuse to return]. 6 I have paid heed and heard, [but they do not speak honestly; no one repents of his wickedness, saying, “What have I done?” Every one pursues] his own course like a horse [charging headlong into battle. 7 Even the stork in the heavens knows her appointed seasons, and the dove, the swallow and] the crane will observe<sup>z</sup> the [time of their coming—but my people do not understand the ordinance of the LORD.

8 How can you say, “We are wise, and the law of the LORD is with us”? But Se]e, the false pen of the scribes has handled it falsely. 9 [The wise men are put to shame, they are dismayed and taken. See, they have rejected the word of the LORD; w]hat kind of wisdom [is in] them? 10 [Therefore I will give their wives to others, and their fields to new owners. For] every one from the least to the greatest is greedy for gain; [from prophet to priest every one deals falsely. 11 And they have treated th]e [wound of] my people’s [daughter] care[lessly, saying, “Peace, peace,” when there is no peace. 12 Were they ashamed when] they had committed<sup>b</sup> [abominati]on? Yet they were [not] at all [ashamed, nor could they blush. Therefore they will fall among those who fall; at the time of their visitation they will be cast down, says the LORD]. ▲

18 [My joy is gone, grief is upon] me, [my heart is faint within me. 19 See, the sound of the cry of my people’s daughter from a land that is very far off: “Is] not [the L]ORD in [Zion? It not her King in her?” Why have they provoked me to anger with their graven images, and with foreign idols? 20 The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved. 21 For the hurt of my people’s daughter I am hurt; I mourn], dismay has taken hold of me. 22 Is there no balm [in Gilead? Is there no physician there]? Why then has the health of [my people]’s daughter not recovered?

91 O that [my head] were a spri[ng of water, and] my eyes a fountain [of tears, so that I might weep day and night for the slain of my people’s daughter]! 2 O that I had [in the desert a travelers’ lodging-place, so that I might leave my people and go away from them! For they are all adulterers, a crowd of treacherous people. 3 And they bend their tongues like bows, and have grown strong in the land for falsehood—but not for truth. For they proceed from evil to evil, and they do not acknowledge me, says the L]ord of hosts.<sup>9</sup> 4 Let every one [beware of his neighbor, and put no trust in any brother; for every] brother act[s deceitfully, and every neighbor goes around as a slanderer. 5 And every one deceives his neighbor, and does] not [speak the tru]th. [They have taught their tongues to speak lies; they weary themselves with committing iniquity]. 6 Your dwelli[ng is in the midst of deceit; in their deceit they refuse to acknowledge me, says the LORD.

7 Therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts: See, I will refine and test them; for what else can I do, because of the daughter of my people]? 8 Their to[ngue is a deadly<sup>10</sup> [arrow]; it speaks deceit. With his mouth [one speaks peaceably to his neighbor, but in his heart he sets a trap for him. 9 Should] I not punish them [for] these things? asks the LORD. [Should I not avenge myself] on a nation such as this? 10 I will take up weeping and wailing for mountains,<sup>11</sup> and a la[mentation] for the pastures of the wilderness. [For they are laid waste so that no one passes through, nor] is the lowing of cattle heard; both the birds of the air and the anima[ls have fled and are gone. 11 I will make Jerusalem a heap of ruins], a dwelling-place of jackals; and I will make the towns of Judah a desolation, with[out inhabitant].

12 Which [person] is wise enough to understand<sup>12</sup> this? And [to] whom has the mo[uth of the LO]RD spoken [to declare it? Why is] the la[nd rui]ned (and) laid waste like a desert, so that no one passes through? 13 [And the LO]RD [says]: Because they have forsaken [my la]w [which] I s[et] before them, and have not obeyed my voi[ce], nor walk[ed] according to it, 14 but have followed the stub[bornness of their own hearts, and (have followed) the Baals], just as [their an]cestors taught them. 15 Therefore, thus says [the L]O[R]D of hosts, the God of Israe[el]: See, I am feeding them, [this very people, with wormwood], and I am gi[ving them poisonous water to drink. 16 I will also scatter them among nations whi]ch [neither they nor their ancestors have kno]wn; [and I will send the s]word [after them, until I have destroyed them]. ▲

23 [Thus says the LORD: Do not let the wise person boast in] his wisd[om], nor let [the strong man boa]st [in his might, do not the rich glory in his riches; 24 but let the one who boasts boast in this: that he understands and knows me, that I am the LORD who exercises lovingkindness, justi]ce, and righteousness in the earth —for [in these things I delight, says the LORD.

25 See, the days are coming, says the LORD, when I will punish all those who are circumcised only in their foreskin: 26 Egypt, Judah, Edom, the Ammonites, Moab, and all those] with shaven temples who liv[e in the desert. For all these nations are uncircumcised, and all the house of Israel is uncircumcised in heart].

10<sup>1</sup> [Hear the word that the LORD speaks to you, O house of Israel. 2 Thus says the LORD: Do not learn] the way of the nations, [and do not be dismayed at the signs of heaven; for the nations are dismayed at them. 3 For the customs of the peoples are false; for they<sup>13</sup> are a tree cut down from the forest, the work of a craftsman's hands with an ax]. 4 They deck it [with silver and with go]ld; [they fasten it] with hammer [and nails so that it cannot move]. ▲

9 [Hammered silver is brought from Tarshish and gold from Uphaz; they are all the products of skilled workers and the hands of the goldsmith], with blue and purple [for their clothing.<sup>14</sup> 10 But the Lord is the true God; he is the living God and] the everlasting King; at [his a]nger [the earth quakes, and the nations cannot endure his wrath].<sup>15</sup>

11 [T]his is what you shall say to them: [The gods who did not make the heavens and the earth] will perish from the earth [and from under the heavens. 12 It is he who made the earth by his power, who established the world by his wisdom, and by his understanding st]retched out the heavens. 13 When [he] utters his voi[ce,<sup>16</sup> there is a tumult of waters in the heavens], and he makes clouds rise [from the en]ds of the earth. He makes lightnings for the rain, [and] brings forth the wind [from his storehouses. 14 Every one is senseless and without knowledge; every goldsmith is put to shame by his idols. For his images are false, and there is n]o breath in [them. 15 They are worthless, a work of delusion]; at the moment of their punishment [they will perish. 16 He who is the portion of Jacob is not like these, for he is the one who formed all things, and Israel is the tribe of his inheritance; the LORD of hosts is his name].

17 [Pick up your bundle from the ground, you who live under siege! 18 For thus says the LORD: See, I am going to hu]rl out the inhabitant<sup>17</sup> of [the land at this time, and I will bring distress on them, so that they will be captured. 19 Woe to me because of my injury! My wound is severe, but I said, “Truly this is my punishment, and I must bear it.” 20 My tent is destroyed, and all my ropes are broken: my children have gone from] me [and are no more; there is no one to spread my tent again, and to set up my curtains. 21 For the shepherds are senseless, and do not] inquire [of the LORD; therefore they have not prospered, and their entire flock is scattered. 22 Listen—a noise! Hear it coming, a great commotion from the land of the north to make the cities of Judah a desolation, a haunt of jackals].

23 [I know, O LORD, that a person’s way is not in himself, that a person], as he walks, cannot direct [his steps]. ▲

11[1 The word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord: 2 Hear the words of this covenant, and speak to the people of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 3 You shall say to them, Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Cursed be anyone who does not hear] the words of [this] covenant, 4 [which I commanded your ancestors at the time I brought th]em out of the land of Egypt, from the [ir]on-smelting furnace, say[ing: Listen to my voice, and] you [do] everything that I command you. So you will be my people, and [I will be your] God, 5 so that I may establish the oath which I swore [to your ancestors, to give th]em a land flowing with mil[k and honey, just as it is] tod[ay]. Then I answer[ed and said, “Amen, LORD!” 6 Then the LORD [said] to me: Proclaim all these words in the towns of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem: Hear the words of this covenant and carry them out]. ▲

18 [It was the LORD who made it known to me, and I knew; then you showed me their (evil) deeds. 19 But I was like a gentle lamb led to the slaughter]; and I did not [realize that it was against me they had devised schemes, saying, “Let us destroy the tree with its fruit, and let us cut him off from the land of the living, so that his name may no] longer be remembered.” 20 [But, O LORD of hosts, you who judge righteously and test] the heart and the mind, let me [see your vengeance upon them—for to you have I revealed my cause]. ▲

12<sup>3</sup> [But you, O LORD, know me; you see me, and test my attitude toward you. P]ull them out like [sheep for the slaughter, and set them apart for the day of slaughter. 4 How long will the la]nd [mourn], and the grass of every fie[ld wither? Because of the wickedness of those who live there, the animals and the birds are swept away], because people said, [“The Lo]rd<sup>18</sup> will not see [what happens to us!” 5 If you have raced with footrunners and they have tired you out, how can you co]mpete with horses? [And if you fall down] on [safe ter]rain, [how will you manage in the thickets of the Jordan? 6 For even] your k[insmen] and your father’s household—even th[ey have betrayed you; yes, they have raised a loud cry against you. Do not trust th]em, though they may say [nice things] to y[ou].

7 [I have forsaken my house, I have abandoned my heritage; I have given my] heart’s be[loved into the hands of her enemies]. ▲

13 [They have sown wheat but have reaped thorns; they have tired themselves out but profit nothing. So] be ashamed of [your har]vests [because of the LORD’s fierce anger].

14 [Thus] says the LORD with respect to a[ll my evil] neighbors [who seize the inheritance which I have given] my people Israe[l to inherit: See, I am] about to pluck them up [from off their land, and I will pluck up the house of Judah] from [among them. 15 And after] I have [pl]ucked [th]em up, [I will again have compassion on them, and I will bring each of them back to his own inheritance and to his own country. 16 And then], if they really l[earn the ways of my people, to swear by my name: “As the LORD lives”—just as they taught] my peo[ple] to swear by [Baal—then they will be established in the midst of my people. 17 But if they will not listen], then I will completely uproot that [nati]on and destroy it, says the LORD.

13<sup>1</sup> Thus the LORD said to [me]: “Go and buy yourself a linen loincloth, and [put it around your waist, but do not] dip it [in water].” <sup>2</sup> So I bought a loincloth according to the word of the LORD, and put it around my waist. <sup>3</sup> Then [the word of the LORD came to me] a second time, saying, <sup>4</sup> “Take the loincloth that you bought and are wearing around your waist, and [get up and go] to the Euphrates, [and hide it] there in a crevice in the rocks.” <sup>5</sup> So I went, and hid it by the Euphrates, as the LORD commanded.<sup>19</sup> <sup>6</sup> Then after many days the LORD said to me, “Get up and go [to the Euphrates, and take from there the] loinc[loth th]at I commanded you to hide [there.” <sup>7</sup> Then I went to the Euphrates, and dug, and took the loincloth from the place wh[er]e [I had hidden it. But now the loincloth was ruined and good for nothing]. ▲

<sup>22</sup> [And if] you s[ay in your heart, “Why have these things happened to me?”—it is because of the greatness of your iniquity that your skirts have been removed and your] bo[dy<sup>20</sup> has been vi]olated. ▲

<sup>27</sup> [I have seen your abominations, your adulteries, and your neighings, your shameless prostitutions on the hills in the countryside. Woe to you, O Jerusalem!] H[ow long] will you remain [u]nclean?

<sup>7</sup> [Although our iniquities testify] against us, O LORD, do something for your name’s sake. For [our ap]ostasies are many—[we have sinned] against [you]. ▲

15<sup>1</sup> [Then the LORD said to me: Even though Moses and Samuel were to stand before me, yet my heart would not go out to this people. Send them away] from my presence, and le[t them go! <sup>2</sup> And when they ask you, “Where shall we go?” then you are to tell them: Thus says the LORD: Th]ose destined for death shall go [to death; those destined for the sword, to the sword; those destined for famine, to famine; and those destined for captivity, to captivity]. ▲

17<sup>7</sup> [Blessed is the person who trusts in the LORD and whose trust is the LORD.

8 For he shall be like a tree planted by the waters, sending out its roots by the stream. It is not afraid when heat comes, and its leaves will stay green; in the year of drought it is not anxious, and it does not cease to bear fruit.

9 The heart is more devious [than all else; it is perverse—who can understand it? 10 I the LORD search the heart and examine the mind, to reward each according to his ways, according to the fruit of his deeds. 11 Like the partridge that hatches eggs it did not lay, [so is the person who amasses wealth by unjust means. In midlife it will leave him, and at his end he will prove to be a fool. 12 [A glorious throne, [set on high from the beginning, is the place of our sanctuary. 13 O hope of Israel! O LORD! All who forsake you will be put to shame; and my faithless ones<sup>22</sup> [will be written in the dust, [because they have forsaken the fountain of] living [water], the LORD.

14 Heal me, O LORD, and I shall heal,<sup>23</sup> save me, and [I shall be saved—[for] you are my praise.<sup>24</sup> 15 See how they say to me, “Where is [the word of the LORD? Let it come] now!” 16 But as for me, I have not run away<sup>25</sup> from being a shepherd in your service,<sup>26</sup> nor have I desired the fat day. You know what passed from [my] lips; it was your mouth.<sup>27</sup> 17 Do not become a terror to me; you are my refuge in the day of [disaster]. 18 Let my persecutors be [put to shame, but let [me not] be put to shame; let them be terrified, [but let me not] be terrified. [Bring on them the day of evil], and you will destroy<sup>28</sup> them] with twofold destruction!

19 Thus said the LORD [to] me: Go, and [stand at] the public gate,<sup>29</sup> through which the king of Judah enters<sup>30</sup> and through which [he goes out]; (stand also) at all [the gates of] Jerusalem. 20 Then say to them: Hear [the word of the LORD, you kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem], who enter through] these [gates]. 21 Thus says the LORD: Take care of yourself<sup>31</sup> by not bearing<sup>32</sup> a burden on the sabbath day or bring[ing it through the gates of Jerusalem. 22 And do not carry [a burden] out of your houses or do any work on the [sabbath day, but keep [the sabbath day] holy, [as] I command[ed] your ancestors. 23 Yet they did not listen [or] pay attention; they stiffened their necks and would not listen or receive instruction].

24 But if you listen properly to me, says the [L]ORD, and bring in no burden through the gates of this city on the sabbath day, but keep] the sabbath day [holy] by not doing [any work on it, 25 then there shall enter through the gates of this city kings and princes who sit upon the throne of David, riding in chariots [and] on horses, [they and their princes, the people of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and this city will be inhabited forever. 26 And people will come] from the towns of Judah [and the places around about Jerusalem, from the land of Benjamin, from the Shephelah, from the hill country, and from the Negev, bringing burnt offerings and sacrifices, grain offerings and frankincense, and bringing thank offerings to the house of the LORD]. ▲

18[13 Therefore thus says the LORD: Ask now among the nations: Who has heard anything like this? The virgin Israel has done a most appalling thing. 14 Does the snow of Lebanon leave the rocky slopes of Sirion? Do the mountain waters, the cold flowing streams, cease to flow? 15 Yet my people have forgotten me, they burn incense to worthless idols; they have stumbled in their ways, in the an]cient pat[hs], so as to walk in bypaths, not on a highway, 16 making [their land a horror, an object of perpetual scorn. All who pas]s by it will be appalled and will shake their heads. 17 Like a wind from the east, [I will scatter them before the enemy. I will s]how them [my back, not my face], on the day of their disaster.

18 [Then] they sa[id], “Come, let us devise plo[ts] against Jeremiah; [for instruction will not perish from the priest, nor counsel from the wise], nor the word from the prophet. Come, let us attack him with our tongues and [take] no [notice of any of his words.”

19 Take notice of] m[e, O LORD, and] listen to what my accusers are saying! 20 Should [evil] be a recompense f[or good? Yet they have dug a pit for me].<sup>33</sup> Remem[ber] how I [stood] before [you] to speak we[ll] on [their] behalf, to turn [your wrath away from them. 21 So give their children over to famine]; hand [them over to the pow]er of the sword. May th[eir w]ives become [childless and widows; may their men be struck with death, and their young men slain b]y the sword in battle. 22 May [a cry be hea]rd [from their houses, when you suddenly bring invaders upon them! For they have dug] a pit to [capture me], and [have laid] snares [for my feet. 23 Yet you know, O LORD, all their deadly designs against me; do not] forgiv[e] their [iniquity or blot out their sin from your sight. Let them be overthrown before you; deal with] them [in the time of your anger].

And they will plunder them and take them away, and carry them off to Babylon. 6 And you, Pashhur, and all who live in your house will go into exile. You will go off to Babylon, and there you will die, and there you will be buried—you, and all your friends to whom you have prophesied falsely]!”

7 O LORD, you have deceived me, [and I was deceived; you have overpowered me, and you have prevailed. I have become a laughingstock] all day long, every one [mocks me. 8 For whenever I speak, I cry out]; I proclaim, [“Violence] and destruction!” [So for me the word of the LORD has become a reproach and derision] all da]y long. 9 But if I say, “I will not mention him or speak any more in his name,” then in my heart there is something like a burning fire shut up in my bones. I am weary of holding it in; indeed, I cannot]. ▲

13 [Sing] to [the LORD, praise the LORD! For he has delivered the life of the needy from the hands of evildoers. 14 Cursed be the da]y when I was born! [21<sup>1</sup> [The word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD when king Zedekiah sent to him Pa]shhur [son of Malkijah, and the priest Zephaniah son of Maaseiah, saying]: ▲

7 [Then afterward, declares the LORD, I will hand over King Zedekiah of Judah, and] his [servants], and [the people in this city—those who survive the pestilence] and<sup>38</sup> the sword<sup>39</sup>—into the hands of [King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon, into the hands of their enemies, and into the hands of] those that seek their lives. [He will strike them down with the edge of the sword; [he will] not [spare them n]or have pity nor [have compassion].

8 [And to] this peop[le] you are to say, Th[us says the LORD: See], I myself<sup>40</sup> am setting [before you the way of life and] the way of death. 9 Whoever stays [in] this cit[y will die by the sword, by famine and by plague]; but whoever goes out [and sur]renders to the Chaldeans who [are besieging you will live and will have his life as a prize of war. 10 For I have set] my face [against this city for harm and not for good, says the LORD. It will be given into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he will burn it with fire]. ▲

223 [Thus says the LORD: Act with justice and righteousness, and deliver the one who has been robbed from the hand of] the oppressor. [And do no wrong or violence to the alien, the orphan and the widow, nor shed innocent blood in this place. 4 For if] you truly obey [this wo]rd, [then kings who sit on Dav]id's [throne will enter through the gates of this house], riding in chariots, on horse[s<sup>41</sup>—the king himself], and his ser[vants<sup>42</sup> and his people. 5 But if you will not obey these] words, [I swear by myself], declares the LORD, that [this house] will become a ruin. 6 [For thus says the LORD] concerning the house of the king of Ju[d]ah: You are like Gilead to me, like the summit of Lebanon, yet most assured[ly I will make you like a desert, like towns that are uninhabited. 7 And I will set apart des]troyers [against you], each one with his weapons; they will cut down [your] choicest [cedars and throw them into the fire].

8 [And many nations will pass by th]is [city], and they will say onto<sup>43</sup> one [an]other, “Why [has the LORD dealt in such a way with thi]s [great city?” 9 Then] they will answer, “Be[cause they forsook the covenant of the L]ORD their God, and worship[ed other gods and served them.” 10 Do] not [weep for him who is dead, n]or mourn for him; rather, wee[p bitterly] for him who goes away; for he will never return nor see [his native land] again.

11 For thus says the LO[RD concer]ning Shallum so[n] of Josiah king of Judah, [who suc]ceeded his father Josiah who w[ent away from this place: He will n]ever [return] there; 12 but in the place where he has<sup>44</sup> led him [cap]tive, the[re he will die, and] he will neve[r] see this land [a]gain.

13 Woe to him who buil[ds] his [house] by unrighteousness, and [his upper room]s [by injus]tice; who makes [his neighbors] work for nothing, and does not pay them their wages; 14 who [says, “I will build [my]self a spacious house with large upper rooms,” cutting<sup>45</sup> out its windows, paneling it with cedar and painting it with vermilion. 15 Does it make you a king because you compete in cedar? Did not your father eat and drink, and do what is just and right? Then things went well with him. 16 He defended the cause of [the poor] and needy; then all went well. Is that not what is means [to know me? declares] the LORD. 17 [But your eyes and heart are set only on your own dishonest gain, and on shedding] innocent<sup>46</sup> [blood, and] on practicing oppression and violence. 18 Therefore thus says the LORD concerning Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah: They will not mourn for him, saying, “Alas, my brother!” or “Alas, my sister!” They will not mourn [for him: “Alas, master!” or “Alas, his majesty!” 19 He will be buried with a donkey’s burial]—dragged off and thrown outside the gates of Jerusalem].

20 Go up in Lebanon<sup>47</sup> [and cry out, and lift up your voice in Bashan; cry out from Abarim; for] all your supporters<sup>48</sup> have been poured out.<sup>49</sup> 21 [I spoke to you in your prosperity, but you said, “I will not listen!” This has been your practice from [your] youth, [that you have not obeyed my voice. 22 The wind will sweep away all your shepherds, and] your [lo]vers [will go] into captivity; then you will surely be ashamed and disgraced because of all your wickedness. 23 O inhabitant of] Lebanon, you who make your nest<sup>50</sup> in the cedars, how you will groan when pangs come upon you, pain like that] of a woman in labor!

24 As I live, says the LORD, even [if Coniah son of Jehoiakim king of Judah were a signet-ring upon [my] right hand, [even from there I would pull you off 25 and give you into the hands of those who are seeking your life, into [the hands of those whose] [presence] you dread, into the hands of] King [Nebuchadnezzar] of Babylon, and into the hands of the Chaldeans. 26 [Then I will hurl you and your mother who] bore you into another country, where neither of you was born—and there you both will die]. 27 But as for the land [to] which they long [to return], they will not return [there].

28 Is [this man Coniah] a despised, broken jar? [Is he a vessel which no one wants? Why are he and his offspring hurled out and cast away into the land that they do not know? 29 O land, land, land, hear the word of the LORD! 30 Thus says the LORD]: Write down this man as childless, a man who will not prosper in his days; for none of his descendants will succeed in sitting on the throne of David, and ruling again in Judah].

25<sup>7</sup> [Yet you did not listen to me, says the LORD, so that you provoked me to anger] with the work of [your] hands to [your] own detriment.

8 Therefore thus say[s the LORD of hosts: Because you have not listened to my words, 9 I am going to send for all the peoples of the north, says the LORD, including King Nebuchadrezzar of Babylon, my servant, and I will bring them against this land and its inhabitants and against all these surrounding nations. I will utterly destroy them, and make them an object of horror and of scorn, and an everlasting disgrace]. ▲

15 [For thus the LORD, the God of Israel, said to me: Take this cup of the wine of wrath from my hand, and make all the nations to whom I [send y]ou [drink it]. 16 When they drink they will stagger and go ou[t of their minds because of the sword] that I am sending among them. 17 So I took the [cup from the LORD’s hand, and made all the nations to whom the LORD had sent me drink it: 18 Jerusalem and the towns of Judah, . . . 24 and all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of the mixed peoples who l]ive in the des[ert]; 25 and [all the kings of Zimri, all the kings of Elam], and all the kings of [Media; 26 all the kings of the north, both far and] nea[r, one after another, and all the kingdoms of the wo]rld [that are on the face of the earth. And the king of Sheshach will drink] after them.<sup>51</sup> ▲

26<sup>10</sup> [And when the officials of] Judah [heard these things, they came up from] the king’s [hou]se to the hou[se of the LORD and took their places in the entrance of the New Gate of the LORD’s house. 11 Then] the priests [and the prophets sai]d [to the officials and to all the people, “This] man deserves [the death sentence because he has prophesied against this city—just as you have hea]rd [with yo]ur [ears]!”

12 Then [Jeremiah] spoke [to all the officials and all] the people: “[The LOR]D sent me [to prophesy against this house and against] this [city all the thi]ngs [that you have heard. 13 So now amend your ways] and your actions, [and o]bey [the LORD your God. Then the LORD will change his mind about the disaster he has pronounced against you].” ▲

27<sup>1</sup> [In the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim son of Josiah, king of Judah, this word came to Jeremiah from the LORD, as foll]ows. 2 Thus the LORD said to me: Ma[ke for yourself (a yoke of) bonds and bars], and put them on your ne[ck].<sup>52</sup> 3 Then send word to the king of [Edom, the k]ing of Moab, the king of the Ammoni[tes], the k[ing of Tyre, and the k]ing of Si[don by the hand of the messengers who have come to Jerusalem to King Zedekiah of Judah]. ▲

[12 I spoke to King Zedekiah of Judah in the same manner: Bring your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and serve him and his people—and live!

13 Why should you die, both you and your people, by the sword, by famine, and by plague, just as] the LO[RD has spok]en [concerning the nation that will not serve the king of Babylon? 14 So do not listen<sup>53</sup> to the words of] the proph[ets who say t]o [you, “You shall not serve the king of Babylon,” for] they are prophesy[ing a lie to you. 15 For I have not sent them, declares the LORD, but they are prophesying falsely] in [my] name, [with the result that I will drive you out and you will perish—both you and the prophets who are prophesying to you]. ▲

30[4 Now these are the words which the LORD spoke concerning Israel and Judah: 5 Thus says the LORD: We have heard a cry of panic, of terror and no peace. 6 Ask now, and see if] a man [can give birth. Why do I see every man with his hands o]n his loins [like a woman in labor? And why have] all face[s tur]ned pale? 7 Alas! for that day is so great there will be none like it; it will be [the time of] Jacob’s [distress], but [he will be rescued] from it. 8 [On that day, says the LORD of hosts, I will break his yoke of]f your neck and [I will burst] your bonds, [and foreigners will no longer make a slave of him. 9 But they will serve the LORD their God and Dav]id their king, [whom I will raise up for them]. ▲

17 [But I will restore health to you and I will heal you of your wounds, declares the LORD], because they have called you an outcast: “[It is Zion—one cares for her]!”

18 Thus says the LORD: See, I am going to res[tore the fortunes of Ja]cob’s [tents] and I will have compassion on his dwellings; the city will be rebuilt<sup>54</sup> on her ruins, and the palace will be set on its proper place. 19 From them shall come thanksgiving and the sound of merrymak[ers]. I will make them many, [and] they will not be decreased; [I] will also honor [them], and they will n[ot] be disdained. 20 Their children, too, will be as before, and their communities<sup>55</sup> [will be established] before me; [and] I will pun[ish all who oppress] them. 21 Their nobility will be<sup>56</sup> from their own, and their ruler [will arise] from their midst. [I will bring him n]ear [and he will approach] me; for who would otherwise commit himself [to approach me? says the LOR]D.

22 So you will be my people, and I will be your [God.<sup>57</sup> 23 Look, the storm of the LORD! Wrath goes forth—a swee]ping [tempest; it will burst down] on the he[ads of the wicked. 24 The fierce anger of the LORD will not turn back] until he has performed [and accomplished the intents of his heart. In the latter day]s you will understand this.

311 [At that time, says the LORD, I will be the Go]d of all [Israel’s famil]ies, [and they will be my people. 2 Thus says the LORD]: The people who survived the swo[rd found favor in the wilderness as they went.<sup>58</sup> 3 The LORD appeared to me long ago, saying]: I have loved you with an everlasting l[ove, s]o [I have drawn you with steadfast love]. 4 I will bui[ld you up] again, [and you will be re]built, O virgin [Isr]ael! Once again [you will take up your tambourines and go forth] to the dance[s of] the merrymak[ers. 5 Once again you will plant vineyards on the hills of Samaria]; the planters will [pl]ant and will enjoy the[ir fruit. 6 For there will be a day when watchmen will cry out on the hil]ls of Ephraim: Get up, and let us go up [to Zion, to the LORD our God.

7 For thus says the LORD: Sing aloud with gladness] for Jacob, [and raise a sh]out among the foremost of the nations; procl[aim, praise, and] say, “The [L]ord has saved<sup>59</sup> your people, the remnant of Israel!” 8 Se[e, I am going to bring th]em from the land of the north and I have gathered them<sup>60</sup> from the farthest parts of the earth, among [them] the blind and the lame, the woman with child and the woman in labor; together a great company, they will return here. 9 Th[ey] will come with weeping, [and I will lead them ba]ck [with supplicatio]ns; [I will make] them wa[lk] by<sup>61</sup> stream[s of wa]ter, on a level path and in which<sup>62</sup> they will not stumble, for I have become Israel’s fathe[r and Ephraim] i[s my firstbo]rn. [10 Hear the word of the LORD, you nations, and declare it in the distant coastlands: “He who scattered Israel will gather him, and will watch over him as a shepherd watches over his flock.” 11 For the LORD has ransomed Jac]ob [and has redeemed him from the hand of those too strong for him. 12 Then they will come and sing aloud on Zion’s heights], and they will be radiant over<sup>63</sup> the bounty of the LORD, [over the grain, the wine and the oil, and over the young of the flocks] and the herds; their life will become like a [watered] garden, and they will never languish [ag]ain. 13 Then maidens [will rejoice] in the dance, [y]oung men [and old ones as well; I will turn] your mournings<sup>64</sup> [into joy, I will com]fort them, and give them joy instead of sorrow. 14 [And I will satiate the desire of the] pries[ts] with fatness, and [my] people will be satisfied [with] my goodness, declares the LORD.

[15 Thus says the LORD: A voice is heard in Ramah, mourning and bitter weeping, Rachel weeping for her children, refusing to be comforted for her children—because they are no more. 16 Thus says the LORD: Restrain your voice from weeping and your eyes from tears; for there is a reward for your work, declares the LORD. They will return again from the land of the enemy, 17 and there is hope for your future, says the LORD; your children will come back to their own country. 18 I have surely heard Ephraim pleading: “You disciplined me, and I endured the discipline; I was like an untrained calf. Bring me back so that I may be restored—for you are the LORD my God]. 19 [For after] I turned back, [I repented; and after I was discovered, I struck my thigh. I was ashamed and also humiliated] because I bor[e the disgrace of my youth. 20 Is Ephraim my dear son, the child I delight in]? For al[though I speak against him, I still remember him vividly. Therefore my heart yearns for him; I will indeed have mercy upon him, says the LORD].

21 Set up roads[igns] for yourself, [make yourself guideposts; fo]cus [your mind on the highway, the road by which] you wen[t]. Return, O virg[in Israel, return to th]ese [your cities]. 22 How long will you waver to and fro, you faithless daughter? F[or the LORD has created a ne]w thing on earth—a wom[an will sur]round a man. 23 [Thus says the LORD of ho]sts, [the God of Israel:<sup>65</sup> Once again they will speak this word in the land of Judah and in its towns when I restore their fortunes: May the LORD bless you, O dwelling of righteousness, O holy mountain! 24 And Judah and all its towns will live there together, farmers and those who move about with their flocks. 25 For I will satisfy the weary one, and ev]ery soul [who is faint I will replenish. 26 At this I awoke and looked—and my sleep had been pleasant to me]. ▲

32<sup>24</sup> [See, the siege-ramps have reached the city in order to take it; and because of the sword, famine, and plague, the city has been given into the hands of the Chaldeans who are attacking it]. And what [you spoke has happened, as you now can see. 25 Yet you, O LORD God, have said to me, “Buy] for yourself [the field with money, and find witnesses—although the city has been given into the hands of the Chaldeans].” ▲

33<sup>[15</sup> In those days and at that time I will cause a righteous Branch to spring up for David; and he will execute justice and righteousness in the land. 16 In those days Judah will be saved and Jerusalem will live in safety. And this is the name by which it will be called]: “The LORD is [our right]eousness.” 17 [For thus says the LORD: David shall never fail to have] a man sitting upon the throne of the hou[se of Israel; 18 nor will the Levitical priests fail to have a man] in my presence to offer burnt offerings, to burn [meal offerings and to make sacrifices continually].

19 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, [saying: 20 Thus says the Lord: If you can break my covenant with the day and]<sup>66</sup> my covenant with [the] night, so that [day and night would not occur at their appointed time, 21 then my covenant with my servant David—and my covenant with my ministers the

Levitical priests—can also be broken, so that he would not have a son to reign on his throne]. ▲

42<sup>7</sup> Now at the en[d of ten days the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah. 8 So he sum]moned Johanan son of Ka[reah and all the commanders of the forces that were with him, and all the people from the least to the greatest, 9 and their god, [s]aid,<sup>67</sup> [“Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel, to whom you sent me to present] your peti[tions]<sup>68</sup> be]fore him: 10 If [you will only remain in this land, then I will build you up and not tear you down; I will plant y]ou and not up[root you, for I am sorry over the calamity that I have inflicted on you. 11 Do not be afraid of the king of Babylon, whom y]ou now fe[ar; do not be afraid of him, declares the LORD, for I am with you to save you and deliver you from his hands. 12 I will show you mercy, and he will have mercy on you and restore you to your native soil. 13 But if you keep saying, ‘We will not stay in this land,’ thereby disobeying the voice of the LORD your God, 14 and saying, ‘No, but] we will rather g[o to the land of Egy]pt—[where we shall not see war or hear the sound of the trumpet or be hung]ry [for bread]—and [we will stay the]re, . . .” ▲

43[1 And when Jeremiah finished speaking to all the people all the words of the LORD their God—all these words with which the LORD their God had sent him to them, 2 Azariah son of Hoshaiah and Johanan son of Kareah and all the other arrogant men said to Jeremiah, “You are lying! The LORD our God has not sent you to say, ‘You are not to enter Egypt to settle the]re’; 3 no, Ba[ruch]<sup>69</sup> is incit[ing you against u]s t[o deliver us into the hands of the Chaldeans, so that they may kill us or take] us [into exile] in Ba[bylon.” 4 So] Johanan<sup>70</sup> [and all] the commanders of the for[ces] and all [the people] diso[beyed the LORD’s command to stay in the land of Judah. 5 Instead Jo]hanan<sup>71</sup> [and all the com]manders of the for[ces to]ok all the remnant of [Judah who had returned from all the nations whe]re [they had been driven away]<sup>72</sup> 6 —the men, the wome[n], the children, the [king]’s daughters, [and every person whom] Nebuzaradan<sup>73</sup> had le[ft] with Gedaliah son of Ahikam,<sup>74</sup> including the prophet Jeremiah [and Baruch son of Neriah. 7 And they entered the la]nd of Egypt, for they disobeyed the voice of the LORD; [and] they arrived (at) Tahpanhes.<sup>75</sup>

[11 Therefore, thus says the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel: See, I am determined to bring disaster on you and to bring all Judah to an end. 12 Then I will take the remnant of Judah who are determined to enter the land of Egypt to settle there; and they will all perish in the land of Egypt. They will fall and perish by the sword and by famine; from the least to the greatest they will die by the sword and by famine; [and they will become an object of cursing and horror, of condemnation and ridicule. 13 And I will] punish [those who live in the land of Egypt, just as I have punished Jerusalem—by the sword, by famine, and by pestilence— 14 so that none of the remnant of] Judah who have come to settle in the land of Egypt will escape or survive to return to the land of Judah, where they long to return and live; for none will return except a few fugitives]. ▲

EZEKIEL

The setting of the prophecies of Ezekiel is the Babylonian exile in the sixth century BCE. The book answers a key question that must have occurred to Jews of that disturbing time: “Has God abandoned us?” From the intriguing otherworldly description of God’s glory coming to earth by the River Chebar in Babylon to the plan of the gigantic end-of-time temple, the book sets the stage for the answer in the last verse: “The LORD is there.”

Small fragments from six manuscripts of Ezekiel were found at Qumran and another atop Masada. All of them and the traditional Masoretic Text fairly uniformly attest the same textual tradition. Only seven minor variants are clearly preserved, though reconstruction according to spatial requirements indicates that in two places (5:13 and 23:16) the scrolls may have had a shorter text than the Masoretic Text.

One manuscript, 4QEzek<sup>b</sup>, may not have been a copy of the complete book of Ezekiel but perhaps contained only the prophet’s inaugural vision or a few episodes. Another manuscript, 4QEzek<sup>c</sup>, survives in only one fragment measuring about a half-inch in diameter. It contains only three complete words and a couple of letters from six other words. Nonetheless, the fragments that do remain range over the course of the entire book, from chapter 1 to chapter 41, and show that the inherited text of Ezekiel was very carefully copied from antiquity.

The relatively small number of manuscripts does not prepare the reader for the importance that Ezekiel exerted among the members of the Dead Sea community. Ezekiel’s emphasis on the High Priest Zadok and his descendants is evident in the community’s self-designation: “Sons of Zadok.” The description of the end-time temple is also embellished in several copies of a text entitled the New Jerusalem and forms a key component of the largest of the nonbiblical Dead Sea manuscripts: the Temple Scroll.

18 [They had human hands under their wings. On their f]ou[r sides, the four of them had faces and wings. 9 Their wings touched each other. Each went straight forward without t]urning as [they] w[ent].

10 [This was the appearance of their faces: they had the face of a man; all f]our [had the face of a lion on the right side]; all [four] of them<sup>1</sup> [had] the face of an o[x on the left side]; and [all] fo[ur] had the face [of an eagle. 11 Such were their faces. Th]eir [wings] spread [out upwa]r[d; each had two] touching another<sup>2</sup> and tw[o covering its body]. 12 Each we[nt straight forward. Wherever the spi]rit [was going, they went, without turning as they went]. 13 The likeness of the living beings, [their] ap[pearance, was like burning coals of fire], like the light of torches. The fire [went] back [and forth among] the living beings. The fire was bright, and [lightning] flashed from the fire. [14 The living beings ran back and forth like bolts of lightning].

15 [Looking at the living beings, I saw one wheel on the ground beside each of the four living beings. 16 This was the appearance of the wheels and their construction: They shone like chryso]lite, [all four looked alike, and] their [form and construc]tion [were as if there were a wheel within a wheel. 17 When they moved, they went in any of the f]ou[r directions without turning as they went. 18 As for their rims, they were high and awesome, and the rims of all four were full of eyes all around. 19 And when the living beings moved, the wheels went beside them; and when the living beings rose from the ground, the wheels rose. 20 Wherever the spirit went, they went. The wheels rose with th]em, because the spirit of the living beings [was in the wheels. 21 When those went, these went;] when those stood still, these stood still; when [those rose from the ground], the wheels [ro]se with them; [because the spirit of the living beings was in] the wheels.

22 Over the hea[ds of the living beings] their appearance<sup>3</sup> was like the sky, like the [glis]tening of ice. It was awesome, stretched [out] over [their heads]. 23 Under the firmament [their wings were stretched out straight], each toward the other. Each had t[wo wings] co[vering their bodies] on [each] side. 24 [When they went, I he]ard [the sound of their wings, like the roar of the great waters, like the voice of the Almighty, a noise of tumult like that of an army camp. When they stood still, they let down their wings]. ▲

43 [Take an iron pan, set it up like an iron wall between you and the city, and face it. It will be besieged]—you shall lay siege against it. [This shall be a sign to the house of Israel. 4 Lie down on your lef]t [side], and plac[e the sin of the house of Israel on it. You shall bear their sin all the days you lie on that side. 5 For] I [myself have ass]igned to [you the years of their iniquity as a corresponding number of days, three hundred ninety days. Thus you shall bear the iniquity of the house of Israel. 6 Then, when you have finished that, you shall lie down again, on your right side, and bear the sin of the house of Judah. For forty days, each day for a] year, I have assigned this to [you]. ▲

9 [You, take wheat and barley, beans and lentils, millet and spelt. Put them into a vessel and make yourself some bre]ad. [You will eat it during the three hundred ninety days that you are lying on your side. 10 The food] th[at] you eat by [weight will be twenty shekels a day. You must eat it regularly]. ▲

16 [Then he said to me: Look, Mortal, I will cut off the supply of food in Jerusalem, and they will eat br]ead by w[eight with anxiety and drink water by measure in dismay, 17 because bread and water will be scarce. They will be appalled with one anothe]r and waste away in their sin.

51 [And you, Mortal, take a sharp sword, use it as a barber's razor, and pass it over your head and] over [your beard. Then] ac[quire a balance] for [yourself and divide the hair]. ▲

11 [Therefore, as I live, says the Lord GOD, surely, because you have defiled my sanctuary with all your detestable things and all your abominations], so I myself [will decimate you. My eye will not spare. I will have no pity. 12 A third of you will die from pestilence or be consumed by famine] in your area; a [third will fall by the sword around you; and a third I will scatter to every wind, following] them [with drawn sword]. 13 Thus my anger will be spent [and my wrath toward them subside and I will be appeased.<sup>4</sup> When I have spent] my [wra]th on them, [they will know that I, the LORD, have spoken in my passion]. ▲

■ In the passage above, the Greek text is shorter than the Masoretic Text. Though the full text is not preserved in 11QEzek, indications of space suggest that it too may have been shorter than the Masoretic Text (see the introduction to Ezekiel).

15 So it shall be a reproach and a [taunt, a warn]ing and a h[orror, to the surrounding nations, when I execute judgments on you in anger and in w]rath, with [w]rathful rebuke[s]. I, the LORD, have s[spoken. 16 When I shoot the deadly arrows of famine, arrows of de]struction, whi[ch I sh]oo[t] to destr[oy you, I will intensify the famine until I cut off your food supply]. 17 I [will se]nd [famine and wild beasts] ag[ainst you, and they shall make you childless . . . ]. ▲

79 [My] ey[e shall not] spare. [I will not have pity. I will repay you according to your ways, while your abominations are present to you. Then you shall know that it is I], the LORD, who strikes.

10 [The day is here! See, it has come! Your doom has burst forth, the rod has budded, arrogance has blossomed. 11 Violence has grown up] into a rod of wickedness. None of [them shall remain, none of their multitude, none of their wealth, none of their preeminence. 12 The time has come, the day has arrived. Let not the buyer] rejoy[ce, nor the seller mourn. For wrath is on the whole multitude]. ▲

106 [Then, when he commanded the man clothed in linen, “Take fire from between] the whirling wheels, [from between the cherubim,” he went in and stood beside a wheel. 7 One of the cheru]b[im extended his] hand [to the fire between the cherubim and too]k some and put it into [the hands of the one clothed in linen, who took it and went out. 8 The cherubim seemed to have something li]ke human hands<sup>5</sup> [under their wings].

9 [Then I looked, and there were four wheels beside] the cherubim, [one] wheel [beside each cherub]. The wheel[s shone] like [chrysolite. 10 As for their appearance,] all [fo]ur [looked alike], as if [a wheel were within a wheel. 11 When they moved,] they went [in] any of the [fo]ur [directions] without turning as [they] wen[t. Wherever the lead wheel faced, the others went without tu]rning as they went. 12 [Their whole body, their backs, hands, and wings and the four wheels] were [full] of eyes [all around—the wheels belonging to the four of them].

13 I heard [the wheels called “the whirling wheels.” 14 Each one had] fo[ur] faces: the first was the face of a cherub, the second the face of a man], the third [the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle.]

15 [The cherubim rose up. These were the] living beings wh[ich I saw by the Chebar River. 16 When the cherubim moved, the wheels moved besi]de [them, and when the cherubim spread their wings to rise up from the ground, the wheels did not leave their side. 17 When] these stood still, those stood still; and when these rose, those rose with them; [for the spirit of the living beings was in them. 18 Then the glo]ry of the LORD [crossed] over the threshold of the temple and hovered over the cherubim. 19 [Then the cherubim spread] their [wings] and rose up from the ground, as I watched. When they departed, the wheels [went beside them. They stopped at the door of] the east [gate of the house of the L]ORD, while the glory of the G[o]d of Israel [hovered] ab[ove them.]

20 [These were the living beings] I [s]aw under the God of Israel by the Cheba[r] River; [so I knew that they were cherubim]. 21 Each [of the four] had [four face]s, ea[ch] had four wings, [and under their wings was something like a human hand. 22 As for the form of] their faces, they were the faces whi[ch I saw by the Chebar River. Each o]ne moved straight ahead.

111 [Then the spirit lifted me up and brought me to] the east [gate of the LORD's house], which faces east[ward. At the door of the gate, there were twenty-five men. I saw] among them Jaaza[niah son of Azzur and Pelatiah son of Benaiah, leaders of the people. 2 And he said to me, "Mortal, these are the men who p]lot evil and giv[e wicked counsel in this city, 3 who say, 'This is no time to build] houses. This city is the p[ot, and we are the meat.' 4 So prophesy against them; prophesy, Mortal]!"

5 Then the spirit of the L[ORD] fell on me [and said to me, "Say, Thus says the LORD: This is what you say, house of] Israel, [and I know] what goes through [your mind. 6 You have multiplied the slain in] this [city]. You have filled [its] st[reets with them. 7 Therefore thus says the Lord GOD: The slain whom] you have laid inside it, [they are the meat, and this city is the pot. But you will be forced out of it]. 8 You have feared the sword; [so I will bring the sword on you, says the Lord GOD. 9 I will force you out of] the city, [deliver you into the hands of strangers, and execute judgments against you]. 10 You [will] fall [by the sword. I will judge you] a[t Israel's borders. Then you will know that I am the LORD. 11 This c]ity [will not be your pot. You will not be the meat inside it. I will judge you at Israel's borders]." ▲

1631 [When you built your] shr[ines at the head of every street and made your high places in every square, you were not like a prosti]tute, because you scorned [payment. 32 You adulteress wife, receiving strangers instead of her husband! 33 Men] al[ways give gifts to prostitutes, but you—you give gifts to all your lovers, bribing them to come to you from every direction for your lechery]. ▲

2314 [She went still further in her harlotries when she saw men portrayed on the wall, i]mages of [Chaldeans portrayed with vermilion, 15 girded with belts on their loins, with flowing turbans on their heads, all of them looking like chariot officers, images of Babylonians] whose [n]ative [land was Chaldea. 16 . . . <sup>6</sup> 17 . . . until] she turned [from them] in disgust. 18 [When she carried on her harlotry openly and exhibited her nakedness, I turned from her in disgust, just] as [I had turned from her sister]. ▲

■ If the complete lines of 4QEzek<sup>a</sup> are filled out as they would have originally appeared, it becomes clear that the scroll did not have enough space for all of verses 16 and 17. It is possible that verse 16 is missing because a scribe's eye skipped down one line too many.

44 They have gone in to her. As [men] g[o in to a prostitute, so they went in to Oholah and Oholibah, the lewd women]. 45 But as righteous men, they will convict th[e]m, [sentencing them as adulteresses and women who shed] blood, because th[ey] are adulteresses and blood is on their hands. 46 For thus says [the Lord GOD]: Bring up an assembly against [th]em and g[ive them over to terror and spoil. 47 The assembly] shall stone [them with stones] and cut [them] down [with their swords. They shall kill their sons and their daughters and burn down their houses]. ▲

35<sup>11</sup> [Therefore, as I live, says the Lord GOD, I will treat you in accordance with your anger and your jealousy which you showed] in your hatred of them. I will make myself [kno]wn among them [wh]en I judge you. 12 You will know [that] I, the LORD, [have heard] all [the contemptible thing]s you [have spoken against the mountain]s of Israe[l, saying, “They have been laid waste]. They have been given to us to de[vour].”

13 And y[ou have boasted] against me with [your] mou[th. Y]ou have multip[lied] your words [agai]nst me. [I] have heard it. 14 [This is what] the Lord [GOD says: While] the whole ear[th] rejoices, I [will make you de]solate. 15 As you rejoiced over the [inhe]ritance of the hou[se of I]sra[el] beca[use] it [was deso]late, so will I treat you. 8 [But yo]u, mountains of Is[rael, you will sprout branches and yield fruit for my people] Israel. [For they will soon come home, 9 because I am certainly for you, and I will turn to you. You will be] plowed [and sown. 10 I will multiply your people, the whole house of Israel, all of it, and] the [cities will be inhabit]ed [and the ruins rebuilt]. 11 I will multiply [people and animals for you, and they will increase and be fruitful. 16 [Again the word of the LORD came to me: 17 Mortal, when] the people of Isra[el] were living i[n] their own [la]nd, they de[fil]ed [i]t with their conduct and their [deed]s. Their con[duct] in my presence [was] like the [un]clea[nness] of contact with a corpse. 18 [So] I poured out my w[ra]th on th[em] for the blood [wh]ich they poured out o[n the land], for they [de]filed it with [their] id[ols]. 19 And [I scattered them among the nations, and they were dispersed through the countri]e[s. [for] my holy name, which the house of Israe[l] had profaned among the nations, wherever<sup>2</sup> they [we]nt.

22 Therefore say to the h[ou]se of I[sra]el, [This is what the L]ord [GOD] says: [It is not] for [yo]ur s[ake, hou]se of Is[rael], that I am about to act, [but] for my [holy name], which you have profaned among the nations, wher[ever] you went. 23 [I will sanctify my] great [name], which [has been profaned among the nations, wh]ich [you have profaned among] them, and [the nations] will kn[ow that] I am the LORD, [say]s [the Lord G]OD, [when I prove my holiness among you in their sight].

24 For I will take [you from among the na]tions [and gather you out of all the countrie]s and [will bring you into] your own l[an]d. 25 I will sprinkle] clean [wa]ter [on you], and you will be cl[ean]. I will cl[eanse y]ou from all [your] filthiness [and all] your [idols]. 26 I [will give] you a new heart, and [I will] put a [new] spirit wi[thin you]. I will remove the heart of stone from yo[ur] flesh, [and I will give] you a heart [of flesh. 27 I will] put [my spirit] within you and cau[se] you to walk [in] my [statutes and] carefully k[ee]p my [ordinances]. 28 You will [dwell] in the la[nd that I gave to yo]ur [ancestors]. You will be my peo[ple, and I will be your G]od. 29 [I] will save you from [all your uncleanness. I will call fo]r the grain and will multiply [it] and [bring] no [famine on you. 30 And] I [will mul]ti[ply the fruit] of [the] trees and the produce of the [field, so] that yo[u] no [longer] endure the re[proach of] fa[mi]ne among the nation[s].

31 [Then you will remember] yo[ur evil] w[a]ys [and your] a[ctions] th[at were not good], and you will loathe your[selves for your sins and abominable deeds]. 32 It is not for your sake that I [do this, says the Lord GOD, let it be known to you. Be ashamed and confou]n[ded] for your way[s, hou]se of [Israel. 33 This is what the Lord GOD says: In the day that] I [cleanse] you from [all your sins, I will settle the cities and rebuild] the [ruins, 34 and the desolate land will be plowed], though it had [been a desolation in the sight of all who passed by. 35 They will say, “T]his de[solate land has become like the garden of Eden. The cities which were devastated, desolate, and in ruins are fortified and inhabited].” ▲

37<sup>1</sup> [The hand of the LORD] wa[s on me], and he brough[t me out in the spirit of the LORD, and set me in the middle of] the va[lley, and it was] fu[ll of bones. 2 He brought me a]ll ar[ound] them. [There were very many on the floor of the valley, and they were very] dry. 3 [He said] to [me, “Mortal, can t]hese [bones live]?” And I answered, “L[ord GOD, you know.]”

4 [Then he said to] me, “Prophecy ov[er these bones, and sa]y [t]o them, D[ry] bones, [hear the word of the LORD. 5 This is what] the Lord GOD [s]ays to [thes]e bones: Li[sten. I will] make breath [enter y]ou, and you will l[ive. 6 I] will put tendons [on] you, and [I] will form flesh [o]n you [and cover you with] skin, [and] I [will pu]t breath in you, [and] you [will live. Then you will know that I am] the LORD.”

7 So I prophesied [a]s I was commanded. [As I prophesied, there was] a nois[e and a ra]tting. [The] bones<sup>8</sup> came together, each bone to [its] bo[ne. 8 As I watched], indeed sinews and flesh fo[r]med] on them, [and skin] covered [them] over, but there was no breath in them. 9 [Then he sai]d t[o me, “Prophesy to the wind; pro]phesy, Mortal, and say [to the wind, This is what the Lo]rd [GOD s]ays: Com[e] from the four winds, breath, and breathe on [the]se slain, so they may [come to] li[fe].” 10 So I prophesied as he commanded me, and breath entered them, and [they came to life] and st[oo]d up on their feet—a huge army.

11 Then he sai[d t]o me, Mort[al], these bones [ar]e the whole house of Is[rae]l. Listen, they [s]ay, “[Our bones] are dried up, [and our h]o[pe is gone]. We [are completely cut off].” 12 Therefore prophesy and say [to them, This is what] the Lord GOD says says:<sup>9</sup> [Listen. I] will open [your graves and br]ing you up out of your graves, my people, and I will bring you [into the land of Isra]el. 13 You will know [that I am the L]ORD when [I] have opened your [gr]aves and brought [y]ou up [out of your] gr[aves], my [people]. 14 I will put my spirit in you, and you will live, [and I will settle] you in your own land. Then y[ou] will know [that] I, [the LORD, have said it and done it, says the LORD.]

15 [The word of the LORD came to me again, saying, 16 Mo]rtal, take [a stick and write on it, “For Judah and for] the Israel[it]es, [his] compan[ions.” Then take another stick and write on it, “For Joseph, the] stick of [Ephraim, and the whole house of Israel, his companions].” ▲

28 [Then the nations will know that I the LORD sanctify Israel when my sanctuary is among them] for al[l time].

38<sup>1</sup> [The word of the LORD] came [to me, saying, 2 Mortal, look toward] Gog of [the land of Magog, the chief prince of Meshech, and Tubal. Prophesy against him] 3 and s[ay: This is what the Lord GOD says: Listen. I am opposed to you, Gog, chief prince of Meshech, and Tubal. 4 I will turn you around, put hooks into your jaws], and b[ring you out with your whole army, with horses and horsemen in] f[ull armor, a great company with buckler and shield, all of them wielding swords; 5 Persia, Ethiopia, and Put with them, all of them with shield and helmet; 6 Gomer with all its troops; Beth-togarmah from the far north with all its troops—many nations are with you]. 7 Get ready. Prepare yourself, [you and all your companies assembled around you]. Be [a guard] for them. 8 [After a long period you will be summoned. In the latter] years [you will invade a land that has been restored from war, whose inhabitants have been gathered from many] nation[s to the mountains of Israel which had long been devastated, whose people have been brought out from the nations and who are all living in safety]. ▲

413 He stepped [into the] inner room and [measur]ed [the jambs of the entrance, two cubits, the height of the entrance, six cubits, and the width of] the entrance, seven cu[bits. 4 Then he measured the length of the room, twenty cubits, and the width, twenty] cubits, be[fore the nave, and he said to me, “This is the most holy place.” 5 Then he measured the wall of] the temple, [six] cu[bits, and the width of every side room a]rou[nd the] temple, [four cubits]. 6 Now, [the side rooms were on three levels, one atop the other, with thirty on each level. The side rooms extended to a structure which served as a support all around the temple and were fastened to it, rather than to the temple wall]. ▲

THE BOOK OF THE TWELVE MINOR PROPHETS

The scrolls of the twelve Minor Prophets are of special importance because they allow a very early window not only into the text of the individual books but also into what is perhaps of equal interest: the order of the books as a unit.

Of a total of ten manuscripts, eight were found in the caves at Qumran: seven in Cave 4 and one in Cave 5.<sup>a</sup> These manuscripts range in age from 150 BCE (4QXII<sup>a</sup> and perhaps 4QXII<sup>b</sup>) to 25 BCE (4QXII<sup>c</sup>). The two remaining scrolls were found in caves that were utilized as hideouts by Jewish rebels during the Bar Kokhba revolt, an unsuccessful uprising against Rome (132–135 CE). These scrolls are thus likely to be later productions: 50 BCE to 50 CE (8H.evXII gr) and 75 CE to 100 CE (MurXII). Letters signed by the leader of the revolt, Bar Kokhba himself, were found in both of these caves.

Do the Dead Sea manuscripts evidence the tradition of printing these twelve small books together? This question can now be answered in the affirmative, according to the text of seven of the Dead Sea Scrolls. The remaining three are so fragmentary that they contain parts of but one book each.<sup>b</sup>

Do the scrolls witness to the order that is found in the Greek Septuagint or to that preserved in the Masoretic Text? All of the scrolls but one appear to follow the traditional Hebrew order. This is the same order that is followed by every major English translation available today. Of particular interest among these scrolls is 8H.evXII gr, which—despite being a Greek scroll—displays the order of the Hebrew text of books 2–6 (Joel, Amos, Obadiah, Jonah, Micah), rather than that of the Greek tradition (Amos, Micah, Joel, Obadiah, Jonah). The one odd scroll, 4QXII<sup>a</sup> (the oldest of all the manuscripts), suggests a third order in which Jonah follows Malachi. Jonah is certainly not in the first half of the twelve, as in the Greek and Hebrew traditions, but likely last in the collection.

The text of the books evidenced in the scrolls is, in the main, that of the Masoretic Text. Indeed, even the Greek manuscript found in Nah.al H.ever exhibits the Greek tradition as systematically corrected by comparison with the Hebrew. However, the number of variants indicated in the translations that follow suggest that the best description for the text is “slightly mixed”—not entirely that of the traditional form of the Hebrew Bible, but showing some agreement with the Septuagint as well as some independence from both the Hebrew and the Greek traditions. The nine Hebrew texts among the Dead Sea Scrolls also evidence—in varying degrees—a slightly fuller approach to spelling (analogous to the British colour as opposed to the American color) than that of the traditional Hebrew Bible.

As was the case among the early Christians, the Minor Prophets were quite popular at Qumran. The sectarians at Qumran often understood the prophecies found in these twelve books to be speaking to their contemporary situation. A particular type of interpretation known as peshet—not known before the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls—was incorporated in the commentaries found at Qumran. Peshet is a prophetic commentary in which the interpretation—in the eyes of the community—shares the same authority as the original prophecy. The word is used frequently in the book of Daniel to introduce the “authoritative” interpretation of dreams (Dan 2:16). Of the fifteen known pesharim, six were written on the books of the Minor Prophets: two on Hosea, and one each on Micah, Nahum, Habakkuk, and Zephaniah.

HOSEA

In addition to the two peshtarim and the three biblical manuscripts containing portions of the book of Hosea,<sup>a</sup> the prophet Hosea's words can be found in several quotations in the Dead Sea Scrolls.

Hosea 2:15 and 18 are cited in the text of Barki Nafshi in general reference to God's goodness to Israel. The remainder of the citations are characteristic of pesher interpretation, in which warnings spoken by Hosea to historical Israel in the period before the exile of the northern tribes at the hands of Assyria (722 BCE) are interpreted to address the situation of the Qumran sectarians in the first or second century BCE. Hosea 3:4, and its description of Israel as "without king or prince" before the coming of the future Davidic king, is understood by the Damascus Document (CD) 20:16 as prophesying the chaotic period following the death of the Teacher of Righteousness. Corresponding to this, "like a rebellious cow" (Hosea 4:16) is quoted in CD 1:13–14 in reference to the Jews who rejected the ways of the Qumran community during this same time period. Hosea 5:10 and its characterization of the "boundary shifters" refers to this same rebellious group (CD 8:3 with 19:15–16) who manipulated the law—a likely description of the Pharisees. Finally, the "horn" and "trumpet" of Hosea 5:8 are cryptically interpreted by 4Q177 to be the first and second books of the Law, which were rejected by the apostate in the Last Days.

In light of the pesher-like treatment of these quotations, it is curious that the surviving portions of the peshtarim (4Q166–67) appear to refer primarily to pre-exilic Israel.

1[6 And she conceived again, and gave birth to a daughter. And the LORD said to him, "Name her Lo-ruhamah, for I will no longer have mercy upon the house of] Israel, that [I should in any way pardon them. 7 But I will have mercy upon the house of Judah, and will save them] by the LORD th[eir] God, [and will not save them by bow, or by sword, or by battle, by horses,) or by horsemen.”

8 Now when she had w[eaned Lo-ruhamah, she conceived, and gave birth to a son. 9 And the LORD said, “Na]me him Lo-ammi; f[or you are not my people, and I am not your God.”]

[10 Yet] the number of the children of [Israel shall b]e [as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured] or numbered; and then in [the place where it was said to them,] “You [are not my people,]” he shall say<sup>1</sup> t[o them, “You are the sons of the living God.”] 11 And [the] c[hildren of Judah] and the children of Israe[l] shall be gathered [together, and they shall appoint themselves one head, and shall go u]p from the land; for [great shall be the d]ay [of Jezreel.]

2[1 Say you to your brethren,] Ammi; and to [your] sister[s, Ruhamah.]
2 C[onten]d<sup>2</sup> [with your mother, contend;] for she is not [my] w[ife, and I am not her husband; and let her put away] her harlotry from betwee[n . . . ,<sup>3</sup> and he]r [adult]er[y from between her breasts;] 3 else I strip [her naked, and expose her as on the day that she was born, and make] her as a wilderness, [and make her like a dry land, and slay her with thirst.] ▲

[11 I will also cause all] her [mirth to cease, her feasts, her new moons, her sabbaths, and all her appointed feasts. 12 And I will lay waste her vines and] her [fi]g trees, of which [she has said, “These are my wages that] my lovers [have giv]en me.” [And I will make them a forest, and the wild] animal[s<sup>4</sup> of the field shall eat] them. [13 And I will punish] her for the days of the Baal[s, to which she burned incense, and decked herself with] her [earrin]g and her jewelry, and [went after her lovers, and forgot me, says the LORD.]

14 Therefore, behold, I will allu[re her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speak tenderly to her. 15 And I will give to her] her [vineyar]ds from there, and [the] valley [of Achor for a door of hope; and she shall respond there as in the days of her youth, and as in the day when she came up from the land of Egypt. 16 And it shall be on that day, says the L]ORD, you shall c[all me Ishi, and shall no longer call me Baali. 17 For I will remove the names of] the Baals [from her mouth, and they shall be mentioned by their name no longer.] ▲

20 I [will even take] you [as for my wife in faithfulness; and you shall know the LORD. 21 And in that day, I will answer, says the] LORD, [I will answer the heavens, and they shall answer the earth; 22 and the earth shall answer the grain,] and t[he ne]w wine, [and the oil; and they shall answer Jezreel. 23 And I will sow her for myself in the land;] and I will have mercy [upon her that had not obtained mercy; and I will say to them that were not my people, “You are my people”; and they] shall sa[y, “You are my God.”]

31 And [the LORD said to me, “Go again, love a woman who has a lover and is an adulteress, even as the LORD loves] t[he] c[hildren of Israel, though they turn unto other gods, and love raisin cakes.” 2 So I bought her for myself for fif]tee[n pieces of silver and a homer of barle]y [and a] lethech [of barley; 3 and I said to her,] “You shall [remain with me ma]ny [days; you shall not play the harlot, and you shall not have a man, so will I also be toward you.” 4 For the children of Israel] shall remain [for] many [d]ays [without king or prince, and without sacrifice or pillar, and without e]phod [or te]raphim. 5 Afterward [the children of Israel shall] return, [and seek the LORD] their [God] and David [their] king, [and shall come with fear unto the LORD and to his goodness in the latter d]ays.

4[1 Hear the word of the L]ORD, O children of Israel; for [the LORD has a case against the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth or goodness, and no knowled]ge of God in the la[n]d. 2 S[wearing, lying, murder, stealing, and adultery have spread abroad and bloodshed follows bloodshed. 3 Therefore the land shall mourn and all] those [who dwell]<sup>5</sup> in it [shall languish;] with [the] an[imals of the field and the birds of the air; even the fish of the sea shall be taken away.]

[4 Yet let no one contend, and let no] one [reprove,] for your people [are like those that contend with the priest. 5 And you shall stumble by day, and the prophet also shall stumble with you by night, and I will destroy your mother. 6 My people are destroyed for] lack of knowledge; because [you have rejected knowledge, I will also reject you, that you shall be no priest to me. Because you have forgotten the law of your God, I also will forget your children.]

7 The more they were multiplied, they sinned [against me; I will change their glory into shame. 8 They feed on the sin of my people and set their heart on their iniquity. 9 And it shall be, like people, like pri]est; and I will punish [them for their ways, and will repay them their deeds. 10 And they shall eat, and not have enough;] they shall play the harlot, [and shall not increase; because they have stopped giving he]ed [to the LORD.]

11 Whoredom, [wine, and new wine take away the understanding. 12 My people ask counsel of a piece of wood, and their divining staff informs them; for the spirit of whoredom has led them astray, and they have played the harlot, departing from their G]o[d. 13 They sacrifice upon the t]ops of the [mountains, and burn incense upon the hills, under oak and po]plar and terebinth, [because their shadow is good. Therefore yo]ur [daughters play the harlot] and [your] brides [commit adultery.] 14 I will [no]t punish [your daughters when they play the harlot, nor your brides when they commit adultery; for the men themselves go apart with harlots, and they sacrifice with the prostitutes; and the people that do not understand shall be overthrown.]

[15 Though you, Israel, play the harlot, do not let] Jud[ah become] guilty. [Do not go to Gilga], [do] not<sup>s</sup> [go up to Beth-aven, and do not swear, “As the LORD lives!” 16 For] Israel [has behaved stubborn]nly, [like a stubborn heifer; can the LORD feed them] as a lamb [in a broad pasture?]

[17 Ephraim is joined to idols; let him alone. 18 Their drink is gone, they play the harlot continually; her rulers dearly love sh]ame. 19 [The wind] has wrapped [her up in its wings; and they shall be put to shame because of their sacrifices.]

5[1 Hear this, O priests, and listen, O hous]e of Israe[l, and give ear, O house of the king; for the judgment pertains to you; for you have been a snare at Mizpah, and a net spread upon Tabor.] ▲

6[3 And let us know, let us follow on to know] the LORD; [his going forth is sure] as the morning; [and he will come to us as the rain, as the latter rain that waters] the earth. ▲

[8 Gilead is a city of evildoers; it is trac]ked [with blood. 9 And as bands of robbers wait for a man, so the company of priests] murder [on the way to] Sh[echem; indeed they have committed wickedness. 10 In the house of Israel I have seen a horrible thing:] there whoredom [is found in Ephraim; Israel is defiled.]

[11 Also, O Judah, there is a harvest appointed for you, when] I [bring ba]ck [the] f[ortunes of my people.]

7[1 When I would heal] I[srael, then the iniquity of Ephraim is uncovered, and the wickedness of Samaria; for they commit falsehood, and the thief enters in, and the band of robbers ravages outside.] ▲

[12 When they go, I will spread my net over them;] I will bring [them] do[wn] as the birds of the sky; I will chastise them, according to the] report [of their congregation. 13 Woe] to them! [For they have wandered from me. Destruction to th]em! for they have trespassed against me. And [I would redee]m them yet they [have spoken lies against me.]

[14 And they have not cried t]o me with their heart, but they howl upon their beds; [they assemble themselves for grain and new wine; they rebel against me.] 15 Although I have trained and strengthened their arms, yet [they plot evil against me. 16 They return, but not upward; they are] like the<sup>z</sup> deceitful bow; [their princes] shall fall by the swo[rd because of the rage of their tongue. This is their derision in the land of Egypt.]

8[1 Set the trumpet t]o [your lips. As an eagle he comes against the house of the LORD, because they have transgressed my covenant, and rebelled against my law.] ▲

9[1 Do not rejoice, O Israel, for joy, like the peoples; for you have played the harlot, departing from your God. You have loved a prostitute's wages on every] grain [floo]r. 2 Threshing [floor and the winepress shall not feed them, and the new wine shall fail them. 3 They shall not remain in] the LORD[’s land;] but [Ephraim] shall re[turn to Egypt and they shall eat unclean food in Assyria.]

[4 They shall not pour out drink offerings] to the L[ORD], [and their sacrifices shall not be pleasing to him. Their bread shall be as the bread of mourners; all that eat of it shall be defiled; for their bread shall be for their own appetites; it shall not come into the house of the LORD.] ▲

[9 They have deeply corrup]ted [themselves] as in the days of [Gibeah; he will remember their iniquity, he will punish their sins.]

[10 I found Israe]l [like grapes in the wilderness. I saw your fathers] as the first fruit on the f[ig tree in its first season; but they came to Baal-peor, and consecrated themselves to the shameful thing,] and became [abominable like that which they loved. 11 As for] Ephraim, [their glory] shall fly [away like a bird: there shall be no birth, and none with child, and no conception. 12 Though they bring up their children, yet will] I [bereave] them, [so that not a man shall be left.] For indeed, [woe to them when I depart from them! 13 Ephraim, as I have seen, is like Tyre, planted in a pleasant meadow;] but Ephraim shall bring out [his children to the slayer. 14 Give them, O LORD—what will you give? Give them a miscarrying womb and] dry [breasts.]

[15 All their wickedness is in Gilgal; for there I hated them; because of the wickedness of th]eir doings [I will drive them out of my house; I will love them no more; all their princes are rebels.]

[16 Ephraim is struck down, their root is dried up, they shall bear no fruit: yes, though they bring forth, yet will I slay the belo]ved ones of [their] womb. 17 My God [will cast] them [away, because they did not listen to him; and they shall be wanderers among the nation]s.

10[1 Israel is a luxuriant vine that puts forth his fruit; according to the abundance of [his] fruit [he has multiplied his altars; according to the goodness of their land they have improved their pillars. 2 Their heart is divided; now] they will be found guilty; he will strike down [their] altars, he will destroy their pillars.]

[3 Surely now they will say, “We have no king, for] we do not [f]ear the LORD; and the king, [what can he do for us?” 4 They speak mere words, with empty oaths they make covenants; therefore judgment springs up as poison weeds] in the furrows [of the field. 5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall be in terror of the calves of Beth-aven; for its people shall mourn over it, and its priests] shall cry over [it, over its glory, because it is departed from it. 6 It also shall be carried off to Assyria as a present to the great king; Ephraim shall receive [shame, and Israel [shall be ashamed] of [his own] counsel.]

[7 As for Samaria, her king is cut off, as foam upon the water. 8 Also the high places [of Aven, the sin of Israel, shall be] destroyed; [the thorn and the thistle shall come up on their altars; and they shall say to the mountains,] “Cover us”; and to the hills, “Fall on us.”]

[9 O] Israel,] you have sinned [from the days of Gibeah. There they stood; will not the battle against the children of iniquity overtake them in Gibeah? 10 In my desire, I will chastise them, and the] peoples [shall be gathered against them,] when they are bound for their double guilt.]

[11 And Ephraim is a trained heifer that loves to tread out the grain, but] I have spared [her] fair [neck; I will set a rider on Ephraim; Judah shall plow; Jacob shall harrow for himself. 12 Sow for yourselves righteousness, reap according to kindness; break up your fallow ground; for it is time to seek the LORD, until he] comes and they rain<sup>8</sup> righteousness upon you.

[13 You have plowed wickedness, you have reaped iniquity; you have eaten the fruit of lies; for you trusted in your way,] in the multitude of [your] mighty men. [14 Therefore a tumult shall arise among your people, and all your fortresses shall be destroyed, as Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel] [in the day of battle, when the mothers were dashed in pieces with their children.] ▲

11[2 The more the prophets called them, the more they went from them; they sacrificed to the Baalim, and they] [burned incense to graven images.]

3 Yet [I taught Ephraim to walk, I took them on my arms; but they did not know that] I [healed] them. 4 With cords of a man I drew them, with] bands of love; and I became to them as those that lift up the yoke] from their jaws; [and I reached out and fed them.]

[5 They shall not return into the land of Egypt; but the Assyrian shall be] the[ir king,] because [they] r[efused to return to me. 6 And the sword shall fall upon their cities, and shall consume] their [bar]s, [and devour them, because of their own counsels. 7 And my people are bent on turning from me. Though they call to him that is on high, none at all will exalt him.]

8 How [shall I give you up, Ephraim? How shall I cast you off, Israel? How shall I make you as Admah? How shall I set you as Zeboiim?] He has turned back upon my heart;<sup>9</sup> [my compassions are kindled] together. [9 I will not execute the fierceness of my anger; I will not return] to destroy Ephraim; for [I am] G[od, and not man—the Holy One in the midst of you—and I will not come in wrath.]

[10 A]fter him,<sup>10</sup> the LORD, he<sup>11</sup> shall walk, and<sup>12</sup> [he will roar] like a li[on; for he will roar, and the children shall come trembling from the west. 11 They shall come trembling] as birds<sup>13</sup> out of Egypt, [and as a dove out of the land of Assyria; and I will settle them in their houses, says] the LORD.

[12 Ephraim has] su[rrounded me with falsehood, and the house of Israel with deceit; but Judah still walks] with God, [and is faithful with the Holy One.]

12[1 Ephraim feeds on wind, and follows after the east wind all day long; he multiplies lies and violence; and they make a] covenant [with Assyria, and oil is carried to Egypt.]

[2 The LORD also has a dispute with Judah, and] will punish [Jacob according to] his [ways;] and<sup>14</sup> according to [his] de[eds will he repay him. 3 In the womb he took his brother by the heel; and] in [his] manh[ood he strove] with G[od. 4 He] strove with [the angel and prevailed; he wept and sought his favor; he found him at Beth-el, and there he spoke with us, 5 even the LORD, the God of hosts; the LORD is his name. 6 Therefore] return [to] y[our] God, [keep] k[indness and justice, and wait for your God continually.]

[7 A merchant, in whose hand are f]alse [scales, he] lo[ves] to oppress. [8 And Ephraim said, “Surely I am become rich, I have found wealth for myself; in all] my [lab]ors [they] shall find [in me no iniquity that would be sin.” 9 But I am the LORD your God since the land of Egypt; I will yet again make you to dwell in tents, as in the days that I] brought you up for the appointed feast.<sup>15</sup>

[10 I have also spoken to the prophets, and I have multiplied visions; and by the prophets I have spoken parables. 11 In Gilead there is iniquity; they shall come to nothing. In Gilgal they sacrifice bullocks; their] alta[rs are] also [as stone heaps on the furrows of the field. 12 And Jacob fled into the field of Aram,] and [Israel] served [for a wife, and for a wife he kept sheep. 13 And by a prophet the LORD brought Israel up out of] Egy[pt, and by a prophet was he preserved. 14 Ephraim has provoked to anger most bitterly; therefore his bloodshed shall be] left [on him, and his reproach shall his Lord return to him.]

13[1 When Ephraim spoke, there was trembling; he exalted himself in Is]rael; [but when he became guilty in Baal he died. 2 And now they sin more and more, and have made themselves molten images of their silver, even idols according to their own understanding, all of them the work of the craftsmen. They say of them, “Let the men that sacrifice kiss the calves.” 3 Therefore they shall be like the morning cloud,] and like [the dew that goes away early, like the chaff that is driven with the whirlwind out of the threshing-floor, and like the smoke out of the chimney.]

[4 Yet I am the LORD yo]ur [God] who fortifies heaven [and creates the earth, whose hands made the whole host of heaven, but I did not show them to you to go after them, but] I brought you up<sup>16</sup> [from the land of Egypt; and you were not to know any god but me, and besides me there is no savior. 5 I knew you in the wilderness, in the] land of great drought. [6 When I fed them, so were they satisfied; they were filled, and their heart was exalted; therefore have they forgotten me. 7 So I have become like a lion to them;] as a leopard [I will wat]ch by the way; 8 I will meet them as [a bear that is robbed of her cubs, and will tear open the covering of their heart; and I will devour them there as a lioness; as a] wild [animal] would tear them.

[9 It is your destruction, O Israel, that you are against me, against your help. 10 Where now is your king, that he may save you in all your cities? And your judges, of] whom [you said, Give me a king and princes? 11 I have given you a king in my anger,] and I have t[aken him away in my wrath.]

[12 The iniquity of Ephraim is bound up;] his [sin is laid up in store.] 13 The s[orrows of a childbirth shall come upon him; he is an unwise son, for at the time of birth he should not delay at the mouth of the womb.]

[14 I will ransom them from the power of Sheol; I will redeem them from death; O death, where are thy plagues? O Sheol, where is thy destruction? Repentance shall be hidden from my eyes.]

[15 Though he flourishes among the reeds, an east wind shall come, the wind of the LORD coming up from the wilderness;] and [his] spr[ing] shall become dry, [and his fountain shall be dried up. It shall plunder the treasury of every precious vessel. 16 Samaria shall bear her guilt, for she has rebelled] against her God; [they shall fall] by the swo[r]d; their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their pregnant women shall be ripped open.]

142 Take with you words, and re[turn to the LORD. Say to him, “Take away all iniquity, and accept that which is good, and will offer the fr]uit of our lips. 3 Assyria shall not [save us; we will not ride upon horses; we will no longer say to the work of ou]r [hands, ‘You are our gods.’] For in you the orphan finds mercy.”

[4 I will heal their apostasy, I will love them freely; for my anger has turned away from them. 5 I will be as the dew to I]srael; he shall blossom as the lily; cast<sup>z</sup> forth [his] ro[ots as Lebanon.] ▲

[8 O Ephraim, what have I to do with idols? I myself have answered and watched him. I am like a] l[uxuriant cypre]ss; [from me comes your fruit. 9 Who is wise, that he may understand these things? Prudent,] that he may know them? For [the ways of the LORD are right, and the just shall walk in them; but transgresso]rs [shall stumble in them.]

JOEL

Three of the ten Minor Prophets manuscripts in the Dead Sea Scrolls contain sections of the book of Joel.<sup>18</sup> Although the book of Acts quotes a rather extensive portion of chapter 2 (2:28–32 in Acts 2:17–21) in perhaps the clearest peshet-type quotation in the New Testament—in which the outpouring of God’s Spirit that the early church experienced was in fact prophesied by Joel—the caves divulged neither commentaries on Joel nor documents that capitalized on language expressive of the central topic of the prophet’s declaration: the coming of the day of the Lord. It seems odd that, though the concept of the day of God’s coming in great power permeates the scrolls (see the War Scroll), the expression “day of the Lord” is never found in the nonbiblical manuscripts.

The only surviving quote of Joel found elsewhere in the Qumran manuscripts is in 4Q266—one of the Cave 4 copies of the Damascus Document—applying the exhortation to return to God, originally addressed to sinful Israel (Joel 2:12–13), to the disobedient community member who has been told the punishment due his sin.

1[10 The field is laid waste,] the land [m]ourns; f[or the grain is destroyed, the new wine is dried up, the oil fails. 11 Be dismayed, O farmers, wail, O vinedres]ers, [for the wh]eat and for the barl[ey; for the harvest of the field is ruined. 12 The vine has withe]red, [and the fig tree has faile]d; the pomegranate, [the palm also, and the apple tree, all] the trees of the field have wit[hered;] for j[o]y has withered a[way from the sons of men.]

[13 Gird yourselves with sackcloth, and lament, O priest]s; wa[i]l, [O] ministers of the alta[r;] come, l[ie all night in sackcloth, O ministers of my God, for] the grain offering and the d[rink offering are with]held from the house of your G[o]d. [14 Sanctify a] fast, and<sup>19</sup> call a solemn [assembly;] gather the old men and all the inhabi[tant]s of the la[nd to the house of the LORD your God, and cry to the LORD. 15 Alas] for the day! For the day [of the LORD] is at hand, [and as destruction from the Almighty it shall come. 16 Is not the food cut off before our eyes, joy] and gladness [from the house of our God?] 17 The heifers<sup>20</sup> decay<sup>21</sup> in [their] s[talls; the storehouses are desolate, the barns are broken down; for the grain is dried up. 18 How] the animals [groan!] The<sup>22</sup> herds of cattle wander aimlessly because [they have] n[o pasture; the flocks of sheep are also made desolate. 19 O LORD, to you I cry;] for the fire has devoured the pastures of the<sup>23</sup> wilderne[ss, and the flame has burned all the trees of the field. 20 Even the wild animals pant for you;] for the water brooks are dried up, and the fire [has devoured the pastures of the wilderness.]

21 Blow the trumpet in Zi[on, and sound an alarm on my holy mountain. Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble, for the day of the LORD is coming, it is near at hand; 2 a day of darkness and gloom, a day of clouds and thick darkness, as the dawn spreads upo]n the [mountains; a great and strong people; there has never been anything like it, nor shall there] be again [after it,] t[o the years of many generations. 3 A fire devours before them, and] behind the[m a flam]e [burns. The land is] as the garden of E[den before them, and behind them a desolate wilderness. Inde]ed, [there is no] escape for [them. 4 Their appearance is like the appearance of horses; and as war-horses, so do they run. 5 Like the nois]e [of chariots] they leap on the tops of the mountains, [like the sound of a flame of fire that devours the stubble, like a] mighty [people] ar[ayed] for<sup>24</sup> b[at]tle. 6 Before them [the peoples] are in anguish; [all faces have become pale. 7 They] run [like mi]ghty men; [they] climb [the wall] like so[ldi]ers; [and they march every one on his own course, and they do not break] their ranks. 8 And [they do not push on]e and<sup>25</sup> anoth[er; they march every one in his own path; and] they burst through the w[eapons, and they do not break ranks. 9 Th]ey rush [on the cit]y; they run upon the wall; [they climb up into the houses;] they enter [in at the wi]ndows like a thief. 10 The earth [quakes] before th[em; the heavens] tremble; [the sun and the moon are darkened, and the stars withdraw] their shining. 11 And the LORD utters his voice befor[e] his army; for [his camp is very] great; [for he is strong that obeys his word; for the da]y of the LORD [is great] and very terrible; [and] who can bear<sup>26</sup> it? 12 Yet even now, [says the LORD, turn to me with all] your [heart,] with fas[ting, with weeping,] and with mourning; 13 and rend your hearts and not y[our] goats,<sup>27</sup> [and turn] to the LORD [your] God; [for he is gracious and merciful, slow to] anger and abundant in lovingkindness, and relents of e[vi]l. [14 Who knows whether he will not turn and repent, and leave a blessing behind him, even a grain offering and a drink offering] to the LORD your God? [15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast, call a solemn assembly;] 16 gather the people, sanctify the assembly, [assemble the old men, gather the children, and the nursing infants; let the bridegroom come out of his chamber, and the bride] out of her canopy. [17 Let the priests, the ministers of the LORD, weep] between the porch [and the altar, and let them say, Spare your people, O LORD, and] do [not] appoint your heritage to reproach, that the] natio[ns should rule over th]em. [Why should they say among the peoples, “Where is their God?”]

[18 Then the LORD was jealous] for his land, and had pi[ty on] his people. 19 And [the LO]RD [answered] and [said to his people: Behold, I will send you grain, and new wine, and oil,] and you shall eat<sup>28</sup> and you shall be satisfied [with them; and] I will no [longer make y]ou [a reproach among the nations; 20 but I will remove] the northern army [far from you, and will drive it in]to [a barren and] desolate [land,] its front into the [eastern sea, and its rear into the western sea; and] its [stenc]h [shall come up,] and [its] foul s[mell] shall come up. Surely he has [done] great things.

[21 Fear n]ot, [O land, be glad and rejoice; for the LORD has done great things. 22 Fear not, you animals of the field;] for [the pastures of the wilderness] have become gre[en, for the tree bears its fruit, the fig tree and the vine have yielded in full. 23 Be glad then, O children of Zion, and rejoice in the LORD your Go]d; [for he has given you the former rain for your vindication, and he showered you with rain, the former rain and the latter rain as before.] ▲

[26 And you shall eat in plenty and be satisfied, and shall praise the name of the LORD yo]ur [God, who has dealt wondrously with you; and my people shall] never [be put to shame.] 27 And you shall know that [I am] in the m[idst of Israel, and that I am the LORD your God, and there is no]ne el[se;] and [my] people shall never be put to shame.

[28 Then afterward, I will] pour out my Spirit upon [all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dre]am [dreams,] your [you]ng men [shall see visions.] 29 And also up[on the male servants and the female servants in] those [day]s will I pour out [my] Spirit. [30 And] I will show wonder[s in the heavens and in the earth: blood, and fi]re, and pillars of s[moke. 31 The sun shall be turned] into darkness, and the moon [into blood, before] the great and ter[rible day of] the LORD [comes. 32 Then whoever] shall call on the name [of the LORD shall be saved; for in Mount Zi]on and in Jerusale[m there shall b]e those that escape, as the LO[RD] has said, [and among the remnan]t those w[hom the LO]RD cal[ls.]

31 For behold, in that<sup>29</sup> days, and in [tha]t time, [when I shall] bring back the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem, 2 I will [gat]her all the [nation]s, [and I will] bring them down into the valley of Jehoshaphat; and I will execute judgment [upon] them there for my people and my inheritance, Israel, whom they have scattered among the nations. And they have [di]vided [my] lan[d,] 3 and have cast lots upon<sup>30</sup> my people, and have given a boy for a harlot, and sold a girl for wine, that th[ey may drink.] 4 So, what are you to me, O Tyre and Sidon, and all the region<sup>31</sup> of Philistia? Will you render me a recompense? And if [y]ou recompense me, swiftly and speedily will I return your recompense [upon] your [own head.] 5 For you have taken my silver and [my] gold, and have carried my precious treasures into your temple,<sup>32</sup> 6 and have sold the children of [J]uda[h] and the [chi]ldren of [Je]rusalem to the Greeks, that you may remove them far from [their own bord]er. [7 Behold, I will] rouse them from the place where you have sold them, and I will return [your recompense upon yo]ur [own head;] 8 and I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hand of the children of [Juda]h, and they shall sell them<sup>33</sup> to the Sabeans, to a nation far away; for the LO[R]D [of hos]ts<sup>34</sup> has spoken.

9 P[roclai]m this among [the nat]ions; prepare a war; stir up the mighty men; [let] all the soldiers [draw near, let them come up.] 10 Beat your plowshares into sw[o]rds, and your pruning hooks [into spears;] let [the w]eak say, I am strong. 11 H[as]ten and [co]me, all you nations round about, [and gather yourselves together. Bring] down your mighty ones, O LORD. 12 Let the nations rouse themselves, and come up to the valley of Jehoshaphat; for there I will sit to judge all the nations round about. 13 Put in the sickle; for [the harve]st is r[ip]e. Come, tread; for the winepress is full, [the] vats overflow; [fo]r [their wickedness is] great. [14 Multitudes, multitudes in the] valley of decision! For the d[ay] [of the LORD] is near [in the valley of decision. 15 The sun and the moon] are darkened, and the st[a]rs withd[raw] their shining. 16 And the LO[R]D will roar from Zion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem;] and the heavens and the earth shall shake. But the LORD [is a refuge for his people, and a stronghold for the children of Israel. 17 So yo]u [shall kno]w [that I am] the LORD your God, who dwells<sup>35</sup> [in Zion my holy mountain; then shall Jerusalem be holy, and strangers shall not pa]ss through [her any more.]

[18 Then in that day,] the m[ountain]s shall drip [sweet wine, and the h]ills shall flow with m[ilk, and all the brooks of Judah shall flow with waters;] and a fountain [shall come forth] from the hou[se of the LORD, and shall water] all<sup>36</sup> the valley of Shitt[im. 19 Egypt shall be a desolation, and Edom shall be] a wilderness,<sup>37</sup> a desolate wilderness, because of the violence done to the children of Judah, because [they have] s[hed innocent blood in their land. 20 But Judah] shall be inhabited [forever, and Jerusalem from generation to generation. 21 And] I [will avenge] their blood that [I have] no[t avenged; for the LORD dwells in Zion.]

AMOS

Four of the ten Minor Prophets scrolls contain text from the book of Amos.<sup>38</sup> Elsewhere in the scrolls, a recast quotation of Amos 5:26–27 provides for the historical genesis of the Qumran sect in the land of Damascus (see the Damascus Document [CD] 7:14–15). The expression “tents of Damascus” (“beyond Damascus,” in the traditional text of the Hebrew Bible) is then interpreted in light of Amos 9:11—“I will re-erect the fallen tent of David”—as a reference to the neglected books of the Law which were reestablished in Damascus. Another reference to this passage—perhaps more sensitive to the context—appears in Acts 7:43, notably replacing Damascus with Babylon. In light of this, it is possible that the Qumran community understood Damascus as a figure for the Babylonian exile when they spoke of the new covenant made in the “land of Damascus” (Damascus Document [CD] 8:21 and 19:34).

Amos 9:11 turns up again in 4Q174 3:12. On this occasion, the “fallen tent of David” is the messianic Branch of David who was expected to appear in the Last Days to deliver Israel. Finally, Amos 8:11 is also employed in true pesher fashion in the Prophetic Apocryphon (4Q387 2 8–9) and becomes a thirsting for the “words of the Lord” brought about in the Last Days by the apostate priesthood.

1[2 And he s]aid, the L[ORD will roar from Zion, and utter] his voice [from Jerusalem; and the] pastures [of the shepherds shall] m[o]urn, [and the to]p of C[ar]mel [shall wither.]

[3 Thus] says the LORD: [For three transgressions of Damascus, and for] four, [I will] not [revoke its punishment; because they have threshed] the pregnant women of<sup>39</sup> Gilead [with threshing tools of iro]n. 4 So [I] will sen[d a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall consume the palac]es of Ben-hadad. [5 And] I [will] break the gate b[ar of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitan]t from the valley of

Aven, and the one that holds the scepter from Be[th-eden;] an[d the people of Syria shall go into exile to Kir, says the LORD.]

6 Thus says [the LORD: For three transgressions of Gaza,] and f[or four, I will not revoke their punishment;] because they carried into exile [the] w[hole people to deliver them up] to Ed[om. 7 So] I [will] send a fire [on the wall of] Gaza, [and it shall co]nsume [its palaces. 8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holds the scepter from A]shkelon; and [I will turn my hand against Ekron; and the remnant of the Philistines shall perish,] said the Lord Go[D.]

9 Thus says the L[O]R[D: For three transgressions of Tyre, and for four, I will not revoke its punishment;] because they delivered up [the whole people to Edom, and remembered not the covenant of] bro[therho]od. [10 So I will] send [a fire] on the wall of Tyre, [and it shall consume its palaces.]

11 Thus says the LORD: [For three transgressions of Edom, and for fou]r, I will not revoke its punishment; [because he pursued his brother] with the s[word, and cast off all pity, and] his anger [tore] continually, [and] he kept his wrath [forever. 12 So I will send a fire upon Teman, and it shall consu]me the p[alaces of] Bozrah.

13 Thus says the LORD: For thre[e transg]ressions of the children of Ammo[n, and for four, I will not revoke its punishment;] because they have ripped open the pregnant women of G[ilea]d, that they may e[n]large their border. 14 So I will kindle a fire] on the wall of Rabbah, and it shall co[nsume its palaces, with shouting in the day of] the<sup>40</sup> battle, [with a tempest] in the day of the whirlw[ind;] 15 and their king shall g[o] into e[xile,] he an[d his princes together, says the LORD.]

21 Thus sa[ys the LORD: Fo]r three [transgressions of Moab, and for four, I will not revoke its punishment; because he burned the bones of the king of Edom to lime.] ▲

[7 . . . they that trample the head of the poor into the dust of the earth, and turn aside the way of the meek; and a man] and [his] father [go to the same girl to profane my holy name. 8 And they lay themselves down upon clothes] taken in pledge [beside every altar; and in the house of] their [God they drink the wine of those who have been fined.]

[9 Yet I destroyed the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedar]s, [and he was strong as the oaks; yet I destroyed his fruit above, and his roots beneath. 10 Also I brought you up out of the land of Egypt, and led you forty years in the wilderness, to possess the land of the Amorite. 11 And I raised up some of your sons as prophets, and some of your young men as Nazirites. Is this not even so, O children of] Israe[l? says the LORD.]

[12 But you gave the Nazirites wine to drink, and commanded the prophets,] s[ay]ing, [“Do not prophesy.”]

13 And behold,<sup>41</sup> I [will weigh you down in your place, as a cart is weighed down when it is full of shea]ves. 14 And [flight] shall perish [from the swift; and the strong shall no]t strengthen himself; neither shall the mighty save [him]self. [15 The one who grasps the bow shall not stand; and he that is swift of foot] shall [not] escape; [nor shall he that r]ides [the horse de]liver himself; 16 and he that finds heart<sup>42</sup> among the mighty shall flee away naked in [that day, declar]es [the LORD.]

31 H[ear thi]s [word] t[hat the LORD has sp]oken against you, O children of Israel, against the whole family which [I brought up out of the land of Egypt, saying, 2 You only have I known] of all the families of the eart[h; therefore I will punish] you for all your i[n]iquitie[s].

[3 Shall two walk together, except they have made an appointment? 4 Will] a lion [roa]r in the forest, [when] he has [n]o [prey? Will] a young lion [cry] out from his [d]en, [if he has caught nothing? 5 Will a bird fall in a snare upon the earth, where there is no bait in it? Shall] a snare [spring u]p from the ground, when [it] has taken [nothing] at all? [6 Shall the trumpet be b]lown [in a city, and the people not be afraid? Shall disaster befall a city, unless the LORD has done it?] 7 Surely [the Lord GOD will do] no[thing unless he reveals his secret to his servants the prophets. 8 The lion has roared; who will not fear? The Lord GOD has sp]oken; who can but [prophesy?]

[9 Proclaim to the palaces in Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, “Assemble yourselves upon the mounta]ins of [Samari]a, and see what great tumults [are in it, and what oppressions are in its midst.” 10 For they do not know how to do right,] declares [the Lord GOD, those who store up violen]ce and robbery in their palaces. [11 Therefore thus says the LORD: An adversary shall surround the land] and str[ip] your strength from you; [and] your [palac]es [shall be plundered.]

[12 Thu]s [says the LORD: As the shepherd rescues out of the mouth of the lion two] leg[s or a piece of an ear, so shall the child]ren of Israel who li[ve in Samaria be rescued, with the corner of a couch and with the cover of a bed.]

13 H[ear, and testify against the house of Jacob, declar]es the Lo[rd] GOD, the G[od of hosts. 14 For on the day that I punish the transgressions of Israel, I will also punish the altars of Bethel; and the horns of the altar shall be cut off] and

f[all to the ground. 15 And I will strike the] winter [house with the summer house;] and [the houses of ivory shall] p[erish, and the great houses shall come to an end, says the LORD.]

4[1 Hea]r this word, O cow[s of Bashan, who are in the mountain of Samaria, who oppress the poor, who crus]h the needy, [who say to th]eir [husbands,] Bring<sup>43</sup> that we might dri[nk. 2 The Lord GOD has sworn by] his [holin]ess, Behol[d, the days are coming upon you, when they shall take you away with hooks, and the last] of you with fish-beaters.<sup>44</sup> [3 And you shall go out through the breaches, everyone straight ahead; and you shall cast yourselves into Harmon, says the LORD. 4 Come to Bethel, and transgress; to Gilgal, and multiply transgression; and bring your] s[acrific]c[es every morning, and your tithes every three days; 5 and offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving of that which is leavened,] and p[roclaim] freewill offeri[ngs and make them known. For so you love to do, O you children of Israel, says the Lord GOD.]

[6 And] I [also have given you cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and lack of bread in all] your [pl]aces; yet [you have not] returned to [me, says the LORD.]

[7 And I also have withheld the rain from you, when there were yet] three m[onths to the harvest; and I sent rain upon one city, and I did not send rain upon another city:] I did not rain upon [one] fie[ld, and the field on which it did not rain withered.] 8 So two or three [cities] staggered [to another city to get a drink of water, and were not satisfied;] yet y[ou] have not returned to me, [declares the LORD.]

[9 I struck you with blight and mildew; your many gardens,] your [vin]eyards, [fig trees, and olive trees the locust has devoured, yet have you not returned to me, says the LORD.] ▲

5[1 He]ar [this word which I take up for a lamentation over you, O house of Israel. 2 The virgin of Israel] is fallen, [she shall no longer rise; she is cast down upon her land, there is none to raise her up.] ▲

[9 It is he that brings sudden] destruction upon [the stron]g, and de[struction comes upon the fortress.]

[10 They hate him that reproves in the gate, and they abhor him that speaks uprightly. 11 Therefore, because you trample upon the poor and take levies of grain] from him, [you have] b[uilt] houses of hewn stone, [but you shall not dwell in them; you have planted pleasant vineyards, but you shall not drink] their [win]e. 12 For I know [that your transgressions are many, and your sins are mighty—you that afflict the just,] take a bribe, [and turn aside the] n[eedy in the gate. 13 Therefore the prudent shall keep silence in such a time, for] it is [an evil time.]

14 Seek g[oo]d and n[ot] evil, that you may live; and so the LORD, the God of hosts, will be with you,] as you have said. 15 We hated<sup>45</sup> evil and [loved good, and established justice in the gate; it may be that] the LORD, the God of hosts, will be gracious to us,<sup>46</sup> the rem[nant] of Joseph.]

16 Therefore thus says the LOR[D], the God of hos[ts], the Lord: There shall be wailing in all the squares; and] they shall say [in all the streets,] “Al[as!] Alas!” [And] they [shall cal]l the farmer to [mourning, and such as are skilled in lamentation to wailing. 17 And in all vineyards there shall be] wailing; for [I will pass] through the midst of you, says [the LORD.]

[18 Woe to you that desire the day of the LORD! What is the] day [of the LORD to you]u? [It is darkness, and not light.] ▲

6[1 Woe to those who are at ease in Zion, and to those who are secure on the mountain of Samaria, the notable men of the foremost of the nati]ons, and [the house of Israel] comes [to them! 2 Cross over to Calneh, and see; and from there go to] Hamath the great; then [go down to Gath of the Philistines. Are they better than] these [ki]n[gdoms?] Or is their territory great[er than your territory? 3 You put off the evil day,] and you bring on [a reign of violence.]

[4 Alas for those who lie upon beds of ivory and recline upo]n [their] couche[s], and eat the lambs from the flock, and the calves from the midst of the stall; 5 who sing idle songs to the sound of the harp, who like David compose for themselves on instruments of music; 6 who] drink [wine in b]ow[ls], and anoint themselves with the finest oils, but are not grieved over the ruin of Joseph. 7 Therefore shall they now go into exile at the head of the exiles; and the banquet of those who recline shall pass away.]

8 The Lor[d GO]D has sworn by himself, [says the LORD, the God of hosts]: I [a]bhor [the] p[ri]de of Jacob, [and] I hate [his palaces;] therefore will I deliver up the c[ity] and all that is in it.]

[9 Then if there remain ten me]n in one house, [they] shall die. [10 And when a man’s uncle, one who cremates him, shall take him up to carry his bones out of the] house, and shall say to one that [is in the innermost parts of the house, “Is there anyone still with you?” And he shall say, “No one”; then he shall say, “Hush, for we] must not me]ntion the name of the LOR[D].”

[11 For behold, the LORD commands, and the] great [house shall be smashed to] pieces, and the [little] h[ouse] to bits. 12 Do] horses [run upon the] rock? Does one plow [there with oxen? For you have turned] justice [into poison,] and the fruit of righteousness into wormw[ood; 13 you that re]joi[ce in Lo-]debar, who s[ay, “Have we] not by [our own] streng[th taken Karnaim for ourselves?” 14 For behold, I am going to raise up against you] a nation, [O house of Israel,] declares the LORD, [the God of host]s; and they shall afflict [you from the entrance of Hamath to the brook of the Arabah.]

71 Thus the Lo[rd GOD] showed me, [and behold, he was forming locusts at the time the latter grow]th [began to come up;] and b[ehold, it was the latter growth after] the king[’s mowings.] 2 And when [they had] f[inished eating the grass of the land, then I said, “O Lord GOD, forgive, I beg you; how can] Jacob [stand?] For he is small.” [3 The LORD relented concerning thi]s; “It shall not be,” said the LORD.

4 Thus the Lord G[OD] showed me, [and behold, the Lord GO]D [was calling for judgment by fire;] and it devoured [the great deep and was eating up the land. 5 Then said I, “O Lord GOD, cea]se, I beg you; [how can Jacob stand? For he is small.” 6 The LORD relented concerning this.] “T[hi]s too shall not be,” [said the Lord GOD.]

[7 Thus he showed me, and behold, the LORD was st]and[ing] be[side a wa]ll built with a plumb line, and a plumb line was in his [han]d. 8 And [the Lo]rd God<sup>47</sup> s[aid to m]e, [“Amos,] what [do you see?”] And I said, “A plumb line.” Then the LORD said, “Behold, I have set<sup>48</sup> a plumb line in the midst [of my] people [I]srael; [I will never] again pa[ss] them b[y;] 9 and the high places of Isaac shall be desolate, and the sanctuaries of I[srael shall be laid was]te; and [I] will rise [against the] house [of Jerobo]am with the sword.”

[10 Then] Am[aziah the pr]iest of Bethel sent to Jeroboam king of Israel, s[ay]ing, “Amos [has conspired against you in the mi]dst of the house of Israel; the land is not able to b[ear all] his [wor]ds. 11 For th[us] Amos says, ‘Jeroboam shall die by the sword [and] Israel [must] go into exile out of his land.’” [12 Also] Amaziah [said] to Amos, “O seer, go, flee away [int]o [the land of J]uda[h, and] t[here] eat [bre]ad, [and] prophesy there; 13 but never again proph[esy] at Bethel, [for it is the king’s sa]nctuary [and it is] a royal [hou]se.”

14 Then Amos answered and said to Amaziah, “I [am] n[o prophet,] nor am I a prophet[’s] s[on;] but [I am a] he[rdsman, and a dresser of] sycamore trees; 15 and the LORD took me from following the flock, and the LO[RD] said,<sup>49</sup> ‘Go, prophesy upon<sup>50</sup> my people Israel.’ 16 Now therefore hear [the] wor[d of the LORD. You say,] ‘Do not prophesy against Israel, and do not p[rea]ch any longer<sup>51</sup> [against the house of Isaac.’ 17 Therefore thus says] the Lord God:<sup>52</sup> ‘Your wife shall become a prostitute in the city, and your sons and [your] daughters [shall fall by the sword,] and your land shall be divided by measuring line; [and you yourself shall die i]n [an unclean] l[and, and Israel shall surely] go into exile away from its land.”

8[1 This is what the Lord GO]D [showed me,] and behold, there was a basket of summer fruit. 2 And he sa[id, “Amos, what do you see?” And I said, “A basket of summer fruit.” Then the LORD] said to me, “The end has come [upon my people Israel; I will no longer pardon them. 3 And the] s[ong]s of the temple [shall become wailings in] th[at da]y,” [declares the Lord GOD. “The dead bod]ies [shall be many,] cast out in every place. Hush!”

[4 Hear this, you who] trample the ne[edy, and bring an end to] the poor of the land, 5 saying, “W[hen will the new moon be over, that] we may be satisfied,<sup>53</sup> [and the sabbath, that we may set] out the wheat; making [the ephah] small [and the shekel great, and dealing deceitfully with fals]e [balances;] 6 that we may buy [the] p[oor] for silver, [and the needy for a pair of shoes, and sell the refuse of the wheat?”] ▲

[7 . . . the L]O[R]D has swo[rn by the pride of Jacob, “Surely I will never forget any of their deeds.”] ▲

[11 Behold, the days are coming, says] the Lord GOD, that [I] will se[nd a fam]ine in the land, not a f[ami]ne of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing [the] word[s of the LOR]D. 12 And they [shall wand]er from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east; they shall run to and fro seeking [the wo]rd of the [L]ORD, but they shall not find it.

13 In that day the beautiful virgins and the young men shall faint for thirst. 14 Those who swear by the sin of Samaria, and say, “As your god lives, O [Da]n,” and, “As the way of Beersheba lives”; they shall fall, and never rise up again.

91 I sa[w] the Lord standing beside the al[ta]r, and he said, Strike the c[apit]als so that the thresholds may shake, and shatter them on the heads of all of them; and I will slay the last of them with the sword. [No]t one of them shall run away, [and] not one of them shall escape.

2 Though they dig into Sheol, there shall my hand take them; and though they climb up to heaven, from there will I bring them down. 3 And though they hi[d]e themselves on the top of Carmel, I will search and take them from there; and tho[ugh] they be hid from my sight in the bottom of the sea, there will I command the serpent, and it shall bite them. 4 And though they go into captivity before [their enemies,] from there will I command the sword, and it shall slay them; and I will set [my] e[ye[s] upon them for evil and not for good.

5 For the Lord GOD of hosts, he who touches the land [and it mel]ts, [and] everyone who dwells<sup>54</sup> that dwell in it shall mourn; and a[ll of] it shall rise up like the Nile, and shall sink again, like the Nile of Egypt; 6 it is he who builds his chambers [in the hea]vens, and has f[oun]ded his vault upon the [ea]rth; he who calls for the waters of the [sea, and po]urs them out upon the face of the earth; the LO[R]D is his name.

7 Are you n[ot] as the children of the Ethiopian[s to me, O children of Israel? sa]ys the LORD. Have not [I brought up] Isr[ae]l [out of the land of Egypt, and the Philistines from] Caphtor, [and the Arameans from Kir? 8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord GOD are upon the sin]ful [kingdom, and I will destroy it from the face of the earth;] except [that I will] n[ot] utterly de[stroy the house of Jacob, says the LORD.]

[9 For behold,] I am commanding, [and I will sift the house of Israel among all the nations, as grain is sif]ted in a [si]eve, [yet no kernel shall fall upon the earth. 10 All the sinner]s of my [peo]ple [shall die by the sword,] those who say, [“The evil shall not overtake or meet us.”]

[11 In tha]t [day] will I raise up [the booth of David that is fallen, and close up their breaches; and] I will [rai]se up his [ru]ins, [and I will build it as in the days of old; 12 that] they [may poss]ess the remnant of Edom [and all the nations who are called by my name,] declares the LORD that does this.

[13 Behold, days are coming, says the LORD, when the plowm]an [shall overtake] the reaper, and the treader of grape[s the one who sows the seed; and the mountains shall drop] sw[ee]t wine, and all the] hil[ls] shall [melt. 14 And I will restore the fortunes of my people Is]rael, [and they shall rebuild the] r[ui]ned] cit[ie]s [and inhab]it; and they shall pl[ant] vineyard[s and] drink their [wi]ne; they shall also make gardens and eat [their] f[ruit. 15 And] I [will plant them] upon their land, and [they shall] never ag[ain be plucked up] out of [their] lan[d wh]ich I have given them, says the LORD your God.

OBADIAH

The twenty-one-verse postexilic vision of Obadiah concerning Edom—Israel’s cousin and foe from across the Dead Sea to the southeast—is found in two of the ten Minor Prophets manuscripts (4QXII<sup>8</sup>, MurXII). Although Edom is mentioned in the scrolls (see the War Scroll 1:1 and 4Q434 7b 3), no use of Obadiah is found in the surviving nonbiblical manuscripts. Obadiah is, however, credited with a psalm whose fragmentary first line is found in A Collection of Royal Psalms (4Q380 1 ii 8–9).

1 In<sup>55</sup> the vision of Obad[iah. Thus] says [the Lord GOD concerning Edom:] We have [hea]rd [a report] from the LOR[D,] and an envoy [is sent] among the nations: [“Arise and let us ris]e up [against] her in battle.” [2 Be]hold, [I have] ma[de] you small among the nations; you are [greatly] despised. [3 The pride of] your [hea]rt has deceived you, you who dwell in the clefts of the rock, [whose] habita[tion] is high; who says in his heart, “Who shall bring me down to the ground?” 4 Though you mount on high as the eagle, and though you set your nest<sup>56</sup> a[mon]g the stars, [I will] bring you down from there, declares the LORD.

5 If thieves came to you, if [robbers by] night—how you have been destroyed!—would they not steal only till they had enough? If gr[ape gatherer]s [came] to you, would they not leave some gleanings? 6 How Esau has been plundered, how are [his] hidden treasure[s] sought out! 7 All your allies have driven you to your border, your confederates have deceived and overpowered you; those [who eat] your bread lay a snare under you; the[re is no] understanding in him. 8 Shall I not in that day, declares the LORD, destroy the wise men from [Ed]om, and understandi[ng from] the mountain of Esau? 9 And your mighty men, O Teman, shall be dismayed, in [ord]er that [every]one may be cut off from the mountain of Esau by slaughter. 10 Because of the violence done to your brother Jacob, shame shall co[ver you, and] you [shall be cu]t off for[e]ver. 11 In the day that you stood aside, in the day that strangers carried away [his wealth,] and foreigners entered his gate<sup>57</sup> [and] cast lots upon Jerusalem, [yo]u too were as one [of] them. 12 But do not look on the day of your brother, on the day of [his] misfor[tune, and] do not rejoice over the children of Judah on the day of their destruction; [do] not speak [proudly] in the [da]y of distress. 13 And<sup>58</sup> do not enter the gate of my people on the day of their calamity; indeed, [do no]t [look on] his [afflic]tion in the day of his calamity, and lay hands [on his we]alth on [the day of] his calamity. 14 And do [not] stand in the crossroads to cut down his fugi[ti]ves; and do not betray his survivors on the day of distress.

15 For the day of the LO[RD] draws near on all the nations; as you have done, it shall be done to you; your dealings have returned<sup>59</sup> upon your own head. 16 For just as you have drunk upon my holy mountain, so [shall] all the nations drink continually; indeed, they shall drink, and swallow down, and shall be as though they had not been. 17 But [on] Mount Zion there shall be those that escape, and it shall be holy; and the house of [Ja]cob shall possess those who possess them.<sup>60</sup> 18 And the [hou]se of Jacob shall be a fire, and the house of Joseph a flame, and the house of Esau will be as stubble, and they shall burn among them, and de[vou]r them; and there shall be no survivor of the house of Esau; for the LORD has spoken. 19 And those of the Negev [shall possess] the mount of Esau, and they of the lowland the Philistines; [and] they [shall posses]s [the country of] Ephraim, and the country of Samaria; [and] B[en]jamin shall possess Gile[ad. 20 And the exiles of] this host [of] the children of [I]srael, who are among the Canaan[it]es, as far as [Zarephath, and the exile]s of Jerusalem who are in Sepharad shall possess the c[ities of the Negev. 21 And] deliverers [shall ascend] Mount Zion to judge the mountain of [Es]au; and the kingdom [shall] b[e the L]ORD[’s].

JONAH

The famous account of Jonah and the giant fish is found in five of the ten Minor Prophets manuscripts.<sup>61</sup> Neither the book nor the prophet attracted any attention among the nonbiblical scrolls that survived the two-thousand-year storage in the caves. One wonders what the Qumran community members might have thought of God's forgiving Nineveh, the capital of Assyria, one of Israel's greatest enemies.

1 And the word of the LORD came to Jonah the son of Amittai, saying, [2 "Arise, go to Nine]veh, that great city, [and c]ry against it; for their wickedness has come up before me." [3 But] Jon[ah ros]e [up to flee] Tarshish<sup>62</sup> from the presence of the LORD; and he went down to Joppa, and found a ship [going to Tarshish,] paid its fare, [and went down into it] to [g]o with them Tarshish<sup>63</sup> from the presence of the [L]ORD.

4 But the LO[RD s]ent out a gr[ea]t wind up[on the] sea, and there was a mighty storm on the sea, so that the ship was about to break up. [5 Then] the [sa]ilors [were af]raid, and cried every man to his god; and they cast forth the wares that were in the ship into [the sea,] to lig[hten it] for them. But Jonah had gone [down] into the hold of the s[hip;] and had lain down, and was fast asleep. 6 So the shipmaster came to him, and said to him, "What are you doing sleeping? Get up, [call] to your god. [Per]haps the god will take notice of us that we might not perish."

7 And they said [to] o[ne] anothe[r,] "Come, and let us cast lots, that we may know on whose acco[unt] this evil [has come upon us.]" So they cast lots, and the l[o]t fell on Jonah. 8 Then they said to him, "Tell us, we pray you, on whose account this evil has come on us. And<sup>64</sup> what is your occupation? And where do you come from? W[hat] is your country? And of what people are you?" 9 And he said to them, "I am a Hebrew, the Lo[r]d the God of heaven, and I fear he who<sup>65</sup> has made the sea and the dr[y] land.” 10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said to him, “What is this you have done?” [For] the men knew that he was fleeing from the presence of the [L]O[R]D, because he had told them.

11 Then [they] s[aid] to him, “What shall we do to you, that the sea may calm down for us?” For the sea grew more and more tempestuous. 12 And he said to them, “Pick me up, and throw me into [the] sea; then the sea shall calm down for you, for I know that it is because of me that [thi]s gr[eat] storm is [up]on you.” 13 Nevertheless the me[n] rowed hard [to] get back to the land, but they could not, for the sea grew more and more tempestuous against them.

■ The Greek manuscript known as 8H.evXII gr—so named because it was found in Cave 8 at Nah.al H.ever and contains the twelve Minor Prophets, written in Greek—begins in Jonah 1:14, the first half of the manuscript having fallen prey to the elements. It is of critical importance in the history of the Septuagint; and because it was systematically revised to reflect the Masoretic Text, it is a significant witness to the Hebrew tradition as well. Its origin was reported in 1952 by the Bedouin to be Wâdi Seiyâl some twenty-five miles to the south of Qumran. However, scraps of the manuscript found in the so-called Cave of Horrors in 1961 by archaeologists clearly place its origin at Nah.al H.ever, five miles to the north of the original claim. The Bedouin were evidently determined to keep the cave of origin—and source of additional income—to themselves. An additional curiosity is the fact that the personal name of God—Yahweh—is not translated into Greek but is represented by the four Hebrew letters yhwh, written in the ancient Hebrew script known as paleo-Hebrew.

14 So they cried to the LORD, and said, “We beseech you, O LORD, let us not perish for this man’s life, and do not make us responsible for innocent blood; for you, O LORD, have done as it pleased you.” 15 So they picked up Jonah, and threw him into the sea; and the sea ceased from its raging. 16 Then the men feared the LORD exceedingly, and they offered a sacrifice to the LORD, and made VOWS.

17 And the LORD prepared a [gr]eat fish to swallow up Jonah, and he was in the belly of the fish for three days and three nights.

21 Then Jonah prayed to the LORD his [G]od from the fish’s belly. 2 And he s[aid,] “I called to the L[O]RD in<sup>66</sup> my affliction, [and he] answered me; [out of the be]lly of Sheol [I] cried, you [he]ard my voice. 3 For you cast me into the deep, into the heart of [the seas, and the] flo[o]d was round about me; all your waves and your billows passed over me. 4 And I said, ‘I have been cast out of your sight; how will I look again toward your holy temple?’ 5 The waters closed<sup>67</sup> over me; the deep encircled me; the weeds were wrapped around my head. 6 I went down to the roots of the mountains; the [earth with] its [b]ars closed upon me for[e]ver; yet you have brought the life of my soul<sup>68</sup> up from the pit, O LORD my [God.] 7 When my life [fa]d[ed] within me, [I] remembered the LORD; [and my] pra[y]er came in to you, i[n]to your [holy] t[emple.] 8 They that regard [vai]n idol[s] forsake their faithfulness. 9 But I [will sac]r[ifice] to you with the voice of t[hanksgiving;] I will pay that which I have vowed. [Salvat]ion is from the LORD.” [10 And] the LORD [sp]oke to [the fis]h, and it vomited [J]onah out [up]on the dry land.

31 And the word [of the LORD] came [to Jonah the sec]ond time, saying, 2 “Ar[is]e, go to Nineveh, that great city, [a]nd cal[l] out [t]o it [the] message as this<sup>69</sup> that I am going to tell you.” 3 So [J]onah arose, and went to N[i]neveh, according to the word of the LORD. Now N[i]neveh was an exceeding great city, a three days’ journey. 4 And Jonah began to go into the city, one day’s walk, and he cried out and said, “Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be [overthro]wn.” 5 And the people of Nineveh belie[v]ed God; and they called a fast, and everyone, both great and [s]mall, put on sackcloth.

6 And the word [reached] the king of Nineveh, and he arose from his throne, and laid aside his robe, and covered himself with sackcloth, [and sat] in ashes. 7 And he had a proclamation made in Nineveh: “By the decree of the king and [his] noble[s,] Let neither m[a]n nor animal, herd nor f[lo]ck, taste anything; let them not feed or [dri]nk [water;] 8 but let both man and animal be covered with sackcloth, an[d] let them cry [mi]ght[ily] over<sup>70</sup> God, and let him<sup>71</sup> tu[r]n each from his evil way, and from the violence that is in their hands. 9 Who knows? God [may] tu[r]n and] c[han]ge his mind, and turn away from his fierce anger, so that we do not perish.”

10 And God saw the[ir] deeds, that they turned from their evil way; and God<sup>72</sup> changed his mind concerning the evil which he s[ai]d he would do to them; and he did not do it.

41 But it displeased Jonah greatly, and he was angry. 2 And he p[r]ayed to the LORD, and said, “I pray, O LORD, was this not what I said while I was still in [my own] country? [There]fore I fled to Tarshish at first; for I knew that you are a gracious God, and merciful, [slo]w [to ange]r, and abundant in lovingkindness, and one who relents concerning evil. 3 Therefore now, O LORD, take, I pray, my l[ife] from me; for it is better for me to die than to live.” 4 And the LO[R]D said, [“Is] it good for you to be angry?” 5 Then Jonah [we]nt out of the city, and sat on the east side of the city, and there he made a booth for himself, and sat under it in the shade, until he might see what would become of the city.

6 And the Lord God<sup>23</sup> appointed a plant, and made it to come up over Jonah, that it might shade his head, to deliver him from his discomfort. And [Jonah] was [v]ery glad about the plant. 7 But God appointed [a worm,] as<sup>24</sup> the morning rose on the next day,<sup>25</sup> and it attacked the plant, so that it withered. 8 And when the [sun] rose, [God] appointed a sultry east wind; [and the su]n beat down on the h[ead of Jonah, so that he became f]aint and p[leaded] with his so[ul] to [d]ie, and said, “It is better for me to die than to live.”

9 And [Go]d s[ai]d [t]o Jo[nah, “Are] you right to be a[ngry] over the plant?” And he said, “It is right that I am angry, even [to death.” 10 And] the LORD [sai]d, “You have had concern for the plant, [for w]hich you have not labored or made grow; [which] came up [in a nig]ht, and perished in a night. 11 And should not I have conce[rn] for Nineveh, that [great] c[ity,] in which are more than one hundred and twenty thousand persons who do not kn[ow] their right hand from their left hand; and also many animals?”

MICAH

Micah is found in three of the Minor Prophets manuscripts<sup>76</sup> as well as in a fragmentary peshet.<sup>77</sup> This commentary interprets portions of chapter 1—which addresses the judgment of Samaria (Israel) and Jerusalem (Judah) at the end of the eighth century BCE—as fulfilled in the time of the Teacher of Righteousness, enumerating the judgments due his enemies.

Quotations from Micah in nonbiblical texts are relatively numerous. The false prophets of the eighth century BCE who commanded Micah to keep silent (Micah 2:6a) become, in good peshet style, the Pharisees of the late Second Temple period—in particular, the leadership, who evidently sought to silence the Teacher (Damascus Document [CD] 4:20). Micah 2:10–11 and its command to “rise and go, for this is not a place of rest,” is interpreted by 4Q177 as evidence of God’s desire that the sect remove itself from Jerusalem and go into exile. Micah 4:13 and its prediction of Jerusalem’s—the daughter of Zion’s—glory in the Last Days is incorporated into the blessing of the messianic Prince or Leader of Israel in Priestly Blessings for the Last Days (1QSb 5:26). Micah 7:11 is understood by the Damascus Document (CD) 4:12 to be fulfilled at the end of the then-present wicked age, when “the wall is built, the boundary removed [or extended].”

As has been evidenced in earlier discussion, quotations from these Minor Prophets are normally employed to illuminate the events of God’s program—that which is termed peshet interpretation. Rarely, as is the case with the quotation of Micah 7:2 in the Damascus Document (CD) 16:15, is a prophetic text used to determine a legal issue. In this instance, the issue is what might be offered or vowed to God. If the item is necessary for subsistence and therefore liable to be reneged—setting one up to be “hunted with a net”—it should not be vowed.

11 The w[or]d of the LORD th[at] came to [Mi]cah of Morasheth in the days of Jotham, Ahaz, and [Hezeki]ah, king<sup>78</sup> of Judah, which he saw [concerning] Sa[mari]a and Jerusalem.

2 Hea[r,] you p[eoples,] all of you; and<sup>79</sup> lis[t]en, O e[art]h, and all that is in it; and [let] the Lord GOD [be] a witnes[s] against you, the Lord from his holy temple. 3 For behold, the LORD is coming out of [his] pl[ace, and] will come down and tread upon [the high places of the] earth. 4 And the mountains shall melt u[nde]r him, and the v[alle]ys shall be s[p]lit, like wax [ne]ar the [fir]e, like water that is poured down [a st]EEP place. 5 All this for the transgression of [Ja]cob, and for the sin<sup>80</sup> of the house of Israel. What is the transgression of Jacob? Is it not Samaria? And what are the high places of [Ju]dah? Are they not Jerusalem? 6 Therefore I will make Samaria as a heap of the field, and<sup>81</sup> places for planting [vineyar]ds; and I will pour her stones into the valley, and I will uncover her foundations. 7 And all her graven images shall be beat[en] to pieces, and all her wages shall be burned with fire, and all her idols I will lay waste; for as the wages of a prostitute has she gathered them, and as the wag[es] of a prostitute shall they re]turn.

8 For this I will lament and wail; I will go barefoot and naked; I will m[ake a lament] like the jackals, and mourning like the [os]triches. 9 For [her wounds] are incurable; [for it has com]e even to J[udah;] it has reached to the gate of my people, even to Jerusalem.

[10 Tell it not] in Gath, [do not wee]p [at all;] at [Beth-lea]phrah roll yourself<sup>82</sup> in the dust. 11 Pass on your way, inhabitan[t of Shaphir, in nakedness and] shame; the [inh]abitant of Zaanan has not come forth; [the wailin]g of B[e]th-ezel, he shall take from you [his] s[tay. 12 For the] i[n]habitant of] Maroth waits anxiously for good, because evil has come down from the LORD to the gate [of Jerusalem.] 13 Harness the chari[ot to the swift stee]d, O inhabitant of Lac[hish; i]t was [the be]ginning of sin to the [daught]er of Zion; for the transgressions of Israel were found in you. [14 There]fore you shall give parting gifts to Moresheth-gath; the houses of Achzib [shall be a deception] to the [kin]gs of Is[rael.] 15 I will again bring a conqueror to you, O inhabitant of Mareshah; the glory of I[srael shall enter] A[dullam.] 16 Make yourself bald and cut off your hair for the children of your delight; make yourself as [ba]ld [as the eagle; for they have gone from you into exile.]

21 Woe to them that devise iniquity and wo[rk evil] upon their beds! When [the morning] comes, they practice it, because it is in their power. 2 And they covet f[ields, and sei]ze them; and houses, and take them away; [and they oppress] a man and [his house, even a m]an and his inheritance. [3 There]fore thus says [the LORD: Be]h[old,] against [this] family [I] am devising e[vil,] from [which you cannot] remove their<sup>83</sup> necks, nor shall you walk haughtily; for it i[s] an evil time. [4 In] that [day] shall they<sup>84</sup> ta[ke up a taunt song] against you, [and lam]ent with bitter lamentation; s[a]y, “We are [ut]terly ruined; [he changes the portion of my] people; how he removes it [from me! To the apostat]e he divid[es] our fields.” 5 Therefore [you] shall have none that shall ca[st] the line by lot in the as[s]embly of the L]ORD.

6 “Do not p[reach,]” thus th[ey] preach. [Th]ey shall not preach of these thi[ngs;] reproaches shall [no]t be turned back. [7 Shall it be said,] “O house of Jacob, ‘Is the patience of Spirit of the LORD short? A[re th]ese his doings?’ Do not [my words] do good to him that walked<sup>85</sup> uprightly?” 8 But latel[y] my people rise<sup>86</sup> up as an enemy; [you] strip [the clo]ak from off the garment [from unsuspecting] passersby, [they] r[etu]rned<sup>87</sup> from war. 9 The women [of my people] you drive out from their p[leasan]t houses; fr[om] their young children [you take away] my glory forever. 10 Aris[e and] go, for this is no [resting-plac]e; be[cause of unclean]ness that destroys, even with a grievous destruction. 11 A man does not go<sup>88</sup> about speaking empty [and base]less li[es,] saying, “I will preach to you of wine and of [stro]ng drink”; he shall be [thi]s people’s [prea]cher.

[12 I will] surely assemble all of you, O Ja[cob;] I will surely gat[her the re]mnant of I[srael;] I will put them together as the s[hee]p [of Bozrah, as a flock] in the midst [of] their pasture; they shall be noisy wi[th people.] 13 The breaker [is g]one up before them; [they have broken forth] and passed on to the gate, and have gone out of [it; and] their [king has passed on] before them, [and the LORD at their head.]

31 And I s[aid,] Hear now, O head[s of J]acob, and ru[lers of the house of Israel]: [Is it not for you] to [kno]w justice? [2 You who h]ate good and l[ove evil, who te]a[r their] skin [from themselves,] and their flesh from their [bon]es; 3 who also have eaten the fle[sh of my people, and flayed their skin from them, and] have broken their bones, and chopped them in pieces, as for [the] pot, and [as meat in] a cauldron.

[4 Th]en shall they cry to the LORD, but he will not answer them; [indeed he will] hide his face from [th]em at [tha]t time, in accordance with their evil deeds.

5 Thus say[s the] L]ORD [concerning] the prophet[s] who le[ad] my people [astray;] who when t[hey] have something to eat, [cry to hi]m,<sup>89</sup> [“Peace”]; and against the one who does not [fil]l their mouths, [they prepare a] h[oly] w[ar.]

6 T[heref]ore it shall be night for you, without vision; and it shall be dar[k] for [y]ou, without divining; and the sun shall go down [on] the prophets, and the day shall become dark over them. 7 And the [seers] shall be put to sh[ame, and the di]viners [confounded;] indeed [they] shall all cover their lips, for there is no answer from Go[d. 8 B]ut [as for me,] I am [fil]led with power by the Spirit of the LORD, and with judgment and might, to declare to J[acob his transgression, and] to Israel his sin.

[9 Hear] thi[s no]w, O heads of the house of Jacob and rule[rs] of the house of Israel, who ab[hor justi]ce, and perv[ert al]l that is straight. [10 They build up Zi]on with [bloo]dshed, and Jerus[alem with injustic]e. 11 Her heads jud[ge] for a bribe, [and her priests teach for a f]ee, and [her] prophets d[i]vine [for money; yet they] l[ean] upon the LORD, [saying, “Is not the LO]RD in [our] midst? [No] evil [shall] c[ome] upon [us.”] 12 Therefore for [your sake Zion will be plowed as a field, and Jerusalem] shall become [heaps of ruin]s, and the [Temp]le Mount as the high places of a fo[rest.]

41 But in the latter [da]ys [the mountain of the LORD’s house shall be established on the top of the mountains,] and it shall be exalted [above the] hills; and [peoples] shall f[low to it. 2 And many nations shall go and say,] “Come and let us go up to [the mountain of the LORD, and to the house of the God of Jacob; and he will teach us of his ways,] and we will walk [in his path]s.” [For out of Zion shall go forth the law, and the word of the LORD] from Jerusalem. 3 And he will judge betw[een] many [peoples, and will decide concerning strong nations,] no matter how far away. And [they shall] beat [thei]r sword[s] into plowshares and [t]heir spea[rs into pruning-]hooks; natio[n] shall not lift up<sup>90</sup> sword against nation, nor shall they learn war anymore. [4 But] they [shall sit] every man under his vine and under his [f]ig tree; [an]d none shall m[ake them afraid,] fo[r] the mouth of the LO]RD o[f h[o]sts has spoken.

5 For all the peo[ples] wa[lk each one in the name of its gods,] but we will wa[lk] in the name of the LORD o[u]r God for[ever and ever.]

6 In that [day,] declares the LORD, I will assem[ble the lame, and I will gather the outcast, even] the one whom [I] have afflicted; 7 and I will make the lame a r[emna]nt, [and the outcast] a strong nation; and the LORD will reign over them on Mount Zi[on from now and ev]en forever.

[8 And yo]u, O tower of the flock, [the hi]ll of the daughter [of Zion, to you it shall come, even] the [for]mer dominion [shall come,] the kingdom of the daughter [of Jerus]alem.

[9 Now why do you cry out aloud?] Is there no king among you, has your counselor per[ished, that pan]gs [have taken hold of you] as a woma[n in childbirth?] 10 Writhe [and cry out, O da]ughter of Zion, like a woman in childbir[th; for now shall you go forth out of the city and dwell in the] field, [and you shall go] to Babylon; there y[ou shall be rescued; there will the LORD redeem you from the hand of] your [enem]ies.

[11 And now many nations] are assembled [against you, who say, “Let her be defiled, and let] our [ey]e [gaze upon Zion.”] 12 But t[hey do not know the thoughts of the LORD, nor do] they understand his counsel; for he has gathered them as sheaves to the threshing-floor. 13 Arise and thr[esh, O daughter of Zion; for] I will make [your horn] iron, and I will make your hoofs bra[ss; and you shall crush man]y peoples, and [I will devote their gain] to [the LORD,] and their wealth to [the Lord of the whole earth.]

5[1 Now muster yourselves in troops, O daughter of troops: he has laid a siege again]st [us; they shall strike the judge of Israel on the cheek with] a rod.

2 But you, [O Bethlehe]m [of E]phrathah, too li[t]tle to [b]e among the th[ousands of J]udah, out of you one shall not come forth<sup>91</sup> to be rul[e]r in I[srael; and] whose goings forth are from of o[l]d, from ev[erlasting.] 3 Therefore he will gi[ve them up, until the time that she who is to give bir]th has brought forth; then [the rest of] his [brethren] shall return to th[e children of Israel.] 4 And he shall [st]and and shall sh[e]pherd in the s[tr]ength of the L[ORD,] and<sup>92</sup> in the majesty of the name of the LORD [his] God; and they shall abide; for now they<sup>93</sup> will be[come] great to the ends of the earth. 5 And [this] sh[all be our peace.]

When the Assyrian comes [int]o [ou]r [land,] and when he treads in [our] pala[ces, then] shall we raise against him seven sh[epherds, and] eight leaders of men. [6 And] they [shall shepherd] the land of Assyria with the s[word, and the] land of Nimrod in [its] entrance[s; and he shall deliver us from] the Assyrian, when he comes into [our land and when] he treads within [our] border.

7 And the remnant of Jacob shall be [in the midst of many peoples] as dew [from] the LOR[D,] as s[hower]s upon the grass that [wait for] no [man,] nor wait for [humank]ind. 8 And [the rem]nant [of] Jacob [shall be among the nation]s, in the midst of many peoples, with<sup>94</sup> a li[on] among the animals of the for[est, as a young lion among the flocks of sheep; who, i]f he passes through, [tramples d]own and tears in pieces, and there is no one to deliv[er. 9 Your hand will prevail over] your [adversar]ies, [and all your enemies will be cut off.]

[10 Then on] that [day,] declares [the LORD, I will cut off your horses from your midst, and will] destroy your chariots. 11 And I will cut off the cities of [your] l[and,] and w[ill throw down all] your [stronghold]s. 12 And I w[ill cut off sorcer[y] from your hand; and [you] shall have [n]o more soothsayers. [13 And I will cut off] your [gra]ven images and your sacred pillar[s from] your midst; and you shall no [longer] w[or]s[hip the wor]k of your hands. 14 And I will uproot [your] Ash[e]r[im] from the midst of you; and I will [destroy your cities.] 15 And I will execute [veng]eance in anger and wrath upon the nations which have not ob[eyed.]

61 Hear [now w]ha[t the L]ORD says: Arise, plead the case before the mount[ains,] and let [the hills] h[ear your voice.] 2 Hear, O mountains, the LORD's case, [and you enduring foundations of the earth. For] the LORD has [a ca]se against his [peo]ple, and he will contend with Israel.

[3 "O my people, what have I done to you? And ho]w have I wearied you? [Testif]y against me. 4 For I brought you up out of [the land of Egypt, and] redeemed you [from the hous]e of bondage; and I sent before you Mos[es, Aaron,] and Miriam. 5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of M[oa]b counseled, and what Balaam the son of Beor [answered hi]m; [remember from] Shittim to Gilgal, [t]hat you may know the righteous acts of the [L]ORD."

[6 How shall I come b]efore the LORD? Shall I bow myself before God on high? Shall I com[e before] him with burnt offer[ings, with cal]ves a y[ear] old? 7 Will the LORD be p[leased with thousands of rams, or with ten thous]ands of [rive]rs of oil? Shall I gi[ve my firstborn for my transgression, the fruit of my body for own sin?] ▲

[11 Shall I justi]fy [wicked scales, and a bag of deceitful weights? 12 For] its [rich men] are full [of violence, and its inhabitants have spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitful in] their [mouth.] 13 Therefore I also [have begun to strike you making you desolate because of your sins. 14 Yo]u shall eat, but not [be satisfied; and your hunger shall be in your midst; and you shall put away, but shall not sa]ve[; and that which you save I will give up to the sw]ord. [15 You shall sow but shall not reap; you shall tread the olives, but shall not anoi]nt [yourself] with oil; [and the vintage, but shall not drink the wine. 16 For the statutes of Omri and all the w]orks of the house of [Ahab are observed, and you walk in their counsels, that I may make you a desolation, and] its [in]habitants [a hissing; and you shall bear the reproach of my people.]

7[1 Woe is] me! For I have become [as at the gathering of summer fruits, as at the gleanings of the vintage. There is no cluster to] eat; [my soul] desires the first-ripe fig. 2 The godly man [has perished] from the [earth, and] there is none [upright among men;] they all [lie in wait] for bloodshed; they hunt [each oth]er with a net. 3 Concerning evil, both hands do it diligently; the prince [and the judg]e a[sk] for a reward; and the great man utters the desire of his soul; thus they weave [it] together. [4 The best of] them is as a brier; the most [up]ri[ght] a thorn hedge; the d[ay] of your watchmen, your [judgm]ent, has come; [now] their confusion [shall come about.] 5 Do not trust in a neighbor; and<sup>25</sup> do not [put confid]ence in a [fr]iend; guard your mouth from her that lie[s in] your [boso]m. 6 For the son dishonors [the father, the daug]hter rises up against her mother, the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law; a man's enemies are the members of his own household. [7 But as for me,] I will l[oo]k to the LORD; I will wa[it for] the God of my salvation; [my] G[od] will hear me.

[8 Rejoi]ce [not] against me, O my enemy; wh[en] I [fall, I shall] arise; [when] I sit [in darknes]s, [the LORD will be a ligh]t to me. 9 I wi[ll] bear the indignatio]n of the LORD, [because I have sinned ag]ainst him, until he pleads my case and execu[tes judgment for me; he will br]ing me forth to the light, [and I shall behold] his [right]eousness. 10 Then [my] enemy shall [se]e [it, and shame shall cover her who] says to me, ["Where is the LOR]D your God?" [My ey]e[s shall] look [upon her; now] she shall be trodden down [as the mire of the] streets.

11 A day for building your [walls!] In [that] day [shall] the decree [be far r]emoved. 12 On<sup>26</sup> [that] d[ay] shall they come to you from Assyria [and the cities of Egypt, and from Egypt even to the Euphra]tes, and from sea to sea, and from mountain to mountain. 13 Yet shall [the land] be [desolate because of those who dwell in it, for the fruit of] their deeds.

[14 Shepherd your people with your rod, the flock of your inher]ita[nce] which dwells alone in the forest in the midst [of a fruitful land; let them feed in Bashan and Gilead, as in the days of o]ld. 15 As in the days of your coming forth out of the land [of Egypt I will show them marvelous things. 16 The nation]s [shall see] and be ashamed of all their might; [they shall lay their hand upon their mouth; their ears] shall be deaf. [17 They shall] lick the dust [like a serpent, like crawling things of the earth; they shall come trembling out of their fortresses; they] shall come i[n fear of the LORD] our God, and shall be afraid [because of] you.

18 Who [is a God like to you who forgives iniquity and passes over the transgression of the remnant of] his inheritance? [He do]es not [maint]ain [his anger forever, because he delights in lovingkindness. 19 He will again have compassion upon us;] he will tread [our] iniqui[ties] under foot; [and you will cast all their sins into the depths of the sea. 20 You will give] truth to Jacob, lovingkindness to Ab[raham, which you have sworn to our fathers from the days of old.]

NAHUM

Nahum's late-seventh-century-BCE oracle against Nineveh is found in three of the ten Minor Prophets manuscripts and is the subject of one of the most important and extensive of the peshar texts found in the caves at Qumran (4Q169).<sup>97</sup> In that peshar, the prophecy's original setting—the imminent fall of Nineveh, capital of the waning superpower Assyria—is ignored and the prophet's words of judgment are turned against a group called “Seekers of Smooth Things” or “Flattery-Seekers.” As is evident from the context, this designation is clearly meant to represent the Pharisees.

In addition to this large-scale peshar, Nahum 2:11 undergoes similar treatment in 4Q177, along with a collection of other biblical quotes referring to the vindication of the righteous and the judgment of the company of darkness in the Last Days.

Nahum 1:2, “On his enemies God takes vengeance; against his foes he bears a grudge,” is cited in the Damascus Document (CD) 9:5 in conjunction with Leviticus 19:18, “Take no vengeance and bear no grudge against your kinfolk,” to demonstrate that vengeance taken on a fellow sectarian is not proper. To deal with a fellow in such a way would be to regard kinfolk as the enemy.

1[1 The oracl]e of Nineveh. The book of the vision of Nahum [the Elkoshite.]
[2 A jealous and aven]ging [God is] the LORD; the LORD is avenging [and is ful]l of wrath; the LORD takes vengeance on [his] advers[aries,] and he reserves wrath [for his] enemi[es. 3 The LORD is] slow to [an]ger, and great in power, and will by no means [c]lear the guilty; the LORD [has his way] in the w[hirl]wind [and in the storm, and the clouds are the du]st of his feet. 4 He rebukes the sea, and makes it dry, and dries up all the rivers; [Bashan and Car]mel languish, and the flower of Leban[o]n withers. 5 The<sup>98</sup> mountains quake because of him, and the hil[ls melt]; and the earth is upheaved [before him, the world,] and all that dwell in it.

6 W[ho] can stand before [his] indignation? [And] who [can] abide in the fierceness [of his anger? His wrath] is poured out like fire, [and] the rocks [are broken apart [by] him. 7 The [L]ORD is good, [a stronghold in the day of trouble; and] he knows them that take refuge in [him.] 8 But with an overrunning flood [he will make a full end of] its place, [and will pursue] [his] enemies into darkness. 9 What do you devise against the [L]ORD? [H]e will make a full end; affliction shall not rise up the second time. [10 For like] tangled thorns, and drunken as with [their] drink, they are [utterly] consumed as dry stubble. 11 There is one gone out from you] that devises evil against the LORD, that counsels wickedness.

12 Thus says the LORD: “Though they be in full [strength and likewise many], even so shall they be cut down [and pass away. Though I have afflicted] you, I will afflict you [no longer. 13 And now will I break his yoke] from off [you,] and I will tear apart your bonds.”

14 And [the LORD] has commanded concerning you:] “Your [name] shall not continue any longer; [out of the house of your gods will I cut off the graven image [and the molten image; I will make] your grave, for you are] worthless.”

[15 Behold,] upon the mountains the feet of the one who brings good tidings, who proclaims peace!] Keep your feasts, [O Judah, perform your] [vow]; for [the wicked one shall] no longer pass through you;] he is utterly cut] off.

2[1 The one who dashes in pieces has come up against you; keep the fortress, watch the way,] make your loins strong, fortify [your power mightily. 2 For the LORD restores the majesty of Jacob, as the majesty of Israel;] for [the destroyers have destroyed them, and devastated their vine branches.]

[3 The shield of] his mighty men is made red; the [valiant] men [are dressed in scarlet; the chariots flash with steel in the day] of his preparation, and the cyprus spears [are brandished. 4 The chariots race wildly through the streets;] they rush to and fro through the squares; their appearance [like torches], [they] [run like the lightning.] 5 He remembers his nobles; they stumble in their march; and<sup>99</sup> they make haste to its wall, and [the] mantelet is prepared. [6 The gates of the rivers are opened, and the palace is swept away. 7 And it is decreed: she is exiled, she is carried away; and her slave women moan] as with the voice of doves, beating upon [their breasts.] 8 But Nineveh has been through her<sup>100</sup> days a pool<sup>101</sup> of] water; yet they flee away.] “Stand, stand,” they cry; but none looks back. 9 “Plunder the silver, plunder the gold; [for there is no end of treasure, wealth] from every precious article.”]

[10 She is empty, and desolate, and waste; and the heart] melts, and [the knees] knock together, and all the loins shake, [and all] their [faces] have become pale. 11 Where is the den [of the lions, and the feeding-place of the young lions,] where the lion, the lioness, and [the lion's] cubs have gone, [and none disturbing them?] 12 The lion has torn enough for his whelps, and strangled for his lionesses, and filled his caves with prey,] and his den<sup>102</sup> with torn flesh.

13 Behold, I am against you, declares the LORD of hosts, and I will burn her chariots in smoke, and the sword shall devour your young lions; and [I] will cut off your prey from the earth, and the voice of your messengers shall no longer be heard.

31 Woe to the bloody city! Completely full of lies and plunder; the prey never departs. [2 The noise of the] whip, and the [noise of the rattling of wheel, and prancing horses, [and bounding] chariots, [3 the horseman] mounting, and the flashing sword, and the glittering spear, and a multitude of slain, and a great heap of corpses,] and there is no end of the bodies; they stumble over their bodies;— 4 because of the many prostitutions of the harlot, alluring, a mistress of wifery, who sells nations by her prostitutions, and families through her sorceries. 5 Behold, I am against you, declares the LORD of hosts, and I will uncover [your] skirt[s over] [your face; and I will show the nations your nakedness, and the kingdoms your shame. 6 And [I will throw] filth [on you,] and make you vile, and will make you a spectacle. 7 Then all that look upon you [shall] flee from you,] and say, [“Nineveh is laid waste; who will bemoan [her?”] Where shall I seek comforters] for you?

8 Are you better than No-amon, that was situated by the Nile, [that had the waters round about her, whose] wall was a rampart of the sea?<sup>103</sup> 9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, [and there was no end;] Put and Lubim were your helpers.

10 Yet was she carried away to exile; she went into captivity; her young children also [were dashed in pieces at the head of every street; [and they] cast [lots] for her honorable men, and all her great men were bound in chains. 11 You<sup>104</sup> also will become drunk; you shall be [hidden;] you [also] shall seek a stronghold from the enemy. 12 All your fortresses [are like fig trees with the] first-ripe figs; [if [they] be shaken, [they] fall [into the] mouth of the eater. 13 Behold, [your people] in your midst [are women;] the gates of [your] land are set wide open to<sup>105</sup> your enemies; fire [has devoured] your gate bars.]

14 Draw yourself water for the siege; [strengthen your fortresses; go] into the clay, and tread the mortar;] take hold of the brick mold. 15 There [shall the fire devour you;] the sword shall cut you off; [it shall devour you like the locust. Multiply yourself as the locust; multiply yourself] as the swarming locust. [16 You] have multiplied your merchants as<sup>106</sup> the stars of heaven; [the locust ravages, and flees] away. [17 Your guards are as the] swarming locusts, [and your] marshals as the] swarms of grasshoppers, which encamp in the hedges on the cold day, but when the sun arises [they flee away] and [their] place where they are] is not known.

[18 Your shepherds are asleep, O king of Assyria; your nobles are at rest; your] people [are scattered] upon the mountains, and there is none to gather them. 19 There is no relief for] your [hurt; your] wound is severe; all that hear the report about you clap their hands over you;] for upon whom] has not [your wickedness] passed continually?]

HABAKKUK

Habakkuk, the subject of one of the most extensive peshar texts (A Commentary on Habakkuk), also exists in three of the ten Minor Prophets manuscripts.<sup>107</sup>

A Commentary (or Peshar) on Habakkuk exploits the original setting of the prophecy set in the early sixth century BCE and the disturbing message of the coming of the Chaldeans—God’s agents of judgment on sinful Judah—to interpret the events of five hundred years later. The Chaldeans become the “Kittim,” or Romans, and the unjust of Judah are none other than the foes of the Qumran community, the Pharisees. Oddly, apart from this extensive peshar, there are no citations or allusions to Habakkuk among the scrolls.

1[3 Why do you make me see] iniquity and loo[k upon] trouble? Destruction and violence are before me; [and there is] strife, [and] contention [rises up].
4 Therefore the l]aw [is ignored, and] justice ne[ver prevai]ls; for the wicked [sur]round the ri[g]hteous; therefore justice goes forth] perverted.

5 Look [at] the nations, and [obser]ve, and be amazed! W[ond]er! For I am wor[king] a work [in] your [day]s [which you will] n[ot believe though you] were [told.] 6 For behold, I am raising up the Chaldeans, that bitter [and impetuous nation, that m]arc[h] throu[gh] the brea[dth of the earth,] to possess dwelling-places that are not theirs. 7 Th[ey] are terrible and d[read]ful; their judg[m]ent [and their dignity proceed] fr[om th]emselves. 8 Their horses also are swifter than leopards, and are more fierce than wo[lves in the eve]ning; and their horsemen press proudly on, their [hors]emen come from af[ar;] they fly as an eagle that hastens to devour. 9 All of them come for violence; they set their faces forward; and they gather captives as the sand. 10 And th[e]y scoff at kings, and princes are a derision [to them; th]ey laugh at every stronghold; for they heap up rubble, and tak[e it. 11 Then] shall they sweep by as a wind, and [shall] pass over, and be g[uilt]y, even they wh]ose [mig]ht [is their g]od.

[12 Are y]ou [not] from everlasting, [O LORD] my God, my Holy One? [We shall not] die. O L[ORD, you have ordained him for] j[udgmen]t; [and you, O Rock, have] esta[blished him] for correction. [13 Your] eyes [are too pure to] b[e]hold evil, and you cannot look on perverseness. Why do you look on those that deal treacherously, and are si]lle[nt when the wicked swallows up the man that is more righteous than he? 14 Have you made men as the fish o]f the se[a, as the creeping things, that hav]e [no] ruler [over them?]

15 He brings up [al]l of the[m with a hook,] and<sup>108</sup> he catches [them in] his [n]et and gath[ers them in] his seine; therefore he re[joices] and is glad. 16 Therefore he sacrifices [to] his ne[t], and burns incense to [hi]s se[ine;] be[cause] by them [his] bread<sup>109</sup> is large, [and] his f[o]od plentiful. 17 Shall he theref[ore emp]ty his sword,<sup>110</sup> and keep o[n slaying] the nations continually?

2[1 I] will stand [upon] my [watch,] and se[t myself upon the towe]r, and will keep watch to se[e what he will say t]o me, and what [I] shall answer [concerning my reproof.] 2 And [the LORD] answered me, [and said,] Write the vision, and make it plain [on tablet]s, [that he may run] that reads [it. 3 For the vision is ye]t [for the ap]pointed time, and it hastens [toward the end, and] shall not fail. Though [it] tar[ries, wait for i]t; because it will su[rely] come; [it will not delay.] 4 Beh[old] the proud one, his soul is not right [within him; but the rig]hteous shall liv[e] by his faith. [5 Yea, moreover, wine betrays] a haughty man, so that [he does] not [stay at home. He enlarges his] desir[e] as Sheol, [and he is as dea]th; he cannot<sup>111</sup> be satisfied, [but gathers to him]self all nations, and collec[ts to him]self all pe[opl]es.

6 Shall not all these tak[e] up a taunt against him, and a moc[ki]ng riddle against him, an[d sa]y, “Woe to him that increases that which is not his!” For [ho]w long?<sup>112</sup> A[nd loa]ds himself down with thick mud!<sup>113</sup> 7 Shall your creditors not rise up sud[denl]y, and those who cause you to tremble awake? Then you shall be as booty [for] them. 8 Because you<sup>114</sup> have plu[n]dered many nations, and<sup>115</sup> all the remnant of the peoples [shall] plunder you, [because of men’s blood and the violence done to the land, to the city, and to all that dwell in it.]

[9 “Woe to him that gets an evil gain for his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the hand of] evil!” 10 You have devised [shame to your house by cutting off many peoples, and have sinned against yourself. 11 For the very stone] shall c[ry ou]t of the wall, [and the beam out of the timber shall answer it.]

[12 “Woe to him that builds a town with blood, and establishes a city by iniquity!” 13 Is it not indeed from the LORD of ho]s[ts that the peoples labor fo]r

[fire, and the nations weary themselves for] nothing? [14 For the earth] shall be [filled with the knowledge of the glory of] the LORD, as [the waters cover the] sea.

[15 “Woe] t[o you that giv]e [your] neig[hbor drink, to you that] ad[d your venom, and make him drunken also, tha]t [you may] lo[ok on] th[ei]r [nakedn]ess!” [16 You are] filled [with shame rather] than glory. [Dr]ink, you also, and [be as one uncircumcised;] the c[up of] the LORD[’s right hand] shall come round to you, and foul [shame shall come upon] y[ou]r glory. 17 For the violence [done to Lebanon] shall [cover] you, and the destruction [of the animals terrified] you,<sup>116</sup> because of m[en]’s blood and violence done to the land, to the city, [a]nd to all that dwell in [i]t.

18 What good is the idol when [its maker has carved] it; the image, [even] the lying [ap]pearance?<sup>117</sup> For the [m]aker trusts in its form, that he might [m]ake dumb idols. [19 “Wo]e to him that says to the wood, ‘Awake!’ To the dumb stone, ‘A[rise!’” Shall] this tea[ch? Behold,] it is overlaid with gol[d and silv]er, and there is no breath at all in the midst of it.

20 But the LORD is in [h]is holy temple; let all the earth keep silence before him.

31 A prayer of Habakkuk the prophet, set to [Shigio]noth. 2 O LORD, I have heard the report about you and am afraid. O LORD, revive [your] wor[k] in the midst of the years; in the midst of the years m[ake it know]n; in wrath rem[em]ber [me]rcy. 3 God [co]mes from Teman, and the Holy One from Mount Paran. Sel[ah.] His glory [cove]red the heavens, and the earth was full of his praise. 4 And his brightness was as the light; [he had] ra[y]s [coming forth] from [his] hand; [and there was where] his power [was hid]den. 5 Before him went the pestilence, and fiery bolts went forth at [his] feet. [6 He s]tood, and measured the ear[th; he beheld, and made the nations tremble;] and the eternal mountains were shattered; the everlasting hills did bow; [his] goings were as of old. 7 I saw the te[nts] of Cushan i[n] affliction; [the curtain]s of the land of Midian did tremble. 8 Was the LORD displeased with the ri[v]ers? [Was] your anger against the rivers, or your wrath against the sea, that you rode upon your horses, upon your chariots of salvation? 9 You [indeed] awa[ke]ned your bow;<sup>118</sup> staffs are ready for command. Selah. He<sup>119</sup> split the earth with rivers. 10 The mountains saw you, and were afraid; the clouds poured out water;<sup>120</sup> the deep uttered its voice and lifted up its hands on high. 11 The sun [and moo]n stood still in their habitation, at the light of your arrows as they went, at the shining of your glittering spear. [12 You] marched though the land in [indignati]on; [you] th[re]shed the nations

[in anger.] 13 You went forth for the salvation of your people, [for the sa]lvation of your anointed; [you wounded] the head of the house [of the wi]cked, laying bare the foundation even to the neck. Selah. [14 You] pierced with his own staves the head of his warrior; <sup>121</sup> they storm in to scatter us; <sup>122</sup> their rejoicing was as to [de]vour the poor secretly. 15 You tread [the sea with your horses,] the heap of mighty [water]s.

[16 I] heard, [and] my body [tre]mbled, my lips quivered at [the voice; rottenness] ent[ers into] my [bones,] and I trem[ble] in [my] place; [be]cause I must wait quietly for [the day of trouble, for the coming up] of the people [that inva]des us.

[17 For though the] fig tr[ee shall] not [flourish, nor shall fruit be in the] vine[s, the labor of the olive shall] fail, [and the fiel]ds shall yield no food; the flock shall be cut off from [the fold, and there shall be no] herd in the stall[s: 18 Yet I will rejoice in the LORD; I will exu]lt in the G[o]d of my salvation. 19 The LORD, the L[ord,] is my strength; and he makes [my] f[ee]t like hinds' feet, and will make me to walk upon my high places.]

ZEPHANIAH

The four short chapters of Zephaniah are well attested in the scrolls, preserved in five of the ten Minor Prophets manuscripts.<sup>123</sup> There is also an extremely fragmentary peshet, which was found in Cave 1 (1Q15).

Zephaniah is also appealed to in two instances among the nonbiblical scrolls. 1QS 5:11 quotes Zephaniah 1:6, “They have not sought him or inquired of his statutes”—a charge originally made against idolatrous Judah near the end of the seventh century BCE—characterizing those who did not enter the covenant of the Qumran community. Lives of the Patriarchs (4Q464 3 i 9) cites Zephaniah 3:9, “For I will give purified lips to the people”—a passage that in its original setting referred to the conversion of the Gentile nations in the Last Days. Although the rabbinic commentary Midrash Tanhuma §28 (edited by S. Buber) captures this intent—“purified lips” becoming the Hebrew language—it is rather unlikely that the Qumran community would have included the Gentile nations in their interpretation of the passage. All that can be said of the rather difficult fragment is that the scroll also understood “purified lips” to be referring to Hebrew and that speaking Hebrew may have been seen as part of the promise to Abraham.

11 The wo[rd of the LO]RD which came [to Zephaniah the son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amarah, the son of Hezekiah, in the days of Josia]h the son of A[mon,] king of Judah.

2 I will utterly consume [all things] from off the [f]ace of the g[round, says the LORD. 3 I will consume ma]n an[d animal; I will consume the birds] of the he[avens, and the fish of the sea, and the stumbling blocks with the wicked; and I will cut off man from the fac]e of the earth, s[ay]s the L[ORD. 4 And I will stretch out] my hand upon Ju[dah, and upon al]l [the] inhabitants of Jer[usalem; a]n[d] I will c[u]t [off the] re[mnant of] Baal from t[his] place, the name of th[e idolatro]us priests [with the p]riests; 5 t[hos]e<sup>124</sup> who wor[ship] the [host of] he[av]en [u]p[on the housetops;] a[n]d [those who worship, that swear to the LORD and swear] by [Milcom; 6 and those who are turned back from] following [the LORD; and those who have not sought the LORD, nor inquired after him.] ▲

[11 Wail, you inhabitants of the] Mortar; for all the people of Canaan are silenced; [all they who weigh out silver are cut off. 12 Then at that time] I will search Jerusalem with lamps; [and I will punish the men who are settled on their dregs,] that say in their heart, “The LORD will not do good, neither [will he do evil.” 13 And their wealth shall become a spoil, and their houses] a desolation; and they shall build h[ouses,] but [shall] not inhabit; an[d] they shall [plant] vineyard[s, but shall not drink] their wine.

14 The great [day of the LORD] is near; it is near and is c[oming] quickly, [even the voice of the day of the L]ORD; [the mighty man cries there] bitterly. [15 Th]at d[ay] is [a day of wrath, [a day of trouble and di]stress, a day of wasteness [and desolation, a day of darkness and gloominess, [a day of clouds an]d thick darkness, 16 a day of the trumpet [and] alarm, against t[h]e f[ortified cit]ies, [and against] the h[i]gh [battlement]s.

17 And I [will bring] d[istress] upon men, that they shall walk like [blind men, because they have] si[n]ne[d against the L]ORD; a[n]d [thei]r [blood shall be poured out] as [dust, a]n[d] their flesh as dung. 18 Neither their silver nor t[heir] gold [shall be able to deliver them i]n [the day of the] LORD’s wr[at]h; but the whole land shall be d[ev]oured by the fire of his jealousy: f[or he will make an end, yea, a terrible end,] of all them that dwell in the la[nd.]

21 Gather yourselves together, yes, gather together, O nation of no [shame; 2 before the decree takes effect,] the [day passes as the chaff, [before] the fierce anger of the LORD comes upon you, before the day of the L[ORD]’s anger comes [upon you. 3 See]k the LORD, all you [me]k of earth,<sup>125</sup> who have [ke]pt his ordinances; seek righ[teousne]ss, seek meekness; it may be you will be hidden in the day of the L[ORD]’s anger. 4 For Gaza shall [be] forsaken, [and A]shkelon a desolation; [th]ey shall drive out Ashd[od at noon]day, and Ekron shall [be rooted up.]

5 Woe to the inhabitants of the seacoast, the nat[ion] of the Cherethites! The word of the LORD is against you, [O Canaan, the land of the Philistines;] I will destroy you, so that there shall be no inhabitant. 6 And the seacoast shall be [pasture]s, cave[s for shepherds and folds for] fl[ocks.] 7 And the coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Judah; they shall pasture on it; in the houses of A[shkelon] shall they lie down [in the evening;] for the LO[R]D their God will visit them, and bring back [their for]t[un]e.

[8 I have heard the taunt of Moab,] and the revilings of the children of Ammon, with which they have taunted my people, [and boas]ted against [their te]rri[tory.] 9 T[h]erefore as I live, says] the LORD of [host]s, the Go[d of Isra]el, S[urely] M[oab shall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, a land taken] over by nettles and saltpits, [and a] perpetual desolation; [the remn]an[t of m]y people [shall plunder them,] and [th]e remain[der of my nation] shall inherit them. 10 This they shall have for their p[ride,] because [they have] reproach[ed and magnified themselves] against the people of the LO[R]D of hosts. 11 The LORD will be terrible] to them; [for he will starve all the gods of the earth; and men shall] worshi[p him, everyone from his place, even all the islands of] the nati[on]s.

[12 You Ethiopians] also, [you shall be slain by my sword.]

[13 And he will stretch out his hand against the north and] destroy [A]ssyria, and [will] make [Nineveh a desolation, and dry like the wilderness. 14 And] herds [shall lie dow]n in the midst of her, a[ll] the animals of the nation[s: both the pelican and the hedgehog] shall lo[dge] in its capitals; [their voice shall sing] in the windows; desolation shall be in the thresholds: fo[r] he has laid bare the cedar-work. 15 Is th[is the] exu[ltan]t [city that lived securely,] that said in her heart, “I am, and there is n[on]e besides me?” [How she has become] a desolation, a res[ting pla]ce [for animals!] Everyone that passes by her shall hiss, and wave his hand.

3[1 Woe to] her [who is rebelli]ous and polluted! The oppressing city! [2 She] did not ob[ey] any voice; she did n[ot receive] correction; she did not trust in the LORD; she did not draw near to her God.

3 Her princes in [her] m[idst] are roaring [lio]ns; [her judges are] evening wolves; they leave nothing until the morning. 4 Her prophet[s] are reckless, trea[cherous] p[erso]ns; [her] priests [have profaned the sanctuary;] they have done violence to the law. 5 The LO[R]D in [her midst] is righteous; he will [no]t do [iniquity; every morning he b]rings his [justic]e to light, he does not fail; [but the] unjust [knows no shame.]

[6 I have cut off nations; their battlements are desolate; I have made their streets waste, so that no]n[e passes by; their cities are destr]o[yed, so that ther]e i[s no] ma[n, so that there is no inhabi]tant. [7 I] said, [“Surely you will fear me; rec]eive correction; [so h]er spring<sup>426</sup> [shall not be cut off, according to] al[l] t[hat I have appointed concerning he]r”; but [they] r[ose early and corrupted] all [their] do[ings.]

[8 Therefore wait for me, says the LORD, until the day that I rise up] to the prey; for my determination is to gather the nations, [that I may assemble the kingdoms, to pour upon th]em my indignation, even all my fierce anger; for [all the earth shall be devoured] with the fire of my zeal.

[9 For then will I change the speech] of<sup>127</sup> the peoples to a pure speech, that they may all call [upon the name of the LORD, to serve him with] one [con]sent. 10 From beyond the rivers of Ethiopia my suppliants, even my scattered one, shall bring [my offering.]

[11 In that day] you shall not be put to shame fo[r a]ll your doings by which you have transgressed against me; for then [I will remove from the midst of you] your [proudl]y [exulting ones,] and you shall no longer be haughty in my holy mountain. [12 But I will leave in your midst an afflic]ted and poor [people] and they shall take refuge in the name of the LORD. [13 The remn]ant of [I]srael [shall] no[t do iniquity, nor speak li]es; neither shall a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth; [for] they [shall feed and lie d]own, and none shall make them afraid.

14 Sing, O daughter of Zion; shout, O Israel; be glad and rejoice with all the heart, O daughter of [Jerusa]lem. [15 The L]ORD [has taken away] your judgments; he has cast out your enemies;<sup>128</sup> the King of Israel, even the LORD, is in your midst; [you shall not fea]r evil any longer. 16 In [tha]t [day] it shall be said to Jerusalem, Fear not; [O Zion,] do [no]t let your hands be slack. 17 The LORD your God is [in] your midst, a mighty one who will save; he will rejoice over you with joy; he will rest in [his love; he will exult over] you with singing. [18 I] will gather them that sorrow for the solemn assembly, who [were] of you; to whom the burden upon her was a reproach. 19 Behold, at t[ha]t time I will deal with all them that afflict you; and [I] will save that which is lame, and gather that which was driven away; and I will make them a praise and a name, whose shame has been in all the earth. 20 At that time I will bring you in, and at that time I will gather you; for I will make [y]ou a name and a praise among all the peoples of the earth, when I bring back your captivity before your eyes, says the LORD.

HAGGAI

The diminutive but powerful book of the postexilic prophet Haggai is preserved in only three of the ten Minor Prophets manuscripts.<sup>129</sup> The pointed challenge to rebuild the Temple destroyed by the Babylonians is not cited in any of the nonbiblical writings, nor is the name Haggai mentioned in the scrolls.

1 In the [secon]d ye[ar] of Darius the kin[g, in] the [si]xth month, on the first d[a]y [of the mo]nth, c[ame] the word of the [L]O[R]D by the prophet Hag[gai to] Zerubbabel [the son of Shea]ltiel, gove[rnor of J]udah, [and] to [Joshua] the son of Jehoza[dak, the] high priest, saying, [2 Thus] says the LORD of hosts, s[ay]ing, “This [people] s[ays,] ‘The time has [not] c[ome to rebuild the house of the LORD.’” 3 Then c]ame [the word of] the LORD by the prophet Haggai, s[ay]ing, [4 “Is it a time for you yourselves to dwell in your] paneled [houses] while this house lies waste?” 5 Now therefore thus sa[ys] the LORD of hos[ts]: “Con]sider your ways. 6 You have sown much, [and b]r[ing in] little; [you] e[at, but you have not enough; you] drink, [but you are no]t fille[d with d]rink; you clothe yourselves, but no one is warm; [and] he that earns wages [earns wages to put it into] a bag with h[ol]es.”

7 Thus [s]ays the LORD of host[s:] “Consi[der your ways. 8 Go up to the mountain,] and bring wood, and build the house; and I will [take pleasure] in it, and I will [be glorified,” says the LORD. 9 “You looked] for much, and lo, it came to lit[tle; and when] you [brou]ght [it home, I blew it away. Why? dec]lares the LORD of hosts, be[cause of] my [hous]e which [lies waste while each o]ne [runs] to his own h[ous]e. 10 Therefore for your sake [the heavens] withhold [the dew, and the earth withholds] its [frui]t. 11 And I [cal]led for a drought [upon the land, and upon the mountains, and upon the grain, and upon the new wine, and up]on [the oil, and upon that which the ground brings forth, and upon men, and upon cattle, and upon all the labor of the hands.”]

12 Then Z[erubbabel] the son of Shea[ltiel, and Joshua the son of Jehozadak,] the high [pr]iest, [with] all the r[emnant of the people,] obey[ed the voice of the LORD] their God, [and] the words of [the prophet] Hag[gai, as the LO]RD their [Go]d [had sen]t him; and [the people] did fear [before the LO]RD. 13 Then [s]poke Hag[gai, the messenger of the LORD, to the people with the LO]RD's [messag]e, say[ing], "I am [with you, decla]res the LORD." [14 And] the LORD stirred up the spirit of Zerubbab[el the son of Shealti]el, governor [of Judah, and] the spirit of Joshua the son of Jeh[ozadak, the high priest,] and [the spirit of all] the remnant of the people; [and they came and did work on the hou]se of the LO[RD] of ho[st]s, their [God, 15 in the] four and [twentie]th [day of the month, in the sixth month, in the] second year of D[ari]us the [ki]ng.

21 In [the seventh month,] on the tw[ent]y-first day of the month, the w[ord] of the LORD c[ame] to<sup>130</sup> Haggai the prophet, saying, 2 "Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of S[hea]l[tiel], gove[rnor] of Judah, [and to Joshua the son of] Jehozadak, the high priest, and to the remnant of the people, s[ay]ing, [3 'Who] is left among you that saw t[his] house [in] its former [glor]y? And how do you [see] it [n]o[w? Is it not] in your e[y]es as n[othi]ng? [4 Yet] now [be strong,] O Zerubbab[el,] says the LORD;] 'and be strong, O [Jo]shua, son [of Jehozadak, the high priest; and] be strong, [al]l [you] people [of the land,] says the LORD, 'and work:] for I a[m] with you,' [says the LO]RD of hosts, [5 'according to the word that I covenanted with you when] you came out [of Egypt, and my Spirit is abiding among you; do not fea]r.'" "

[6 For thus says the LORD of hosts, "Once more, in a litt]le while, [and I will shake the heavens, and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land; 7 and I will shake all nation]s; [and the treasure of all nations shall come; and I will fill this hous]e [with glory," says the LORD of hosts. 8 "The silver is] mine, [and the gold is mine," says the LORD of hosts. 9 "The latter glory of this house shall be greater than the former," says the LORD of hosts; "and in this place will I give peace," says the LORD of hosts.]

[10 In the twenty-fourth day of the] ninth [month,] in [the second year of Darius, the word of the LO]RD [came] to Haggai the [prophet, saying, 11 Thus says the LORD of hosts, "Ask now the priests concerning the law, saying, 12 'If one carries holy meat in the fold of his garment, and with the fold touches bread,] or [stew, or wine, or oil, or any food, shall it become holy?'" And the priests answered] and sai[d,] "N[o." 13 Then said Haggai, "If one that is unclean by contact with a dead body touches] any of these, shall it be u[n]clean?" And the priests answered and said, "It shall be unclean." ] 14 Then Hagg[ai] answered and s[aid, “So is this people, and so is this nation before me,]” declares the LORD; “and s[o is every work of their hands; and that which they offer] there is unclean. [15 And now, I pray you, consider from] this [day] on, b[efore a stone was laid upon a stone] in the temple of the LORD, [16 from the time when one came to a heap of] twenty [measures,] and there were [ten; when one came to the wine vat to draw out] fifty measures, [there were but twenty. 17 I struck you] with b[lig]ht and mil[dew and hail in all the work of your hands; yet yo]u [did not turn] t[o me,” says the LORD. 18 “Consider, I pray you, from] this day [on, from the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, since the day that the foundation of the LORD’s temple was laid, consider it. 19 Is the seed yet in the b]arn? [Do the vine, the fig tree, the pomegranate, and the olive tree still] yield [nothing?] From th[is day will I bless you.”]

20 And the word of the LOR[D came the] s[econd time to Haggai] on the twe[nty-]fourth day of the month, sa[y]ing, [21 “Speak to Zerubbabel,] governor of Judah, saying, ‘I [will shake the heavens] and the earth; 22 and [I] will ov[erthrow the throne of kingdoms; and I will destroy the stre]ngth of the k[ing]do[m]s [of the nations; and I will overthrow the chariots, and those that ride in them;] and [the] ho[rses and their riders] shall come down, [every one by the sword of his brother. 23 In] th[at day,’ says the LORD of hosts, ‘I will take you, O Zerubbabel, my servant, the son of Shealtiel,’] decl[ares the LORD,] ‘and [will make you as a signet; for I have chosen you,]’ declares the LORD of hos[ts.”]

ZECHARIAH

The postexilic prophet Zechariah is attested in five of the ten Minor Prophets scrolls<sup>131</sup> and, though not the subject of any preserved commentaries, was cited frequently among the nonbiblical manuscripts from Qumran.

An Aramaic Text on the Persian Period (4Q562 2 1) refers to Zechariah 2:8, “One who touches you is as one who touches the apple of his eye,” evidently in reference to the time of return from Babylon and God’s promise to judge those who would plunder Israel.

In true peshet fashion, the community saw a reference to their own sufferings in the “seven eyes” of Zechariah 3:9. This passage was interpreted to be the “sevenfold” refining of Psalm 12:6 (4Q177). Likewise, A Commentary on Consoling Passages in Scripture (4Q176 15 3–4) quotes Zechariah 13:9, “I will bring one-third in the fire, and refine them . . . ,” in a context that tempers the suffering prophesied by Zechariah with words of comfort.

The messianic hope that characterized the Qumran community was likely the setting of the “two anointed sons” of Zechariah 4:14, perhaps cited in reference to the blessing on Judah (Gen 49:8–12) in one of the Commentaries on Genesis (4Q254 4 2). Qumran doctrine found an acknowledgment of the priestly (anointed of Aaron) and royal (anointed of Israel) messiahs in such passages. This very hope forms the setting of the reference to Zechariah 13:7—“If you strike down the shepherd, the flock will scatter”—in the Damascus Document (CD) 19:7–9. The interpretation appears to refer to the martyrdom of the community’s leader in the Last Days. The “poor of the flock” (a reference to Zech 11:7) escape the subsequent punishment when the unrighteous are delivered up for judgment at the coming of the messiahs of Aaron and Israel.

11 In the eighth month, in the [second] year of [Darius,] the word of the LORD [came] to Zechariah the so[n of Berechiah, the so[n of Iddo, [the prophet,] saying: 2 The LORD was [very] angry [with] [your fathers. 3 Therefore say t]o them, Thus says the LO[RD of h]osts: [Return to me, dec]lares the LORD of host[s, and] I will [return] to you, says the L[ORD of h]osts. 4 Do not b[e] li[ke] your [father]s, to whom the former [prophe]ts cried, saying, [“Thus says] the LORD of hosts, Re[turn now from your evil ways, and from your] evil [doings”]; but they did not hear, nor liste[n to me, says the LORD. 5 Your fathers, where are they?] And the prophets, do they live forever? [6 But my words and my statutes, which I commanded my servants] the prophets, did [they not] ove[r]take your fathers? And they turned and said, “Like as the LORD of hos]t[s thought] to [do],<sup>132</sup> according to [our] ways, [and according to our doings, so has he dealt with us.”] ▲

[9 Then I said, “O my lord, what are these?” And] the ange[l who talked with me said to me, “I will show you what these are.” 10 And the man that stood among the myrtle trees answered] and sai[d, “These are those whom the LORD has sent to patrol the earth.” 11 And they answered the angel of the LORD that stood among the myrtle trees, and said, “We have patrolled the earth, and behold, all the earth is at rest.” 12 Then the angel of the LORD answered and said, “O LORD of hosts, how long will you not have mercy on Jerusalem and on the] c[ities of Judah, against which you have been indignant these sev]e[nty years?” 13 And the LORD answered] the [angel that talked with me with] goo[d words, even comfortable wor]ds. [14 So the angel that talked with me said] to [me, “Cry o]ut, s[aying, Thus says the LORD of] hosts: [I am jealous for Jerusalem and for] Zi[on with a great jealousy.”] ▲

[19 And I said unto the angel that talked with me, “What ar]e thes[e?” And he answered me, “These are the horns] which have scat[tered Judah, Israel, and] Jeru[salem.” 20 And the LORD showed me fou]r [craftsmen. 21 Then said I, “What are they coming t]o [do?” And he spoke, saying, “These are the horn]s [which scattered Judah so that no man lifted up his head; but these have come to terrify them, to cast down the horns of the nations, which lifted up their horn against the land of Judah to scatter it.”]

2[3 And behold, the angel] that ta[lked with me went forth, and] ano[ther angel went out to meet him, 4 and said to him, “Run, speak] to [that young man, saying, Jerusalem shall] be in[habited without wall]s, [because of the multitu]de [of men and cattle in it. 5 For I, says the LORD, will be a wall of fire r]ou[nd] about [her, and I will be the glory in her midst.”]

[6 Ho there, flee from the land of the north, says the LORD; for I have spread you abroad as the four] winds of the heavens, [says the LORD. 7 Ho] Zion,

[escape, you that dwell [with the] daughter of Babylon. [8 For thus say[s the LORD of hosts: After [gl]ory has he sent [me to the nations which] plundered you; [for he that touches you] touches the apple of his eye. [9 For behold, I will shake my hand over them, and they shall be [a spoil to those that served them;] and you shall know th[at the LORD of hosts has sent me. 10 Sing] and rejoice, [O daughter of Zion; for lo, I come, and I will dwell in your midst, says the LORD. 11 And many nations shall join themselves to the LORD in that day, and shall be my people; and I will dwell in the midst of you, and you shall know that the LORD of hosts has sent me to you. 12 And the LORD shall inherit Judah as his portion in the holy land, and] shall [yet choose] [Jerusalem.]

[13 Be silent, all] flesh, before the LORD; for] he is [aroused from his holy habitation.]

31 Then [he showed] [me Joshua the high priest standing before the angel of the LORD, and] Satan standing at] his right hand to be his adversary. 2 And the LORD] said [to Satan, “The LORD rebu[ke you, O Satan; yea, the LORD that has chosen Jerusalem rebuke you;] is not [this a brand plucked out of the fire?” 3 Now Joshua was clothed with filthy garments, and was standing before the a]ngel. 4 And he answered a]nd spoke t[o] those that stood before hi]m, saying, “T[ake the filthy garments from off] him.” An[d to him he said, “Behold,] I have [caused your iniquity to] pass from you, [and I will clothe] you with rich apparel.” 5 And I said, “Let them set] a clean miter upon his head.” So [they] set a [clean] miter] upon his head], a[nd clothed him] with garments; [and the a]ngel of the LORD] was standing by.]

6 And [the a]ngel of the LORD] protest[ed to Joshua, saying,] 7 “Thus says the LORD of hosts: If] you will walk in my ways, [and if] you will keep my [char]ge, then you also [shall judge] my house, and shall also keep [my] courts,] and I [will give] you [a place of] a[c]c[ess among these that stand by.] 8 Hear [now, O Joshua the high priest, you and your fellows that sit before you; for they are men that are] a sign; [for behold, I will bring forth my servant the Branch. 9 For behold, the stone that I have set before] Joshua; [upon one] stone [are seven eyes; behold, I will engr]ave [an engraving, says the LORD of hosts,] and I will draw out<sup>133</sup> all<sup>134</sup> [the iniquity of that land in one] [day.] 10 In t[hat] day, [says the LORD of] host[s,] you shall invite [every man his neighbor under the vine and] under the fig tree.”

41 And [the angel that talked with me] came again, [and awakened me, as] a man that [is awakened out of his sleep. 2 And] he said to me, “W[hat do you see?” And I said, “I have seen, and behol]d, a candlestick [all of gold, with its bo]wl upon the top [of it, and its seven lamps on it; there are seven pipes to each of the lamps, which are on] its top; [3 and two olive trees by it, one upon the right side of the bowl, and the other at its left side.” 4 And I answered] and spoke [to the angel that talked with me, saying, “What are these, my lord?”] ▲

5[8 And he said, “This is Wickedness”: and he threw her down into the midst of the ephah; and he cast the weight of lead upon] its opening. [9 Then I lifted] up my eyes [and loo]ked, and behold, [there came forth two women, and the wind was in their wings; now they had w]ings like the wings of a s[tork; and they lifted up the ephah between earth and heaven. 10 Then] I said to the an]gel that talked with me, “Where are these bearing the ephah?” 11 And he said t]o me, “To build her [a house in the land of Shinar: and when it is prepared, she shall be set there in] her [own plac]e.”

6[1 And again I lifted up my eyes and looked, and behold, four chariots came out from between two mountains; and the mountains were mountains of bra]ss.<sup>135</sup> 2 With [the first] ch[ariot were red horses; and with the second chariot black horses;] 3 and with [the third] chari[ot white horses; and with the fourth chariot] strong [dappled horses. 4 Then I answered and said to the angel that talked with me, “What are these, my lord?”] 5 And the angel answered and sai[d to me, “These are the four winds of heaven, which go forth from standing before the] Lord of all the ear[th.”] ▲

■ The manuscript known as 4QXII<sup>a</sup> begins here with Zechariah 14:18. It is significant for three reasons. First, it is the oldest of all the Minor Prophets manuscripts, dating from the middle of the second century bce. Second, it is one of the few Hebrew biblical manuscripts from Qumran written with cursive script rather than the more formal “square” script. Third, and perhaps most important, the fact that the fragments of the manuscript include Jonah along with Zechariah and Malachi suggests that this book was placed in the final third rather than in the first half of the collection. The shape and size of the fragments make it likely that it was the last book of the Twelve, following Malachi. This order is not followed in any other manuscript of the Minor Prophets.

MALACHI

Only two of the ten manuscripts of the Minor Prophets contain the text of Malachi.<sup>139</sup> This deterioration of the ends (and beginnings) of scrolls is a pattern seen frequently in the remains of the Qumran library. Although no peshet texts survive, a number of quotations reflect the manner in which the book was used by the Qumran community.

The exhortation of Malachi 1 to cease the presentation of worthless offerings to God is reaffirmed to the community in the Damascus Document (CD) 6:5. Better to “lock the door” than to “light up my altar in vain” (Mal 1:10). In an ironic twist, it was the Temple—and not the offering—that had become the central problem. The altar had been defiled because the officiating priests had refused to enter into the covenant of the Qumran community.

Malachi 3:16 and 18 were cited in the Damascus Document 20:19–22 in order to press the point that it was those who kept God’s covenant—the Qumran community—who were the righteous ones recorded in God’s book of remembrance.

A small fragment of Portions of Sectarian Law (4Q265 4 1–2) quotes Malachi 2:10—“Why are we faithless to one another, profaning the covenant of our ancestors”—evidently as part of an argument that denied young boys and females entrance to the Passover feast. Unfortunately, the fragmentary condition of the text does not preserve the logic behind this ruling, which is nowhere present in the biblical record.

2[10 Have we not all one father?] Has not [one God created us? Why do we deal treacherously each against] his [brother,] profaning the covenant [of our fathers? 11 Judah has dealt treacherously, and an abomination is committed in I]srael and in Jerusalem; [for Judah has profaned the holiness of the LORD which he loves, and has married] the house<sup>140</sup> of a foreign god. [12 The LORD will cut off the man that do]es this—one who witnesses or answers<sup>141</sup>—from the tent[s of] Jacob, [and the one who offers an offering to the LORD of hosts.

13 And this again [yo]u do: you cover [the alt]ar of the LORD [with tears,] and<sup>142</sup> with weeping, and with sighing because of troubles, does he still regard [the offering and accept<sup>143</sup> it with favor from] your [han]d? 14 Yet you say, “Why?” Because [the LORD has been witness between you and the wi]fe of your youth,<sup>144</sup> though she is your companion, [and the wife of your covenant. 15 But not one has done so who has] a remnant [of the Spirit. And what did] this one seek? A [godly] seed. [Therefore take heed] to your spirit, and [let none deal tr]eachersly against the wife of [his youth.] 16 For if you hate and divorce,<sup>145</sup> [says the LORD,] the God of Israel, they cover my [garmen]t<sup>146</sup> with violence, says the LORD of hosts: therefore take heed to your spirit, [that] you do [no]t deal treacherously.

17 And<sup>147</sup> you have wearied [Go]d<sup>148</sup> with your words. Yet you say, “How have we wearied him?” [In that] you [say,] “All those who do<sup>149</sup> evil is good in the si]ght of the LORD, and he] delights [in them];” or “Where is the Go[d of] justice?”

31 Therefore,<sup>150</sup> b[e]hold, I] send [my] mes[senger, and he shall prepare] the way before me: and *they<sup>151</sup> will suddenly come to [his] te[m]ple, the Lor]d, whom you seek and the messenger of the co[venant, whom y]ou desire; behold, he himself<sup>152</sup> comes, says the LORD of ho[sts. 2 But] who can endure them; they come?<sup>153</sup> And who shall stand [when] he appears? For he is like a refiner’s fire, and like fuller’s soap; 3 and he will sit as a refiner and p[urif]ier of silver, and he will purify the sons of Levi, and refine them as gold and silver; and [they shall] offer to the LORD offerings in righteousness. 4 Then shall the offeri[ng of] Judah and Jerusalem be pleasant to the LORD, as in the days of old, and as in fo[rm]er years.*

[5 And I will come near to you for judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, and against the adulterers, and against the false swearers, and against those that oppress the hireling in his wages, the] wi[dow, and the orphan, and those who turn aside the sojourner from his right, and do not fear me, says the L]ORD Go[d.]<sup>154</sup>

[6 For I, the LORD, change not; therefore you, O sons of] Jacob, [are] n[ot consu]med. [7 From the days of your fathers you have turned aside from my ordinances, and] you have [no]t kept them. Return to me, [and I will return to you, says the LORD of hosts.] But you<sup>155</sup> say, “Ho[w shall we return?”]

[8 Will a man rob God? Yet you] rob m[e. But you say, “How have we robbed you?” In tithes and offerings.] 9 You are looking on appearances;<sup>156</sup> [for you rob me, even this whole nation.] 10 Bring every tithe<sup>157</sup> into the [store]hou[se, that there may be food] in my houses,<sup>158</sup> and prove me now in this, says [the LORD of hosts, if] I will [not] open for you the windows of he[aven, and pour out] the<sup>159</sup> blessing [for you,] until it overflows. 11 And [I] will r[e]buke the devourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy] the fruits of your ground; neither [shall your vine cast its fruit before its time in the field,] says the LORD of hosts. 12 And [all nations] shall call y[ou] happy; [for] you shall be a delightful la[nd, says the LORD of hosts.]

13 Your words [have been arrogant] against me, sa[ys the LORD. Yet you say, “Wha]t have we spoken against you?” [14 You have] said, [“It is vain to serve God;] and what profit is it that we have kept [his] charg[e and that we have walked mournfully before the LORD of hos]ts? 15 And now [we call the proud happy; indeed, those who work wickedness are built up;] and<sup>160</sup> indeed, they tempt [God, and escape.”]

[16 Then those who feared the LORD spoke one] to<sup>161</sup> another; and the LORD listened, and [heard, and a book of remembrance was written before him, for those who feared] the LORD, and that thought upon his name. 17 So that<sup>162</sup> they shall be [mine, says the LORD of hosts,] even my own possession, [in the day] that I make; and [I] will spare [them, as a man spares] his own son that serves hi[m. 18 Then you will again distinguish between the righteous and the wicked, between the one who se]rves [God and the one who serves him not.]

4[1 For behold, the day is coming;] it burns [as a furnace; and all the proud, and all that work wickedness shall be stubble; and] the day that is coming [shall burn th]em [up,] sa[ys the LORD of hosts,] so that it shall leave them [neither] root nor branch. [2 But] to you that fear my name [shall] the sun of righteousness [arise] with healing in its wings; [and you shall go forth,] and skip about as a calf<sup>163</sup> of the stall. 3 And you shall counsel<sup>164</sup> the wicked; [for they shall be] ashes under the soles of your feet in the day that I [make, says the LORD] of hosts.

4 Remember the law of Moses my [se]rvant, [which I commanded him in] Horeb for all I[sra]el, even statutes and [judgments.]

[5 Behold, I will send] you Elijah the prop[h]et before [the great and] terrible [day of the LORD comes. 6 And he shall turn the heart of the] fathers [to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers; else I come] and strike [the earth with a curse.]

1 ENOCH

Of all the “nonbiblical” books found in the caves adjacent to the Dead Sea, the one that offers the most promise of having been considered authoritative to the Jewish community at Qumran is 1 Enoch. That some have considered this writing to be God’s word is without question. It was quoted by the writer of the New Testament book Jude (vss 14–15, see 1 Enoch 1:9) and has been held in high regard by Ethiopian Christians.

This book, as known before the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls, may be divided into five sections:

- The Book of the Watchers (chs. 1–36) containing an introduction and a narrative describing the fallen angels and their intercourse with human women (Gen 6:1–4).
- The Book of the Similitudes (chs. 37–71) describing the final judgment of the righteous and the wicked and a character called the “son of man.”
- The Book of Astronomical Writings (chs. 72–82) detailing a solar calendar of 364 days.
- The Book of Dreams (chs. 83–90) describing the future of the world and Israel.
- The Epistle of Enoch (chs. 91–107) concludes with a return to the theme of the reward of the righteous and wicked.

The Qumran manuscripts exhibit a more focused interest on the offspring of the angels and humans, which became a unit in its own right: The Book of Giants. The scrolls also reveal a much lengthier form of the Book of Astronomical Writings. On the other hand, the Book of Similitudes does not appear to have been included in manuscripts of the Qumran community.

The mysterious nature of this book begins with Enoch himself. The son of Jared and the sixth generation from Adam, the Bible reports that Enoch “walked with God; then was no more, for God took him away” (Gen 5:24). The New Testament interprets: “Enoch was taken (to heaven) by faith, so that he would not see death” (Heb 11:5). The account of this strange incident created great interest in Enoch in antiquity and gave rise to the notion that he would be knowledgeable concerning the details of God’s program for Israel, having learned them firsthand. The writer of 1 Enoch capitalized on this interest and gave the biblical hero credit for a work that ranges from angels, the universe, and calendar issues to the future of Israel. Scholars refer to the type of literature characterized by 1 Enoch as pseudepigraphical—an author assuming the identity of some ancient notable perhaps in an attempt to attract curious readers.

The caves at Qumran have produced twenty manuscripts of Enoch—as many as the book of Genesis—all of them in Aramaic. Although the early history of the book is still unknown (written in about 400 BCE?), the debate about the original language—Greek, Hebrew, Aramaic?—seems now to have been answered in favor of the latter.

Another mystery that the scrolls have only clouded concerns the origin of the important and frequent (88x) New Testament title for Jesus: Son of Man (e.g., Matt 12:32). 1 Enoch 37–71 also features a messianic character of this name. As noted, this section has not been found among the scroll fragments, giving rise to the speculation that the New Testament influenced the final form 1 Enoch rather than the reverse.

Because the text is available elsewhere, and because of the admittedly speculative nature of including it even in a Dead Sea Scroll Bible, we have chosen not to reproduce the text here.<sup>a</sup>

DANIEL

For a group of Jewish men living in the desert, waiting for the end of the world, believing that almost everyone else was among the “sons of darkness,” the book of Daniel would have been welcome reading. Its tales of a godly man and his friends resisting persecution, refusing to compromise, and triumphing over wickedness and idolatry must have brought encouragement to the Qumran covenanters.

For modern readers and scholars, the Daniel scrolls and other related manuscripts are interesting for three reasons. First, of all the biblical books found at Qumran, these copies of Daniel are closest in date to when the book itself was written. Second, they provide our earliest evidence for the contents and form of Daniel. Finally, some related scrolls contain new stories surrounding Daniel that have only now come to light in the Dead Sea Scrolls.

Eight Daniel manuscripts were found at Qumran: two in Cave 1,<sup>a</sup> five in Cave 4,<sup>b</sup> and one in Cave 6.<sup>c</sup> Unfortunately, none is complete due to the ravages of time, but between them they preserve a substantial amount of the book of Daniel. All eight scrolls were copied in the space of 175 years, ranging from 125 BCE<sup>d</sup> to 50 CE.<sup>e</sup> Since Daniel was compiled later than any other book in the Hebrew Bible (about 165 BCE), these scrolls show that it was becoming popular and widely used at Qumran only forty years after being written.

What forms of this book are found in the scrolls? This is an important question, since Jewish and Protestant Bibles contain Daniel in twelve chapters, whereas Roman Catholic and Orthodox Bibles have a longer version that includes the Prayer of Azariah, the Song of the Three Young Men, Susanna, and Bel and the Dragon. Seven of the Daniel scrolls contained the book in the shorter form found in Jewish and Protestant Bibles—not the longer form known from Roman Catholic and Orthodox Bibles. But one scroll (4QDan<sup>e</sup>) preserves only material from Daniel’s Prayer in chapter 9, which suggests that it probably contained this prayer alone. It is also interesting to note that every chapter of Daniel is represented in the eight manuscripts, except for chapter 12. Yet this does not mean that the book lacked the final chapter at Qumran, since one of the nonbiblical scrolls, known as the Florilegium (4Q174), quotes Daniel 12:10 as written in the “book of Daniel the prophet.”

Another question in the case of Daniel concerns the bilingual nature of the book, which in the Hebrew Bible opens in Hebrew, switches to Aramaic at chapter 2:4b, and then reverts again to Hebrew at 8:1. The four scrolls that preserve material from two or all three of these sections make the very same transitions from Hebrew to Aramaic and back again.<sup>f</sup> While the precise reasons for having Hebrew and Aramaic sections in the same book are complex, the scrolls show us that Daniel existed in this form very early on and thus was most likely compiled in Hebrew and Aramaic. This is not really surprising in the case of such a late book—one that was written at a time when Aramaic was widely spoken by Jews in Palestine.

Do the scrolls offer clues to the position of the book of Daniel in the canon of the Hebrew Bible or Old Testament, which was not complete but still being formed during the Qumran period? This is an important issue, since Daniel is found in different sections of the Jewish canon (among the Writings) and the Septuagint Christian canon (among the Prophets)—see the general Introduction for further details. We have already mentioned the quotation of Daniel 12:10 in the Florilegium, which says that the verse is written in the “book of Daniel the Prophet.” This indicates that at Qumran Daniel was classified among the Prophets rather than the Writings, which is highly significant for our understanding of prophecy and the existence of different ancient Jewish collections of Scripture.

To say that the Daniel scrolls contain a book like the one found in the Hebrew Bible does not mean that they contain exactly the same text. On the contrary, readings for individual words or groups of words frequently differ. Such variants will be of great interest to many readers, especially those desiring to find out how the scrolls affect our understanding of certain key verses of Scripture. Many of these readings are minor, with little or no effect on the meaning or interpretation of the book—but some are more significant. For instance, near the end of Daniel 7:1, the awkward phrase “he related the sum of the words” is completely absent from 4QDan<sup>b</sup>, the only scroll that preserves this verse. The importance of this reading is underscored by the New Revised Standard Version, which simply has “then he wrote down the dream,” in line with 4QDan<sup>b</sup> and not with the Hebrew Bible. A second example is seen in Daniel 10:16, where the Hebrew Bible reads “one in the likeness of the sons of men,” but pap6QDan most likely agrees with the Septuagint's "something in the likeness of a human hand." In this case, the editors of the New International Version decided to retain the reading of the Masoretic Text (as do other English translations) but considered the variant reading important enough to merit an extensive footnote.

Was the book of Daniel quoted or referred to in other writings at Qumran? Since Daniel was not written until about 165 BCE, it would be surprising to find it used in this way—yet this is precisely the case. 11QMelchizedek, for example, refers to the "Anointed of the Spirit, of whom Daniel spoke" (Dan 9:25–26). The quotation of Daniel 12:10 as from the "book of Daniel the Prophet" in the Florilegium, referred to above, is significant for three reasons:

- It proves that by about 25 BCE Daniel was already being quoted as Scripture.
- It shows that the author(s) of the Florilegium knew Daniel as a complete book. They were not simply using traditions about Daniel that may have been circulating before the book was written.
- It suggests that at Qumran Daniel was included among the Prophets and not among the Writings (see above).

Several other manuscripts—all written in Aramaic—also mention Daniel or events associated with his book. These are the Prayer of Nabonidus,<sup>g</sup> two pseudo-Daniel documents,<sup>h</sup> the Daniel Apocryphon (or Son of God text),<sup>i</sup> 4QDaniel Susanna(?),<sup>j</sup> 4QFour Kingdoms,<sup>k</sup> and pap4QApocalypse.<sup>l</sup> With their tales of courage in the face of persecution and their vision of the end of the world, these nonbiblical scrolls offer fascinating insights into Jewish thinking concerning inspired sayings, the course of history, and the end times during a period of Greek and Roman rule that was of great significance for both Judaism and Christianity.

The existence at Qumran of both biblical and nonbiblical scrolls involving Daniel shows that many traditions and writings associated with him were circulating in Palestine from the second century BCE well into the first century CE. Some of these (that is, the eight biblical Daniel scrolls) were selected by early Jewish leaders as Scripture and now appear in modern Bibles, while others (the nonbiblical scrolls) were not included. It is not difficult to understand why this late book had achieved such prominence in so short a time if we consider its contents and the outlook of the Qumran community. An apocalyptic community such as they were, waiting in the desert for the end of the age, would have found such a book very appealing and significant. With its focus on the end of history, the triumph of good over evil, God's coming kingdom, and the vindication of those who remain righteous and faithful, Daniel was no doubt essential reading for many of the Qumran covenanters.

1[8 But Daniel resolved that he would not defile himself with the king's food and wine, so he asked the chief official to allow him not to defile himself. 9 God mercifully favored Daniel over the chief official. 10 The chief official said to Daniel, "I am too afraid of my lord the king who allotted your food and drink. Why should he see you in a less healthy condition than the other youths of your age? You would jeopardize] my he[ad] with the king!"

11 So Daniel asked [the guard whom the chief] official [had appointed] over Daniel, Hananiah, [Mishael, and Azariah: 12 "Please test] your servants for ten days. Let [us] be given [vegetables to eat and water] to drink. 13 Then let our appearance [and the appearance of the young men who eat] from the king's food be observed by you, and according to what you see [deal with your servants." 14 And he listened to] them as to this plan and tested them for [ten] days. 15 [At the end of ten days it was observed that they ap]peared healthier and better nour[ished than all the other youths who had been eating from the] kin[g's food]. 16 So the guard [continued to remove] their fo[od and the wi]ne they were to drink [and gave] them vegetables.<sup>4</sup> 17 [As for these four young men], God [gave] them knowledge [and pro]ficiency [in every aspect of writing and wisdom, and Daniel especially had insight into all kinds of visions and dreams].

18 At the [e]nd of [the time when the king had specified that they be presented. The chief offic]ial [brought them] into Neb[uchadnezzar's] presence. 19 [And when the king spoke with them, among them all none was found equal to Daniel, Hananiah], and<sup>2</sup> M[i]shael, and A[zariah; therefore they were stationed in the] king's [court]. 20 In every matter of wi[sdo]m and<sup>3</sup> under[standing concerning which the king asked of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians [and enchanters in] his whole kingdom.

[21 And Daniel remained there until the first year of King Cyrus].

2[1 In the second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar had such a dream that his spirit was troubled and his sleep fled from him. 2 So the king ordered the magicians, the enchanters, the sorcerers, and] the Chaldeans<sup>4</sup> [to be summoned] in order to tell [the king his dreams. When they came in and stood before] the king, 3 the [king] said to them, "[I had such a dream that my spirit is anxious] to understand the dream." 4 Then [the Chaldeans] said [to the king in Aramaic], "O king, li[ve] forever! [Tell your servants the dream], and we will reveal its meaning."

5 The king answered the Chaldeans, "[The decision from me] is public: if you do not tell me both the dream and its interpretation], you shall be torn [limb from limb], and your houses [shall be destroyed. 6 But if you do tell me the dream and its interpretation, you shall receive from me gifts and [presents and great honor. Now tell me the dream and its interpretation.” 7 They answered a second time, “Let the king first tell his servants the dream, and we will give its interpretation.” 8 The king answered, “I know with certainty that you are playing for time, because you see that the decision from me is public 9 that if you do not tell me the dream, there is but one verdict for you. You have conspired to speak lying [and words [before me until the times change]. Therefore [tell me the dream, so I may know that you can give me its interpretation.” 10 The Chaldeans answered the king, “There is not a person on earth] who [can reveal] the matter for the king! No great and powerful king has ever requested such] a thing [of any magician or enchanter or Chaldean. 11 The thing] that the king requests is too difficult, and no one can reveal it to the king except] the gods, whose dwelling is not with mortals.” ▲

[17 Then Daniel went home and informed his companions, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 18 in order to implore mercy of the God of heaven concerning this mystery, so that Daniel and his companions might not perish along with the rest of the wise men of Babylon. 19 Then the mystery was revealed to Daniel in a vision during the night, and Daniel blessed] the God of heaven. 20 Daniel said: “Blessed be the name of the great God<sup>5</sup> [from] age to age, for wisdom and power are his. 21 It is he who removes the changes in [times and seasons, causes [kings and establishes kings; he gives wisdom to the wise and knowledge to those who have understanding. 22 It is he who reveals deep and mysterious things; and he knows<sup>6</sup> what is in the darkness, and the light dwell[s with him]. 23 To you, to the God<sup>7</sup> of my ancestors, [I] give thanks and praise, because [you] have given [me] wisdom and power, and] have now revealed to me] what we asked of you, for [you have made known to us] the matter for the king.”

24 So Daniel [went]<sup>8</sup> to [Ario]ch, [whom the] king [had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babylon, and said] to him, “[Do not] destroy [the wise men of Babylon]; bring me in before the king, [and] I will give the king its<sup>9</sup> [interpretation].” 25 Then Arioch quickly brought Daniel] before the king and [said] to him, “I have found] among the exiles from the Jews<sup>10</sup> a man [who] can help [the king] know [the interpretation].”

26 The king said to Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, “Are you [able to tell me] the dream [that] I saw and its interpretation?” 27 Daniel answered [the] king, “[No] wise men, enchanters, magicians, or diviners can explain to the king the mystery which the king is asking], 28 but there is a God in heaven who reveals] mysteries, and he is disclosing<sup>11</sup> to King Nebuchadnezzar what is to come at the end of days. O k[ing, may you live forever,<sup>12</sup> your dream] as you lay in bed was as follows: 29 “To you, O king, as you lay in bed came thoughts of what wo[uld happen in the future], and the one who reveals mysteries disclosed to you what will happen. 30 To me, not because of any wisdom that I have exceptionally<sup>13</sup> [more than any others alive], has this mystery been revealed, but so that the interpretation may be known to the king and so that [you may understand] the thoughts of your mind. 31 As you looked, O king, there was a gre[at] statue! That statue was huge, its appearance<sup>14</sup> surpassing, standing be[f]ore you, and its appearance was terrifying. 32 As for that statue, its head was of pure gold, its chest and arms of silver, its waist and thighs of bronze, 33 its legs of iron, its feet partly of iron and partly<sup>15</sup> clay. 34 As you continued looking, [a stone was c]ut out [by no human hand and it struck the image on its feet of iron] and clay and broke them in pieces. 35 The[n the iron, the clay, the bronze, the silver, and the gold all together were broken in pieces] and became like the chaff [of the sum]mer threshing-floor;<sup>16</sup> [and the wind carried them away, so that no trace of them could be found. But the stone that stru]ck the sta[tue bec]ame a great mountain [and filled the whole earth].

36 “[This was the dream; now we will tell its interpretation in the king’s presence. 37 You, O king], are the king of kings, [to] whom [the God of heaven has given the kingdom, the power, the might, and the glory; 38 into whose hand he has given, wherever they dwell, hu]man beings, the wild animals, [and the birds of the air, and whom he has made ruler over them all—you are the head of gold. 39 After you shall a]rise [anot]her king[dom inferior to yours, and then a third kingdom of bronze, which shall rule over the entire earth. 40 Then there shall be a fourth kingdom, strong as ir]on; [just as iron crushes and shatters everything, it shall crush and sma]sh all th[ese, like iron which cr]ushes, all the earth.<sup>17</sup> 41 Just as [you sa]w [the feet and toes partly of potter’s clay] and partly of iron, it shall be [a divided king]dom; but some of the hardness o[f] ir[on shall be in it, as you saw] the [iron] mixed with [common] clay. 42 [Just as the toe]s of the feet were partly ir[on and partly clay, so the kingdom sha]ll be partly strong [and partly brit]tle. 43 And<sup>18</sup> just as you saw the iron [mixed with clay, so will they intermingle with one another in mar]riage,<sup>19</sup> but they will not ho[ld] together, just as ir[on does not mix with clay].

44 “[And in the da]ys of [those] kings the G[od] of heaven [will set] up a kingdom which [shall nev]er [be destroyed], nor shall [its sovereignty be delive]red [to another people. It shall crush] a[ll th]ese kin[gdoms and put an end to them, and it shall stand forever; 45 just as] you saw that [a stone was hewn] from [the mountain by no human hand, and that it crushed the iron, the bronze, the clay, the silver,) and the gold. A great God [has revealed to the king what shall be in the future. The dream is certain, and its interpretation is reliable].”

46 Then<sup>20</sup> Kin[g Nebuchadnezzar fell upon his face, worshiped Daniel, and ordered that a cereal offering and incense be offered to him. 47 The king said to Daniel, “Truly, your God is God of gods and Lord of kings and a revealer of mysteries, that is why you have been able to] reveal [this mys]tery.” 48 [Then the king promoted Daniel], gave him [many gen]erous presen[ts, and [made him ruler over the entire province of Babylon and chief pref]ect over all the wise men of Babylon. 49 Daniel made a re[quest of the king, and he appointed] Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego [as administrator over] the province of Babylon. [But Daniel himself remained at the king’s court].

31 [King Nebuchadnezzar made a golden statue] whose height was ninety feet and whose width was ni[ne] feet [and set it up on the plain of Dura] in the province of Babylon. 2 Then Mechandnezzar<sup>21</sup> sent for the satraps, [the prefects and the governors, the counselors, the treasurers, the jud]ges, the magistra[tes, and all the officials of the provinces to assemble and attend the dedication of the statue which he had set up.] ▲

8 [At that point certain Chaldeans came forward to incri]minate the Jews. 9 [They said to King Nebuchadnezzar, “O king], live [forever]! 10 You, O king, issued a decr[ee, that everyone who hears the sound of the horn, pipe, lyre, trigon, harp, drum, and all kinds of musical instruments shall fall down and worship the golden statue, 11 and whoever does not fall down and worship shall be thrown into a furnace of blazing fire].” ▲

19 [Then Nebuchadnezzar was so filled with rage against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego that his face became livid. He ordered the furnace heated seven times more than its usual heat 20 and ordered some of his strongest army guards to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego and to throw them into the furnace of blazing fire. 21 So the men were bound with their coats, their trousers, their hats, and their other garments still on, and were thrown into the furnace of blazing fire. 22 Since the king’s command was insistent that the furnace be so overheated, the raging fl]ames [killed the men who led Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. 23 But the other three men, Shadrach], Meshach, and Abednego, fell into [the furnace of blazing fire] still bound.

24 Soon King Nebuchadnezzar was astonished and rose up in ha[ste. He said to his counselors], “Did we not throw three men, bound, into the fire?” They answered the king, “True, O king.” 25 Nebuchadnezz[ar]<sup>22</sup> replied [and said] to his officials,<sup>23</sup> “But I see four men loo[se, walking in the midst of the fire, and they are unharmed; and the appearance] of [the fo]urth is lik[e] a son of the god[s].” 26 Then Nebuchadnezzar approached the opening of the furnace of blazing fire] and said, “Shad[r]ach, Meshach, and Abednego, servants of the Most High God, come forth, come here!” So Shadra[ch, Meshach, and Abednego] came out [from the fire. 27 When the satraps, the prefects], the governors, and the [ki]ng’s counselors [gathered together, they saw that the fire had not had any effect on the bodies of those men; the hair of their heads] had not been singed, [their co]ats [had not been harmed, and not even the smell of fire had touched them].

28 [Nebuchadnezzar exclaimed, “Blessed be the God of Shadrach], and<sup>24</sup> Meshach, and Abed[nego, who sent his angel] and delivered [his serva]nts [who trusted in him]. They disobeyed [the royal command] and yielded up [their bo]dies [rather than serve] or [worship any god except their own God. 29 So I am ma]king a decree: Any people, nati[on, or language that speaks anything against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abedne]go shall be cut to pieces, and [their] houses [destroyed; for there is no other god who can] rescue in this way.” 30 Th[en the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego in the province of Babylon].

4[4 I, Nebuchadnezzar, was relaxed in my home and prospering in my palace. 5 I saw a dream which frightened me; my fantasies in bed and the visions of my head terrified me. 6 So I issued a decree that all the wise men of Babylon should be brought before me to let me know the interpretation of the dream. 7 Then the magicians, the enchanters, the Chaldeans, and the diviners came in, and I related to them the dream, but they could not tell me its interpretation. 8 Finally Daniel came in before me—the one named Bel]tesha[zzar after the name of my god, and who is endowed with a holy, divine spirit—and I to]ld [him the dream]: 9 “O Belteshazza[r, chief of the magicians, I know that you are endowed with a holy, divine spirit and that n]o mys[tery] for you is too difficult.<sup>25</sup> [Here is the dream which I saw; now] tell me [its interpretation. 10 Upon my bed I was seeing things, and there, a tree in the center of the world, and its height was great. 11 The] tree grew large [and strong, its top touched the heavens, and it was visible to the ends of the whole earth. 12 Its leaves] were beautiful, [its] fruit [abundant, and it provided food for all. The wild animals found shade under it, the birds of the air dwelt in its branches, and from it were fed all living beings].

[13 “I continued looking, in the visions of my head while in bed, and there was a watcher, a holy one, coming down from heaven. 14 He cried out loudly and said: “Hew down the tree and cut off its branches; strip off its foliage and scatter its fruit. Let the animals flee from beneath it and the birds from its branches. 15 But] its stump and roots leave in [the gr]ound, with a band of iron and bronze, [in the grass of] the [field]. With the dew of heaven let him be wet, and with the animals be his lot, in the grass of the earth. 16 Let [his mi]nd be changed [from that of a human], and let the mind of the beast<sup>26</sup> be given to him. And let sev[en ti]mes p[ass] over him.

17 “[By decree of] watchers is the sentence, and a word<sup>27</sup> of the holy ones [the de]cision, [so that the living may know that] the Most Hig[h] has sovereignty over the ki[ngdom of mortals, and gives it to whom he will, and sets over it the lowliest of human beings].’

18 “[This is the dream I, King Nebuchadnezzar, saw; now you, O Belshazzar], declare the interpreta[tion]. Although [all the wise men of my kingdom are unable to tell me the interpretation, you are ab]le, for a spirit of the ho[ly] gods is [in you].”

19 [Then Daniel, called Belte]shazzar, was [severely] perplexed [for a while; his thoughts terrified him. The king said, “Belshazzar, let not the dream or the interpretation alarm you.” Belshazzar answered, “My lord, may the dream be for those who hate you and its interpretation for your enemies]! ▲

[31 While the words were still on the king’s lips, a voice from heaven came down: “O King Nebuchadnezzar, to you it is declared: The kingdom has departed from you! 32 You shall be driven away from human company, and your dwelling shall be with the wild animals. You shall be made to eat grass like cattle, and seven seasons shall pass over you, until you have learned that the Most High has sovereignty over the realm of huma]ns and [gives it] to whom [he wishes.” 33 At once the sentence was fulfilled against Nebuchadnezzar. He was driven from human company, ate] grass [like cattle, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, until his hair grew like eagles’ feathers and his nails became like birds’ claws]. ▲

5[1 King Belshazzar made a great feast for a thousand of his lords and was drinking wine in the company of the thousand. 2 Under the influence of the wine, Belshazzar ordered them to bring in the vessels of gold and silver which his father Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple in Jerusalem, so that the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines could drink from them. 3 Then they brought in the vessels of gold and silver which had been taken from the temple, the house of] God in Jerusa[lem, and the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines drank from them. 4 They drank wine and praised the gods of gold and silver, bronze, iron, wood, and stone].

5 [Suddenly the fingers of a hu]man [hand appea]red and began wri[ting on the plaster of the] king's [palace wall, opposite to the lampstand. When the king saw] the back of the hand a[s it was writing, 6 the king's face turned pale] and his thoughts [ter]rified him. His lim[bs]<sup>28</sup> gave way, [and his knees knocked together]. 7 The [king cried] aloud for the enchanters, the magicians,<sup>29</sup> the Chal[deans, and the diviners to be brought in, and the king said to the wise men of Baby]lon, “[Who]ever reads this writing and te[lls me] its interpretation [shall be clothed in purple, wear a golden chain around his neck, and rule as third in the kingdom].” ▲

10 [The queen, because of the words of the king and his lords, came into the banqueting hall. The queen said, “O king, live forever! Do] not [let your thoughts terrify you or let your face be pa]lle. 11 There is a man [in your kingd]om [endowed with a holy, divine spirit. In the day]s of your father [he was seen to have enlighten]ment, [understanding, and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods. So your father], Ki[ng Nebuchadnezzar, appointed him chief of the magicians, enchanters, Chaldeans, and diviners, 12 because an extraordinary spirit], knowledge, understanding<sup>30</sup> to in[terpret dreams, explain riddles, and solve problems were fo]und in this Daniel, whom [the king named Belteshazzar. So now let Daniel be call]ed, and he will read the writing<sup>31</sup> [and will give the interpretation].”

13 [Then Dan]iel was brou[ght into] the presence of [the] king. [The king asked Daniel, “Are you Danie]l, one of the exi[les of Judah whom my father the king brought from Judah? 14 I have heard of y]ou [that a divine spirit was in you], and that enligh[tenment, understanding, and extraordinary wisdom were found in you. 15 Now the wise men, the enchanters, have been brought in before me to read this writing and tell me its interpretation, but they could not give the interpretation of the matter. 16 But I have he]ard about you, [that you can give interpretations and solve difficulties. Now if you are] able to read the wri[ting] and tell [me] its interpretation, you shall be clothed in purp[le], wear a golden ch[ain] aro[und your ne]ck, [and] rule [as third] in the kingdom.”

17 Then Da[n]iel [ans]wered before the king, “[Let your pre]sents [be for yourself], or give your reward<sup>32</sup> to someone else! But [I will re]ad [the] writing for the king and let [him] know the interpretation. 18 [You, O king]—the Most Hi[gh] God [gave your father Nebuchadnezzar] kingsh[ip, grandeur], glory and majes[ty. 19 And because of the] grandeur [that he gave him, all peoples, nations and] lan[guages trembled and were afraid before him]. Whomever he wis[hed he slew, and whomever he wished he kept alive; whomever he wished] he raised [up, and whomever he wished he brought low. 20 But when his heart became proud and his spirit har]dened so that [he acted proudly, he was put down from his royal throne, and his glory was removed from him. 21 He was driven from human company, and his mind was made like that of a beast. His dwelling was with the wild asses, he was fed grass like cattle, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, until he came to know that] the Most High God [has sovereignty] over the kingdom of [humans and appoints over it whom he wishes].

22 “[And you his son, Be][shazzar, have n]ot [humbled your heart, even though you knew all this! 23 You have exalted yourself against the Lord of heaven]!” ▲

6 [6 So the supervisors and satraps came thronging in to the king and said to him, “O King Darius, live forever! 7 All the supervisors of the kingdom, the prefects and the satraps, the counselors and the governors agree that the king should establish an ordinance and enforce a prohibition, that] who[ever ad]dresses [a petition to any god or human for thirty days, except to you], O king, [shall be thrown into the den of lions. 8 Now, O king, establish the prohibition] and sign [the document, so that it cannot be revoked, according to the law of the Medes and the Persians which cannot be revo]ked.” 9 Therefore [King Darius signed the document and prohibition].

10 [Even after Daniel kn]ew that [the document had been signed, he continued going to his house with windows in] the upper chamber [open toward Jerusalem, getting down upon] his [knees three times a day], and praying [and giving thanks before<sup>33</sup> his God, just as he had done pre]viously. 11 Th[en the men rushed in and found Daniel pray]ing and pleading [before his God. 12 So they approached the king and said] concerning the prohibition, “[O king! Did you not sign the prohibition,<sup>34</sup> that all people who p]ray<sup>35</sup> to any g[od or human within thirty days except to you, O king, shall be thrown into the den of lions?” The king answered, “The decree stands firm, according to the la]w of the Med[es and Persians which cannot be revoked].”

13 [Then they responded in the king’s] presence [and] said, “[Daniel, one of the exiles from Ju]dah, pays no [attention to you, O king, n]or to [the prohibi]tion [that] you have issued, but [offers] his [prayers] three times a day.” 14 Wh[en] the king heard the charge, he was very dis[turbed]. He made up his mind [to] save [D]aniel and [worked] until the sun went do[wn to res]cue him. 15 But [the]se men rushed in to the king [and said to him, “Keep in] mind, O king, that it is a law of the Med[es and Persians th]at n[o prohibition or decree which the king issues] can be changed.”

16 [Then the king issued the order, and] Danie[l was brought and into] the den of lions they th[rew him.<sup>36</sup> The king said to Daniel, “May your God] whom you constantly serve [save you!” 17 A rock was brought] and placed in<sup>37</sup> the mouth of the den, and the king sealed (it)<sup>38</sup> [with his own ring and with the rings of his nobles, so that] nothing might be changed in Daniel’s case. 18 Then the king returned to the palace<sup>39</sup> and sp[ent the night fasting]; no [diversio]ns were brought to hi[m], and sleep fled from him.

19 Then [at the first lig]ht of dawn, [the ki]ng went<sup>40</sup> hurried[ly] to the den of lions. 20 When [he dr]ew near the den where Daniel was, he cried out in a sorrowful tone and said to [Daniel, “Daniel, servant of the liv]ing [God], has your God whom you [constantly ser]ve [been able to rescue you from the li]ons?”

21 [Then Daniel s]aid,<sup>41</sup> “O king, live forever! 22 My God sent his angel and closed the lions’ mouths so they would not harm me, since I was found innocent before him; and also before you, O king, I have done no wrong].” ▲

[25 Then King Darius wrote to all the peoples and nations of every language that dwell in the whole world: “May your welfare be abundant! 26 I issue a decree, that throughout my royal domain people must tremble in fear before the God of Daniel. For he is] a living God,<sup>42</sup> who endures forev[er. His kingdom shall never be destroyed, and] his dominion shall be without end. 27 [He saves and rescues, he works signs and wonders in heaven and] on [earth, he who saved Dani]el from the pow[er of the li]ons.”

28 [So this Daniel fared well during the reign of Dariu]s [and] the reign of Cyrus [the Persian].

71 [In the first year of King Belshazzar of Babylon, Dan]iel had a dream [and visions of his head as he lay in his bed. Then] he wrote down the [dream]:<sup>43</sup>

■ In the Masoretic Text, and thus our traditional biblical text, the ending of Dan 7:1 is very awkward: Then he wrote down the dream, he related the sum of the words. Even before the discovery of the scrolls (or at least their availability), scholars suspected that he related the sum of the words may be a later addition to the original text of Daniel. 4QDan<sup>b</sup> is the only scroll to contain 7:1; although it preserves only a few words of the verse, enough remains to show that it contained the shorter reading, not the longer one.

2 [I, Daniel,<sup>44</sup> saw in] my vision b[y night the four winds of heaven stir]ring up [the great sea, 3 and] fo[ur great animals emerged from the sea, each dif]ferent from one ano[ther]. 4 The first [was like a lion but] with [eagles’ wings]. I kept [wat]ching until [its wings were plucked off, and it was lifted up] from the ground and [made to stand up]on [two feet like a human; and it was given a human mind. 5 Another beast appeared, a second one that looked like] a bear, [but raised up] on [one si]de, [and with three ribs in its mouth between its teeth. It was told: “Arise, devour] much flesh!” 6 [After this, as I] looked, [another animal appeared, like a leopard. The animal had] four [wings] of [a bird on] its back and fou[r] h[eads; and dominion was given to it. 7 After this I was watching in the visi]ons by n[ight, and a fourth beast appeared, terrifying and dreadful and very powerful. It had great iron teeth that devoured, crushed, and trampled residue with its feet. It was different from all the beasts that preceded it, and it had ten horns]. ▲

11 [I looked on. Then because of the sound of the big words which] the horn [was speaking, the animal was killed as I looked on; and its body destroyed and co]nsigned [to be burned with fire]. ▲

15 [As for me, Daniel], my spirit was dis[turbed because of this, and the visions of my head terrified me. 16 I appoa]ched one of those present [to ask him the truth concerning all this. So] he replied [that he would make known] to me the interpretation of [the matter: 17 “As for these great beasts], which number four, f[our kings shall spring up out of the earth. 18 But] the holy ones of the Most Hi[gh shall receive] the kingdom, [and possess the kingdom forever, forever and e]ver.”

19 But [I wished to ascertain the truth about the fourth beast], which was so different from all the re[st, very terrifying, with its teeth of iron and cla]ws of b[ronze, and which devoured and crushed, and trampled the residue with its feet; 20 and about the ten horns that were on its head, and the other horn that sprang up and before which three of them fell, the horn which had eyes and a mouth that spoke arro]gant th[ings, and which appeared greater than its fellows. 21 As I watched, this horn made] war against [the holy ones, and was victorious over them, 22 until the Ancient of Days arrived; then judgme]nt was pronounced [for the holy ones of the Most High, and the time came when] the holy ones [took possession of the kingdom].

23 [Thus he said: “As for the fourth beast, there shall be a fourth kingdom] on earth, [which shall be different from all the other kingdoms, and it shall devour the entire earth, and trample it down, and crush it. 24 As for the ten horns, out of this kingdom ten kings shall spring up and another shall spring up after them. This one shall be different from those before him, and shall lay low three kings. 25 He shall speak words against the Most High, shall oppress the holy ones of the Most High, and shall think of changing the times and the law; and they shall be handed over to him for a tim]e, two time[s],<sup>45</sup> and half a time. 26 But [the cou]rt shall s[it in judgment, and his dominion shall be taken away, to be consumed and destroy]ed to the en[d]. 27 Then kingshi]p and do]minion [and the greatness of the kingdoms under the entire heaven shall be given to the people of the holy ones of the Most High; [their kingdom shall be an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey [them].”

28 Her[e] is the [e]nd of [the account. As for me, Daniel, my thoughts greatly] terrified me, and my face grew pale; [but I kept the matter in my mind].

81 [In the third year of the reign of] Ki[ng Belshazzar] a word was revealed<sup>46</sup> to me, Daniel, aft[er the one which had been shown to me earlier]. 2 In the vision I was watching, and I saw myself in Susa the capital, [in the province of Elam; and I watched] in the vision, and I was at the river Ulai. 3 I looked up [and saw a la]rge<sup>47</sup> [ram] standing on the bank of the river; it had two horns.<sup>48</sup> [Both horns were high, but on]e was higher than the other, and the higher one came up second. 4 [I saw the ram butting we]stward and eastward,<sup>49</sup> northward<sup>50</sup> and southward. All the animals<sup>51</sup> [were power]less [to withstand him, and no one could rescue from] his power; he did as [he p]leased and become powerful.

5 As I [looked on, a he-goat] appeared from the west, coming to<sup>52</sup> the face of the whole earth without touching the ground. [The goat had a horn between his eyes. 6 He approached the] ram with the two horns [which I had seen standing on the bank of the river, and he rushed toward him with] his [savag]e force. 7 I saw him reach[ing the ram; he raged against him and struck the ram, breaking] both his horns. [The ram did not have the force to withstand him; he threw him down to the ground and tram]pled upon him, and [there was] no [one able to rescue the ram from his power. 8 Then the he-goat be]came ve[ry] powerful; [but at the height of his power, the great horn was broken, and in its place there sprang up four horns facing the four winds of heaven]. ▲

13 [Then I heard a holy one speaking, and another holy one said] to the one that sp[o]ke, [“For how lo]ng [is this vision concerning the regular offering, the transgression that desolates, and the surrender of] the sanctuary and host to be trampled?” 14 [And he answered him, “For two thousand and three hundred evenings and mornings]; then the sanctuary shall be purified.”

15 [A]nd [while] I, Danie[l, had seen the vision, and trying to understand it, someone appeared standing before me], who looked like a man, 16 and I hea[rd a human voice between the banks of the Ulai, crying, “Gabriel, make] t[h]is man understand the vision.” 17 [So he came near where I stood, and as he came I was frightened and fell prostrate. But he said to me], “Underst[and, O mortal one, for the vision is for the end of time.” 18 As he was speaking to me, I fell into a trance, prostrate on the ground, but he touched me and made me stand up.]

[19 He said, “Pay attention, and I will inform you of what shall happen after the period of wrath; for it pertains to the appointed time of the end. 20 As for the ram which you] saw [with the two horns, these are the kings of Media and Persia. 21 The he-goat is] the king of Greece, [and the great horn between his eyes is the first ki]n[g. 22 As for (the horn) that was broken, in place of which four more arose, four kingdoms shall arise from his nation, but not with his strength].” ▲

9[11 “Because all Israel has transgressed your law and recorded, refusing to obey your voice, the curse and the oath which are written in the Torah of Moses the servant of God has been poured out over us, because we have sinned against him. 12 He has carried out his which he made against us and against our governing leaders, by bringing upon us a calamity so gre]at that [never under] the en[tire] heave[n has anything been done such as what has been done against Jerusale]m. 13 Just as [it was written] in the Torah of [Moses, this whole calamity] has com[e upon us. We did not seek the f]avor of [our God,<sup>53</sup> turning from our iniquities and recognizing] your fidelity, [O Lord.<sup>54</sup> 14 Therefore the LORD, who had been keeping watch over this calamity], brought it [upon us. Indeed, the LORD our God is just in all] [that he has done, for we did not listen to his voice].

[15 “And now, O Lord our God, who led your people out of the land of Egypt with a strong hand and made for yourself] a name [even to this day, we have sinned, we have acted wickedly. 16 O Lord, in view of all your righteous acts, please] let [your anger and wrath] turn away from your city Jerusalem, your holy mountain. Because of our sins and the iniquities of our ancestors, Jerusalem and your people have become a reproach among all those around us]. 17 So now [listen, O God, to the prayer of your servant and to his] supplicatio[ns, and for your own sake, Lord, let your face shine upon your desolate sanctuary].” ▲

10[4 On the twenty-fourth day of the first month, I was standing on the bank of the great river, that is, the Tigris. 5 As I lifted up my eyes, I looked, and behold], a [ma]n dressed [in linen], whose [loi]ns was girded<sup>55</sup> with g[old of Uphaz]. 6 His bo[dy] was like beryl, his fa[c]e like the appearance of lightning, [his] eyes like flaming torches, his arms and legs like the [gl]eam of burnished bronze, and the sound of his word<sup>56</sup> was like the noise of a multitude. 7 And I alone, Dan[i]el, saw the vision, for the men who were with me did not see the vision, but great fe[ar] fell upon them, and they fled and hid themselves. 8 As for me, I was l[ef]t alone and saw this great vision,<sup>57</sup> and no strength was left in me; my radiant appearance was fearfully changed, and [I retained n]o [strength. 9 Then I]

he[ard] the sound of [his words; and when I heard the sound of] his words, I [fell on my face in a deep sleep with my face to the ground].

[10 And behold, a hand touch]ed me to make me tremble<sup>58</sup> o[n my hands and knees. 11 And] he said to me, [“O Daniel, man gre]atly beloved, give heed to the wor[ds that] I speak to you, [and stand u]pright, for [now I have been sent to you.” While] he was spea[king t]his [word] to me, I stood up trem[bling]. 12 Then he] sai[d] to [me], “Do no[t be af]raid, Daniel, for fr[om] the first [da]y that you set your mind to understand and humbled yourself before your God, your words have been heard, and I have come for your [sa]ke.<sup>59</sup> 13 The princes<sup>60</sup> of the kingdom of Persia with[s]tood me for twenty-o[ne days; but Michael, one of] the chi[ef pr]inces, [came to help me, so I remained there with the ki]ngdom<sup>61</sup> of Persia, 14 and [came] to make you understand [what is to befall your people in the lat]ter days. For the vision is for day[s] yet to come.”

■ During Daniel’s vision described in Chapter 10, the traditional Masoretic Text tells us in verse 16 that one in the likeness of the sons of men (i.e., one in human form) touched Daniel’s lips. The Septuagint, however, says that something in the likeness of a human hand touched his lips. This verse is partially preserved in three scrolls (4QDan<sup>e</sup>, 4QDan<sup>f</sup>, pap6QDan), but in a very fragmentary form, with the words between likeness and touched not preserved in any scroll. In pap6QDan, however, the verb touched is feminine, while in the Masoretic Text it is masculine; the subject in pap6QDan is most likely hand (with LXX), whereas in the Masoretic Text it is the one in human form.

15 When [he] had spok[en to me according to t]hese [words], I turned my face<sup>62</sup> toward the ground [and was dumb. 16 And behold], something in the likeness of [a human hand<sup>63</sup> tou]ched [my lips; then I] opened my mouth and [spoke. I said] to [him who stood before m]e, “O [my l]ord, [by reason of the vi]sion [pains have] come up[on me, and I retain no strength. 17 How can my lord’s servant speak with my lord? As for m]e, now no [strength remai]ns [in me], and no breath is [left in me].”

[18 Again one having the appearance of a man touched me and st]rengthened me. 19 And he said, “O man greatly beloved, fe[a]r not, peace be with you; [be strong and of good courage.” And when he spoke to me, I was strengthened and said], “Speak, my lord,<sup>64</sup> for you have strengthened me.” 20 Then he asked, “Do you know [why I have come to you? But now I must go back to fight against the prince of Persia; and when I leave, the prince of Greece will come. 21 But I will tell you what is inscribed in the book of truth: there is none who contends by my side against these except Michael, your prince].

11[1 And as for me], in the first year of Darius the Mede, I took my stand<sup>65</sup> to confirm and strengthen him. 2 “And now I will show you the truth. Behold, three more kings shall arise in Persia; and a fourth shall be far wealthier than all of them; and [when] he has become powerful through his riches, [he] shall stir everyone up against the kingdom of [Greece]. ▲

[11 “Then the king of the south, moved with anger, shall come out and fight against the king of the north; and he shall raise a great multitude, but it shall be given into his hand. 12 And when the multitude is taken, his heart shall be exalted, and he shall cast down tens of thousands, but he shall not triumph. 13 For the king of the north shall again raise] an army, [gre]ater th[an the former one; and after some years he shall come on with] a great [army] and [abundant] suppl[ies].

14 [“In] those [times] many shall resist [the king of the south; and the men of violence among your own people] shall assert themselves in order to fulfill [the visi]on; [but they shall fail. 15 Then] the king of the north arrives and throws up siegeworks, and captures a well-fortified city. [And the fo]rces of the s[o]uth sh[all] not stand, or even his elite troops, for there shall be no strength to stand. 16 But the one who comes<sup>66</sup> against [him] shall do according to his own will, and no[n]e shall [st]and before him; and he shall sta[nd] in the glorious land, and all of it shall be in his power.<sup>67</sup> 17 He shall set his understanding<sup>68</sup> to come with the strength of his entire kingdom, and he shall bring terms of peace; he will<sup>69</sup> perform them. He shall give him the daugh[ter of] men<sup>70</sup> in order to destroy it;<sup>71</sup> but it shall not stand and [will] not be to his advantage. ▲

[25 “And he shall stir up his power and his courage against the king of the south with a great army; and the king of the south shall wage war with an exceedingly great and mighty army; but he shall not stand, for pl]ots [shall be devised against him]. 26 Even [those who eat his rich food shall be his undoing; his army] shall be swept away, [and] many fa[ll] down slain. 27 [And as for the two kings, their minds] shall be bent on mischief; [they shall speak] lies at the same table, [but to no avail; for the end is yet to be] at the [time] app[oin]ted. 28 [And he shall return to his land with great substance, but his heart shall be set] agai[nst] the holy covenant. And he shall take action, [and return to his own land].

[29 “At the appointed time he shall come again] into the south; but it sh[all] not [be this time as it was before. 30 For ships of Kittim shall come against him, and he shall loose heart and retreat, and shall turn back and be enraged and take action against the holy covenant. He shall turn back and concentrate on those who forsake the holy covenant. 31 Forces from him shall appear and profane the temple and fortress, and shall do away with the continual burnt offering; and they shall set up the abomination that makes desolate. 32 He shall seduce with flattery those who violate the covenant; but the people who know their God shall stand firm and take action].

[33 “And those among the people who are wise shall make many understand though they shall fall by sword and] flame, and<sup>72</sup> [by captivity and plunder, for some days. 34 When they fall, they shall receive a little help. And] ma[ny shall join themselves to] them [with flattery; 35 and some of those who are wise shall fall, in order to refine and to cleanse them and to make them white], until the time of [the end, for there is yet an interval until the appointed time].

[36 “And the king shall do according to his will; he shall exalt himself and magnify himself] above every [god, and shall speak astonishing things against the God of gods. He shall prosper till the period of wrath is accomplished; for what is determined must take place. 37 He shall have no regard for the gods of his ancestors, or to the one beloved by women; he shall not have regard for any other god, for he shall magnify himself above all]. 38 He shall honor [the god of fortresses instead of these; a god whom his ancestors never knew he shall honor with gold and silver, with precio]us [stones] and with co[stly gifts. 39 He shall deal with the strongest fortresses by the help of an alien god; those who acknowledge him he shall magnify with honor. He shall make them rulers over many and shall divide the land for a price].” ▲

OTHER BOOKS

PSALMS

“Happy are those who do not follow the advice of the wicked, . . . but their delight is in the law of the Lord.” Thus begins the book of Psalms, a collection of hymns and prayers composed over the course of much of Israel’s history. Our English title comes from a Greek word meaning “song,” but the Hebrew title, Tehillim, means “Songs of Praise.” Among all the books of the Bible, the Psalms are most numerous in the Dead Sea Scrolls, which indicates their immense popularity at Qumran. But the form of the Psalter in these most ancient manuscripts is diverse and fascinating. Up to Psalm 89 or so, the scrolls contain material very much in the order used by Jews and Christians today, although there are a few variations. But from Psalm 91 onward, many of the Psalms scrolls differ radically from the Psalter as we know it. The variations involved are of two main types: variations in arrangement (that is, a different order of Psalms) and variations in content (that is, the inclusion of compositions not found in the traditional book of Psalms. Some of these were previously known, and others completely unknown, before the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls).

Description and Contents of the Psalms Scrolls

There are no less than forty Psalms scrolls or manuscripts that incorporate Psalms, ranging in date from the mid-second century BCE<sup>a</sup> to about 50–68 CE.<sup>b</sup> Thirty-seven were found at Qumran: three in Cave 1, one each in the minor Caves 2, 3, 5, 6, and 8, twenty-three in Cave 4, and six in Cave 11. Three more scrolls were discovered farther south along the Dead Sea: two at Masada and one at Nah.al H.ever. Although none is complete, several of these manuscripts are very substantial—notably, the Great Psalms Scroll (11QPs<sup>a</sup>), followed by 4QPs<sup>a</sup>, 5/6H.evPs, 4QPs<sup>b</sup>, 4QPs<sup>c</sup>, and 4QPs<sup>e</sup>.

Of the 150 Psalms found in the Masoretic Psalter, 126 are preserved in the forty Psalms scrolls and a few other relevant manuscripts such as the pesharim. The remaining twenty-four Psalms were most likely included but have since been lost due to deterioration and damage. Of Psalms 1 through 89, nineteen no longer survive,<sup>c</sup> but of Psalms 90 to 150 only five are not represented,<sup>d</sup> since the beginnings of scrolls are usually on the outside and are thus more prone to deterioration. In addition to these Psalms that are found in modern Bibles, at least fifteen “apocryphal” Psalms or similar compositions are also distributed among four manuscripts.<sup>e</sup> Six of these compositions were previously familiar to scholars,<sup>f</sup> but the other nine were completely unknown prior to the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls.<sup>g</sup> The presence of these other Psalms or compositions in some of the Psalms scrolls alerts us to the fact that the “Book of Psalms” at Qumran should not automatically be equated with the Psalter that appears in our Bibles.

Different Psalters in the Scrolls and in This Translation

What form or forms of the Psalter are found in these forty manuscripts? Before answering this question, it would be helpful to describe the forms of this book that were known prior to the discovery of the scrolls. The Psalter used by Jews and that used by most Christians today are very much the same, although Hebrew and English Bibles contain minor differences in verse numbering. More significantly, the Greek Bible (Septuagint) used by the early Church—the text that still serves as the Old Testament of the Greek Orthodox Church—contains a Psalter that differs in two respects from the one found in the Masoretic Text. The first type of variation is in arrangement,<sup>h</sup> and the second is in content.<sup>i</sup> The existence of Psalters with different arrangements or contents is highly significant for our understanding of the book of Psalms, since many scholars today are focusing on the “shape” of the Psalter and the implications of the order of the Psalms as well as their contents.

As already mentioned, for Psalms 1 through 89 or so, the Psalms scrolls contain material that for the most part reflects the sequence familiar to Jews and Christians today. However, there are two important differences: in two scrolls<sup>j</sup> Psalm 31 is followed directly by 33—we cannot be sure that Psalm 32 was ever part of these scrolls—and in one scroll<sup>k</sup> Psalm 38 is followed directly by 71. Except for these two important variations, our translation of Psalms 1 through 89 is presented in the order of the Masoretic Text.

But for Psalms 91 onward—90 is not preserved—both the arrangement and contents of many Psalms scrolls are very different from what we had known previously. These variations are so numerous and radical that it is necessary to provide a table at the end of this introduction to the Psalms in order to assist readers in locating specific Psalms (see Table 2). The alternative would have been to translate Psalms 91 onward in the order of the Masoretic Psalter. While this course might be more convenient to the reader, it would also be misleading, since virtually none of the Psalms scrolls contains that arrangement. For this later part of the Psalter, five different arrangements are evident in the Psalms scrolls.

- The most prominent arrangement—that found in 11QPs<sup>a</sup> (the largest Psalms scroll), 4QPs<sup>e</sup>, and 11QPs<sup>b</sup>—can be termed the “11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter.” It should be emphasized here that this term denotes Psalms 1 through 89 plus the arrangement found in 11QPs<sup>a</sup>, not only that of 11QPs<sup>a</sup>. As far as possible, our English translation follows this order for the second part of this Psalter, which starts with Psalm 101 and ends with Psalm 151 (see Table 1). While the Septuagint Psalter also ends with this Psalm, it must be pointed out that the overall structure of the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter differs substantially from the Greek one.
- The second arrangement—the Psalter used by Jews and most Christians today—is conveniently termed the “MT-150 Psalter,” since the form of the Psalter found in the Masoretic Text contains 150 Psalms. It is most surprising to find that none of the Psalms scrolls from Qumran unambiguously confirms the arrangement of this Psalter; for such a sequence, we have to turn to a scroll from Masada (MasPs<sup>b</sup>, which ends with Psalm 150).
- The other three arrangements are much smaller (see Table 1). One involves the Four Psalms Against Demons in 11QPsAp<sup>a</sup>, which are placed immediately after Psalm 89 in our translation. Another arrangement is found in 4QPs<sup>b</sup>, which preserves material from Psalms 91 through 118—but with Psalm 103 followed directly by 112 (thus not including Psalms 92 to 111). The final arrangement is in 4QPs<sup>f</sup>, which contains Psalms 22, 107, and 109, followed by three apocryphal Psalms.<sup>1</sup> Since Psalms 22 and 109 and the Apostrophe to Zion occur in other scrolls in combination with other compositions, the translation does not present them in the order found in 4QPs<sup>f</sup>. However, the remaining three pieces (Psalm 107, the Eschatological Hymn, and the Apostrophe to Judah) are not found in any other Psalms scrolls, so these are grouped together after Psalm 151B under the heading “An Unusual Collection from Cave 4.”

New Readings and the Status of the Psalter at Qumran

Several interesting readings are also to be found in the Psalms scrolls. One of these is in Psalm 145, which is missing a verse in the Masoretic Text. This is an acrostic Psalm—in other words, one with every verse beginning with a successive letter of the Hebrew alphabet. Although there are twenty-two letters in this alphabet, the Psalm contains only twenty-one verses: a verse beginning with the Hebrew letter nun should come between verse 13 (the mem verse) and verse 14 (the samek verse). 11QPs<sup>a</sup> is the only scroll that preserves Psalm 145; for verse 13 it contains not only the mem verse but the missing nun verse as well! This is an important example of how the Dead Sea Scrolls sometimes preserve material that has fallen out of the Masoretic Text during the process of transmission. This reading is so compelling that the nun verse has been included in many modern English Bibles, including the New Revised Standard Version, the New American Bible, the New International Version, and the Good News Bible.

What was the status of the Book of Psalms at Qumran? A text that was written at Qumran, 4QMMT, suggests that the Psalms form the most prominent component in the third part of the Jewish “canon,” which was actually still in the process of formation: “[And] we have wr[itten] to you that you should examine the book of Moses, and the words of the Prophets, and Davi[d] . . .”<sup>m</sup> A very similar statement is to be found in Luke 24:44, where Jesus says, “Everything must be fulfilled that is written about me in the Law of Moses, the Prophets, and the Psalms.” Another pertinent text is the War Scroll (4Q491), which specifically refers to the “book of Psalms.”<sup>n</sup> The scriptural status of the Psalter is also supported by the three pesharim on the Psalms;<sup>o</sup> by quoting verses from the Psalms and expounding on them, these ancient commentaries clearly affirm that their writers viewed the book of Psalms as Scripture.

It thus seems clear that the “book of Psalms” was viewed as Scripture at Qumran; but it is not easy to determine which specific form(s) of the Psalter were regarded as such. A passage from one of the compositions found in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter (“David’s Compositions”), is relevant in this regard: “And David, the son of Jesse, was wise, and a light like the light of the sun, and literate, . . . And the total (of his psalms and songs) was four thousand and fifty. All these he composed through prophecy which was given him from before the Most High.” Such language indicates that the Psalms of David, particularly those found in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter, were viewed as inspired Scripture among those who compiled and used this ancient collection of Psalms.

PSALMS 1 THROUGH 89

■ For Psalms 1 through 89 the scrolls almost always follow the order of the traditional Psalter, although not every composition is preserved. There are two important exceptions to this arrangement: Psalm 31 is followed directly by Psalm 33 in 4QPs<sup>a</sup> and 4QPs<sup>q</sup>, and Psalm 38 is followed directly by Psalm 71 in 4QPs<sup>a</sup>. The fact that our translation begins with Psalm 2 does not mean that the first psalm was not known at Qumran, since Psalm 1:1 is quoted in the Florilegium from Cave 4 (4Q174).

2<sup>1</sup> [Why do the nations conspire and the peoples plot in vain? 2 [The kings of the earth take their stand [and the rulers take counsel together, against the LORD and against his anointed, saying], 3 “Let us tear their bonds<sup>1</sup> asunder, [and cast their cords from us!” 4 He who sits in the heavens laughs]; the Lord<sup>2</sup> holds them in derision. 5 Then he [will speak to them in his wrath, and frighten them in his fury, as follows: 6 “But I have installed my king upon Zion, my holy mountain.” 7 I will indeed make known [the LORD’s decree: H]e said to me, “[You are] my [son; today I have begotten you. 8 Ask [of me], [and I will surely make [the nations your inheritance, and the very ends of the earth your possession].” ▲

5<sup>7</sup> [But as for me, in the abundance of your steadfast love I will come into your house; I will bow down toward your holy temple in reverence for] you. 8 O LORD, [lead me in your righteousness because of my enemies; make straight] your way [before me]. 9 There is nothing<sup>3</sup> reli[able] in their mouths; [their hearts are destruction. Their throats are open graves; they flatter [with their tongues].

10 Punish him,<sup>4</sup> O Go[d]; let them fall by [their own sche]mes. [Because of their many transgressions cast them out, for they have rebelled against you. 11 But] let all those who take refuge in you [rejoice]; let them forever shout [for joy. Spread your protection over them, so that those who love your name may rejoice in you. 12 For yo]u bless the righteous, O LORD; you surround [them] with favor as with a shield.<sup>5</sup>

60 [For the Di]rector: on stringed instruments, [set to “Sheminith.” A Psalm of David. 1 O LORD, do not rebu]ke me [in your anger], and do not pu[nish me] in your wrath. 2 [Have mercy upon me, O LORD; for I am faint; heal me, O LORD, for my bones are stressed. 3 My soul, too], is very frightened; [but as for you, Lord—how long]? ▲

7 12 [If one does not repent, God will sharpen his sword; he has bent his bow, and has made it ready. 13 He] has also prepared his deadly weapons, making his arrows burning shafts. 14 See how they labor with iniquity; they are pregnant with mischief, and bring forth [lies. 15 They make a pit and dig it out—but they fall into the hole that they have made. 16 Their mischief] returns upon their own heads, and their violence descends upon the crowns (of their heads). 17 I will [give thanks to the Lo]rd because of his righteousness, and sing praise to the name of [the LORD Most High].

8 0 For the Director: [set to “The Gittith.” A Psalm of David]. . . . 3 When I survey your heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and the stars that you have established, 4 [what are human beings, that you take notice of them—mere mortals that you care about] them? 5 Yet you have made them only slightly lower than God himself, and you crown them with glory and honor! 6 You give them dominion over the works of your hands; you have put everything under their feet: 7 [all flocks and herds, and also the wild animals, 8 the birds of the sky, and the fish of the se]a, whatever travels along the paths of the seas. 9 O LORD, our Lord—how ma[jestic is your name in all] the earth!

9 2<sup>6</sup> [Let me be glad and rejoice in you; let me sing praise to your name], O Mo[st High].

3 When [my] enemies [turn back, they stumble and perish before you. 4 For you have up]held my rights and my case, and you have sat<sup>z</sup> on your throne; you have passed<sup>8</sup> [right]eous judgment. 5 [You have rebuked the nations, you have destroyed the wicked; you have blotted out their name] forever and ever. 6 [Desolation] has finish[ed off] the enemy for[ever. You have uprooted their cities—even the memory of them has perished! 7 But the LORD sits enthroned fore]ver, [he has established his throne for judgment]. . . . 11 Sing praises to the LORD who dwells in Zion; proclaim his deeds among the peoples. 12 For the one who avenges blood is mindful of them; he does not forget the cry of the afflicted.

13 Have mercy [upon me, O LORD! Consider what I suffer from those who hate me—you who lifts me up from the gates of death— 14 so that I may recount all your praises and, in the ga]tes of daughter Zion, rejoice in your deliverance. 15 The nations have sunk down in the pit that they dug; in the net that they hid their own feet are caught. 16 The LORD has made himself known, (for) he has executed judgment. The wicked are snared in the work of their own hands. Higgaion. Selah.

17 The wicked [will return to Sheol, yes all the nations] that forget God. 18 For the needy will not always be forgotten, nor will the hope of the poor perish forever. 19 Arise, [O LORD, do not let mortals triumph; let the nations] be judged before you. 20 Strike [them with fear, O LORD; let the nations know that they are only human]. Selah.

10 6 He thinks [in his heart, “I will not be moved; throughout all generations I will not experience mis]fortune.” [7 His mouth is filled with cursing and lies and violence; under his tongue is trouble and iniquity]. 8 He lies in ambush near the villages; in hiding-places he murders the innocent. His eyes stealthily watch for his unfortunate victims. 9 He lurks in secret like a lion in its den; he lurks to catch the poor, then he catches the poor, when he draws them into his net. ▲

3 Let me call upon<sup>30</sup> the LORD, who is wor[thy to be praised], and I am sa[ved] from my enemies. 4 [The cords of death entangled me, the torrents of perdition] struck me with fear. 5 The cords of Sheol coiled around me; the snares of death [confronted me. 6 In my distress I cal]led upon the LORD; I cried to my God for help. [He heard my voice from his temple, and my cry before him] reached his ears.

7 Then [the earth] reeled and quaked, [and the foundations of the mountains] shook [and trembled] because he was angry. 8 Smoke went [up from] his nos[trils, and consuming fire from his mouth; burning coals blazed forth from him. 9 Then he bo]wed the heavens and came down; thick dark[ness was un]der his feet. 10 [He rode upon a cherub and flew; he soared] on the wings of the wind. 11 [He made darkness his covering around him], his canopy thick clouds [in]tensely dark<sup>31</sup> with water. 12 [Out of the brightness before him] his thick clouds broke through, [with hailstones and bolts of lightning]. 13 The LORD [also thundered in the he]avens, [and the Most High uttered his voice, (with) hailstones and bol]ts of lightning. [14 And he sent out his arrows, and scattered them; he flashed forth lightnings, and routed them. 15 Then the channels of waters appeared], and the foundatio[ns<sup>32</sup> of the world] were laid bare [at your rebuke, O LORD], at the blast of brea[th from your nostrils].

16 [He reached from on high] and he took me;<sup>33</sup> he drew me out [of mighty waters. 17 He delivered me from my strong enemy], and from [those who hated me; for they were too strong for me]. 18 They confronted me in the day of my disaster, but the LORD was my support. 19 He brought me out into a spacious place; he rescued me because he delighted in me.

20 The LORD has dealt with me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands he has rewarded me. 21 For I have kept the ways of the LORD, and have not done evil (by turning away) from my God. 22 For all his ordinances were before me, and I did not turn away his statutes from me. 23 I have been blameless before him, and have kept myself from sin. 24 Therefore the LORD has recompensed me according to my righteousness, according to the cleanness of my hands in his sight.

25 With the faithful you show yourself faithful; with the blameless you show yourself blameless; 26 with the pure you show yourself pure; and with the crooked you show yourself crafty. 27 For you save a humble people, but will bring low those whose eyes are haughty. 28 For it is you who lights my lamp, O LORD; my God lights up my darkness. 29 For with you I can advance against a troop, and with my God I can scale a wall.

30 This God—his way is perfect; the promise of the LORD proves true; he is a shield for all who take refuge in him. 31 For who is God besides the LORD? And who is a rock except our God? 32 This God—who has armed me with strength and has made my way perfect. 33 He has made my feet like the feet of a deer, and has placed me on the heights. 34 He trains my hands for battle, so that my arms can bend a bow of bronze. 35 And you have given me the shield of your salvation, and your right hand has supported me; your generous help<sup>34</sup> has made me great. [36 You gave me a wide place for my steps under me, and my ankles did not buckle.]

37 I pursued my enemies and overtook them, and did not turn back till they were destroyed. 38 I struck them down so that they were not able to rise; they fell beneath my feet. 39 For you armed me with strength for the battle; you made my assailants sink under me. 40 And you made my enemies turn their backs to me, and I destroyed those who hated me. 41 They cried for help, but there was no one to save them—to the LORD, but he did not answer them. 42 I beat them fine, like dust before the wind; I poured them out like mud in the streets. ▲

■ Psalm 22 is a favorite among Christians since it is often linked in the New Testament with the suffering and death of Jesus. A well-known and controversial reading is found in verse 16, where the Masoretic Text reads “Like a lion are my hands and feet,” whereas the Septuagint has “They have pierced my hands and feet.” Among the scrolls the reading in question is found only in the Psalms scroll found at Nah.al H.ever (abbreviated 5/6H.evPs), which reads “They have pierced my hands and my feet”!

3 But you are the [holy one], who inhabits the praises of Israel. 4 Our ancestors put their trust in you; they trusted; you delivered them.<sup>37</sup> 5 They cried to you, and were saved; they trusted in you, and were not put to shame. 6 But [as for me], I am a worm, and not human, scorned by others and despised by the people. 7 All who see me [ridicule me; they make faces at me] and shake their heads: 8 “Commit yourself to the LORD! Let him deliver—let him rescue him, since he delights in him!” ▲

Be a rock of refuge for me, a strong fortress to save me. 3 Because you are my rock and my fortress, for your name's sake lead me and guide me. 4 Free [me from the trap that has been secretly laid for me, for you are my refuge. 5 Into your hands I commit my sp]irit; you have redeemed me, O LORD, God of truth.

6 I hate those who ho[n]or worthless idols—as for me, I trust in the LORD. 7 I will be glad and rejoice in your steadfast love, for you have seen my afflic]tion and have understood the anguish of my soul. 8 You have not abandoned me to the power of the enemy, but have set my feet in a spacious place. 9 Have mercy upon me, O LORD, for I am in distress; my eyes grow weak with grief, as do my soul and body. 10 For my life is consumed with sorrow and my years with sighing; my strength fails because of my suffering, and my bones waste away. 11 Because of [all my ene]mies I have become a reproach, especially to my neighbors, an object of dread to my acquaintances—people who see me in the street [run away from] me. 12 I have passed out of mind like one who is dead; I have become like broken pottery. 13 For I hear the slander of many—there is terror all around!—as they conspire against me and plot to take my life.

14 But [for my part] I trust in you, O LORD; I say, “You are [my God].” 15 My times are in your hands; deliver me from the power of my enemies and my persecutors. 16 Let your face shine upon your servant; save me in your unfailing love. 17 LORD, [do not let me] be put to shame, for I have called out to you; but let the wicked be put to shame, and let them lie silent in Sheol. 18 Let the lying lips be dumb—those which speak arrogantly against the righteous, with pride and contempt.

19 How vast is your goodness, which you have stored up for those who fear you, which you bestow on those who take refuge in you in full sight of everyone! 20 In the secret place of your presence you hide them from human plots; under your shelter you keep them safe from accusing tongues.

21 May the LORD be blessed, for he has wonderfully shown his steadfast love to me when I was in a besieged city. 22 [But as for me, I said in my alarm, “I am cut off from your si]ght.” [Yet you heard my supplications when I cried out to you for help. 23 Love the LORD, all] his s[aints! ■ In 4QPs<sup>a</sup>, Psalm 38 is followed by Psalm 71, not by Psalm 39 as in the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint. At first glance this seems strange, but there is in fact a good explanation. Further study shows that there are only two Psalms—38 and 70—whose titles designate them “for the memorial offering.” It appears that Psalm 71 was meant to follow a Psalm for the memorial offering; in the Masoretic Text this Psalm is 70, while in 4QPs<sup>a</sup> it is 38. Both combinations are thus equally logical and valid.

5 [Why should I be] afraid in times of trouble, when the wickedness of my persecutors surrounds me— 6 [those who trust in] their wealth and boast of their [great riches? 7 Truly, no one can redeem another person's life], or give to God a ransom for him, 8 [for the ransom for their life is [costly]—he will be ill<sup>95</sup> forever, 9 so that he should live on forever and<sup>96</sup> never [see decay]. 10 But he will see that even wise people die; fools and senseless people perish [together] and leave their wealth to others. 11 [Their minds are on] their houses forever, and their dwelling-places for all generations, [although they had named] lands after [them]selves.

12 But humans with their riches cannot understand<sup>97</sup>; [they are like the animals that perish. 13 Such is the fate of the overconfident, [and of their followers who approve of their sayings]. 16 [But to the wicked God says], “What right do you have to recite [my statutes, or to take my covenant on your lips]? 17 For you hate (my) instruc[tion, and you cast my words behind you]. 18 When you see thieves,<sup>98</sup> you connive with them, and you throw in [your lot] with adulterers. 19 You let loose your mouth for evil, and your tongue devises deceit. 20 You sit and speak against your neighbor, and even slan[der] your own mother’s child. 21 These are the things you have done, and I kept quiet—you thought I was just like you. But now I rebu[ke you], and line up the evidence before you.

22 “So think about this, [you who] forget God, or [I will te]ar you to pieces—with no one to rescue you. 23 Those who offer thanksgiving as a sacrifice honor me, and I will show the salvation of God to those who put their ways in order.”

51 0 For the Director: a Psalm of David, when the prophet Nathan came to him, after he had committed adultery [with] Bathsheba. 1 Have mercy upon me, O God, according to your steadfast love. ## FOUR PSALMS AGAINST DEMONS

■ One of the most interesting Psalms scrolls was found in Cave 11 at Qumran. Known as 11QApocryphal Psalms (or 11QPsAp<sup>a</sup> or 11QApPs), this manuscript is dated about 50–70 CE and contains four Psalms for use in exorcisms against demons. Many scholars believe these to be the Four Songs for Playing over the Stricken that are mentioned in David’s Compositions, which is part of the large Psalms scroll from Cave 11 (11QPs<sup>a</sup> col. 16:9–10). The first three of these Psalms were unknown until the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls, but the fourth is found in modern Bibles as Psalm 91.

The First Exorcism Psalm: On Expelling Demons

Col. 1: 1 [ . . . 2 . . . ] and the one who weeps for him 3 [ . . . ] the curse 4 [ . . . ] by the LORD 5 [ . . . ] dragon 6 [ . . . ] the ear[th . . . 7 . . . ] exor[cis]ing [ . . . 8 . . . ] to [ . . . 9 . . . ] this [ . . . 10 . . . ] to the demon [ . . . 11 . . . ] he will dwe[ll. . . ]

The Second Exorcism Psalm: Trusting in the Lord for Protection

■ This Psalm, which is apparently attributed to Solomon, invokes the God of creation for protection against evil powers. In column 3 God’s power is highlighted from Scripture, and in column 4 the Psalmist calls on angelic powers to combat demonic forces. A conclusion to this Psalm appears in the first three lines of column 5.

Col. 2: 1–2 [ . . . of] Solomon. He will invo[ke . . . 3 . . . the spi]rits and the demons [ . . . 4 . . . ] These are [the de]mons. And the p[rin]ce of enmi]ty [ . . . 5 . . . I]srael [ . . . ] the a[byss . . . 6 . . . ] the gre[at . . . 7 . . . ] his people [ . . . ] healing 8 [ . . . ] leans [upon] your name, and calls [ . . . 9 . . . He says to Is]rael, “Hold fast 10 [to the LORD, . . . who made] the heavens [11 and the earth, and all that is in them, w]ho separated [12 light from darkness . . .]”

Col. 3: 1 [ . . . ] the depth[s] 2 the earth and [ . . . ] the earth. Who m[ade these signs] 3 and won[ders on the] earth? The LORD, it is he [who] 4 made the[se through] his [power], who summons all [his] an[gels] 5 [and] all the [holy] offspring to stand before [him, . . . 6 all the heavens and [all] the earth [ . . . ] who committed sin against 7 [all human]ity, and [evil] against all people. But] they know 8 his [wonder]ful [ . . . ] which they do not [ . . . ]. If they do not 9 [desist] out of fear of the LORD from [ . . . and] from killing the soul of 10 [ . . . ] the LORD, and [they] will fear that great [spell]. 11 “One of you [puts to flight] a thousand.”<sup>163</sup> . . . ] servants of the Lord . . . 12 . . . great and [ . . . ]

Col. 4: 1 [ . . . and] great is [ . . . ] adjuring [you . . . ] 2 and the great [ . . . ] the mighty and [ . . . ] 3 all the earth [ . . . ] the heavens and [ . . . ] 4 May the LORD smite you with a [mighty blow] in order to destroy you [ . . . ], 5 and in his fierce wrath [may he send] against you a powerful angel [ to carry out] 6 his [entire command], who [will show no] mercy to you, who . . . 7 . . . ] against all these who [will send] you [down] into the great abyss 8 [and to] deepest [Sheol], and who [ . . . , and there] you shall lie, and darkness 9 [ . . . ] very much [ . . . ]. [No longer] on the earth 10 [ . . . ] forever and [ . . . ] by the curse of destruction<sup>164</sup> . . . 11 . . . ] the fierce anger of the LORD . . . in] darkness for all 12 . . . ] affliction [ . . . ] your gift [ . . . ]

Col. 5: 1 [ . . . ] 2 which [ . . . ] and those possessed by [demons . . . ] 3 those crushed [by . . . . Raphael has healed [them. Amen, Amen, Selah].

The Third Exorcism Psalm: The Lord Has Power to Strike Down Demons

■ This Psalm, which is attributed to David, is uttered against a demon. The reference to this demon’s horns in line 7 is particularly interesting in view of popular depictions of the devil as having horns.

Col. 5: 4 A Psalm of David. Against . . . An incantation in the name of the Lord. To be invoked at any time 5 to the heavens. For] he will come to you at night], and you will [say] to him: 6 “Who are you? [Withdraw from] humanity and from the offspring of the holy ones! For your appearance is one of 7 [vanity], and your horns are horns of illusion. You are darkness, not light, 8 [wicked]ness, not righteousness [ . . . ] the commander of the army, the LORD, [will bring] you [down 9 into] deepest [Sheol], [ . . . the] two bronze gates through which no 10 light [can enter], and [the] sun [will] not [shine for you] that rises 11 upon the] righteous to [ . . .” And] then you will say, [“. . . 12 . . . the righteous, to come [ . . . ] for a demon to] harm him, [

... 13 ... of truth from [ ... because] he has [righteousness [ ... 14 ... ] and ...”

The Fourth Exorcism Psalm: Psalm 91

■ Psalm 91 has brought comfort and hope to Jews and Christians over the centuries. Not only does it evoke God’s help and protection against physical and human dangers, this Psalm has been connected with exorcisms of demonic forces in both rabbinic and Christian traditions.

<sup>165</sup>0 [Of David.<sup>166</sup> 1 The one who dwells] in the shelter [of the Most High will rest in the shadow of] the Almighty; 2 who says<sup>167</sup> [of the LORD, “My refuge] and [my] fortress, [my God] is the constant one<sup>168</sup> in whom [I can trust.” 3 For h]e will deliver you from [the fow]ler’s [snare] and from the dea[dly] pestilence. 4 He will cover [you with] his feathers, and under his w[ings] you will rest,<sup>169</sup> [his] faithfulness [upo]n you<sup>170</sup> is a shield and his truth a buckler. Selah.<sup>171</sup> 5 You will not fear the terror of night, nor the arrow that flies by day; 6 nor the plague that destroys at [no]on, nor the pestilence that stalks [in dark]ness.<sup>172</sup>

7 A thousand may fa[ll] at your side, ten th[ousand at] your right [hand]—but it will n[ot] strike [you].<sup>173</sup> 8 [You will] merely [look on] with your eyes<sup>174</sup> [and se]e<sup>175</sup> the recompense<sup>176</sup> of the wick[ed]. 9 For you have invo]ked [your] shel[ter ... ] his delight.<sup>177</sup> 10 You will se[e no harm,<sup>178</sup> and] no [disaster] will strike<sup>179</sup> in your t[en]ts.<sup>180</sup>

11 Fo[r] he will give orders to his angels concerning you, to gu[ard you in all] your [ways]. 12 In their hands [they will lift] you [up], so that [you do] not [strike your] foot [against a st]one. 13 [You will tr]ead [on] the cobra [and the viper];<sup>181</sup> you will trample underfo[ot the strong young lion] and the serpent. 14 [Because you de]light [in the LORD he wi]ll [rescue you] and [make you secure 16b and he will sh]ow you [his vic]tory.<sup>182</sup> Selah.<sup>183</sup> Then they will answer “Amen, Amen.”<sup>184</sup> Selah.<sup>185</sup>

■ In the 11QApocryphal Psalms scroll, Psalm 91 is followed by a fair amount of blank leather, which is very helpful for assessing collections of Psalms such as this one. The blank leather indicates that the collection in this manuscript actually ended with Psalm 91, which is also confirmed by the unusual ending to the Psalm. For the end of another important collection indicated by blank leather, see the comment after Psalm 151 toward the end of our Psalms translation.

92

■ Until Psalm 101, which marks the beginning of 11QPs<sup>a</sup> (the largest of all the Psalms scrolls), the translation relies especially on 4QPs<sup>b</sup>. This manuscript, dating to the second half of the first century CE, preserves a great deal of material from Psalms 91 through 118.

[1 It is good to give thanks to the LORD, to sing praises to your name, O Most High, . . . . 3 to the music of the lu[te and the lyre], (and) to the melody of the harp. 4 For you, O LORD, have made me glad [by your deeds];<sup>186</sup> people sing for joy<sup>187</sup> [at the w]ork<sup>188</sup> of your hands. 5 How great are your deeds, O Lo[rd]! [Your] thoughts are [ver]y profound. 6 The person who is senseless and knows nothing,<sup>189</sup> [and] fools cannot understand this: 7 that [although] the wicked spring up like grass, [and although all evildoers flourish, they are doomed to destruction forever]. ▲

11 [My eyes have seen the defeat of my enemies; my ear] has heard<sup>190</sup> [the rout of my ev]il [assailants. 12 The righteous will flourish like a palm tree, (and) will grow] like a cedar in Lebanon. 13 [They are] pl[anted in the] house of the L[o]rd; they will flourish in the courts of our God. 14 They will still bear fruit in ripe old age,<sup>191</sup> and they will stay<sup>192</sup> [healthy] and green. ▲

■ Psalm 93, which is a hymn of praise, follows Psalm 92 in 4QPs<sup>b</sup>, the Masoretic Text, and the Septuagint. In the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter, however, it occurs in a completely different position, following the Apostrophe to Zion. This order is also followed in our translation; see Tables 1 and 2 in the introduction to the Psalms.

941 O LORD, [you God of vengeance, you God of vengeance]—shine forth!
2 [Rise up, O judge] of the earth; [pay back t]o the proud [what they deserve]!
3 [How long will the wick]ed, O LORD, [how long will the wick]ed exu[lt]?
4 [They pour out arro]gant [words; all the evildoers keep boasting]. ▲

8 [Pay attention, you dullest] among the people; [and you fools—when will you ha]ve any sense? 9 [Does the one who implanted the ear no]t hear? [Does the one who formed the eye no]t see? 10 The one who dis[ciplines nations], who teach[es knowledge to humans, does he not punish]? 11 The LORD understands human thoughts, that they are futile. 12 Blessed is the one whom you discipline, O LORD, and whom you teach from your law, 13 granting him respite from the days of trouble, until a pit is [du]g for the wicked. 14 For [the LORD] will not [aban]don his people; [he will not forsake his heritage, 15 for justice will return to righteousness, and all the upright in heart will follow it. 16 W]ho will rise up [for me against the ev]ildoer[s? W]ho will stand up [for me against the wo]rkers of ini[qui]ty? 17 If the LORD had not been [my] help, [my s]oul would soon have lived in the land of death. 18 When I said, “[My] foot is slipping,” your steadfast love, O L[or]d, supported [me]. ▲

21 They fa[ll upon the righteous], and con[demn the innocent to death]. 22 But [the LORD has be]come [my fortress, and my God the rock of my refuge]. ▲

953 [For the LORD is a great God, and a great King above all go]ds. 4 [In] his [hand are the depths of the earth, and the mountain peaks belong to him]. 5 The sea is h[is], for he [made it, and his hands formed] the dry land.<sup>193</sup> 6 [O come, let us worship and bow do]wn, let us kneel bef[ore the Lor]d our Maker. 7 Fo[r he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture and the flock under his care. Today, if] you [hear] his voice, [8 do not harden your hearts, as at Meribah, . . . . 11 Therefore in my anger I swore an oath, “They will never enter] my rest.”

961 [Sing to the Lor]d a new song; [sing to the LORD, all the earth. 2 Sing to the LORD, bless his name; proclaim his salvation from da]y to da[y]. ▲

THE GREAT PSALMS SCROLL (ORIGINAL CONTENTS)

■ The largest and most important of the Psalms scrolls is 11QPs<sup>a</sup>, which was copied about 30–50 CE. Although the beginning of this manuscript is fragmentary, it almost certainly began with Psalm 101. The Psalter found in this scroll—parts of which are also preserved in 4QPs<sup>c</sup> and 11QPs<sup>b</sup>—is termed the “11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter” (as opposed to the “MT-150 Psalter,” which is found in modern Jewish and Christian Bibles). The 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter contains virtually all of Psalms 1 through 89 in that order, followed by an arrangement that differs greatly from Psalms 90 through 150 as found in our Bibles. As noted in the introduction to the Psalms, this variation is both in arrangement (that is, order of Psalms) and in contents (the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter containing ten compositions not found in the MT-150 Psalter). For Psalm 101 through Psalm 151, this section of The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible presents the Psalms not in the traditional order but in the order of the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter, since that Psalter is the main and most prominent edition of the book of Psalms among the scrolls. (See Table 1 in the introduction).

1010 [Of David]. 1 I will sing of [steadfast love and jus]tice; to you, [O Lo]rd, will I sing praise. 2 [I will pay attention to the way that is blameless. Wh]en will you come for me?<sup>196</sup> I will wal[k in my house] with integrity of heart. 3 [I will set before my] eyes anything that is [base. I hate the work of those who fall away; it shall not cling to m]e. 4 [A perverse] heart [shall be far from me; I will know nothing of evil. 5 Whoever secretly slanders his neighbor, I will destroy; whoever has a haughty look] and an arrogant he[art, I will not tolerate. 6 I will look with favor on the fai]thful [in the land, so that they may d]well with me; whoever [walks in the way that is blameless shall mi]nister to me. 7 [No one who practices deceit shall dwell] in my house; no [one who utters falsehood shall continue in] my presence. 8 Morning by morning I will [destroy all the wicked in the land, cutting] off all [evil]do[ers from the city] of the LORD.

102 [0 A Prayer] of one afflicted, when he is fai[nt and pours out his complaint before the LORD]. 1 Hear my pray[er, O LORD, and let my cry come to you]. . . . 4 My heart is [blighted and withe]red [like grass, for I even forget my food to e]at.<sup>197</sup> ▲

9 For I eat ashes as my food, and mingle my drink with tears 10 [because of your indignation] and anger; [for you have lifted] me [up], and have cast me aside. 11 [My days are like an ev]ening [shadow, and I] wither away [like grass].

12 [But you, O LORD], sit enthroned forever, and your renown endures through all gene[rations]. 13 You will rise up and have com[pass]ion on Zion, fo[r it is now ti]me to show favor to her—yes, the appointed time has come. 14 For your ser[vants] hold dear [her sto]nes, and have pity on her very dust. 15 The nations<sup>198</sup> will fear the name of the LORD, and all the kings of earth<sup>199</sup> his glory.<sup>200</sup> 16 [For] the LORD will rebuild Zion; he will appear in glory.<sup>201</sup> 17 He will regard the worm<sup>202</sup> of the destitute, and will not despise their prayer. 18 Let this be recorded for a future generation, so that a people yet to be born may praise the LORD, 19 that he looked down from his ho[ly] dwelling.<sup>203</sup> From heaven the LORD looked at the earth,<sup>204</sup> 20 to hear the groans of [the prisoners], to set free those who were doomed to die; 21 so that people may declare in Zi[on] the name of the LORD, and his] pra[ise in Jerusa]lem, 22 when the peoples [and the kingdoms] gather together [to wor]ship the LORD.

23 For<sup>205</sup> he has weakened my strength<sup>206</sup> in midcourse. “He shortened my days,” I say, 24 “O my God.<sup>207</sup> Do not take me away in the midst of my days—you whose years endure throughout all generations!” 25 Long ago the earth was founded,<sup>208</sup> and the heavens are the works<sup>209</sup> of your hands. 26 They will perish, but you will endure, and they will all wear out like a garment. And<sup>210</sup> like clothing you change them, and they pass away; 27 but you remain the same, and your years will never end. 28 The children [of your servants will dwell secure], and [their offspring] [will be established before you, from generation] to generation."<sup>211</sup>

103[0 Of David]. 1 Bless the LORD, O my soul, [and all that is within] me, bless his holy name. 2 [Bless] the LORD, [O my soul, and do not] forget all his benefits— 3 who forgives all your iniquity, and heals<sup>212</sup> all your diseases, 4 who redeems your life from the Pit, who crowns you with steadfast love and mercy, 5 who satisfies your years with good things, so that your youth is renewed [like the eagle's].

6 The LORD works vindication and justice for all who are oppressed. [7 He made known his ways to Moses, his acts to the people of Israel. 8 The LORD is merciful and gracious, slow to anger and abounding in steadfast love. 9 [He will not] [always accuse, nor] [will he harbor his anger] for[ever]. 10 He does not treat us according to our sins, nor [repay] us [according to] our ini[quities]. 11 For as hi[gh] as the heavens are above the earth], so great is [his steadfast love toward those who fear him]; 12 as far as the east is from the west, so far he removes our transgressions from us. 13 Just as a father has compassion for his children, so the LORD has compassion for those who fear him. 14 For [he knows] how we [were for]med; [he remembers that we are but dust]. ▲

20 Bless the LORD, you his angels, you mighty ones who do his bidding,<sup>213</sup> in obedience to his words.<sup>214</sup> 21 Bless the LORD, all you his heavenly hosts, [you his servants who do his will].

■ Psalm 103, a hymn of praise, is found in three scrolls, but in each case is followed by a different Psalm. In 4QPs<sup>b</sup> it is followed directly by Psalm 112, in 11QPs<sup>c</sup> very likely by Psalm 109, and in 2QPs probably by Psalm 104. Because these arrangements are not compatible with each other, in this translation Psalm 103 will be followed by 112 and then 109.

112 1 [Blessed<sup>215</sup> is the person who fears the LORD], who gre[atly] delights in his commandments! [2 His descendants will be mighty on earth; the generation of the upright will be blessed. 3 Wealth and riches are in his house], and his righteousness endures [forever]. 4 Light rises in the darkness for the upright; (such a person) is gracious, compassionate, and righteo[us]. 5 Good will come to the per[son who is generous and lends freely; he will co]nduct his affairs [with justice. 6 For the righteous person will never be moved; he will be remembered forever. 7 He will have no f]ear of [bad news]; his heart is steadfast, trusting [in the LORD. 8 His heart is secure, he will have no fear, until he looks in triumph on his enemies. 9 He has distributed freely, he has given to the poor]; his righteousness endur[es forever; his horn will be lifted high in honor. 10 The wicked person sees it and becomes angry; he gnashes his teeth and melts away. The desires of wicked people mount to nothing]!

■ In the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter, Psalm 109, which is an individual lament, most likely followed Psalm 103. In this translation it necessarily follows Psalm 112; see the note at the end of Psalm 103. Psalm 109 is also found with apocryphal pieces in 4QPs; see the introduction to the Psalms.

<sup>216</sup>0 [For the Director]: a Psal[m] of Dav[id]. 1 [Do not remain silent, O God of my praise. 2 For wicked and deceitful people have opened their mouths against me, and have spoken against me with lying tongues. 3 They surround me with words of hatred, and attack me without cause. 4 In return for my friendship] they accuse me.<sup>217</sup> 5 So they re[ward me evil for good, and hatred for [my friendship].

[6 Appoint] an evil man [against him]; let one who accus[es]<sup>218</sup> stand at his right hand. 7 When he is tried, let him be found] guilty; [let his prayer be counted as punishment. 8 May his days be few; may someone else] seize [his position]. ▲

13 [May] his des[centants] be cut off; [may their name be blotted out in the next generation]. . . . 21 [But as for you, O LORD my Lord, act on my behalf for] your name's sake; because [your steadfast love] is good, [deliver me! 22 For I am poor and needy, and my heart] is wounded within me. [23 I vanish away, like a shadow at evening; I am shaken off like a locust]. 24 My kn[ees] are weak through fasting; [and] my [body has become ga]unt. 25 [I am] an object of scorn to my accusers; when they see me, [they wag] their heads.<sup>219</sup> 26 Help [me, O Lo]rd [my God]!<sup>220</sup> 27 Let them know that th[is] is your hand.<sup>221</sup> 28 They may cu[rse], but yo[u will bless; when they attack, they will be put to] shame; your servant<sup>222</sup> will rejoice. 29 [May my accusers be clothed with disgrace; may they be wrapped in] their [own shame as in a cloak]! 30 I will give great thanks [to the LORD with my mouth; I will praise him in the midst of the throng]. 31 For he has stood<sup>223</sup> [at the right hand of the needy, to save him from those who condemn him to death]. ▲

■ In 11QPs<sup>a</sup> Psalm 109 was possibly followed by Psalm 110 (which is now lost), and then by Psalms 113 through 118, which form a very ancient grouping known as the “Passover Hallel.” In Jewish tradition, part of the Hallel (Psalms 113 through 114) is sung before and part (115 through 118) is sung after the Passover meal. These six Psalms of praise were most likely found together in 4QPs<sup>b</sup>, 4QPs<sup>c</sup>, and 11QPs<sup>a</sup>, and possibly in 4QPs<sup>e</sup>, although none of the four manuscripts still preserves all of them.

113<sup>1</sup> Pra[ise] the LORD. [Give praise, you servants of the LORD, praise the name of the LORD].

114<sup>5</sup> [What is it with you, O sea, that] you flee? [And with you, O Jordan, that you turn back? 6 And with you, O mountains, that you skip like rams, and with you, O hills, (that you skip) like lambs? 7 Tremble, O ear]th, [at the presence of the Lord], and at the presence<sup>224</sup> of the God of Jaco[b]!

115<sup>1</sup> [Not] to us, O LORD, and not<sup>225</sup> [to us, but to your name give glory, because of your steadfast love and your faithfulness. 2 Why] should the nat[ions] say, “Where is<sup>226</sup> their God?” 3 Our God is in the heavens; he do[es] whate[ver] he pleases. 4 Their i[dols are silver and gold, the work of human hands]. ▲

15 [May you be blessed by the LORD], who made heaven [and earth. 16 The heavens are the LORD’s heavens, but he has given the earth to hu]mans. 17 Dead people<sup>227</sup> do not pra[ise the LORD, nor any who go down into silence. 18 But it is we who will bless the LORD from] this time on and forevermore. Prai[se the LORD]!

116<sup>1</sup> [I love the LORD, for he heard my voice], my cry for mercy; 2 for he turned [his e]ar [to me, so I will call on him as long as I live. 3 The cords of death entangled me, the anguish of She]ol came upon me; [I suffered] distress and an[guish. 4 Then I called on the name of the LORD: “O LORD, please save my life!” 5 The LORD is gracious and righteous], and our God is full of co[m]passion. 6 The LORD protects the simple; when I was in a sorry state, he rescued me. 7 Be at rest once more, O my soul], for the LORD has been good [to you. 8 For you have delivered my soul from death, my eyes] from tears.<sup>228</sup> 9 I will wa[lk before the LORD in the land of the living]. 10 I kep[t my faith, even when I said, “I am sorely afflicted].” ▲

■ Psalm 104 is a great hymn of praise to God the creator. None of the Dead Sea Scrolls presents this Psalm in the order known from the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint, where it follows Psalm 103. In 4QPs<sup>c</sup> and 11QPs<sup>a</sup> it comes after Psalm 118, and in 4QPs<sup>d</sup> after Psalm 147.

light as with a garment, who stretches out the heavens like a tent,<sup>239</sup> 3 laying<sup>240</sup> the beams of his chamber<sup>241</sup> on the wate[rs], who makes the clouds his chariot, riding upon<sup>242</sup> the wings of the wind, 4 who makes the winds his messenger,<sup>243</sup> flaming<sup>244</sup> fire his minister,<sup>245</sup> 5 setting<sup>246</sup> the earth on its foundations, that it should forev[er] not<sup>247</sup> be shaken. 6 [You have covered it] with the deep [as with a garment; the waters stood ab]ove the mountains. [7 At your rebuke they fled; at the sound of your thunder they took to flight]. 8 They rose up to the mountains; they ran down to the valleys and to ever[y pl]ace<sup>248</sup> [that] you assig[ned] for them. 9 You set [a boun]dary they [cannot] cross, so that nev[er again] will they cover the ear[th], 10 making<sup>249</sup> springs gush forth into the ravines; they flow between the mountains.<sup>250</sup> 11 The wild animals drink the xxxx,<sup>251</sup> the wild donkeys indulge<sup>252</sup> their thirst. 12 By the stre[ams]<sup>253</sup> the birds of the air nest; they sing] amo[ng the branches. 13 From your lofty chambers you water the mountains; the earth is satisfied by the fruit of your work. 14 You cause the grass to grow for the cattle, and plants for people to cultivate], so as to bring fo[rth food from the earth], 15 wine [to gladden the] human [heart, o]il to m[ake the face shine, and bread to st]rengthen [the human heart]. ▲

20 [You make darkness, and it is nig]ht, when all the anima[ls of the forest] go on the prowl. 21 [The young lions roar for their pre]y, and seek [their] food from G[od]. 22 When the sun [rises], then they disappear<sup>254</sup> and lie down in their dens. 23 People [g]o out to their work and to their labor until the evening. 24 O Lor[d], how numerous are your works! In wisdom all of them have been made,<sup>255</sup> the earth is full of your creatures. 25 The sea<sup>256</sup> is [va]st and wide, to which<sup>257</sup> are many<sup>258</sup> moving things beyond numbering<sup>259</sup>—living things both sm[all] and large. 26 There the ships go to and fro, and leviathan which you formed to frolic in it. 27 All of these look to you, to give them<sup>260</sup> their food at the proper time. 28 You give it to them, and they gather it up;<sup>261</sup> when you open your hand, they are satisfied with good things. 29 When<sup>262</sup> you take away your breath,<sup>263</sup> then they die,<sup>264</sup> and return to their dust. 30 When you send forth your Spirit, then they are created;<sup>265</sup> and you renew the face of the earth. 31 So may<sup>266</sup> the glory of the LORD endure forever; may the LORD rejoice in his works— 32 [who looks] to<sup>267</sup> the earth and it trembles, who touches the mountains and they smoke! 33 I will sing [to the L]ORD all my life; I will sing praise to my God as long as I am here. 34 May my meditation be pleasing to him.<sup>268</sup> 35 Just as<sup>269</sup> sinful people<sup>270</sup> will vanish from the earth, [so let the] wick[ed be no more. Bl]ess the LORD, O my soul! Praise the LORD!

■ The arrangement followed here is that of 11QPs<sup>a</sup> (and most likely 4QPs<sup>c</sup>), where Psalm 147, which is a hymn of praise, follows Psalm 104. The two Psalms also occur together in 4QPs<sup>d</sup>, but in the opposite order (104 after 147). It seems that the few letters preserved before Psalm 147 in 4QPs<sup>d</sup> are from Psalm 106.

1 [Praise] the LORD! How good it is to sing praises to our God. [Praise to] our G[o]d is fit[ting];<sup>271</sup> and a song of praise is fitting and pleasant.<sup>272</sup> 2 The LORD builds up Jerusalem; he gathers together the outcasts of Israel. 3 [He heals the broken]hearted and binds up their wou[nds]. 4 He determines the number of the stars, and calls ea]ch [of them by name]. ▲

13 [For he strengthens the bars of your] gat[es; he bles]ses your children within you. 14 He grants peace within [your bor]ders, and<sup>273</sup> he satisfies you with the finest of whe[at]. 15 He sends out his command to the earth; [his wo]rd ru[ns swift]ly. 16 He spreads snow [like wool; he scatters the frost like ashes]. 17 He hurls do[wn his hail like pebbles—who can withstand his icy downpour?]<sup>274</sup> 18 He sends forth his word, [and melts them; he makes] his wi[nd blow, and the waters flow. 19 He declares his word to Jacob], his statutes and his ordinances to [Israel. 20 He has not dealt in this way with] any other nation; he<sup>275</sup> has not revealed (any) ordinances to them.<sup>276</sup> [Praise the LORD!]

106

■ There is very little evidence among the scrolls for Psalm 106,<sup>277</sup> a hymn of praise and confession. Although Psalm 106 seems to precede Psalm 147 in 4QPs<sup>d</sup>, our translation here corresponds with the order of the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter, where 104 precedes 147. Psalm 106 is thus placed after 147, but it should be noted that 106 is not found in 11QPs<sup>a</sup>.

48 [Blessed be the LORD, the God of Israel, from everlasting to everlasting. And let all the people say, “Am]en”! [Pra]ise the LORD!

105

■ After Psalm 147 11QPs<sup>e</sup> (and most likely 4QPs<sup>e</sup>) continues with 105, which is a hymn of praise. These are the only two Psalms scrolls to preserve parts of this Psalm.

1 O give thanks to the LORD, for he is good; for [his steadfast love endures forever!<sup>278</sup> O give thanks to the LORD, call] on his name; make known [his de]eds among the peoples! 2 [Sing to him, sing praises to] him; [tell] of all his wonderful acts! 3 Glory in [his ho]ly name; [let the] heart [of the one who seeks] his favor<sup>279</sup> rejoice! 4 Look to the LORD and his strength; seek [his presence continually! 5 Remember] his wonders that he has done, his miracles, and the judgmen[ts he pronounced, 6 O descendants of Abraham], you his servants,<sup>280</sup> you children of Jacob, his chosen one.<sup>281</sup> 7 For<sup>282</sup> he is [the LORD our God]; his judgments are [in all the earth]. 8 He has remembered his covenant forever, the word that he commanded, for a thousand [generations, 9 the covenant that he made] with<sup>283</sup> Abraham, his<sup>284</sup> sworn promise to Isaac, 10 and which he confirmed [to Jacob as a statute], to Israel as an everlasting covenant, 11 as follows: “To you<sup>285</sup> I will give th[e land of Canaan, as the portion you will inhe]rit.” ▲

23 [Then Israel came to] Egypt; Ja[cob<sup>286</sup> lived as an alien in the land of Ham. 24 And the LORD made his people very fruitful, and made them stronger than] their enemies. 25 He then tu[rned] their hearts to hate [his people, to deal deceitfully with his servants. 26 He sent Moses his servant, and Aa]ron whom he had chosen. [27 They performed his wondrous acts among them, and his miracles in the land of Ham. 28 He se]nt darkness, [and made the land dark, for had they not rebelled against their pro]mise?<sup>287</sup> 29 He made<sup>288</sup> [their waters into blood, and caused their fish to die]. 30 Their land swarmed<sup>289</sup> [with frogs, even in the chambers of their rulers. 31 He spoke, and there came swarms of flies, and gn]ats throughout [their country. 32 He turned their rain into hail, with lightning flashing through their land. 33 He] struck their vines [and fig trees, and devastated the trees of their country. 34 He spoke, and the locusts arrived], and grasshoppers without [number; 35 they devoured all the vegetation in their land, and gobbled up the produce] of their soil. 36 [He struck down all the firstborn in their land, the finest of a]ll their strength. 37 Then he led forth his people<sup>290</sup> [with silver and gold, and there was not] one among [his] tribes who faltered. 38 [The Egyptians were glad<sup>291</sup> when they departed, because dread of [Israel]<sup>292</sup> had descended [upon them. 39 He spread] out a cloud as a covering, and fire to provide light by night. 40 They asked, and he br[ought quails, and fu]lly satisfied them [with the food of] he[aven. 41 He opened the ro]ck, and water gushed out; [it flowed through the desert like a ri]ver. 42 For [he remembered his ho]ly promise, as well as Abraham [his servant].

43 [So he led forth] his peo[ple] with rej[oi]cing, his cho]sen ones [with shouts of joy]. 44 Then he gave [them the la]nds of the na[tions, and they took possession of what the peoples had toiled for— 45 so] that they might keep [his statutes and ob]serve [his laws. Praise the LORD]!

■ Psalms 146 and 148, both of which are hymns of praise, are found only in 11QPs<sup>a</sup> and 4QPs<sup>c</sup>. Their order and position early in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter is in marked contrast to their placement near the end of the MT-150 Psalter.

146 1 Praise the LORD! [Praise the LORD, O my soul! . . . 9 The LORD watches over foreign strangers, and] sustains the orphan and the widow; but [he subverts] the way [of the wicked. . . . Let] all the earth [fear] the LORD, [let all the inhabitants of the earth revere] hi[m! . . . ] in his being known though all his works (which) he created [ . . . ] his mighty works.<sup>293</sup> 10 The LORD will reign forever, your God, O Zion, for all generations. Praise the LORD!

148 <sup>294</sup> 1 Praise the LORD<sup>295</sup> from the heavens; pra[ise him in the heights above! 2 Praise him], all his angels; praise him, all his heav[enly host! 3 Praise him, sun and moon]; praise him, all you shining stars! 4 Praise [him, you highest heavens, and you waters] above the skies!

5 Praise<sup>296</sup> [the name of the LORD—for he] gave the command, and they were created. 6 And he set them in place forev[er and ever; he fixed their bounds which cannot] be crossed.

7 Praise the LORD fro[m the earth, you sea monsters, and all] ocean depths, 8 you fire and hail, snow and fr[ost, stormy wind] fulfilling his command! 9 You mountains and all [hills, fruit trees and all] cedars! 10 You wild animals and all cattle, [small creatures and flying birds! 11 You kings] of the ea[rth] and all nations, you princes and [all rulers of the earth! 12 Young men and mai]dens alike, old people and chil[dren] together!

120 <sup>297</sup> 6 [For too l]ong I have lived<sup>298</sup> bef[ore]<sup>299</sup> those who hate peace. 7 I am for peace—but when I speak, they are] for [war]. ▲

1210 A Song of Ascents.<sup>300</sup> 1 I lift up my eyes to the mountains—(but) where does [my help] come from? 2 My help comes from the LORD, who made heaven and earth. 3 He will not let your fo[ot slip], and<sup>301</sup> he who watches over you will not slumber. 4 Indeed, he who watch[es over Is]rael will neither slumber nor sleep.

5 By night<sup>302</sup> the LORD is your keeper, your shade<sup>303</sup> at your right hand. 6 [The sun] will not harm you by da[y], nor the moon by night. 7 The LORD will protect you from al[l harm]; he will wat[ch over] your life. 8 He<sup>304</sup> will watch over your going out and your coming in, from this time on and fore[vermore].

122<sup>305</sup> 0 A Song of Ascents. Of David. 1 I re[joiced with those who said to me], “Let us go to the house of the LORD.” 2 My feet<sup>306</sup> have been standing within your gates, [O Jeru]salem!

1247 [We have escaped like a bird from the fowlers’ snare; the snare has been broken, and we] have escaped. 8 Our helper<sup>317</sup> is in the name of the LORD, who made [heaven and earth].

upright in heart.<sup>323</sup> 5 (In) tortuous ways<sup>324</sup> the LORD will lead away all<sup>325</sup> evildoers.<sup>326</sup> Peace be upon Israel!

127<sup>0</sup> [A Song of Ascents]. Of Solomon. 1 Un[less the Lor]d builds the house, [its builders la]bor in vain. [Unless the LORD guards the city], the guard [keeps watch] in vain. 2 It is vain for you [to rise up early and go late to rest, eating the bread of anx]ious toil—[for] he grants [sleep] to [those he loves. 3 Sons are indeed a heritage of the Lor]d; the fruit [of the womb a re]ward. 4 [Like arrows in the hands of a warrior are the sons (born in) on]e’s youth. 5 [Happy is the] man who [has his quiver full of them]. They will not be put [to shame] when [they encounter their enemies at the city gate].

128<sup>3</sup> [Your wife will be] like the<sup>334</sup> fruit[ful] vine [within your house; your children will be like olive shoots] around [your table. 4 See, this is how the m]an who fears the LORD [will be blessed]. 5 May the Lord<sup>335</sup> bless you [from Zion, and may you see the prosperity of Jerusa]lem all the days of your life. 6 And may you see your children’s [children. 129<sup>0</sup> A S[ong of Ascents. 1 “Many times<sup>336</sup> have they at]tacked me from my youth”—let Israel now say— 2 “Many times<sup>337</sup> [have they attacked me from my youth, yet they have no]t gained victory over me.” 3 Wicked people<sup>338</sup> plowed over my back; [they made their furrows long. 4 The] Lord<sup>339</sup> is righteous; he has cut the cords of the wicked. 5 May [all who ha]te Zion be disgraced [and turned back]! 6 May they be like grass on the rooftops, which withers before it can grow, 7 [with which reapers cannot fill their hands], nor sheaf-binders fill their arms.<sup>340</sup> 8 While those<sup>341</sup> who pass by do not say, “[May the blessing of the LORD] your God<sup>342</sup> be upon you! We bless you in the name of the LORD!”

- Psalm 119 is a Wisdom composition and by far the longest of all the Psalms. It is found between Psalms 132 and 135 in 11QPs<sup>a</sup>, where it occupies almost nine columns. This is in marked contrast to its position between Psalms 118 and 120 in the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint.

1 Blessed are those [whose ways are blame]less, who walk in the law of the LORD! 2 Blessed are [those who observe his decrees], who seek it<sup>356</sup> [at all] times,<sup>357</sup> 3 who also [do nothing wrong]; (but) walk in his [ways]. 4 You [have laid down your precepts, that are to be] fully [obey]ed. 5 O that [my ways were consistent in observing] your [tr]uth!<sup>358</sup> 6 Then [I would not be put to shame, being focused on al]l your commandments. ▲

31 [I cling to] your decr[ees, O LORD; do not put me to shame]. 32 I run [the course of] your commandme[nt],<sup>369</sup> for you set my heart free. 33 Teach me, O Lo]rd, the w[a]y of your statutes, and I will [observe it to the end. 34 Give me understanding, so that I may keep] your law and ob[serve it with all my heart]. . . . 37 Turn my eyes from looking at worthless things; be gracious to me<sup>370</sup> according to your word.<sup>371</sup> 38 Fulfill to your servant your promise, which produces reverence for you. 39 Turn away my disgrace that I dread; for your ordinances are good. 40 See how I long for your precepts; in your righteousness be gracious to me.<sup>372</sup> 41 And may the LORD bring me<sup>373</sup> your steadfast love,<sup>374</sup> your salvation according to your promise. 42 Then he will have an answer<sup>375</sup> for anyone who taunts me, for I observe your precepts.<sup>376</sup> 43 Do not take the word of your truth<sup>377</sup> completely from my mouth, for my hope is in your words.<sup>378</sup> 44 I will keep your law continually and always;<sup>379</sup> 45 I shall walk about in its broad streets,<sup>380</sup> for I have sought out your precepts. 46 I will also speak of your decrees before kings, and shall not be put to shame; 47 for I find delight in your [commandments], which I love. 48 I revere [your] commandments, [whi]ch I love, and I will rejoice in<sup>381</sup> your statutes. 49 Remember your words<sup>382</sup> t[o your servant, upon whi]ch you have made me hope. 50 This is my comfort in my distress: that your promise gives me life. ▲

59 When I consider my ways, I turn my feet to your decrees. 60 I hasten and do not delay to keep your commandments. 61 Though the cords of the wicked ensnare me round, I will not forget your law. 62 At midnight I will rise to give you thanks, because of your righteous laws. 63 I am a friend to all those that fear you, and to those who keep your precepts. 64 The earth, O LORD, is full of your steadfast love; teach me your statute.<sup>383</sup> 65 You have dealt well with your servant, O LORD, according to your word. 66 Teach me good judgment and knowledge, for I believe in your commandments. 67 Before I was afflicted I went astray, but now I obey your word. 68 You are good, O LORD,<sup>384</sup> and do good; teach me your decrees. 69 The arrogant besmear me with lies, but I keep your precepts with all my heart. 70 Their hearts are callous and gross, but your law is my de[li]ght.<sup>385</sup> 71 It is good for me that you afflicted me,<sup>386</sup> so that I might lea[rn] your [statut]es. 72 The law from your mouth is better to me than a thousand<sup>387</sup> [gold and silver pieces. 73 Your hands have made me and formed me]; give me understanding that I may lear[n] your [commandments. 74 Those who fear you will see me and be glad], because [I have hoped] in [your wo]rd. ▲

77 [Let your compassion come to me, that I may li]ve; for [your la]w is my delight. 78 [May the arrogant be put to shame, because he has sub]verted me<sup>388</sup> [by deceit]; as for me, [I will] meditate on your precepts. 79 [May those who fear you turn to me, so that they may understand] your decrees. 80 [May my heart be blameless in your statutes, so] th[at I may not be put to shame. 81 My soul pi]nes for [your sal]vation; [I hope in your word]. 82 My eye fails,<sup>389</sup> watching for your promise; I ask, “When will you comfort me?” 83 For you have made me<sup>390</sup> like a wineskin in the smoke, yet I have not forgotten your steadfast love.<sup>391</sup> 84 How long must your servant endure? When will you punish those who persecute me? 85 The arrogant have dug a pit<sup>392</sup> for me, people who do not live according to your law. 86 All your commandments are trustworthy; but they persecute me without cause—please help me! 87 They have almost wiped me from the earth,<sup>393</sup> but I have not forsaken your precepts. 88 According to your steadfast love be gracious to me,<sup>394</sup> so that I may obey the decree<sup>395</sup> of your mouth. 89 Forever, O LORD, your word is firmly fixed in heaven. 90 Your faithfulness endures to all generations; you have established the earth, and it endures. 91 By your ordinances they stand today; for all things are your servants. 92 If your law had not been my delight, I would have perished in my iniquity.<sup>396</sup> 93 I will never forget your precepts, for by them you have given me life. 94 I am yours; save me, for I have sought out your precepts. 95 The wicked are waiting to destroy me, but I pay attention to your decrees. 96 I have seen a limit to all perfection, but your commandment is exceedingly broad. ▲

99 [I have more insight than all my teachers, for your decrees are m]y [meditation. 100 I have more understanding than the elders, for] I [observe your precepts. 101 I hold back my feet from every evil path, so that I may keep] your word. . . . 104 [Through your precepts I get understanding; therefore I hate every] false pa[th]. 105 Your words are<sup>397</sup> a lamp to my feet, a light<sup>398</sup> to my paths.<sup>399</sup> 106 I have taken an oath, and have confirmed it, to carry out<sup>400</sup> your righteous ordinance.<sup>401</sup> 107 I am severely distraught,<sup>402</sup> be gracious to me,<sup>403</sup> O LORD, according to your promise.<sup>404</sup> 108 Accept<sup>405</sup> the praise offerings of my mouth, O LORD; teach me some of your ordinances.<sup>406</sup> 109 Though I constantly take my life in my hands, I<sup>407</sup> do not forget your law. 110 The wicked have laid a snare for me; as for me, I<sup>408</sup> have not gone astray (from) your precepts.<sup>409</sup> 111 Your decrees are my heritage forever; they are<sup>410</sup> the rejoicing of my heart. 112 I have set my heart to perform your statutes forever, to the very end. 113 I hate double-minded people; I love<sup>411</sup> your law. 114 You are my refuge and my shield; I have put my hope in your words.<sup>412</sup> 115 Depart from me, you evildoers, that I may keep the commandment<sup>413</sup> of my God. 116 Sustain me according to your promise, that I may live, and let me not be put to shame because of my breaking wave.<sup>414</sup> 117 Hold me up, that I may be safe, and I will lift up<sup>415</sup> your statutes continually. 118 You reject all who go astray from your statutes; for their deceitfulness is in vain. 119 All the wicked of the earth I discount<sup>416</sup> as dross, for which reason<sup>417</sup> I love all<sup>418</sup> your decrees. 120 My body trembles in fear [of you], and I am afraid of your judgments. ▲

128 Truly I approve of (your) complete precepts,<sup>419</sup> I hate every false way. 129 Your decrees are streams of honey,<sup>420</sup> therefore my soul observes them. 130 Unfold your words, and enlighten the one who<sup>421</sup> imparts understanding to the simple. 131 I open my mouth and I pant; because<sup>422</sup> I long for<sup>423</sup> your commandments. 132 Turn to me, and have mercy upon me, as is your custom toward those who love your name. 133 Direct my footsteps toward<sup>424</sup> your promise, and do not let any iniquity rule over me. 134 Redeem me from human oppression, that I may observe your precepts. 135 Make your face shine upon your servant, and teach me your statutes. 136 My eyes shed streams of tears because<sup>425</sup> people do not keep your law. 137 You are righteous, O LORD, and your judgments are right.<sup>426</sup> 138 You have laid down your decrees in righteousness and in all trustworthiness. 139 My zeal wears me out, because my enemies ignore your words. 140 Your promise is thoroughly tested; your<sup>427</sup> servant loves it. 141 Though I am lowly and despised, I do not forget your precepts. 142 [Righteous deed]s are [ri]ghteous deeds<sup>428</sup> always,<sup>429</sup> and your law is truth. ▲

150 Those who pursue wicked schemes draw near; they are far from your law. 151 Yet you are near, O LORD, and all your commandments are true. 152 Long ago I learned from knowledge of you<sup>430</sup> that you have established me<sup>431</sup> forever. 153 Look on my misery and deliver me; I<sup>432</sup> do not forget your law. 154 Defend my cause and redeem me; give me life according to your promise! 155 Salvation is far from the wicked, for they do not seek out your statutes. 156 Great is your compassion, O LORD; be gracious to me<sup>433</sup> according to your laws. 157 Many are my persecutors and my adversaries, but I have not swerved from your decrees. 158 I look on the faithless with disgust, because they do not keep your word. 159 Consider how I love your precepts, O LORD! Be gracious to me<sup>434</sup> according to your promise.<sup>435</sup> 160 The s[um] of your words<sup>436</sup> is truth, and every righteous ordinance<sup>437</sup> lasts forever. 161 Princes persecute me without cause, but my heart stands in awe of your words. 162 I rejoice at your word more than<sup>438</sup> one who finds great spoil. 163 I [hate] and abhor false[hood], but<sup>439</sup> I love your law. 164 [Seven times a day I pr]aise you for [your righteous or]dinances. 165 [Great peace have those who love yo]ur la[w; nothing can make them stumble]. ▲

171 My lips will pour forth praise to you,<sup>440</sup> for you teach me your statutes. 172 May my tongue sing of your word, for all your commandments are right. 173 Let your hand be ready to help me, for I have chosen your precepts. 174 I longed for your salvation, O LORD; your law<sup>441</sup> is my delight. 175 Let me live, that I may praise you, and let your ordinances<sup>442</sup> help me. 176 I have gone astray like a lost sheep; seek out your servant, for I have not forgotten your decrees.<sup>443</sup>

135

■ Psalm 135, a hymn of praise to God, directly follows Psalm 134 in the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint, but in 11QPs<sup>a</sup> it follows Psalm 119. Psalm 135 also occurs in two other arrangements, both of which vary from the Masoretic Psalter. In 4QPs<sup>k</sup> it is followed by a Psalm that is no longer preserved and then by Psalm 99, and in 4QPs<sup>n</sup> Psalm 135:12 is directly followed by Psalm 136:23.

1 Give praise, O servants of the LORD, praise the name of the LORD; praise the LORD!<sup>444</sup> 2 And exalt the LORD,<sup>445</sup> you who stand in the house of the LORD, in the courts of the house of our God, and in your midst, O Jerusalem!<sup>446</sup> 3 Praise the LORD, for he<sup>447</sup> is good; sing his name,<sup>448</sup> for that is pleasant. 4 For he<sup>449</sup> has chosen Jacob for himself, and Israel<sup>450</sup> as a possession for himself.<sup>451</sup>

5 I<sup>452</sup> know that the LORD is great, and that our God<sup>453</sup> is above all gods. 6 The LORD does what<sup>454</sup> pleases him, in heaven and on earth, to do as he does; there is none like the LORD, there is none like the LORD, and there is none who acts like the King of gods,<sup>455</sup> in the seas and in all (their) depths.<sup>456</sup> 7 It is he who makes clouds rise [at the] end of the earth,<sup>457</sup> who brings out the wind from his storehouses.

8 It was he who struck down the firstborn of Egypt, [both of humans and animals. 9 He] se[nt signs and wonders into your m]id[st, O Egypt, against Pharaoh and all his servants. 10 He struck down] many [nat]ions, mighty kings<sup>458</sup> — 11 Sihon king of the [Amorit]es, [Og king of Bashan, and all the kingdoms of Canaan— 12 and he gave their land as a heritage to us,<sup>459</sup> a heri]ta[ge] to [I]srael his people, 136:22 [as a heritage] to his people Israel, fo[r his steadfast love endures forever. 23 It is he who remembered] us [in our depressed state], for [his steadfast love] endures fore[ver].<sup>460</sup>

13 Your name, O LORD, endures forever; [your renown, O LORD, through all generations. 14 For the LORD will vindicate his people, and have compassion on his servants. 15 The idols of the nations are silver and gol]d, the products<sup>461</sup> of human hands. 16 [They have] mouths, [but they cannot speak; they have eyes but cannot see]. 17 They have [ears] but cannot hear, and there is<sup>462</sup> no breath in their mouths. 18 Those who make them shall become like them—and everyone<sup>463</sup> who trusts in them!

19 O house of Israel, bless the LORD! O house of Aaron, bless the LORD! 20 O house of Levi, bless the LORD! You who fear the LORD, bless the LORD! 21 May the LORD bless you<sup>464</sup> from Zion, he who dwells in Jerusalem. Praise the LORD!

136 1 O give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, for his steadfast love endures forever. 2 O give thanks to the God of gods, for his steadfast love endures forever. 3 O give thanks to the Lord<sup>465</sup> of lords, for his steadfast love endures forever; 4 to him who alone performs wonders,<sup>466</sup> for his steadfast love endures forever; 5 to him who made the heavens by understanding, for his steadfast love endures forever; 6 to him who spread out the earth upon the waters, for his steadfast love endures forever; 7 to him who made the great luminaries,<sup>467</sup> for his steadfast love endures forever; the sun and the moon, for his steadfast love endures forever;<sup>468</sup> 8 the sun as rulers<sup>469</sup> of the day,<sup>470</sup> for his steadfast love endures forever; 9 moon<sup>471</sup> and stars to rule over night, for his steadfast love endures forever.

10 To him who struck Egypt through their firstborn, for his steadfast love endures forever; 11 and brought Israel out from among them, for his steadfast love endures forever; 12 with a strong hand and with an outstretched arm, for his steadfast love endures forever; 13 to him who divided the Red Sea in two, for his steadfast love endures forever; 14 and made Israel pass through the midst of it, for his steadfast love endures forever; 15 (who) overthrew<sup>472</sup> Pharaoh and his army in the Red [Sea, for his steadfast love endures] for[ever]; 16 to him who led his people through the [wilder]ness, for [his steadfast love endures] forev[er] ▲

135:12b [ . . . as a heritage to his people Israel,<sup>473</sup> for his steadfast love endures forever. 136:23<sup>474</sup> It is he who remembered] us [in our depressed state], for [his steadfast love] endures fore[ver]. . . . 26 [O give thanks to the God of heaven], for his steadfast love endures forever.

■ Both 11QPs<sup>a</sup> (col. 16) and 11QPs<sup>b</sup> have a longer ending following Psalm 136:26. Since this ending contains material also found in Psalm 118 (vss 1, 15, 16, 8, 9, X,<sup>475</sup> and 29); scholars originally termed it the “Catena” (meaning a connected series of verses). This cannot be a different form of Psalm 118 since this Psalm is found earlier in 11QPs<sup>a</sup>. Some scholars have suggested that the Catena is in fact a separate composition altogether, but it is more likely a longer ending to Psalm 136 since it follows 136:26 with virtually no break in 11QPs<sup>a</sup> (which typically has spaces between successive compositions or starts them on the next line).

The Catena

1 O give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, for his steadfast love endures forever! 15 Listen to the shouts of joy and victory in the tents of the righteous: “The right hand of the LORD does valiantly, 16 the right hand of the LORD is lifted high, the right hand of the LORD has wrought strength!” 8 It is better to trust in the LORD than to put confidence in humans. 9 It is better to take refuge in the LORD than to put confidence in princes. X It is better to trust in the LORD than to put confidence in a thousand people. 29 O give thanks to the LORD, for he is good, for his steadfast love endures forever! Praise the LORD!

■ Among the Dead Sea Scrolls, Psalm 145 is found only in 11QPs<sup>a</sup>, in a form that is most unusual when compared to the Masoretic Text. First, there is a recurring refrain (“Blessed be the Lord and blessed be his name forever and ever”), which clearly shows that this Psalm was meant by those who compiled the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter to be recited or sung. Second, 11QPs<sup>a</sup> preserves a verse of this Psalm that is missing in virtually all manuscripts of the Masoretic Text, although it is found in the Septuagint (see the introduction to the Psalms and the footnote on v 13: “God is faithful . . .”). This verse is so necessary and certain that almost all modern English-language Bibles now include it. Third, the ending to the Psalm (“This is for a memorial”) is of interest because it is a subscript not found in the Masoretic Text (compare Ps 72:20: “The prayers of David, son of Jesse, are concluded”).

<sup>476</sup>0 A Prayer. <sup>477</sup> Of David. 1 I will extol you, O LORD, <sup>478</sup> my God the King, and I will bless your name forever and ever. Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. <sup>479</sup> 2 Blessed is the day <sup>480</sup> I will bless you, and I will praise your name forever and ever. Blessed be the LORD, his name <sup>481</sup> forever and ever. 3 Great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised; his greatness <sup>482</sup> is unfathomable. Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. 4 One generation will commend <sup>483</sup> your works to another, and they will tell of your mighty acts. Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name for ever and ever. 5 Of the glorious splendor of your majesty they will speak, <sup>484</sup> and <sup>485</sup> of your wondrous works I will meditate. <sup>486</sup> Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. 6 And people will speak of the might of your awesome deeds, and I will recount <sup>487</sup> your mighty acts. <sup>488</sup> Blessed be the LORD [and blessed be] his na[me] forever and ever. 7 They will [pour forth] the fame of your abundant goodness, [and will sing aloud of your righteousness]. ▲

12 [ . . . Blessed be the LORD] and blessed be his name forever and ever. 13 Your kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and your dominion endures throughout all generations. Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. God <sup>489</sup> is faithful in his words, and gracious in all his deeds. <sup>490</sup> Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. 14 The LORD upholds all who are falling, and raises up all who are bowed down. Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. 15 The eyes of all look to you, and you have given<sup>491</sup> them their food at the proper time. Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. 16 You yourself<sup>492</sup> open your hand, and satisfy the desire of every living thing. Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. 17 The LORD is just in all his ways, and kind in all his deeds. Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. 18 The LORD is near<sup>493</sup> and blessed be his name forever and ever; they<sup>494</sup> call upon him in faithfulness.<sup>495</sup> Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. 19 He fulfills the desire of those who fear him;<sup>496</sup> he also hears their cry, and saves them. Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. 20 The LORD preserves all those who fear him, but he will destroy all the wicked. Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever. 21 My mouth will speak the praise of the LORD, and let every creature bless his holy name. Blessed be the LORD and blessed be his name forever and ever.<sup>497</sup> This is for a memorial<sup>498</sup> . . .

■ Psalm 154 proclaims the greatness and deliverance of God. While not found in the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint, Psalms 154 and 155 (which occurs later in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter) are preserved in some manuscripts of the Syriac Psalter. This is significant, since it shows that some traditions known at Qumran were preserved in the writings of Eastern Orthodox Christianity. In the translation below, the missing verses at the beginning and the end of this Psalm have been supplied from the Syriac.

[1 With a loud voice glorify God; in the congregation of the many proclaim his splendor. In the multitude of the just glorify his name, and with the faithful celebrate his majesty. 3 Unite] your souls with the good ones and with the perfect ones to glorify the Most High. 4 Form a community to make known his salvation, and do not hesitate in making known his might and his majesty to all the simple ones. 5 For it is to make known the glory of the LORD that Wisdom has been given, 6 and it is for recounting his many deeds she has been revealed to humanity: 7 to make known to the simple ones his power, to explain his greatness to those lacking sense, 8 those who are far from her gates, those who stray from her portals.

9 For the Most High is the Lord of Jacob, and his majesty is upon all his works. 10 And the person who glorifies the Most High is accepted like one who brings a meal offering, 11 like one who offers rams and calves, like as one who fattens the altar with many burnt offerings, as a sweet-smelling fragrance from the hand of the righteous ones. 12 From the gates of the righteous her voice is heard, and her song from the assembly of the pious. 13 When they eat until they are full she is mentioned, and when they drink in community together, 14 their meditation is on the law of the Most High, their words on making known his power. 15 How distant from the wicked is her word, from all arrogant people is it to know her.

16 Behold the eyes of the LORD have pity upon the good, 17 and he increases his mercy upon those who glorify him; from the time of danger he will deliver [their] soul. 18 [Bless] the LORD who redeems the humble from the hand of foreigne[rs and deliv]ers the pure from the hand of the wicked, 19 [who establishes a horn out of Ja]cob and a judge of the peoples out of Israel. 20 [He will spread out his tent in Zion, and will live forever in Jerusalem].

Plea for Deliverance

■ This fascinating Psalm affirms God’s kindness and faithfulness and appeals for his forgiveness and protection. It is one of several “new” Psalms that were unknown to scholars before the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls.

1 For a maggot cannot praise you, nor a worm recount your mercy. 2 But the living can praise you, all those who stumble can praise you, 3 when you reveal your mercy to them, and when you teach them your justice. 4 For in your hand is the soul of every living being; the breath of all flesh you have given. 5 Deal with us, O LORD, according to your goodness, according to your great compassions, and according to your many righteous acts. 6 The LORD has heard the voice of those who love his name and has not deprived them of his mercy. 7 Blessed be the LORD, who performs righteous deeds, crowning his pious ones with mercy and compassions.

8 My soul cries out to praise your name, to give thanks with shouts for your merciful deeds, 9 to proclaim your faithfulness—of praise of you there is no end! 10 I was near death for my sins, and my iniquities had sold me to Sheol; 11 but you saved me, O LORD, according to your great compassion, and according to your many righteous acts. 12 Indeed I have loved your name, and in your shelter I have found refuge. 13 When I remember your power my heart is brave, and I lean upon your mercies.

14 Forgive my sin, O LORD, and cleanse me from my iniquity. 15 Bestow on me a spirit of faith and knowledge, and let me not be dishonored in ruin. 16 Let not Satan rule over me, nor an unclean spirit; 17 neither let pain nor the evil inclination take possession of my bones. 18 For you, O LORD, are my praise, and in you I hope all the day long. 19 Let my brothers rejoice with me and my father's house, who are puzzled by your graciousness. [ . . . Fore]ver I shall rejoice in you.

■ This Psalm continues the personal note found in the Plea for Deliverance by inviting God to examine the Psalmist's heart, to see his devotion, and to do away with his enemies. It is preceded by Psalms 137 and 138 in the MT-150 Psalter and the Septuagint, but followed by the same two Psalms in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter.

[7 Where can I go from your Spirit? Or where can I flee from your presence?] 8 [If I ascend up into heaven, you are there; if I make my bed] in Sheol, there you are! 9 If I take the wings of the dawn, and settle on the farthest limits of the sea, 10 there<sup>499</sup> your hand will lead me, and your right hand will hold me fast. 11 And let me say,<sup>500</sup> "Surely darkness covers me, and night has girded me about."<sup>501</sup> 12 Even the darkness is not dark to you; the night is as bright as the day, for darkness is as light to you.

13 For you who formed my inmost being, you knitted me together in my mother's womb. 14 I praise you, for you are fearful; wondrous,<sup>502</sup> wonderful are your works, as my soul knows very well. 15 My pain<sup>503</sup> is not hidden from you, by whom I was made in secret, intricately woven together in the depths of the earth. 16 Your eyes saw my unformed body; in your books<sup>504</sup> each of them was written, the number of days for its formation even for it with its corresponding member from them all.<sup>505</sup> 17 And how precious are your thoughts to me, O God! Why is the sum of them so vast?<sup>506</sup> 18 If I try to count them, they outnumber the sand. When I come to the end,<sup>507</sup> I will still<sup>508</sup> be with you.

19 If only you would slay the wicked, O God, so that<sup>509</sup> bloodthirsty men would depart<sup>510</sup> from me, 20 people who speak of you maliciously, your enemies who lift themselves up for evil. 21 Do I not hate those, O LORD, who hate you? And do I not cut myself off from<sup>511</sup> those who rise up against you?<sup>512</sup> 22 I hate them with utter contempt; I regard them as my enemies. 23 Search me, O God, and know my heart! Test me, and know my thoughts! 24 And see if there is any offensive way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting.

137

■ Psalm 137 is a lament over the destruction of Jerusalem and a plea to God to punish Judah's enemies. In the MT-150 Psalter and the Septuagint this Psalm follows 138, but our translation corresponds with the 11QPs<sup>c</sup>-Psalter by placing it after Psalm 139.

1 By the rivers in Babylon,<sup>513</sup> there they sat down,<sup>514</sup> yes we wept, when we remembered Zion. . . . 9 [Happy will be the one who seizes] your little ones and dashes them against the rock!

1380 Of David. 1 I give you thanks, O LORD,<sup>515</sup> with my whole heart; before the LORD God<sup>516</sup> I sing praise to you. 2 I bow down toward your holy temple, and give thanks to your name for your steadfast love and for your faithfulness; for you have exalted your word above every name of yours. 3 On the day I called you answered me; you increased the strength in my soul.

4 All the kings of the earth will praise you, O LORD, for they have heard the words of your mouth. 5 Then they will sing of the ways of the LORD, for the glory of the LORD is great. 6 For though the LORD is exalted, he has regard for the lowly; but he notes the proud from a distance.

7 Though I walk in the middle<sup>517</sup> of trouble, you preserve my life against the anger of my enemies; you stretch forth your hand,<sup>518</sup> and your right hand rescues me. 8 The LORD will fulfill his purpose for me; your steadfast love, O LORD, endures forever. Do not abandon the works of your own hands.

Ben Sira 51

■ This poem was previously familiar to us as the second canticle following the epilogue of Ben Sira (a book also known as Ecclesiasticus or Sirach). The book is not found in the Hebrew Bible, but it is included in the Old Testament of Roman Catholic and Orthodox Bibles and among the Apocrypha of Protestant Bibles. The form of this poem in 11QPs<sup>a</sup> is very erotic in places (see, for example, vs 22, where hand can mean penis). Not surprisingly, the Greek version seems to have revised the canticle by substituting pious ideas for such erotic images—but the scrolls now give us access to the original, uncensored poem. Our English translation of the book of Sirach among the Dead Sea Scrolls is found after Proverbs.

13 While I was a young man, before I had gone astray, I looked for her.
14 She came to me in her beauty, and eventually I sought her out. 15 Even as the blossom drops in the ripening of grapes, making the heart happy, 16 so my foot trod in uprightness; for since my youth I have known her. 17 I inclined my ear but a little, and great was the captivation I found. 18 So she became a wet-nurse for me; to my teacher I give my sceptre. 19 I decided to make sport: I was eager for pleasure, without stopping. 20 I kindled my passion for her, I could not turn away my face. 21 I bestirred my desire for her, and on her heights I could not relax. 22 [I] spread my “hand” [ . . . ] and perceived her nakedness. 23 I cleansed my “hand” [ . . . 30 . . . ] your reward in its time.

The Apostrophe to Zion

■ Like several other Psalms (for example, 46, 48, 76, and 87), the Apostrophe to Zion focuses on Jerusalem, in this case invoking blessing on her, affirming the defeat of her enemies, and looking forward to her salvation and everlasting righteousness. This Psalm, which was unknown before the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls, is found in two collections: the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter (col. 22 of 11QPs<sup>a</sup>, frg. 6 of 11QPs<sup>b</sup>) and the 4QPs<sup>c</sup>-Psalter (cols. 7–8).

1 I remember you for blessing, O Zion; with all my strength I have loved you. May your memory be blessed forever! 2 Great is your hope, O Zion, that peace and your expected salvation will come. 3 Generation after generation will dwell in you and generations of pious ones will be your splendor: 4 those who yearn for the day of your salvation that they may rejoice in the greatness of your glory. 5 At your glorious abundance they will suckle, and in your magnificent squares they will scamper. 6 You will remember your prophets' acts of devotion, and you will glory in the deeds of your pious ones. 7 Let violence be purged from your midst; let falsehood and deceit be cut off from you. 8 Your children will rejoice in your midst and your precious ones will be united with you. 9 How they have hoped for your salvation, how your perfect ones have mourned for you. 10 Your hope does not perish, O Zion, nor is your longing forgotten.

11 Who is the one to have ever perished (in) righteousness, or who is the one to have ever survived in his iniquity? 12 A person is tested according to his path; everyone is awarded according to his deeds. 13 All around your enemies are cut off, O Zion, and all your foes have been scattered. 14 Your praise is a pleasant odor, O Zion, ascending throughout all the world. 15 Many times I remember you for blessing; with all my heart I bless you. 16 May you attain to everlasting righteousness, and may you accept the blessings of the glorious ones. 17 Accept a vision described for you, and dreams of prophets sought for you. 18 Be exalted and spread out, O Zion! Praise the Most High, your savior: let my soul rejoice in your glory!

■ This hymn of praise follows Psalm 92 in 4QPs<sup>b</sup>, the Masoretic Text, and the Septuagint, but in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter it occurs in a completely different position: between the Apostrophe to Zion and Psalm 141. This is the order followed in our translation.

1 Praise the LORD!<sup>519</sup> The LORD reigns; he is robed in majesty; the LORD is robed, and he is girded<sup>520</sup> with strength. Indeed, you establish the world;<sup>521</sup> it cannot be moved. 2 Your throne was established from long ago; [you are] from [eter]nity. 3 The floods have lifted up, [O LORD, the floods have lifted up their voice; the floods lift up their surging waves. 4 More majestic than the thun]ders of mi[ghty] waters, [more majestic than the breakers of the sea, majestic is the LORD on high]. 5 Your decrees are [very su]re; holi[ness] is the beauty of<sup>522</sup> your house, O LORD, forever[more]. ▲

141

■ Psalm 141 contains an individual's prayer for help against being corrupted by wicked people. Among the scrolls it is found only in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter (11QPs<sup>a</sup> and 11QPs<sup>b</sup>). Instead of following Psalm 140 as in the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint, in this arrangement Psalm 141 occurs between 93 and 133. Perhaps this prayer for deliverance was placed after Psalm 93's hymn to God's invincible kingship and unchanging decrees in order to give the Psalmist confidence as he sought help.

5 [Let the righteous strike me—it is a kindness]; and let them correct me—it is oil upon my head. My head will not refuse it, for my prayer<sup>523</sup> is continually against their wicked deeds. 6 When they are given over to those who will condemn them, then they shall hear how pleasant my words are. 7 Like a rock that one breaks apart and shatters on the ground, so will my bones<sup>524</sup> be scattered at the mouth of Sheol.

8 But my eyes are directed toward you, O LORD my God; in you I take refuge—do not leave me defenseless! 9 Keep me from the trap which they have laid for me, and from the snares of evildoers. 10 Let the wicked fall into their own nets, while I alone escape!

133

■ As noted earlier, in the Masoretic Text Psalms 120 through 134 form an ancient grouping known as the “Songs of Ascent,” but in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter only Psalms 120 through 132 are grouped together. The fourteenth Song of Ascent is found here, between Psalms 141 and 144.

0 A Song of Ascents. Of David. 1 See how good and how pleasant it is when brothers live together in unity! 2 It is like the precious oil on the head, running down upon the beard, down on Aaron's beard, running down over the collar of his robes.<sup>525</sup> 3 It is like the dew of Hermon, which falls down upon the mountain<sup>526</sup> of Zion! For to this place<sup>527</sup> the LORD has bestowed the blessing<sup>528</sup> forevermore. Peace be upon Israel!<sup>529</sup>

5 Part your heavens, o God,<sup>537</sup> and come down!<sup>538</sup> Touch the mountains so that they smoke! 6 Make your lightning flash and scatter them; shoot [your arrows and rout them! 7 Stretch out] your [hand] from above; rescue me and deliver [me from the mighty waters, from the hands of foreigners]. . . .

15 Happy are the people for whom this is so! Happy are the people whose<sup>539</sup> God is the LORD!

■ Following the preceding prayer for victory (Ps 144), Psalm 155 includes a plea for deliverance and offers a prayer of thanksgiving for God's granting of salvation. While not found in the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint, Psalms 154 (also in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter) and 155 are preserved in some manuscripts of the Syriac Psalter. For the significance of their presence in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter, see the note at the beginning of Psalm 154.

1 O LORD, I have called to you, listen to me. 2 I spread forth my palms to your holy dwelling; 3 incline your ear and grant me my petition, 4 and do not withhold my request from me. 5 Build up my soul and do not cast it down; 6 and do not abandon it in the presence of the wicked. 7 May the Judge of Truth turn back from me the rewards of evil.

8 O LORD, judge me not according to my sin; for no living person is righteous in your presence. 9 Give me discernment, O LORD, in your law and teach me your precepts, 10 so that many may hear of your works and nations may honor your glory. 11 Remember me and do not forget me, and lead me not into what is too difficult for me. 12 Cast far from me the sin of my youth, and may my transgressions not be remembered against me. 13 Purify me, O LORD, from the evil plague, and let it not again turn back on me. 14 Dry up its roots from me, and let its le[av]es not flourish within me.

15 You are (my) glory, O LORD, therefore my request is fulfilled in your presence. 16 To whom can I cry and he would grant my request? And as for mere humans—what more can [their] streng[th] do? 17 My trust, O LORD, is befo[re] you. I cried “O LORD,” and he answered me, [and he healed] my broken heart. 18 I slumbered [and sl]ept, I dreamed; indeed [I awoke. 19 You supported me, O LORD, and I invoked the Lo]rd [my deliverer. 20 Now I will behold their shame; I have trusted in you and will not be ashamed. Render glory forever and ever. 21 Save Israel, O LORD, your faithful one, and the house of Jacob, your chosen one].

142

■ This prayer for deliverance from enemies is preserved only in 11QPs<sup>a</sup>. Whereas it follows Psalm 141 in the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint, in this arrangement Psalm 142 occurs after 155, perhaps because of the common theme of calling on God for deliverance.

3 [When my spirit grows faint within me, it is you who knows my way. In the path where I walk they have hidden a trap] for me. 4 I look<sup>540</sup> to my right and I watch<sup>541</sup>—but there is no one who is concerned for me. I have no refuge left; no one cares about me.

5 I cry to you, O LORD; I say, “You are my refuge, my portion in the land of the living.” 6 Listen to my cry; for I am desperately wretched; save me from my persecutors, for they are too strong for me. 7 Set me free from prison, that I may give thanks to your name. Then the righteous will gather round<sup>542</sup> me, since you will deal bountifully with me.

1430 A Psalm of David. 1 Hear my prayer, O LORD; give ear to my supplications in your faithfulness; answer me in your righteousness! 2 And do not enter into judgment with your servant, for no one living is righteous before you. 3 For the enemy persecutes<sup>543</sup> me. He has dashed<sup>544</sup> my life to the ground; he has made me sit in darkness like those long dead. 4 Therefore my spirit faints within me, and<sup>545</sup> my heart within me is dismayed.

5 I remember the days of old; I meditate on all your deeds; I contemplate the works<sup>546</sup> of your hands. 6 I stretch out my hands t[o yo]u; my soul thirsts for you in<sup>547</sup> a parched land. Selah.

7 Answer me quickly, O LORD; my spirit is failing. Do not hide your face from me, or I shall become like those who go down to the Pit. 8 [Let me h]ear of your steadfast love in the morning, [for I have placed my trust in you. Show me the way I should go, for] I lift up [my soul] to you.

149

■ This prayer for deliverance from enemies is preserved only in 11QPs<sup>a</sup>, although reconstruction indicates that it was also in the second Psalms scroll from Masada (MasPs<sup>b</sup>). In the Masada fragment Psalm 149 originally followed 148, as in the Masoretic Text, the Septuagint, and our Bibles. But in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter, which is followed in this translation, it comes after Psalm 143.

7 To execute vengeance on the nations (and) punishments upon the peoples,
8 to bind their kings with chains, and their nobles with shackles of iron, 9 to carry out the sentence written against them! This is glory for all his faithful ones, for the children of Israel, his holy people.<sup>548</sup> Praise the LORD!

150

■ Psalm 150 is preserved in only two scrolls—MasPs<sup>b</sup> and 11QPs<sup>a</sup>—each of which represents a different edition of the book of Psalms. In the Masada fragment Psalm 150 is followed by a blank column denoting the end of the scroll (and the MT-150 Psalter<sup>549</sup> which MasPs<sup>b</sup> represents). In the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter, however, Psalm 150 is followed by seven more compositions. It is interesting to note that none of the Psalms scrolls from Qumran clearly supports the MT-150 arrangement. For this we must turn to Masada, where MasPs<sup>b</sup> represents the only unambiguous edition of the MT-150 Psalter. In contrast, the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter is found in at least three manuscripts (see the introduction to the Psalms).

1 Praise God<sup>550</sup> in his sanctuary; praise him in his mighty firmament! 2 Praise him for his mighty acts; praise him according to his surpassing greatness!
3 Praise him with the trumpet sounding;<sup>551</sup> praise him with the harp and lyre!
4 Praise him with tambourines and dancing; praise him with the strings and flute!
5 Praise him with resounding cymbals: Praise him with loud clashing cymbals!
6 Let all things that breathe<sup>552</sup> praise the LORD! Praise the LORD!<sup>553</sup>

The Hymn to the Creator

■ Preserved only in 11QPs<sup>a</sup>, this piece can be classified as a Wisdom Psalm that praises God as creator. It has clear affinities with Psalm 104, since both Psalms draw on themes from Genesis 1. The hymn was unknown prior to the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls.

1 Great and holy is the LORD, the holiest of the Holy Ones from generation to generation. 2 Glory precedes him and following him is the rush of many waters. 3 Grace and truth surround his presence; truth and justice and righteousness are the foundation of his throne. 4 Separating light from deep darkness, he established the dawn by the knowledge of his heart. 5 When all his angels had saw this they sang aloud; for he showed them what they had not known: 6 he crowns the hills with fruit, perfect food for every living being.

7 Blessed be he who has made the earth by his power, who has established the world in his wisdom. 8 In his understanding he spread out the heavens, and brought forth [the wind] from [his] st[orehouses]. 9 He made [lightning bolts for the rai]n, and caused mist[s] to rise [from] the end [of the earth]. ▲

David's Last Words

■ Only a few words from this fascinating passage (also found in 2 Sam 23:1–7) are still preserved in 11QPs<sup>a</sup>. Not actually a Psalm, these verses were apparently included in order to emphasize the Davidic character of the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter. Three other compositions that were included for the same reason are David's Compositions, Psalm 151A, and Psalm 151B.

7 [But the one who touches them uses an iron bar] or the shaft of battle-axes,<sup>554</sup> and they are entirely consumed with fire on the spot.

David's Compositions

■ This piece clearly asserts Davidic authorship of the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter, thus also asserting that its arrangement and compositions were inspired by God himself. Note especially line 11: "All these he composed through prophecy.

. . .”<sup>555</sup> Three other compositions that are included in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter for the same reason are David’s Last Words, Psalm 151A, and Psalm 151B.

2 And David, son of Jesse, was wise, and a light like the light of the sun, and a scribe, 3 and discerning and perfect in all his ways before God and men. And the LORD gave 4 him a discerning and enlightened spirit. And he wrote 5 three thousand six hundred psalms; and songs to sing before the altar over the whole-burnt 6 perpetual offering for every day, for all the days of the year: three hundred and sixty-four; 7 and for the sabbath offerings, fifty-two songs; and for the offering of the New 8 Moons and for all the days of the festivals, and for the Day of Atonement: thirty songs. 9 And all the songs that he uttered were four hundred and forty-six, and songs 10 for making music over the possessed: four. And the total was four thousand and fifty. 11 All these he uttered through prophecy which had been given him from before the Most High.

140

■ The position of Psalm 140, which is a prayer for deliverance from enemies, is somewhat puzzling. It appears in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter after two compositions that function to assert Davidic authorship of the collection (David’s Last Words and David’s Compositions). Perhaps the placement of this piece at this point is also explained by its strong Davidic character (note the superscription: “A Psalm of David”).

■ Of the fifteen Psalms of Ascent, only 120 through 132 are grouped together in the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter (see the note before Psalm 120). The final Psalm of Ascent is found here, between Psalms 140 and 151A. Since the surrounding two pieces apparently serve to reinforce Davidic authorship, the position of Psalm 134 is difficult to explain. Perhaps, with its reference to Zion in verse 3, this Psalm was also meant to emphasize the Davidic connection; or perhaps it serves as a final liturgy of praise preceding the two autobiographical Psalms that end the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter.

0 [A Song of Ascents. 1 Now bless the LORD, all you servants of] the LORD, who stand by night in the house of the LORD! 2 Lift up your hands in the sanctuary, and bless the name of<sup>560</sup> the LORD. 3 May the LORD, who made heaven and earth, bless you from Zion!

151A

■ Of all the Psalms found in the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Masoretic Text, and the Septuagint, Psalms 151A and 151B (preserved only in 11QPs<sup>a</sup>) are the only truly Davidic ones in terms of their autobiographical content. Of course, the superscriptions of many other Psalms ascribe them to David, but close examination of their contents does not unambiguously link any of them to actual events in his life. Psalm 151A, however, refers to David's role as shepherd, his musical gift, his anointing by Samuel, God's choice of him over his brothers, and his kingship. Psalm 151B is very fragmentary, but it contains a clear reference to David's encounter with Goliath.

<sup>561</sup>0 A Hallelujah of David, Son of Jesse. 1 I was smaller than my brothers and the youngest of the sons of my father, when he made me shepherd of his flock and ruler over his kid goats. 2 My hands made an instrument and my fingers a lyre, and so I offered glory to the LORD. I said in my mind: 3 "The mountains do not witness to him, nor do the hills proclaim; the trees have cherished my words and the flock my deeds. 4 For who can announce and who can speak and who can recount my deeds? The Lord of all saw, the God of all—he heard and he listened. 5 He sent his prophet, Samuel, to anoint me, to make me great. My brothers went out to meet him, handsome of figure and appearance. 6 Although they were tall of stature and handsome by their hair, the LORD God did not choose them. 7 But he sent and fetched me from behind the flock and anointed me with holy oil, and he made me leader of his people and ruler over the children of his covenant."

■ In the Septuagint, the book of Psalms ends with Psalm 151 as a single Psalm. In 11QPs<sup>a</sup>, however, the 11QPs<sup>a</sup>-Psalter ends with two distinct Psalms containing much of the material found in the Greek. (Psalm 151B is clearly a new Psalm because of its superscription.) Because of several differences between the two versions of Psalm 151, the Greek version cannot simply be a translation of the Qumran version. The text found in 11QPs<sup>a</sup> represents the original Hebrew with two originally separate Psalms, which the Greek translator has reworked and synthesized into a single Psalm.

<sup>562</sup>1 At the beginning of [Da]vid's po[w]er after the prophet of God had anointed him. 2 Then I [s]aw a Philistine uttering insults from the r[anks of the enemy]. I [. . . ] the [. . . ]. <sup>563</sup>

■ In 11QPs<sup>a</sup> the column containing Psalms 151A and 151B is followed by a blank column. The blank leather clearly shows that the collection found in 11QPs<sup>a</sup> actually ended with Psalm 151B, a version of which also ends the book of Psalms in the Septuagint. For the end of two more important collections indicated by blank leather, see the comments after Psalms 91 and 150, respectively.

AN UNUSUAL COLLECTION FROM CAVE 4

■ 4QPs<sup>f</sup> is a significant and interesting Psalms scroll, since it preserves one Psalm (22) from the early part of the Psalter, two more (Pss 107, 109) from the later part, and three previously unknown non-Masoretic pieces (the Apostrophe to Zion, the Eschatological Hymn, and the Apostrophe to Judah). The complete manuscript, which dates from about 50 BCE, must have contained additional compositions, probably including Psalm 108 between 107 and 109. Because Psalms 22 and 109 and the Apostrophe to Zion were presented earlier in this English translation, only Psalm 107 and the other two non-Masoretic pieces will be translated at this point.

107[1 Give thanks to the LORD, for he is good; for his steadfast love endures forever. 2 Let the re]deemed [of the LORD say this—those] whom he redee[med] from the enemy's power, 3 those whom he gathered in [from the lan]ds, [from east and we]st, [from north and south].

4 Some wandered in dese[rt wa]stelands, find[ing no ro]ad to an [in]habited town; 5 [they were hungry a]nd [thirsty, and their lives ebbed away within them. 6 Then they cried to the LORD in their trouble, and he delivered them from their distress; 7 he led them on a straight road, until they reached an inhabited town. 8 Let them give thanks to the LORD for his steadfast love, for his wonderful deeds to human]kind. 9 [For he satisfies the hung]ry,<sup>564</sup> and fil[ls the thirs]ty<sup>565</sup> [with good things].

10 [Some s]at in dark[ness and deep gloom], prisone[rs in misery and chains, 11 for th]ey [had rebelled against the words of God, and despised the counsel of the Most High. 12 Their hearts were subjected to bitter labor]; they stumbled, [with no one to help. 13 Then they cri]ed out to the Lo[rd] in the[ir] trouble, and he saved them from their dis[tre]ss; 14 and he brought them out<sup>566</sup> of darkness and deep gloom, and broke [apart] their cha[ins]. 15 Give th[anks]<sup>567</sup> to the LORD for his steadfast love, for [his won]derful deeds [to humankind]. 16 For he shat[ters the doors of bron]ze, [and cuts through the bars of iron. 17 Some became sick through their rebellious ways, and suffered affliction because of their iniquities; 18 th]ey [loathed any kind of food, and drew near to the gates] of death. 19 Then they cried out to the Lo[rd] in [their] trouble, [and he saved them from] their dist[ress; 20 he sent out his word and healed them, and delivered them from their destruction.<sup>568</sup> 22 And let them offer sacrifices of] thanksgiv[ing, and tell of his works] with songs of joy.

23 [Some went out to sea] in ships, [doing busi]ness on the [mighty] wa[ters; 24 they saw the deeds of the LORD]; let them give thanks for his wonderful deeds<sup>569</sup> [in the deep ocean. 25 For he gave the word and rai]sed up a [stormy] wind, [which lifted high] the waves (of the sea).<sup>570</sup> 26 They mounted up to the heavens [and des]cended to the depths, and their courage<sup>571</sup> [mel]ted away inside th[em].<sup>572</sup> 27 They reeled and stag[gered like] drunkards, and were entirely at their wits' [end]. 28 Then they cried out to the LORD in the[ir trou]ble, and he saved them<sup>573</sup> from their distress; 29 he caused the storm to be cal[m], and the waves of the sea<sup>574</sup> were hushed. 30 [Then he brought them to] their desired haven, [and they were glad because things were now quiet.<sup>575</sup> 31 Let them give thanks to the LORD for his steadfast love, for his wonderful deeds to humankind. 32 Let them exalt him in the assembly of the people, and praise him in the session of the elders].

33 [He transforms rivers into a desert, springs of water into thirsty ground, 34 fruitful land into a salty waste, because of the wickedness of those who live there. 35 He turns a desert into pools of water], parched ground<sup>576</sup> into fountains<sup>577</sup> of water. 36 And there he brings a mighty people<sup>578</sup> to live, and they [estab]lish towns<sup>579</sup> [where they can live]; 37 they so[w fiel]ds, and pla[nt] vineyards, [and gather a fruitful har]vest. 38 [He blesses them and they multiply greatly], and [he does not let their he]rds [diminish].

39 When<sup>580</sup> [their numbers de]crease [and they are brought low through oppression, calamity], and sor[ow, 40 the one who pours contempt on princes makes them wan]der in [trackless w]astes; 41 [but then he lifts up] the needy in their affliction,<sup>581</sup> [and] on his account<sup>582</sup> [makes their families] like flo[cks. 42 The upright] see (all this) [and are glad; and as for all] wickedness, he keeps [its] mouth shut.<sup>583</sup>

[43 Let those who are wise pay attention to these things, and consider the steadfast love of the LORD].

■ The Eschatological Hymn and the Apostrophe to Judah were unknown to scholars prior to the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls but are now available to us in 4QPs. The first of these compositions offers praise to God, but with an eschatological emphasis (that is, with a view to the end times). The second piece seems also to be eschatological, with a clear focus on Judah. The Apostrophe is also highly anthological, since it contains many words and phrases known from other parts of the Hebrew Bible.

The Eschatological Hymn

4 many [. . . ] and let them praise 5 the name of the LORD. [F]or he comes to judge 6 every ac[ti]on, to remove the wicked 7 from the earth, [so that the children of] iniquity will not 8 be found. [And] the hea[v]ens [will give] their dew, 9 and there will be no searing dro[ught within] their [b]orders. And the earth 10 will yield its fruit in its season, and will not 11 cheat of its [pro]duce. The 12 fruit trees [will . . . ] their vines, and [. . . ] will not cheat of its [. . . ]. The 14 oppressed will eat, and those who fear the LORD will be satisfied] . . .

The Apostrophe to Judah

5 [. . . ] Then let the heavens and earth give praise together; 6 then let all the stars of twilight give praise! 7 Rejoice, O Judah, in your joy; 8 be happy in your happiness, and dance in your dance. 9 Celebrate your pilgrim feasts, fulfill your vows, for no longer 10 is Belial in your midst. May your hand be lifted up! 11 May your right hand prevail! See, enemies will 12 perish, and all evildoers will be scattered. But you, LORD, are forev[er]; 14 your glory will be forev[er and ev]er! 15 [Pra]ise the Lord!

JOB

The Hebrew text of the book of Job is the most problematic found in the Bible. This is due not only to its subject matter, but also to the fact that it is poetry, that it is high dramatic art of lyric quality, and that it may be based on an earlier drama not Israelite in origin.

Remnants of only four manuscripts were unearthed at Qumran, and only one of those (4QJob<sup>a</sup>) has more than six small fragments preserved. 2QJob, in fact, has only one fragment with a single complete word and letters from four others. Interestingly, one of the manuscripts of Job of very early date (ca. 225–150 BCE) was inscribed in the archaic paleo-Hebrew script, common before the Babylonian exile (587–539 BCE). All the other identified manuscripts written in this script are among the Books of Moses (that is, Genesis through Deuteronomy), though there is another that deals with the figure of Joshua. Rabbinic tradition attributes the book of Job to Moses. Thus the ancient script was presumably retained for some copies of these books as an attestation of their great antiquity. In addition, there were two copies of an Aramaic translation of the book found.

Unfortunately, the small amount of Job preserved at Qumran does not help much with the difficult Hebrew of the traditional Masoretic Text. Occasionally when the Qumran manuscripts differ from the traditional version, there is not enough text preserved to establish a context firmly. This is problematic, since even the Masoretic Text itself is sometimes obscure, and translators must make educated guesses. Most of the variants are quite minor: singular for plural, transposition of word order, presence or lack of a small word that adds no meaning or is implicit. Once 4QJob<sup>a</sup> uses a more familiar form of the word “God” (Job 33:26). In another instance 4QJob<sup>a</sup> has a negative that is not in the traditional text (Job 37:1), but the full context cannot be confidently established.

815 [The wicked lean against their house, but it does not stand.] They clutch onto it, but it does not stay. 16 Fresh they may remain while exposed to the sun,] and [their shoots may gro]w [across their ga]rden; [17 . . . ].

PROVERBS

Proverbs was an important book in Israel for training in wisdom, prudence, and moral character, and Qumran made use of it. Only scraps from two scrolls of Proverbs were found there, and one of those has only two fragments. There are major differences between the Hebrew and the Greek versions of Proverbs, due to intentionally different editions of the book, and the Qumran fragments appear to agree with the traditional Hebrew edition. There are only a few variants, each presumably inadvertent, involving only a single look-alike letter but yielding noticeable differences in meaning.

One verse of Proverbs is cited explicitly by one of the principal books of the Qumran community, the Damascus Document. The command is given not to send an “offering to the altar through anyone impure . . . ; for it is written, ‘The sacrifice of the wicked is disgusting; but the prayer of the righteous is like a proper offering.’”<sup>a</sup> The formula “for it is written” is sometimes used to introduce authoritative Scripture for deciding a course of conduct, but sometimes, as here, it is used simply to buttress a commonsense practice. In addition, Proverbs 1:1–6 is echoed in 4Q525 fragment 1: “[to kno]w wisdom and disc[ipline,] to understand [ . . . ].” Proverbs 7:12 is possibly quoted in 4Q184 fragment 1 11–12, where Lady Folly “lies secretly in wait [ . . . ] in the city streets”; the same motif plays in 4Q415 fragment 9, reminiscent of Proverbs 8:22–31.

1<sup>27</sup> [When your terror arrives like a storm, and your calamity comes on like a whirlwind, when] distress and anguish come [upo]n y[ou], 28 then [they will call on me, but I will not answer]; they will sea[r]ch for me [but] will not find me. 29 Because they despised knowledge and did not choose the fear of the L[O]RD, 30 did not desire [my] cou[nsel] but despised a[ll] my discipline, 31 now they will eat [the fruit of their ways] and be filled with their own devices. 32 The narrowmindedness of<sup>f</sup> [simpletons will kill them, and] the complacency of fools will destroy them. 33 But the one who listens to me will dwell in security and pea[ce without fear of evil].

21 My child, if you receive my words and [harbor my] com[mandments within you], [2 . . . ]. ▲

136 [Righteousness guards the one whose path is perfect, but wi]ckedness [ruins the sinner.<sup>2</sup> 7 One pretends to be rich, yet has nothing; another pre]tends to be poor, yet has great wealth. 8 [The ransom of one's life is one's riches, but the poor] never hear [a threat. 9 The light of the righteous glows brightly, but the lamp of the wick]ed will [be extinguished]. ▲

147 [Leave the presence of] a foo]l, or you will not perceive words of knowledge. 8 The wisdom of the prudent is to understand one's way], but the folly of foo]ls is deceit. 9 . . . ] 10 The heart knows [its own bitterness, and a stranger does not share in its joy. 11 . . . 12 There is a road which seems right to a person], but [it] end[s in the streets of death. 13 Even in laughter the heart aches, and the end of joy is] grief. ▲

31 [Those who oppress the poor reproa]ch [their] Maker, [but] those who are gra[cious] to the needy honor him. 32 The wick[ed are] thrown down [by their own wrongdoing, but] in their death<sup>3</sup> [the right]eous [have refuge]. 33 Wisdom rests [in the heart of one with understanding], but what is [in] the midst of fools [becomes known. 34 Righteousness] exalts a nation, but [sin di]minishes<sup>4</sup> peoples. 35 [The kin]g [favors] a servant who acts prudently, but he ra[g]es against [the one who acts shamefully].

151 [A soft answer] turns [away wrath], but a harsh word stir[s] up anger. 2 [The tongue of the wi]se ut[ter]s [knowledge] we]ll, but the mouth of foo]ls pours ou[t folly. 3 The eyes of the LORD are] everywhe[re, watching] the evil [and the good. 4 A healing] to]ngue is a tree of] life, [but perversity in it breaks the spirit. 5 Fools despise their] pa[rents'] discipline, [but those who observe correction become prudent. 6 In the house of the righteous there is much tre]asu[re, but in the profit of the wicked there is trouble. 7 The lips of the wi]se d[isperse] knowledge, not so the heart of fools. 8 The sacrifice of the wick]ed [is] an abomi[nation to the LORD, but the prayer of the upright is his delight]. ▲

19 [The way of the lazy is hedged with thorns, but the path of the just is] a highway. 20 Wise children make a fa[ther] glad; [only fools despise] their mother. 21 Ignorance is joy to one who la[cks] sense, but a person with] understanding moves straight along. 22 [P]lan[s without counsel are] frustrated, but with sufficient advisors you succeed. 23 [A person is] happy [for a proper resp]onse, and [how] good is a word at the [right] mom[ent]! 24 The p[ath of life] goes upward for [the w]is[e, s]o [they] can avoid She[ol] below. 25 The LO]RD [will tear down the house of the proud] but will establish the boundary [for the widow]. 26 Evil [pla]ns [are an abomination to the LORD], but [pleasant words are] pur[e]. 27 Those who acquire unjust gain [bring] tr[ouble to their house], but those who hate br[ibes will live]. 28 The heart of] the righteous considers<sup>5</sup> how to answer, but the mouth of the wicked b[labbers evil]. 29 The LORD is [fa]r from the wicked, but [hears] the prayer of the ri[g]hteous. 30 The ligh]t of the eyes makes the heart glad, [and good] ne[ws puts fat on the bones]. 31 The ear that listen]s to the discipli[ne of life will live among the wise]. ▲

BEN SIRA (SIRACH)

Jesus ben Sira was a Jewish teacher who compiled a book of wise sayings and instructions in Hebrew in about 190 BCE. The author's grandson later translated this work into Greek and added a preface of his own. The book has several names, which can be somewhat confusing. It is known as "Sirach" or "Ecclesiasticus" among Catholic and Orthodox Christians, who include it in the Old Testament, and also among Protestants and some Jews, who group it among the Apocrypha. This traditional form of the book is based on the Greek translation made by Ben Sira's grandson, which is found in the Septuagint. Although the Hebrew text was known and read for several centuries into the common era—being discussed in some rabbinic writings—it fell into disuse in most Jewish circles. The Hebrew version is known as the Wisdom of Jesus Ben Sira, or simply Ben Sira, a name increasingly preferred by Jews and by scholars working with the Hebrew text.

Early in the twentieth century substantial Hebrew texts of Ben Sira, copied in the eleventh and twelfth centuries CE, were discovered in the Cairo genizah. This term denotes a storeroom attached to a synagogue, in this case in Cairo, that was used for old and damaged manuscripts, since in Jewish tradition these cannot simply be discarded or burned. None of the Cairo copies is complete; when combined, however, these copies provide the Hebrew text for approximately two-thirds of the book.

Three copies of Ben Sira (or, rather, two copies and a poem also included in Ben Sira) were found among the Dead Sea Scrolls. The most substantial manuscript was discovered at Masada, the fortress where over nine hundred Jewish defenders took their own lives in 73 or 74 CE. Abbreviated MasSir, this scroll preserves portions of chapters 39 to 44 of the book's fifty-one chapters. The only Ben Sira scroll found at Qumran was in Cave 2;<sup>a</sup> it preserves parts of chapters 1 and 6. One manuscript from Cave 11, the Great Psalms Scroll,<sup>b</sup> preserves about two-thirds of a poem found in chapter 51: the second canticle (Sir 51:13–30) that follows the epilogue written by Ben Sira. With respect to dates, the earliest of the three scrolls containing material from Ben Sira was copied in the first half of the first century BCE,<sup>c</sup> and the latest about 30 to 50 CE.<sup>d</sup>

In view of Ben Sira's size, it is surprising that so little of the book was found among the Dead Sea Scrolls: just parts of three chapters at Qumran, and portions of six more at Masada. The Masada scroll is significant since it was copied not much more than a hundred years after the original. Moreover, the form of the Masada text confirms that the medieval manuscripts of Ben Sira from the Cairo genizah basically represent the original Hebrew version, although with numerous corruptions and later changes.

The Qumran evidence is particularly interesting since it is of two different types. The Cave 2 scroll preserves very little text but may come from a manuscript that contained some or all of Ben Sira. However, the fact that the Cave 11 poem is found in a manuscript of the book of Psalms suggests that it was originally an independent composition. This assessment is confirmed in that the canticle seems to be tacked on at the end of Ben Sira in the later, more complete versions of the book. Comparison of the Hebrew and Greek texts reveals substantial differences in the poem; this is largely because the Greek translator substituted pious ideas for the many erotic images in the original Hebrew found in 11QPs<sup>a</sup>. For example, the following excerpt from 11QPs<sup>a</sup> is highly erotic, with its sexual imagery (note that hand can also mean penis):

21 I bestirred my desire for her, and on her heights I could not relax.
22 [I] spread my "hand" [ . . . ] and perceived her nakedness.

But the Greek translator has clearly downplayed the erotic imagery by substituting pious language, with the purpose of pursuing wisdom in a more spiritual or philosophical sense:

I directed my soul toward her, and in my deeds I was exact. I stretched my hands on high, and perceived her secrets.

Eventually, this Wisdom book fell out of favor in Jewish circles and was excluded by the Rabbis from their list of scriptural books. As mentioned earlier, it survived in Greek (and other) translations as Sirach or Ecclesiasticus and is included in Catholic and Orthodox Bibles. Our oldest copies of Ben Sira, written in the original Hebrew, are among the Dead Sea Scrolls and form the basis of the translation that follows. (The later genizah manuscripts are not included in The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible for lack of space.) Perhaps the recovery of these ancient texts will foster renewed interest in this fascinating and controversial Wisdom book.

■ Because so little text remains in this small fragment, it is uncertain whether this passage is Ben Sira 1:19–20 or 6:14–15, so both passages are presented here. In these verses Wisdom is personified as she and her, and is to be held onto by righteous people.

[18 The fear of the LORD is the crown of wisdom, making peace and restoring health to flourish. 19 She pours forth knowledge and discernment, and she elevates the glory of those who hold [her fast. 20 To fear the LORD is the root of wisdom, and] her [branches are] long [life].<sup>1</sup> ▲

6

■ The verses presented below deal with the immense value of a faithful friend, and offer further thoughts on wisdom and discipline.

14 [A faithful friend is a sturdy] shelter; whoever finds one has found riches. 15 For a faithful [friend] there is no [price; no amount can balance his excellence]. ▲

20 [She seems very harsh to the foolish; anyone lacking understanding] cannot remain with her. 21 She will be like a heavy stone upon him, and he will not hesitate to cast her aside. 22 For discipline is just like her name, and she is not straightforward [to many. . . . 25 Bend your shoulders and carry her, and do not be offended under her shrewd guidance. 26 Draw near to her with all your soul, and observe] her [ways with all your strength. 27 Search out and explore, investigate and discover, and when you take hold of her, do not let] her go. 28 [For at last you will find the rest she brings,<sup>2</sup> and she will be changed into pleasure [for you. 29 Then her fetters will become for you a strong protection, and her collar] a golden robe. 30 [Her yoke is a golden ornament, and her bonds are a cord of purple. 31 You will wear her like a golden robe, [and] carry her like a splendid crown]. ▲

■ Most of these verses are part of a long hymn praising the works of the LORD (Sir 39:16–31). The final verse contains the beginning of a statement by Ben Sira giving his reasons for compiling this book. His comment that he has “thought this out” and has “set it down in writing” is particularly interesting, since it highlights the role of the scribe as a creative author as well as a collector of material.

27 [All these prove good for good people, but for evil people] they are t[ur]ned into loathing.

28 [There are winds created for vengeance, and in their fury] they dislo[dge mounta]ins; [at the time of destruction they will pour out their strength and] will appease [the passion<sup>3</sup> of] their [Maker. 29 Fire and hail, misfortune and pestilence, these, too, have] been crea[ted for vengeance. 30 Beasts of prey, scorpions and vipers, and an avenging sword for destroying the ung]odly; [all these also are created for their functions, and are in his storehouse at the time] they [are appointed. 31 They delight when he gives them his command, and do not disobey] his bi[dding in their prescribed tasks].

32 [So from the beginning I have been convinced, and having thought this out] I [have set it down in writing: . . . ]▲

40

■ This chapter contains four themes, with part of each preserved in the fragments of the Masada scroll (MasSir). Verses 1–11 present a disturbing picture of human wretchedness, while verses 12–17 make it clear that injustice will not last or prosper. The third section, verses 18–27, gives a happy description of the joys and blessings of life, while verses 28–30 warn that begging is a disgrace.

10 [Evil is created for the wicked, and because of them] destruction has[tens].
11 All that is from [the earth returns to earth, and what is from above returns above].

12 All that is of fa[lsehood and injustice will be wiped out, but what is true will last forever]. 13 The wealth that is from iniquity is [like a mighty river, and like a powerful watercourse in a thundersto]rm. 14 With its deluge rock[s are rolled away; even so, it is suddenly go]ne [forever.] 15 A branch that comes from violence will not ta[ke root; for a blighted root] is on [sheer] rock, 16 like reeds by the banks of a river, which are dried up [before any] grass. 17 (But) kindness, like eternity, will never be cut off, and faithfulness will be established forever.

18 A life of wealth and wages is pleasant, but better than both of these is the one who finds [a treasure]. 19 Children and [founding a city est]ablish one's name, but better than both of these is the one who finds [wisdom. Cattle and farming make] a kinsman [prosperous, but better than both of these is a beloved wife]. ▲

26 [Riches and strength gladden the heart, but better than] both of these [is the fear of God. There is no want in the fear of the Lord, and] with it there is no need to seek for h[e]lp. 27 [The fear of God is like an Eden of blessing], and its canopy is over all that is glo[rious].

28 [My child, do not lead a beggar's life]; it is better to be a [de]ad man than to be importunate. 29 [When one looks to a stranger's table, one's existence cannot] be considered a life. The tid-[bits that are presented are a pollution of his soul; to a m]an of understand[ing] they are inward torture. 30 In the mouth of a bold person [begging] is s[weet, but] it burns like a fire [inside] him.

41–42:1a

■ This part of Ben Sira, which is well preserved in MasSir, contains several serious themes that make for heavy reading. Verses 1–4 of chapter 41 remind us of the inevitability of death, while verses 5–14 give a sober warning of the fate of the wicked. The final section, which begins with verse 15 and ends in 42:1a, presents an important list of things that are shameful and should be avoided. Note that the very order of verses in MasSir is not always identical to that of the LXX (for example, vss 14b–15–14a–16b where LXX has vss 14ab–15–16).

1 O [death,<sup>4</sup> how bitter is the th]ought of you to the person living at peace in his home, [to the one] who has no stress and is prosperous in everything, and is still vigorous enough to enjoy pleasure! 2 Hail to death, how welcome is [your] sen[tence to] the one who has no might and is failing in strength, the one who stumbles and trips at [everything], devoid of sight and having lost hope. 3 Do not fear death, decreed for you; remember that those who went before and those who come after (share it) with you. 4 This is the end for every [l]iving creature from Go[d]; [so why should you reject the decree of] the Most H[igh]? Whether life is for ten, a hundred, or a thousand years, [there are no punishments for life in Sheol].

5 The ch[ild]ren of sinners are an abominable offspring, [and a godless progeny is in the dwellings of the wic]ked. 6 [From the children of sin]ners domi[n]ion will be lost, [and with their offspring] there will be perpetu[al] contempt. 7 Children will blame [an ungodly father, for] they will suffer disgrace [on] his account. 8 [Woe to you], ungod[ly] people, you who have forsaken the law of the Most High! 9 [If you are fruitful, it is] b[y] means of [calamity]; and when you beget them, it is only for sighing. [When yo]u [stumble], it is for lasting joy; and when you die, it is for a curse. 10 [Whatever comes from] nothing returns to nothing; so it is with the ungodly: from emptiness to emptiness. 11 [People are] futile [in th]eir [bodies, but] a virtuous name will never be cut off. 12 Be concern[ed] about your name, since it will remain with you longer than thousands of precious [treasures]. 13 [The go]od things of life last for a number of days, but the goodness of [a name] has days without number. 14b Hidden [wi]sdom and unseen treasure—of what use is either?

15 Better is the person who hid[es] his folly than the one who hides his wisdom. 14a Hear, my children, instruction concerning shame, [and be asha]med according to my judgment. 16b For not every kind of shame becomes shameful, nor is every kind of reproach to be preferred. 17 Be ashamed of sexual immorality before your father or mother, and be ashamed of lies before a prince or a ruler; 18 of intrigue before a master or mistr[ess], and [o]f [trans]gression before the assembly and the people; of treachery before your partner or your friend, 19 and o[f] theft in the place where you live. Be ashamed of breaking an oath or agreement, and of stretching out your elbow at meals;<sup>5</sup> of refus[ing] to grant a request, 21a and of rejecting the appeal<sup>6</sup> of your relative; 21b of preventing the dividing of someone's portion, 20 and of keeping quiet before those who greet you; 21c of gazing up[on a woman who has a husband], 20b and of noticing a prostitute; 22a of interfering wi[th] your serva[nt-girl], 22b and of violating her bed; 22c of abusive words before a friend, 22c and of being insulting after making a gift. 42:1a Be ashamed of repeating a rumor you have heard, and of betraying any secrets. Then you wi[ll] show true shame, and will find favor in everyone's sight.

- The first part (vss 1b–14) follows what preceded by spelling out things of which one should not be ashamed. Much of this advice is very down to earth and practical, ranging from business practices, household affairs, disciplining of children, and relations between husband and wife. Of special concern to this author was a father's care and responsibility for his daughter (vss 9–14). The second section (vss 15–25) celebrates the works of the Lord in nature. All this material is relatively well preserved in MasSir.

1b [B]ut do not be ashamed of the following things, and do not show partiality to people and commit sin: 2 of the law of the Most High and his statute, and of rendering judgment to acquit the wicked; 3 of keeping accounts with a partner or with a traveling companion, and of dividing an inheritance and property; 4a of precision with scales and weights, and of polishing measures and weights;<sup>2</sup> 4b of buying much or lit[tle, 5a and of] profit in trading with merchants; 5b [of freque]nt [disciplining of children] and 5c a bad servant who goes around limping; 6 [on an unworthy wife—put]ting a seal, and where there are many hands—a key; 7 upon the pl[ace] of deposit—a number, and let all [trans]actions be in writing. 8 Do not be ashamed of (correcting) the re[bellion of the] stupid or foolish, or of the tottering old gray-[beard] who is occupied with sexual immorality. Then you will be truly well-instructed, [and a person who is mode]st before everyone alive.

9 [A daughter] is a decep[tive] treasure to her father, [and worry over her ro]bs him of sleep; when she is young in case she is unwanted, or in her heyday in case she is [reject]ed; 10 during her virginity in case she is violated, and when with her husband [in case] she proves unfaithful; in her father's house in case she falls pregnant, and at her husband's house [in case she proves ba]rr[en]. 11 My son], keep strict watch over a daughter, [in c]ase she [makes you a bad name], a byword in the city and the assembly of the people, [and puts you to shame in the assembly at the city g]ate. See that there is no [window] where she stays, [no spot that overlooks the approaches aro]und the house. 12 Do not let her parade her beauty to any man, [or converse in the house of married women]; 13 for from a garment comes the moth, [and from a woma]n comes [wo]man's wickedness. 14 Better is the wickedness of a man than the goodness of a woman, and a daughter who fears any disgrace.

15 I will now make mention of the works of God, and will declare what I have seen. By the word of the Lord are his works, and an act of his grace is his doctrine. 16 The shining sun is revealed over everything, [and the gl]ory of the Lord fills his works. 17 God's holy ones do not have the power to recount all his marvelous works; the Lord has strengthened his hosts to stand firm before his glory. 18 He searches out the abyss and the heart; he understands their secrets. For the Most High possesses know[ledge, and] sees what is to come for eternity.

19 He declares what has been [and what will be, and] reveals the mystery of hidden things. 20 No knowledge escapes him, and n[o]thing is lo[s]t to him. 21 The might of [his] wisdom [is steadfast], h[e is] one and the same [from et]ernity. Nothing can be added [or taken away], and he [needs no o]ne to give him counsel. 22 Are not all his works desirab[le], down to a spark and a fleeting vision? 23 All of them live and rem[ain] forever, [and] each one is preserved for every need. 24 All of them [come in pairs], one opposite the other, and he has made none of them [in vain]. 25 Each one surpasses the good of the other, [so] who could ever have enough of seeing their splendor?

■ This chapter continues with the theme of God's works that was introduced in chapter 42. The works of the Lord are arranged in a list that begins with the sun as the highest created being (vss 1–5), followed by the moon (vss 6–8), the stars (vss 9–10), and earthly phenomena such as the rainbow, lightning, clouds, winds, etc. (vss 11–26). Such arrangements are known as onomastica (that is, lists of natural phenomena); a similar arrangement is found in Job 38:1–38. The final section (vss 27–33, with only a few verses preserved in the MasSir) turns the focus away from nature to the Lord and his power. Note the differing arrangement of vv 17a-16b-17b in comparison to LXX (16–17).

1 The beauty of the higher realms and the pure vault of the sky, the firm heavens m[anifest] its gl[ory]. 2 The sun, when it appears, shines to the full; what a marvelous instrument it is, the work of the [Mo]st High. 3 At noon it makes the world [bo]il, and who can wi[th]stand its scorching heat? 4 Like a [gl]owing [fu]rnace made of cast-iron the [su]n's bo[lt sets the mountain ablaze]; a tongue of fire con[su]mes the world, [and with its flames eyes are scorched]. 5 For great is the Lord who made it, and [his] wor[ds surpass his strong men].<sup>8</sup>

6 Moreover, the [mo]on prescribes the changing seasons, ru[ler of a period and for an everlasting sign]. 7 To it belongs the appo[inted] season and from it comes festal days; [and now it delights in its circuit]. 8 The new moon, as its name suggests, ren[ews itself; how marvelous it is in its changing]! A vessel of the host of clouds on high, it [pa]ves [the vault of the heavens with its shining].

9 The beauty of the heavens and the glory of the stars is a witness and glitters in the hei[g]hts of God]. 10 At the command of the Lord it stands in its appointed place, and it never relaxes in their watch. 11 Look at the rainbow, and praise its Maker, for [it is] exceedingly majestic [in its glory]. 12 It encircles the sky with its glory, [and] the hands of God have stretched it out in mi[ght].

13 His command [mar]ks the hailstones and makes brilliant the lightnings of judgment. 14 On his account he has opened the storehouses, and makes the clouds fly out like birds. 15 His majesty gives the clouds their strength, and breaks the hailstones in pieces. 17a The sound of his thunder makes his earth tremble, and by his strength he shakes mountains. 16b At his will the south wind blows, 17b as do the whirlwind, hurricane, and storm. He scatters the snow like flocks of birds, and its descent is like settling locusts. 18 The beauty of its whiteness dazzles the eyes, and the mind is amazed as it rains down. 19 He [also] pours out frost like salt, and produces thornlike blossoms. 20 He makes blow [the icy blast of the no]rth wind, and he congeals the source like a clod. . . . 22 The distil[lation of the cloud of m]ist is a healing for all such things, [hurrying to bring refreshment from the heat].

23 [His] word enters the mi[ghty] deep; [he has stretched out] islands [in the ocean. 24 Those who go down to the se]a tel[l of its] extent; we marvel at what our ears hear. 25 [In it are marvelous creatures, the most astonishing of all his works], and [all kinds of living things, and] the might of Rahab. ▲

29 [The Lord is exceedingly awesome, and] his [pow]er [is marvelous. 30 You who glorify the Lord: lift up your voices as much as you can, for] God [i]s! ▲

44

■ This chapter opens with a famous hymn in honor of the nation's ancestors (vss 1–15), but the first verse of the Masada scroll reveals an emphasis very different from the one known in the Septuagint. Instead of the well-known phrase “Let us now praise famous men,” here we read “Let me now sing the praises of pious men.” The emphasis on piety, or godliness, in the Hebrew text contrasts with the fame or renown found in the Greek. The second part (vss 16–23) recounts the piety of ancestors such as Noah and Abraham, but only one verse (17) is preserved in MasSir. For the apparent omission of verse 16 and its mention of Enoch, see the footnote to verse 17.

1 [Let me now sing the praises of] pious me[n, our] ancestors [in their generations]. 2 The Most High apportioned them great glory, and his greatness from the d[ays of old. 3 Those who ruled over the earth in their royalty, and men of renown by their valor]; counselors because of their discernment, and all-seeing in [their] prophe[cy]; 4 leaders of the nation in their statesmanship, and high officials in [their de]crees; skilled of speech in their instruction, and speakers of wise sayings at [their festi]vals; 5 composers of psalms in poetic lines, and authors of prov[erbs in books]; 6 rich men endowed with power, living at eas[e in their homes].

7 All these were honored in their generation, [and in their days had distinction]. 8 Some of them have left behind a name, so that [others might declare it in their inheritance]. 9 But of others there is no memory, [so that there was an end of them when they perished]; they lived as though they had never been born, they and [their children after them]. 10 Nevertheless, these were godly men, and [their] good[ness will not be cut off]. 11 Their fortune will remain with their descendants, and [their] inheri[tance with their children's children]. 12 In their covenant their descendants stand, and their descendants also, [for their sake]. 13 Their offspring will continue forever, and their glory will never be eras[ed]. 14 Their bod[ies] are buried in peace, but their name lives on to all generations. 15 The assembly [declar]es [their wisdom], and the congregation proclaims their praise.

<sup>9</sup>17 Noah the righteous man was found blameless; in the [time of destruction he became the continuer].<sup>10</sup> For [his sake there was a remnant, and because of the covenant with him the flood ceased]. ▲

■ This poem was previously familiar to us as the second canticle following the epilogue of Ben Sira. For comments on this composition as part of the large Psalms scroll from Cave 11, on its erotic nature, and on differences between the Hebrew text and the later Greek translation, see the introduction to Ben Sira.

13 I was a young man, before I had gone astray, I looked for her. 14 She came to me in her beauty, and eventually I sought her out. 15 Even when the blossom drops in the ripening of grapes, making the heart happy, 16 so my foot trod in uprightness; for since my youth I have known her. 17 I inclined my ear but a little, and great was the captivation I found. 18 So she became a wet-nurse for me; to my teacher I give my scepter. 19 I decided to make sport: I was eager for pleasure, without stopping. 20 I kindled my passion for her, I could not turn away my face. 21 I bestirred my desire for her, and on her heights I could not relax. 22 [I] spread my “hand” [ . . . ] and perceived her nakedness. 23 I cleansed my “hand” [ . . . 30 . . . ] your reward in its time.

RUTH

This charming story about the foreigner Ruth and her devotion to her Israelite mother-in-law survives on fragments from four separate manuscripts, two from Cave 2 and two from Cave 4 at Qumran. Two of the scrolls date from the middle of the first century BCE, one from the late first century BCE or early first century CE, and one from the middle of the first century CE. Since the story is rather straightforward, and since there are few issues that would incite ideological change, all four texts plus the one recorded in the traditional Masoretic Text exhibit the same language with only minor, unimportant variants. Most involve either a single letter mistaken for a similar one, an interchangeably synonymous word, or an insertion of an explicit word for what was already implicit.

1 During the period in which the judges ruled, there was a famine in the land. So a man of [Bethlehem] in Judah with his wife and his two sons went to sojourn in the fields of Moab. 2 The<sup>1</sup> ma[n]’s name was [Elimelech], his wife’s name Naomi, and his two sons’ Mahlon and Chilion, Ephrathites of Bethle[hem in Ju]dah. They came to the fields of Moab and lived<sup>2</sup> there. 3 Elimelech, [Naomi’s husband], died, [and she was left with] her two sons. 4 They married Moabite women, [one] named [Orpah, the other Ruth, and] they lived there about ten years. 5 Then Mahlon [and Chilion] bo[th] died as well, [and the wo]man [was bereaved] of her two children and her husband.

6 Then she prep[ared with her daughters-in-law to return from the fields of Moab, because she had heard] in Moab that the LOR[D] had visited [his people, giving them food. 7 She left the place in which she had been staying, along] with [her t]wo daughters-in-law, [and they set out on the journey back to the land of Judah. 8 But Naomi said to her two daughters-in-law], “Go on, return ea[ch of you to her mother’s house. May the LORD deal kindly with you, as you have dealt with the d]ead and with [me. 9 May the LORD grant that you find rest, each of you in the house of her husband.” Then she kissed them]. But they sobbed and [wept 10 and said to her, “We will return with you, to your people.” 11 But

Naomi said, “Go back], my daughters. Why [would you go with me? Do I still have sons in my womb to be your husbands? 12 Go back, my daughters, go on]; for [I am too] ol[d to have a husband. If I should say I have hope, if I should even have a husband tonight and even b]ear [sons] aga[in,<sup>3</sup> 13 would you, on that account, wait until they were grown]? Would yo[u], on that account, keep [from marrying some man? No, my daughters. It is far more bitter for me than for you], for the hand of the LORD has come out against me.” 14 [Then they sobbed and wept again]. Orpah [kissed] her mother-in-law [good-bye], but [Ruth clung to her.]

15 [So she said, “Look], your sister-in-law [has gone back] to<sup>4</sup> [her people] and to<sup>5</sup> [her] g[od. Follow your sister-in-law].” ▲

213 [Then she said, “I have found favor in your sight, my lord, for you have comforted me and have spoken kindly to your maidservant, though I am not so much as one of] your [maidservants].”

14 [At mealtime Boaz said to her, “Come here. Eat] some [bread and dip your morsel in the vinegar.” So she sat beside the] reapers, and he gave her roasted grain, and she a[te and was satis]fied and had some lef[t over. 15 When she ro]se to glea[n], Boaz gave [these] orders to [his] young men: “Let her glean even [among the sheaves], and do not reproach her. 16 [Furthermore] pull sta[lks out of the bundles for her], and leave them for [her] to glean, [and do] not [rebuke her].”

17 [She gleaned] in the field until evening. Then she [beat out what she had gleaned, and it cam]e to about an ephah of barley. 18 She carried it back to [the city, and] her mother-in-law [saw] what she had gleaned. Then she brought out and ga[ve her w]hat was left over after she had eaten her fill.<sup>6</sup> 19 So [her] moth[er-in-law] sai[d] to her, “[Where] did you glean today? Wh[ere] did you work? [Blessed be the one who took notice of you!” She told her mother-in-law with] whom she had worked, [saying,] “The name [of the man] with [whom I] wor[ked] to[day is Boaz].” 20 Naomi [said] to her dau[ghter]-in-law, “May he be blessed by [the LORD, who has not withdrawn] his kindness from the living or the [dead!” Then Naomi said to her,] “The m[a]n is closely related to us; [he is one of our redeemer kinsmen.” 21 Then Ruth the Moabi]te [said], “He even sai[d] to me,<sup>7</sup> [‘You stay] near [my] young men, [until my] whole ha[rvest] is finished.” 22 [Naomi said t]o Ruth, [her daughter-in-law, “It is good, my daughter, for you to go out with] his [yo]u[ng] women so that you [will] n[ot be troubled] in [some other] f[ield.” 23 So she stayed nea]r Boaz’s young women and glea[n]ed until the en[d of the barle]y [harvest], then of the wheat harv[est, while she lived with her mother-in-law].

31 Naomi her mother-in-law said to her, “[My daughter, should I not seek] a home for you, where it will go [well for you? 2 Now is not B]oaz, whose [young women] you were wi[th], our rela[tive]? [Listen], he [will be winnowing] barley [tonight at the threshing-fl]oor. 3 [So bathe, anoint yourself, put] on your [best cl]othes, [and go down to the threshing-floor. Do not let yourself be recognized by the man until he finishes eating and drinking]. 4 When he lies down, [note the place where he is lying]. Then [go i]n, uncover [his] f[eet, and lie down. Then he will tell you what] you should do.” 5 She [said to her, “Everything that you have said I will do].”

6 [So she went down to] the threshing-floor [and did everything her mother-in-law had told her. 7 After Boaz had eaten] and drunk, in [hi]g[h spirits he went to lie down at the edge of the mound of grain]. Then she came softly, uncovered his f[e]et, and lay down. 8 [In the middle of the night], the man [was startled], turn[ed], and look, a wom[an lay at] his [fe]et. ▲

13 “[Stay for the night. In the morning, if he redeems you, good; let him redeem you. But if he does not want to red ee]m you, then, [as the LORD lives, I myself will] re[deem you. Lie down until morning].”

14 [So she lay] at his [fee]t until m[or]ning. Then she arose before one could recognize other people, for he had said] it should [not] be known that she<sup>8</sup> had come to the threshing-floor. 15 [And he] s[aid, “Come, hold out the mantle you are wearing.” She held] it [out, and] he measured into it<sup>9</sup> six measures of barl[ey and laid it on her. Then he went into the city. 16 When she returned to her mother-in-law], she sai[d], “How<sup>10</sup> are you, my daughter?” So she [told her all that the man had done for her, 17 and said], “He gav[e me] thes[e] six measures [of] barley; [for he said, ‘Do not return empty-handed to your mother-in-law.’” 18 Then she said, “Sit quietly, my daughter, unt]il you kno[w how the matter turns out; for the man will not rest until he has it settled today].” ▲

43 [He said to the redeemer, “Naomi, who has returned from the fields of Moab, has] to se[ll the parcel of land which belonged to our brother Elimelech].” ▲

THE SONG OF SONGS (CANTICLES)

The Song of Songs is one of the most controversial books in the Bible, although it contains only eight chapters. A careful reading of this book (whose title means “The Greatest of All Songs”) shows it to be a collection of love poems, several of which are very erotic and romantic. The precise sexual details are not always apparent, since they are frequently couched in imagery—much of it sensitive, beautiful, and Middle Eastern—that is not easily understood by modern readers.

Because of its frankness and unabashed celebration of sexual love, some of the early Rabbis and early church fathers were disturbed by this delightful little book, interpreting it in a variety of ways that played down its sexuality. Some early Jewish and Christian sages found the contents plainly unacceptable and attempted to block its acceptance into the canon of the Hebrew Bible. Certain Rabbis, however, recognized the Song of Songs as Scripture but sought to interpret its contents in terms of the relationship between God (the lover or bridegroom) and Israel (the beloved or bride). Many church fathers who also accepted this book as Scripture interpreted it as depicting the relationship between Christ and his church. But in more recent times both Jews and Christians have increasingly come to recognize the sexual and romantic nature of the Song of Songs. This trend is to be welcomed by our various faith communities, since it affirms that the God who created us is concerned with our sexuality and romantic dimensions, that these are significant aspects of marriage, and that religious people can enjoy them without shame.

Four scrolls of the Song of Songs (or Canticles) were found at Qumran, three in Cave 4<sup>a</sup> and the fourth in Cave 6.<sup>b</sup> All were copied in the Herodian period (between 30 BCE and 68 or 70 CE),<sup>c</sup> the latest being 6QCant (about 50 CE). Two of these scrolls—4Cant<sup>a</sup> and 4Cant<sup>b</sup>—deserve special mention, both because they are the best preserved and because each has a number of interesting features. Although 4Cant<sup>a</sup> preserves quite a substantial amount of material,<sup>d</sup> the text between Canticles 4:7 and Canticles 6:11 is completely missing. Since in the Masoretic Text Canticles 4:7 forms the end of a content unit and Canticles 6:11 starts the beginning of another unit, it seems that the absence of chapters 4:8 through 6:10 was no mere accident; this material was either deliberately omitted, was not part of the text being copied by the scribe, or occurred elsewhere in the scroll. When compared with the size of the book as a whole, the section missing in this scroll is very large (about 30 percent). One explanation is the sensual language and erotic imagery that is found in much of the missing portion; the Song of Songs was evidently a controversial book before the time of Jesus.

The second noteworthy scroll is 4Cant<sup>b</sup>, which also preserves a goodly amount of text<sup>e</sup> but omits two large segments (3:6–8 and 4:4–7) and possibly ended at 5:1, thus containing only the first half of the book found in modern Bibles. It is interesting that 4QCant<sup>a</sup> and 4QCant<sup>b</sup> lack a section at exactly the same point (Cant 4:7). But while 4QCant<sup>a</sup> omits a large piece of text starting after 4:7, 4QCant<sup>b</sup> omits the three verses preceding the end of 4:7. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> also features several scribal errors and, although written in Hebrew, contains several Aramaic word forms that reveal Aramaic influence on the scribe. Moreover, 4Cant<sup>b</sup> contains several unusual scribal markings that seem to represent letters in either the paleo-Hebrew script, the Cryptic A script (which was used in some Qumran sectarian writings), or a combination of several scripts including Greek. These letters in 4QCant<sup>b</sup> may indicate a sectarian scribal background or a special function of this manuscript among the Qumran community. The actual purpose of the unusual letters is not clear. Since they appear in lines that were slightly or much shorter than the surrounding ones, they may have served as line-fillers written in the spaces at the end of the lines to prevent such lines from being mistaken as “open sections.”

In the translation that follows, quotation marks are used to indicate the various speakers (for example, the lover and the bride). But since identifying when one speaker closes and another begins is often difficult or ambiguous, it must be pointed out that the speech units and paragraph divisions below are not set in stone. As a comparison between several English Bibles indicates, what is part of one person’s speech in one translation can be seen as part of the next speech in another translation.

“We will delight [and rejoice<sup>4</sup> in you; we will extol] your love [more than wine]. How right are your beloved ones!”<sup>5</sup>

5 “[I am black and be]autiful, O daughters of<sup>6</sup> Jerusalem—[like the tents of Kedar, like the curtains of Solo]mon. 6 Do not stare at me because I am da[rk], for [the sun has burned me. My mother’s sons were angry] with me; they made me careta[ker of the vineyards—but] I have not taken care of [my own vineyard]! 7 T[ell me, you whom my soul loves, where you pasture your flock (and) where] you [make it lie down at noon. For why should I be] like one who v[eils herself beside the flocks of your companions]?” ▲

2[8 “Listen! My lover! Look—here he comes, leaping upon the mountains, leaping over the hills. 9 My lover is like a gazelle or a young stag. Look—there he stands] be[hind our wall], g[az]ing in at the windows, peering through the lattice.”

10 “[My lover speaks and says] to me: ‘Arise, my love, my fair one, and come away. 11 [For see, the winter is pas]t, the rains are over and gone. 12 Look,<sup>7</sup> [flowers appear on the] earth, the season of singing has come, and the cooing of [doves is heard in] our land. 13 Look,<sup>8</sup> the fig tree<sup>9</sup> puts forth [its figs, and the vines in bl]ossom give forth their fragrance. Arise, my love, [my fair one, and come away. 14 O My dove in the clefts of the] rock, in the secret nooks on the place of leaping,<sup>10</sup> let me see [your face and let me hear] your sound;<sup>11</sup> for your voice is sweet [and your face is lovely. 15 Catch for us the f]oxes<sup>12</sup> that ruin [the vineyards—for our vineyards are in full bloom].’

16 “My [lover] is mine and I am his; he grazes [among the lilies. 17 Until the da]y [breathes] and the shadows<sup>13</sup> flee, my lover, turn around [and be like a gazelle]<sup>14</sup> on the mountains<sup>15</sup> with many ravines.”

31 “[Upon my bed at ni]ght, every night,<sup>16</sup> I looked for<sup>17</sup> [the one my heart loves; I sought] him but could not find him. 2 (So I said:) ‘I will get up<sup>18</sup> now [and go about the city, through its streets and squares; I will search for the one my heart loves.’ So I looked for him, but could not find him].

[3 “When the watchmen found me as they made their rounds in the city, I asked them: ‘Have you seen the one my heart loves?’ 4 Scarcely had I passed them by when I found the one my heart loves!’ I held on to him and would n]ot let him go until [I brought him into my mother’s house, into the room of the one who conceived me]. 5 Daughters of [Jerusalem, I charge y]ou [by the gazelles and by the wild does: do not stir] up [or awaken love until it is ready]!”<sup>19</sup>

■ The omission of 3:6–8 in 4QCantb reflects a shorter text that eliminates the description of King Solomon's dramatic arrival. The longer text found in the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint also appears in 4QCanta and 4QCantc:

6 “[Who is this coming up from the desert like columns of smoke, perfumed with myrrh and incense made from all the fragrant spices of the merchant?<sup>20</sup>
7 Look! It is Solo]mon’s [traveling-couch, surrounded by] six[ty of] Israel’s most mighty men.<sup>21</sup> 8 [All of them] are equipped with [swords and ex]perienced [in battle, each with] his sw[ord] at his side in case of terrors by night.

9 “King [Solomon m]ade for himself [a pa]llanquin from the woo[d of Lebanon]. 10 He ma[de] its posts of silver, [its base of go]ld, its seat of purple— [and its inte]rior was inlaid with [love] by the daughters of Jerusalem. 11 [Come out, you daugh]ters of Jerusalem,<sup>22</sup> [and gaze] on King Solomon wearing the crown [with which his mother crowned him on] his wed[ding day], on the day<sup>23</sup> of his heart’s happiness.”

41 “[How beautiful you are], my lo[ve]. O ho[w beauti]ful! Your eyes are like doves behind your veil; like a flock of go[ats is your hair,<sup>24</sup> descend]ing from Mount Gilead. 2 Like a flock of newly shorn ewes are your teeth<sup>25</sup> that have come up<sup>26</sup> from the [washing], all of which bear twins, and not one among them has lost its young. 3 Your lips are like a scarlet ribbon and your mouth is lovely. Your chin is like a piece of pomegranate<sup>27</sup> and is behind<sup>28</sup> your veil.

■ 4QCantb completely omits verses 4–7 of chapter 4. One possible reason is the parallels between descriptions of the female body in this chapter and those in chapter 6; note that in 6:7 the description of the body ends at exactly the same point where it stops in 4:3. Another explanation is that the mention of breasts in verse 5 could have triggered the omission of the section as a whole. The longer reading was known from the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint, and also appears in 4QCanta.

4 “[Your neck is like the tower of David, built in ripples];<sup>29</sup> on it<sup>30</sup> hang a thousand bucklers, all the shields of the mighty men. 5 [Your twin breasts are like two fawns, like the twins of a gazelle] (which) feed<sup>31</sup> among the lilies. 6 Until [the day] breathes [and the shadows flee, I will make my way to the mountain of myr]rh, to the hill<sup>32</sup> of incense. 7 [You] are altogether [beautiful, my love; there is no flaw in you]!

■ For this part of the Song of Songs, 4QCanta contains a much shorter text than the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint, since the text between chapters 4:7 and 6:11 is not included where we would expect it. Unless the missing passage occurred elsewhere in the now lost portion of 4QCanta, we may assume that it was never part of the Song of Songs in this manuscript. As pointed out in the introduction to the Song of Songs, this omission may have been due to the sensual language and erotic imagery found in much of 4:8 to 6:10. In contrast, however, 4QCantb contained all or most of this additional material.

8 “As for you,<sup>33</sup> (come) from Lebanon, my bride; as for you,<sup>34</sup> (come) from Lebanon. Let me depart<sup>35</sup> from the peak of Omnon,<sup>36</sup> from<sup>37</sup> the dens of lions and the mountain-haunts of leopards. 9 You have stolen my heart, my sister, my bride;<sup>38</sup> you have stolen my heart with a single glance of your eyes, with a single [jewel of] your neck[lace]. 10 How sweet is your love, my sister, my bride! How much bet[ter] is your love than wine, and the frag[rance of] your oil<sup>39</sup> than all kinds of spices! 11 Your lips, my sister, my bride,<sup>40</sup> drip like a honeycomb; honey [and milk are under your tongue, and the fragrance of your garments is like the fragrance of Lebanon. 12 (You are) a locked garden, my sister, my bride; you are a locked rock garden, a sealed fountain. 13 Your channels<sup>41</sup> are an orchard of pomegranates with the choicest fruits, with henna and nard plants, 14 nard and saffron, calamus and cinna]m[on, with all trees of frankincense, myrrh and aloes, along with all] the finest spi[ces]. 15 You are a garden fountain, a well of living wat]er, and streams flowing fr[om Lebanon].”

16 “[Awake, O north wind, and come, O south wind]! Make my garden breathe out; let [its spices] be wa[fted abroad. Let my beloved come into] his garden, and eat from [his good] fo[rtune].”<sup>42</sup>

51 “[I have entered my garden, my sister, my bride]. I have gathered my myrrh with [my sp]ice, [I have drunk my wine and my milk]; I have eaten my honeycomb and my honey.”<sup>43</sup>

“[Eat, friends, and drink! Yes—drink your fill, you lo]vers!” ▲

■ As noted in the introduction to the Song of Songs, 4Cantb possibly ended at 5:1, thus containing only the first half of the book found in modern Bibles. Three separate pieces of evidence support this proposal. First, the final preserved letter in the last line of column 4 is much larger than those in the preceding lines, which may indicate the end of a literary unit or even of the entire scroll. Second, the left edge of the fragment seems to contain the Greek letter gamma or a sign similar in shape to a dipole obelismene (which was used in the Greek scribal tradition for separating sections in tragedies and comedies). The presence of this letter before the end of the line strengthens the case that it is the final line of the scroll. Finally, in this part of the scroll, 5:1 marks the end of a separate literary unit; if 4QCantb in fact ended here, it would be appropriate for this to happen at the end of such a unit.

611 “[I went down to the orchard of nut trees to look at the new growth in the valley, to see whether<sup>44</sup> the vines] had budded [and if the pomegranates were in bloom. 12 Before I realized it, my fancy placed me] among the cha[riots of my noble people].”

13 “[Come back, come back, O Shulammit<sup>45</sup>, so that we may gaze at you].”

“Why would you ga[ze at the Shulammit, as one gazes at the dance of two armies]?” ▲

71 “[How beautiful are your feet] in san[d]als, [O prince’s daughter! The curves of your thighs are like jewels], the wo[rk of an artist’s hands. 2 Your navel is a rounded bowl that never lacks] mixed wine. [Your *wai*st<sup>46</sup> [is a mound of wheat encircled with lilies]. 3 Your [twin] breasts are like two [fawns, like the twins of a gazelle. 4 Your neck is like an ivory tower], your eyes are the pools of Hesh[bon by the gate of Bath-rabbim. Your nose is like the tower of] Lebanon looking toward Damas[cus. 5 Your head crowns you like (Mount) Carmel, and] your [flowing locks]<sup>47</sup> are like purple garments; a [k]ing is held cap[tive by your tresses].”

6 “[And how<sup>48</sup> fair and] how delightful you are, my lo[ve, with all your charms! 7 You are stately as a palm tree, and your breasts are like its clusters of fruit. 8 I said: “I will climb the palm tree and take hold of its date-clusters.” Oh, may your breasts be like clusters of the vine, and the scent of your breath like apples; 9 may your kisses be like the best wine that goes down smoothly, flowing through lips and teeth].”<sup>49</sup>

QOHELET (ECCLESIASTES)

Qohelet—perhaps meaning “the assembler”—is concerned with the purpose of life and in particular the inability of material things to provide meaning. As appropriate as this message might have been for the ascetic community reflected in the Dead Sea Scrolls, only two manuscripts of the book were found at Qumran. The Wisdom books apparently were not yet considered of quite the same importance as the Law and the Prophets. The older manuscript, 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>, is housed at the Amman Museum rather than with 4QQoh<sup>b</sup> and most of the other scrolls in the Rockefeller Museum in Jerusalem.

4QQoh<sup>a</sup> is among the oldest manuscripts at Qumran, dating from about 175–150 BCE. Its writing is spacious and penned with flair. There are portions of three contiguous columns preserved, containing text from chapters 5 through 7. The 4QQoh<sup>a</sup> scribe made several copying mistakes—for example, once skipping from one occurrence of a word to a repeated occurrence (though he did notice the error and write the missing text supralinearly).

4QQoh<sup>b</sup> has only two small fragments from chapter 1 and probably dates from the middle or latter half of the first century BCE.

All the witnesses—the scrolls, the Masoretic Text, and the Septuagint—generally exhibit a similar text, though each is dotted with minor variants. Most of the variants are small particles, late versus classical forms, minor scribal errors, look-alike words, or changes of word order. A few letters are extant at the edges of the 4QQoh<sup>a</sup> fragments for 6:8 and 6:12–7:1, but, while they are insufficient to establish any meaning, they do not agree with the words in the Masoretic Text. Some minor features in Hebrew and Greek cannot be mirrored in the opposite language, but when minor differences between the Hebrew texts can be reflected in the Greek, the Septuagint usually agrees with the Masoretic Text, though sometimes it follows the scroll.

LAMENTATIONS

The destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple in 586 BCE gave rise to the question, Why did this happen? This cry of lament is recorded as the first word in three of the five poems that make up the collection known as Lamentations (1:1, 2:1, and 4:1) and is the Hebrew title for the book. For the Qumranites—a community that still considered itself in exile (the present Temple being in the hands of impostors and therefore ritually unclean)—these poems must have been of heightened significance.

Four manuscripts—together witnessing to all five chapters of Lamentations—were found in the caves at Qumran. Cave 3, famous for the idiosyncratic Copper Scroll, preserved one manuscript (3QLam). A somewhat variant version of the book was unearthed in Cave 4 (4QLam). Finally, the relatively meager cache of twenty-five fragmentary manuscripts found in Cave 5 produced remnants of two scrolls of Lamentations (5QLam<sup>a</sup> and 5QLam<sup>b</sup>).

Chapters 1 through 4 of Lamentations were written in a poetic form known as acrostic. In an acrostic poem, each line, or group of lines, begins with a letter of the alphabet in its respective order. The versification of our modern Bibles evidences this characteristic, because each chapter is a multiple of twenty-two, the number of letters in the Hebrew alphabet. (Chapter 5, though not acrostic, follows this numerical pattern as well.) The acrostic form is also captured in our modern Bibles by the common practice of printing poetry in cola (poetic units that are divisions of the strophe or stanza). To our eye, this is what differentiates poetry from prose. It is noteworthy that while the scribe of 3QLam did copy Lamentations in such a fashion, those of 4QLam, 5QLam<sup>a</sup>, and 5QLam<sup>b</sup> did not. Perhaps the ancient concern was much the same as publishing concerns in our time: the need to save space!

Lamentations is quoted at least once in the nonbiblical scrolls. A Lament for Zion (4Q179 2 4), a literary piece that appears to be patterned after Lamentations, cites Lamentations 1:1. A Prayer for Deliverance (4Q501) capitalizes on the genre of lament, although in this case the enemy is not the Babylonians, the Romans, or any other foreign people, but rather unbelieving Jews. The writer pleads with God to exclude them from the “sons of the covenant” because of their lack of faithfulness. One of the few as yet unpublished manuscripts (4Q241) is also reported to contain a passage from Lamentations.

1

■ The most extensive manuscript of Lamentations—4QLam—is a late-first century BCE copy unearthed in Cave 4. The first preserved column of the scroll begins in the midst of line 1, with the upper margin clearly visible. Although, given the fragmentary nature of the text, the right margin is not visible (remember, Hebrew reads right to left!), it is clear from the calculated line length that the first half of verse 1 necessarily began at the bottom of the previous column. Thus almost certainly Lamentations was not the first book in this scroll. So, we might ask, what was the book that preceded it? Jews would likely answer that it was preceded by Ruth—according to the order of books represented by the Hebrew canon—whereas Christians would suggest Jeremiah, as is the case in the Christian Bible. The Jewish historian Josephus, writing near the end of the first century CE, gives the earliest evidence for an answer to this question. He discusses a twenty-two book Bible (Contra Apionem 1:8), whereas the modern Jewish Bible numbers twenty-four. Josephus’s number would suggest that Ruth was included with Judges, and Lamentations with Jeremiah. Unfortunately, the worms that feasted on the Cave 4 manuscript have eliminated any further clues to this mystery. Perhaps future DNA testing will reveal whether 4QJere or one of the two Cave 4 copies of Ruth (4QRutha or 4QRuthb) was written on skin from the same (or a related) animal.

[1 How the city sits solitary that was full of people! She has become as a widow,] she that was great among the nations! [She that was a princess among the provinces is become vassal! 2 She] weeps [bitterly] in the night, [and her tears are on her cheeks;] among all her lovers [she has none to comfort her: all her friends have dealt treacherously with her; they have become her] enemies. 3 [Judah] is gone into captivity [because of affliction, and because of great servitude; sh]e d[wel]ls among the nat[ions, she finds no rest; all her persecutors overtook her] in [distress. 4 The roads of Zion mourn, because no one comes t]o

Her young children are gone into captivity before the adversary.]

■ Ancient scribes were not as accurate as the present-day printing press or copy machine. In verse 6 the copyist of 4QLam appears to have fallen asleep at his task, repeating the negative “not” and then dividing the following word improperly to produce, “he did not find and pasture,” from “they did not find pasture.” Other variants in this chapter are more difficult to explain and may evidence some confusion in both the traditional Masoretic Text and its Qumran relative.

THE EPISTLE OF JEREMIAH

The Epistle (or Letter) of Jeremiah fails to live up to its billing. Not by form a letter, nor written by the prophet Jeremiah, the document is instead a pointed exhortation concerning the futility of idol worship written in the spirit of Jeremiah 10.

The Epistle of Jeremiah is one of three deuterocanonical books—that is, books from the so-called second canon, or Apocrypha—that were found in the Qumran caves. The other two are Sirach (also known as Ben Sira or Ecclesiasticus) and Tobit. These three books, accepted as fully canonical by the Roman Catholic Church, are not recognized by Protestant or Jewish communities; they are instead labeled “apocryphal,” or outside the canon. The Epistle of Jeremiah could also be classified as a “pseudegraph,” a document written in the name of a famous personage in order to speak with authority—a reverse plagiarism of sorts. The Epistle of Jeremiah is normally printed in modern translations as the sixth chapter of another apocryphal work, the book of Baruch.

Although the Epistle of Jeremiah was likely composed in Hebrew, the one copy—actually, only a fragment the size of a postage stamp—found in the caves (7QpapEpJer gr) is written in Greek and does not vary substantially from the text known from the Septuagint. Cave 7, the source of the so-called Jesus Scroll (7Q5; see the Introduction), is unique among the Qumran caves in that each of the nineteen manuscripts that it preserved was written in Greek.

ESTHER

Of the thirty-nine books of the Hebrew Bible—or twenty-four if the Minor Prophets, Ezra-Nehemiah, 1 and 2 Samuel, 1 and 2 Kings, and 1 and 2 Chronicles are each counted as one—only the book of Esther is missing from the collection of manuscripts unearthed in the caves above the banks of the Dead Sea. The absence of Esther from the twenty or so scrolls found among the ruins of Masada and the hideouts used by the rebels of the Bar Kokhba revolt does not raise much of a question, but the absence of Esther from more than 200 biblical scrolls from the caves at Qumran is a bit more curious. To be sure, the books of Nehemiah and 1 Chronicles have not been found either, but they are generally assumed to have been present on the basis of the few crumbs of the scrolls of Ezra and 2 Chronicles respectively.

That Esther has turned up missing might be attributed to nothing more than chance coupled with the relatively small size of the book. In addition, as noted above, it is true that other books composed in the period following the Babylonian exile are either missing (Nehemiah and 1 Chronicles) or nearly so (Ezra and 2 Chronicles). However, some evidence that has come to light just recently reveals that the absence of Esther was purposeful rather than accidental. The Qumran calendar texts—not generally known before 1991—chart festivals and holy days on the community’s 364-day year. The feast of Purim, which has its beginnings in the story of Esther, is missing. As a result, the real question now becomes: Why was Esther rejected?

Several answers might be suggested. First, the fact that the festival of Purim was a later addition, not mentioned in the Books of Moses, might have caused the Dead Sea Scrolls community to reject the book. Second, the mere fact that the story concerns the marriage of Esther—a Jew—to a Persian king was likely repugnant to the group’s conservative sensibilities. Third, the book itself makes no mention of God whatsoever. Finally, the emphasis on retaliation evident in the final chapters of Esther (chapters 7–9) is contrary to the teachings of the Dead Sea Scrolls: “To no man shall I return evil for evil; I shall pursue a man only for good; for with God resides the judgment of all the living, and he shall pay each man his recompense” (1QS 10:17–18). Any one of these factors would have provided good reason to reject the book of Esther.

CHRONICLES

Only a single small fragment, dated about 50–25 BCE, remains out of the sixty-five chapters of 1 and 2 Chronicles. In contrast, four manuscripts of 1 and 2 Samuel and three of 1 and 2 Kings were preserved, one quite extensively. The relative scarcity of Chronicles at Qumran could be a matter of either chance or design, since Chronicles has a strong focus on Jerusalem and the Temple, from which the Qumran community had removed itself.

This single fragment of Chronicles, however, proves interesting. The text translated here is close to the traditional text, with three small variants—two meaningless, and the third a minor error in the spelling of the name of the Queen Mother. The Queen Mother, of course, is important in dynastic kingship (when the king might have several wives) for determining which branch of the family inherits the royal prerogatives.

Preceding the recognizable text from 2 Chronicles 28:27–29:3, however, are the remains of a few letters in the previous column. They yield no connected text, but neither do they match any of the traditional text of Chronicles within a chapter or two before the recognizable text translated here. So there appear to be two possibilities: either (1) this fragment is not really from a manuscript of the book of Chronicles itself but is from another work that quotes Chronicles, or (2) it is a text of Chronicles that simply has some text that varies from the traditional text. This latter is probably the case. The extensive Samuel manuscript, 4QSam<sup>a</sup>, frequently varies from the traditional text in large and significant ways, and half the time its text is to be preferred to the Masoretic Text. More important, 4QSam<sup>a</sup> often agrees with Chronicles, the Septuagint, and the narrative of the historian Flavius Josephus, against the isolated Masoretic narrative. At any rate, this small fragment proves either that the book of Chronicles itself was in the Qumran library or, perhaps more significantly, that it was known and considered worth quoting.

28<sup>27</sup> [Ahaz slept with his ancestors, and they buried him in Jerusalem, in the city, for they did not bring him into the tombs of the kings of Israel. Hezekiah] son of Ahaz<sup>1</sup> [succeeded him].

29<sup>1</sup> [Hezekiah began to reign when he was twenty-f]ive years old, and [he reigned twen]ty-nine years [in Jerusalem. His mother's name was] Aybah<sup>2</sup> [daugh]ter of Zechari[ah]. 2 He did what was right [in the eyes of the LORD, just as David his] father had done. 3 And he,<sup>3</sup> in the [first] yea[r of his reign, in the first month], opened the door[s of the house of the LORD and repaired them].

EZRA-NEHEMIAH

4QEzra, a manuscript that was copied around the middle of the first century BCE, survives in only three small fragments. It is the only manuscript of Ezra (and there are none of Nehemiah) that was found in the Judean Desert. For the small amount of extant text, it displays almost exactly the same wording recorded in the Masoretic Text. There are only four minor variants. 4QEzra once shows the singular form of the verb in contrast to the Masoretic Text's plural, while in another case the manuscripts show the exact opposite. Twice the Masoretic Text errs in spelling the definite article -ah, while 4QEzra has the correct form -a'.

This text provides one of the biblical terms that the Qumran community appropriated for identifying itself: yah.ad = "the community" (Ezra 4:3), though the word itself is not preserved on the fragment.<sup>1</sup> In fact, the designation forms the title of one of its foundational documents, Serek HaYah.ad = the Community Rule.

42 [They approached Zerubbabel and the chiefs of the clans and said to them, "Let us build with you; for we seek your] Go[d, as you do, and we have been sacrificing to him since the days of King Esarhaddon of Assyria who brought us here." 3 But] Ze[rubbabel, Joshua, and the rest of the chiefs of Israel's clans said] to them, ["You will have nothing to do with us in building a house for our God]. Rather w[e, the community, will build to the LORD the God of Israel, as King Cyrus of Persia commanded us." 4 Then the people of the] land [intimidated the people of Judah and made them afraid to build. 5 They bribed counselors against them to] frustrate [their] plans, [all the days of King Cyrus of Persia until the reign of King Darius of Persia].

6 [In the reign of Ahasuerus, in the begin]ning of [his] reig[n, they wrote an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem]. ▲

Erech, Babylonia, Susa, that is, the Elamites, 10 and the rest of the nations which the great and noble Osnappar deported and settled in the city of Samaria] and in the rest of the province Beyond the River,<sup>2</sup> and now 11 this is the copy of the letter that they sent to him: “To Artaxerxes the king from your servants,) the people of the province Beyond [the River . . . ].” ▲

5<sup>17</sup> [So now, if it seems good to the king, let a search be made in the king’s archives in Babylon, whether a decree was made by King Cyrus to rebuild] this [house of God [at Jerusalem; and let the king send us his decision on this matter].

6<sup>1</sup> [Then King Darius made a decree, and he<sup>3</sup> searched the archive records, where the documents were stored in Babylon. 2 At Ecbatana, in the palace in the province<sup>4</sup> [of Media], a scroll [was found in which] this was written: “A record. 3 In his first year, King Cyrus made a decree]: Concerning the house of God at Jerusalem, [let the] house be rebuilt, the place where they offer sacrifices, and let its foundations be securely laid, its height] sixty cubits, its width sixty cubits, 4 [with three courses of [large stones and a course of new timber. Let] the [expenses] be paid by the royal palace. 5 In addition [let the gold and silver] vessels of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple in Jerusalem and they<sup>5</sup> brought to Babylon, be restored and returned to the temple in Jerusalem, each to its place]. You shall put them [in] the house of God.” ▲

TOBIT

“I, Tobit, have walked in the ways of truth and righteousness all the days of my life” (Tob 1:3). So begins the fascinating tale of Tobit, a Jew of the late eighth century BCE, who lived in exile in Nineveh, the capital of ancient Assyria. The story—which has held up well for its years—chronicles the reverses of Tobit, which culminate in blindness. His son Tobiah, with the help of Azariah—the angel Raphael in disguise—sets out on an adventure that secures a cure for his father’s blindness, rescues a damsel in distress from demons (she becomes his wife), and establishes his fortune. Along the way the reader learns that feeding the hungry, clothing the poor, and honoring one’s father and mother are the keys to godliness.

Before the discovery of copies of the book of Tobit among the Dead Sea Scrolls, scholars debated whether the tale was originally written in Greek or perhaps a Semitic language (Hebrew or Aramaic). As is often the case with new discoveries, the Dead Sea Scrolls answered the original question but raised another. Of the five scrolls uncovered in Cave 4, four are written in Aramaic while one is in Hebrew. The debate has already begun as to which represents the original tongue. Another important discussion concerns the date of the writing. Those experts who argued before the Qumran findings for the first to third centuries CE have now been silenced, because the oldest manuscript—4QTobit<sup>d</sup>—dates to 100 BCE (though the tale was probably composed as early as the late third century BCE).

Tobit is one of three deuterocanonical books (that is, from the second canon, or Apocrypha) that were found in the Qumran caves. The other two are Ben Sira (also known as Sirach or Ecclesiasticus) and the Epistle of Jeremiah. These three books, although not recognized as authoritative by Protestant or Jewish communities, are recognized as canonical (sacred Scripture) by the Roman Catholic Church.

The manuscript evidence for Tobit is so complex—three ancient and variant Greek editions are known—that the notes in this chapter have been restricted to only those differences between the five Dead Sea Scrolls manuscripts.

1[17 I would give my bread to the hungry and my garments to the naked; and if I saw any of my people dead and thrown outside] the wall of Nineveh, [I would bury him.] ▲

[19 But one o]f the Ninevites [went] and told [the] king [about me, tha]t I was bur[ying them, and] I hid myself; and when I discovered [that the king] knew about me [and that I was being sought in order to be put to deat]h, I became afraid and fled. [20 And al]l t[hat] I had [was taken away by force,] and there was nothi[ng] left to me [which was not taken to the royal treasury] ex[cept for] my wife [Ann]a and my son Tobiah.

21 And f[orty] days had not [passed before two of] his [sons killed him,] and they fled to the mountains of Ararat. And [his son Esarhaddo]n reigned [in his place; and he] appointed Ahikar, my brother Hanael's son, over all [the] a[ccount]s [of his kingdom and he had co]ntrol over [al]l the accounts of the king. 22 And Ahikar interceded for me, [and I returned to Nineveh. Now Ahi]kar, my brother, was the cupbearer, keeper of the signet, trustee, [and] overseer of the accounts before Sannacherib, King of Assyria; and Esarhaddon appointed him second to himself. He was my nephew, from the house of my father and from my family.

21 And in the days of Esarhaddon, the [kin]g, when I came home again, my wife Anna and my son Tobiah were restored to me; on the day of the feast of wee[k]s there was] a fine dinner for [me,] and I reclined to [ea]t. 2 And they brought the ta[b]le before me and I saw that the food which they placed on it was abundant, and [I] said to Tobiah my son, "Go, my son, and get [whom]ever of [our] kinsm[en you] might find; of [our] brethren, [who testifies with a whole heart.] My son, go and get him and let him be brought and he shall dine [together] with me. I will [wait for you until you return." 3 And Tobiah went to seek some poor person of our kinsmen, and when he returned he said, "Father!" And I said to him, "Here I am, my son." And he said in answer, "Father, one of our people has been murdered and has been thrown out in the marketplace, and now he lies there] strangl[ed]." ▲

[10 And I did not know that there were sparrows on the wall above me, and their fresh droppings fell into my eyes and produced white films. So I went to the physicians to be healed, but the more they treated me the more my eyes were blinded with the white films until I was totally blind. And I was unable to see for four years, and all my brethren were sorry for me, and Ahikar fed me for two years until he went to Ely]mais.

11 And at [that] ti[me, my wife Anna earned a living doing women's work.] ▲

3[3 And now, O Lord, remember me, and look favorably on me; do not] judge [me for my sins and my ignorances, and the sins of my fathers which they sinned against you, 4 for they disobeyed your commandments;] and you gave us over as spoil, [and captivity, and death, and as a proverb, a byword, a reproach among all the nations among whom you have scattered us. 5 And now your many judgments are true so that you should] deal with me [according to my sins, because we did not keep your commandments and we did not walk in truth before you. 6 And now deal with me as is pleasing to you and command my life to be taken from me, that I may be released from the face of the earth and become] dust; [for it is more profitable for me to die tha]n to live, because [I have heard false] condemnations, [and there is] much [sorrow] in me. Command that [I might now be] released [from this distress; release me to go to the ever]l[asting place,] turn [not your face away from me, O Lord. For it is better for me to die than to see great distress in my life and to hear insults.]

[7 That same day Sarah the daughter of Raguel in Ecbatana of Media was also condemned by her father's maidservants. 8 For she had been given to seven husbands, and Asmodeus the evil spirit slew them before they had been with her as is appointed to wives. And the maid said to her, "You are the one who kills her husbands. You have already had seven husbands, and you have not taken the name of any one of them. 9 Why do you beat us? Because your husbands are dead? Go, follow] after them! Let us ne[ver] see [either] your son [or your daughter]."

[10 On that day her spirit was distressed and she wept. And when] sh[e had gone up] to the upper room of [her father's] house, [she planned to hang herself. But she reconsidered and said,] "They shall [never] condemn [my father by saying to him,] 'You had only one [beloved] daughter [and she hanged herself because of her afflictions.' And I shall bring down the old age of my father to Sheol with grief.] For it is not right for me to ha[ng myself, but to pray to the Lord that I might die and] no longer [have] to hear [cond]emnations and [my father] might not hear [them either." 11 At that same time with hands outstretched] to[wa]rd [the wi]ndow she prayed [and said, "Blessed are you, O merciful God, and blessed is] your holy and honored name fore[ver. Let all your works] bless [you forever. 12 And now I have turned] my face and [my] eyes [t]o you, and have [li]fted up [my] eyes. 13 Command that I be released from [the earth, and that I no more hear condemnation. 14 You, O Master, k]now

th[at] I myself am pure f[rom al]l sin [with man, 15 and that I never poll]uted [my] na[me, or the name of m]y [father,] in all the land of my captivity. I am [the onl]y [daughter of my father. And he] has [no] other child that shall be [his] heir, nor brother near him, no[r] a near relative, [that I should keep my]self, or a son th[at I mig]ht be a wife for him. Seve[n husbands] of mine are d[ead] already; [why should I still live? And if it is not pleasing to you to slay me, O Lord, then hear me in my condemnation.”] ▲

[17 Raphael also was sent to heal them both, to h]eal [the] wh[ite films from Tobit’s eyes that he might see ligh]t of he[aven with his eyes, and to give Sarah the daughter of Raguel as a wife to Tobiah the son of Tobit; and to release Asmodeus the evil spirit from her. For Tobiah was entitled to her before all of those who desired to have her. At the same time Tobit returned from the courtyard to his house, Sarah the daughter of Raguel came down from her upper room.]

4[2 And he said in his heart, “I have asked for deat]h; why [do I] not [call my son Tobiah, that I may tell him] about [this] money [before I die?”] 3 And he called Tobiah his son, and when he came to him he said to him, “Bury me properly and honor your mother; and do not abandon her all the days of her life, and do that which is] pleasing [to her, and] do not [grieve her in anything. 4 Remember her, my son, for she has seen many dangers for you,] when she bore you in [her] womb. [When she is dead, bury her by me in the same grave.]

5 “My son, be [mi]ndful of God all your days, [and let not your will be set to] sin and to transgress his commandments. [Be] honest [a]ll the days of [your] l[ife, and do not follow the way]s of deception. 6 For [those who] do the [truth shall prosper in their deeds and God shal]l be with you [and to all who do righteousness.] 7 G[ive]<sup>1</sup> alms of your substance, my son; [and when you give alms, do not let your eye be envious;] do not hi[de your face from any po]r [man,] and [the face of Go]d shall not be h[idden] from you. 8 As your substance is, my son, [giv]e al[m]s from it [according to your abundance;] if you have little, [do not be afraid to giv]e alms according to that little. 9 Lay up a good [treasure for yourself against the day of necessity.] ▲

[21 “And do not fear, my son, because we have beco]me poor. [You will be a rich man if you fear God and flee from all sin and do that which is pleasing before the Lord your G]od.”

5[1 And Tobiah answered and said to his father Tobit,] “All [that you have commande]d me, I will do, [Father. 2 But how shall I be able to receive the money from him,) if he does not [know me and I do not know him? What proof should I give him so that he might know me] and trust [me and give me the money? And I do not know the roads to Media] so as to go [there].” ▲

[9 And Tobiah entered to tell his father Tobit and said to him, “I have found a man from our kindred of the children of Israel.” He replied to him,) “Call [the man to me, so that I might learn about his family and what tribe he belongs to and whether he is] fait[hful enough to go with you, my son].” ▲

[12 And he said, “Why do] you [n]eed [to know my tribe?” And he said to him, “I want] to know [the truth, brother; who do you belong to and what is your name?” 13 And he said to him,) “I am Azar[iah, the son of Ananiah the great, of your kindred.”] 14 And he said to him, “[Welcome, and God save you, brother. Do not be angry with me, brother, because I sought] to know in t[ruth about your ancestry. And it so happens that you are a brother, of an honest and good lineage, for I knew Ananiah and Nathan, the two sons of Shemaiah the great. And they went together with me to Jerusalem and worshiped with me there and were not deceived. Your kindred are good people; you are of a good family. Warm welcome!”] ▲

19 “Let not my son cling [to mon]ey, but [let it be] as r[ubbish compared to our child. 20 As the Lord has given us to live, so it is sufficient for us.” 21 And] he said to her, “Do not worry; my son shall leave in good health [and shall return to us in good health. And your eyes will see him on the day which he comes to you in good h]ealth. Do not worry; do not fear concerning him, my sister. [22 For a good angel will go with him and shall prosper his] journ[ey and he shall return in good health] again.” And she stopped weeping.

6[1 The young man went out and the ang]el [went] with him. 2 A[nd the dog cam]e with him [and went along with them. And they journeyed] as one, and [when night] came upon them [they arrived a]t the Tigris River. 3 The young m[an] went down [to wash his feet in the Tigris River. And] a large [fis]h [leaped up] from [the water to swal]low the young man’s foot, [and he cried out. 4 And the angel said to the young man, “T]ake hold of [the] f[ish!” So] the young man [gra]bbed [the fish and brough]t it up onto the land. 5 And [the angel] s[aid to him, “Cu]t it [open] and take out [its gall,] its [heart, and its liver. Keep them with] you, but throw away i[ts] entrails. [Its gall,] its [heart,] and its liver [are useful as medicine].” 6 So [he cut it open and took out its gall,] its [he]art, and [its liver. Then he cooked] and ate [some of the fi]sh, and then sa[lted the remaind]er for the journey. The two of them continued together [until] they [were] n[ear] Media.

[7 Then] the young man [as]ked the an[gel and s]aid to him, “Azariah, my brother, tel[l me,<sup>2</sup> what medicine is there in the fish’s heart and in its liver, [and in its gall?” 8 He answered] him, “[I]f [you] burn them before a man or woman afflicted by a demon or [evil] spirit, [then every affliction will depart and] their encounters will [never] occur again. 9 And the gall is to be used to anoint [a person’s] ey[es on which white scales have appeared; blow on them, on] the white scales, and they will be healed.”

10 And w[he]n they entered Media and he was already [approaching Ecbatana, 11 Raphael said to the youn]g man, “T[o]biah, my brother.” And he said to him, “Here am I.” And he said to him, “[We must lodge] in the ho[use of Raguel, for] the [m]an is from the house of our father and he has a beautiful daughter [named Sarah. 12 He has no male heir,] he has [no on]e except Sarah; and you, her r[elativ]e, [have, more than any other, a claim on her and all that belongs to her father. Take her] as your [wif]e, [for] it is [your] right. [. . . This girl is wise, strong,] and very beautiful, and her father loves [her, and all that is his, he gives to her. 13 And for] you [the inheritance of] her father [is determined.] A just decision has been made for you that you might t[ake her. Now listen to me, my brother;] you must speak concerning this gi[r]l tonight so as to betroth her and take her as [your] wif[e. And] when we re[turn from Rages we will make] a wedding feast [for her.] For I know that Raguel will not be able to keep her from you because he knows [that you have a better claim to betroth] and to take his daughter than any other ma[n. For h]e kno[ws] that if he would give her to [another] man [he would incur a penalty in accordance with the book of] Moses. So now, [let us speak about] this [gir]l tonight, and we shall betroth her [to you and when we return from Rages we will take her and bring her back with us to your house].”

[14 Then Tobiah answered and said to Rapha]el, “Azariah, my brother, I have heard [that she has already been married to seven husbands and they died wh]en they went into her. [I have heard that] a demon killed them. [15 Now,] I am afraid [o]f this demon who l[ove]s her. [I am the only son of my father and I am afraid that I may die and bring the lif]e of my father and my mother [to their grave, grieving for me. . . . they have] no [o]ther [son] who will bury [them].”

[16 But Raphael said to him, “Do you not remember the com]mands of your father who commanded you [to take a wife from the house of your father? No]w listen to me, my brother; [speak] no [more about] this [de]mon. Now, take her, [I know that] this [nig]ht [she will be given to you in marriage. 17 When you enter the bridal chamber, tak]e some of the heart [and liver of the fish, and put them on the ashes of the incense. An odor will be given off;] 18 the demon [will smel]l [it] and f[lee, and will never appear around her again. And when you are about] to [be wi]th her, [both of you must first] sta[nd up and pray, asking the Lord of heaven that mercy and salvation might be granted to you.] Do [n]ot be afraid, [for] she was set apart [for y]ou and for you [the decision was made to take her. . . .] You will save [her, and she will go with you.] I suppose that you [will have children by her, and t]hey will be [like the brothers you never had.” When] Tobiah [h]eard the words of Rapha[el and learned that she was h]is sister, and of [his father’s lineage,] he loved her very much, and his heart clung<sup>3</sup> to her exceedingly.

71 And when they entered Ecb[atana,] Tobiah [said] to him, “Azariah, [my] brother, [le]ad me straight to the house of Raguel our brother.” So he led him, and [they] went [to the house of] Raguel and found Raguel sitting before the door of his dwelling. They greeted him first, and he said to them, “You have come in peace. Enter in peace, my brothers,” and he brought them into his house. 2 And he said to Edna, his wife, “How much this young man resembles Tobit, the son of my uncle.” 3 Edna questioned them and said to them, “Where are you from, my brothers?” They said to her, “We are of the Naphtalites, [who] were captives in Nineveh.” 4 And she said to them, “Do you know Tobit, ou[r] brother?” They said to her, “We know him.” “Is he well?” 5 They said to her, “He is wel[l.” And To]biah [sai]d, “He is my father.” 6 Then Raguel jumped up, kissed him, and we[pt. 7 And he answered and said to him,] “Blessings upon [you, my son; you are] the s[on of] a good [and noble] man. [It is a wretched injustice that such a righteous and generous man has become blind.” He fell upon] the neck of Tobiah, [the son of his brother, and wept. 8 And his wife Edna and their daughter Sarah also wept. 9 Then] he slau[ghtered] a ram of the flock [and received them willingly.]

[And after they had bathed and washed and reclined] to eat and to drink, [Tobiah said to Raphael, “Azariah, my brother, tell Raguel that he should give me Sarah] my sister.” 10 And [Raguel] heard [the word and said to the young man, “Eat and drink and be happy tonight, for there is no man who has the right to take Sarah except you, my brother].” ▲

[11 And To]biah said, “I will not eat here no[r drink until you make a binding agreement with me].” ▲

[13 Then he called his wife Edna, and took a scroll and wrote out a contract;] and he closed [it] with a seal. ▲

8[17 “Blessed are you, because you have had mercy on two that were the only begotten children of their parents. Show them mercy, O Lord, bring their lives to fulfillment with merc]y and with joy.”

[18 Then he commanded his servants t]o fill up [the grave.]

[19 And he kept the wedding feast for them fourteen days. 20 And before the days of the wedding feast were finished, Raguel swore unto him, “You should not depart until the fourteen days of the wedding feast are finished; 21 and you should take the half of your goods, and car]ry [them] with you to the house of [your] f[ather; and the rest,” said he, “will be yours when I and my wife die. Do not fear,] my son. I am your father and Edna is [your] m[other, and we belong to you as well as to your wife now and forever. Do not] fear, my son.”

9[1 And Tobiah called Raphael, and said to h]im, 2 “Azariah, my brother, take with you f[our servants, and two camels, and go to Rages of Media. And yo]u shall come to the house of Gab[ae]l. Give him the bond, and r[ecieve the money, and bring him to the wedding feast. 4 For you know that my father] shall b[e counting the da]ys. And if [I wait for long, he will be very unhappy. 3 You have observed the] oath [Raguel has sworn, and I cannot disobey his oath.”] ▲

10[7 Now when] the fourteen days of [the wedding feast] were completed that Raguel had sworn to observe for Sarah, his daughter, To[b]iah came [to him] and said to him, “Send me back. I already know that [my father does not believe] and even my mother does not believe that she will see m[e] again. Now [I] beg [of y]ou, my father, let me go so that I may go to my own father. I have already explained to you h[o]w I left them.” 8 But Raguel said to Tobiah, “My son, stay with me and I will send messengers to Tobit, [you]r father, and t[hey will tell him about you.” 9 But he said, “No! I beg you to send me back to my father.”] ▲

11[10 Then Tobit got up and went to] meet his son at [the courtyard door. Tobiah walked up to him, 11 with the ga]ll of the fish in his hand, and he blew [it in his eyes, and said] to him, “Do not fear, my father.” [And he put the medicine . . . o]n his eyes, 12 and it stung. [13 Next, with both his hands he peeled off the white films from the corner]s of his eyes. Then he saw [his son and threw his arms around him, 14 and he wept and said to him, “I see you,] my son, [the light of my eyes!”]

[Then he said, “Blessed be God, and blessed be his great name, and blessed be all his holy angels.”] ▲

12[1 And Tobit called his son Tobiah, and said unto him, “Make sure, my son, that the man that went with you [has his wages,] and we shall give him a bonus.” ▲

[18 “And I, when I was with you, [I did not come as a favor, but by the will of God. Bless him each and every day; praise him. 19 And although you observed me, I did not actually eat or drink [anything; but you were seeing a vision. 20 And now bless the Lord upon the earth, and acknowledge God. See, I am ascending [to him who sent me. Write down everything that] has happened.” And he ascended. 21 Then they stood up and could not see] him. 22 And they were blessing and praising God, acknowledging him for] his great [works, and marveling how [the angel of the . . . [ •<sup>4</sup> had appeared [to them.]

13<sup>1</sup> Then Tobit spoke up and wrote down a prayer of praise, and said, “Blessed is the living [God] whose kingdom is for all time. 2 For he [afflicts, and he] shows mercy; he brings down to the lowest Sheol, and he brings up from the [great] abyss. And who can snatch from his hand? 3 Acknowledge him, O children of Israel, before the nations,] for you are scattered among them. 4 And tell there [of his greatness. Exalt him before all] the living, because he is your Lord, and he is [your] God. [He is your Father and he is God for all] [ages. 5 And he will afflict you for] your [sins, [and will show mercy to all of you from all the nations where you have been scattered. 6 If you turn to] him with all your heart [and with all] your [soul to [do righteousness, then he will] turn to you, and will never [gain hide] his [face] from you. [Now see what he has done for you, and acknowledge] him with your whole mouth, and bless the Lord of] righteousness, and exalt him. I, in the land of] captivity, give him thanks, and show] his [strength and majesty to a sinful] [people.] According to your heart, [do] righteousness] before him; who] knows if you will be pardoned? [7 I exalt my God, and] my [soul [exalts the] King of heaven, and I shall rejoice] all the day[s of my life . . . and let all] [ . . . praise his greatness. 8 Let them speak in psalm[s, and let them give him thanks in Jerusalem. 9 O Jerusalem,] the holy city, he will [afflict] you [for the works of your sons and will again have mercy on the sons of the righteous. 10 Give thanks to the Lord with right]eousness; acknowl[edge the everlasting King that his tabernacle may be built for you] again with joy, and that he may make glad in you those that are captives, and love in you those that are miserable for everlasting generations. 11 A bright light will shine to all the ends of the earth. Many nations will come to you from afar, the inhabitants of all the ends of the earth to your holy name, bearing their gifts in their hands for the King of heaven. Generation after generation will give [joyful praise] in you, [and the] great name [of the Lord will endure for] everlasting [gener]ations. 12 Curs[ed are all] [that] despise and all that are against [you. And] cursed are a[ll those who hate] you and all [who speak [again]st you. Cursed [are those who pull down] your [walls] and all those who overthro[w your towers and those who set fire to your houses. But blessed shall be all who fear you forever.] 13 So rejoice and exult over the chil[dren of the righteous, for they will all be gathered together] and bless the [Lord forever. 14 Blessed are] all who love you, and blesse[d are all who rejoice in yo]ur [welfare. Blessed are all people who grieve with you beca]use of [all] your afflictions; fo[r they will rejoice with you and see all your glory forever. 15 My soul blesses the Lord,] the great King. 16 Fo[r Jerusalem, his house, will be built as an eternal city. How happy I will be if a remna]nt of my descendants should [see your glory and acknowledge the King of heaven. The gates of Jerusalem] will be built [with beryl and] sapphire, [and all your walls with precious stones. The towers of Jerusalem] will be built [with g]old, and woo[d. . . . 17 The streets of Jerusalem will be paved with ruby] and with the stone of [Ophir. 18 The gates of] Jerusalem [will sing] hymn[s of rejoicing, and all her houses] will s[a]y, ‘Hal[llelujah, blessed is] the God wh[o has exalted you, forever and] ever,’ for in you they will bless [his h]oly n[ame] f[orever and ever].”

14<sup>1</sup> Thus end[ed To]bi[t’s words of praise.] And he died in peace at [one hundred twelve years old, and was buried with honor in Nineveh. 2 He w]as fifty-eight years [old when he became blind, and after receiving back the si]ght [of] his [e]yes [he lived fifty-]fo[ur years,]<sup>5</sup> and in all [he gave] alms and continued to bless the . . . .<sup>6</sup> and to acknowledge [his] maj[esty.]

[3 When he was about to die, he called his son Tobiah and] his [seve]n sons and commanded and said to [him, “My son, take your children 4 and go off to Media, for I believe the word of] God that [Nahum] spo[ke about Nineveh, that all these things will come about and fall upon Assyria and] Nin[evah. And all][ that the prophets of Israel, whom God sent, will occur. None of all their words will be diminished but] all will come to pass at [their] appoin[ted times. So it will be safer in Media than in Assyria and Babylon. For I know and believe] everything that God has said; [all] will be accomplish[ed and will come to pass; and not a single word of the prophecies will be in vain.] All of [our kinfolk who] live in the land of Israel [will be scattered and will go into captivity from the good land; and all the land of I]srael [will be] a desert; both Sam[aria and Jerusalem will be desolate. And the house of God in grief will remained burned until the] time 5 that God will again have [mercy on them. And he will bring them back to the land of Israel; and they will again build the house, but] not like the form[er one, until] the time [that the appointed fulfillments shall come. After these things they all will return from their captivity and will rebuild] Jerusalem in h[onor. And the house of God will be built in it just as the pro]phe[ts of Israel] have said [concerning it. 6 Then all nations in the whole world will return and fear God] in truth. They will all cast off all [their] idols, [which have led them deceitfully into error; 7 and they will praise the eternal God in righteousness. All the children of Israel who are saved in those days and truly remember God will be gathered together and go to Jerusalem and live securely forever in the land of Abrah]am, [and it will be given over to them. Those who] love [God in truth will rejoice, but those who perpetrate sin and injustice will cease from all the earth.] ▲

[10 “On whatever day you bury your mother with me, do not stay that day within the city’s boundaries. For I see that there is much injustice in it, and that much deceit is done in it; and they are] not [ashamed. Note, my son,] the deeds of Nadin [against Ahikar who raised him. While he was alive, was he not brought down into the earth? For God repaid his dishonor] to [his] face. [And Ahikar came out into the light, but Nadin went into the eternal darkness, because he sought to kill Ahikar. Because he gave alms, Ahikar escaped from the snare of death that Nadin had laid for him. But Nadin himself] fell into the snare [of death and it destroyed him].” ▲

Chapter 2. 4QJoshb: 2:11–12.

1. 4QJoshb. “And now, swear MT LXX.

Chapter 3. 4QJoshb: 3:15–17.

2. 4QJoshb. throughout MT. about LXX.

3. 4QJoshb (with wheat written in above the line) LXX. MT lacks wheat.

4. The text of 4QJoshb is disturbed at this point, as possibly also MT.

5. 4QJoshb adds Joshua above the next line, at which the fragment breaks off; Joshua is not in MT LXX. It could fit as until Joshua and the whole nation finished crossing.

Chapter 4. 4QJoshb: 4:1–3. 4QJosh: 4 [MT 8]: 34–45.

6. 4QJoshb LXX. from here, from the middle of the Jordan MT. MT may be a conflation of two traditions: twelve stones from here and twelve stones from the middle of the Jordan.

7. 4QJosh: all that MT LXX.

8. 4QJosh: LXX. Not in MT.

9. 4QJosh: has space for about two words before the Jordan. Not in MT LXX.

Chapter 5. 4QJosh: 5:X, 2–7.

10. 4QJosh: MT LXX lack this verse and have the secondary traditional wording of 5:1 in its place.

11. 4QJosh: LXX. Israel a second time MT. The length of the line suggests that 4QJosh: agrees with LXX against MT in not adding a second time.

12. 4QJosh: LXX. he would not let them see MT.

Chapter 6. 4QJosh: 6:5–10.

13. Singular 4QJosh: LXX. Plural MT.

17. Plural 4QJosh: LXX. Singular MT.

18. Plural 4QJosh: LXX. Singular MT.

19. 4QJosh: MT LXX have an additional stage by clans, which 4QJosh: skips. Following shall come forward, MT LXX correctly have by clans. Then the clan which the Lord selects shall come forward (by households).

20. 4QJosh: with the devoted thing MT LXXmss. Not in LXX.

21. 4QJosh: and because MT LXX.

Chapter 8. 4QJosha: 8:3–11, 14, 18(?). For 8:34–35, see above, at the end of chapter 4.

22. 4QJosha LXX. the elders of Israel MT.

23. 4QJosha. went up and approached and arrived MT LXX.

24. 4QJosha lacks space for vss 12–13. See the Joshua introduction.

25. 4QJosha LXX. to meet Israel MT.

26. 4QJosha. In the following line, a later scribe added: [ . . . in] your hand toward Ai. This wording reflects that of vs 18 in MT: Then the Lord said to Joshua, Extend the javelin in your hand toward Ai.

Chapter 10. 4QJosha: 10:3–5, 8–11.

27. 4QJosha. the Israelites MT LXX.

28. 4QJosha. MT uses a different but synonymous verb for having marched.

29. 4QJosha. huge stones MT.

Chapter 17. 4QJoshb: 17:1–4, 11–15.

30. 4QJoshb. In MT, En-Dor follows Dor.

31. 4QJoshb. has blessed this much MT.

JUDGES

Chapter 6. 4QJudga: 6:2–6 directly followed by 11–13; 1QJudg: 6:20–22.

- 1. 4QJudga. MT LXX add and they marched against them.
- 2. 4QJudga. not a sheep or ox MT.
- 3. The spacing of the fragment suggests that 4QJudga (with LXXL) probably included and camels, whereas MT, LXXA, and LXXB do not.
- 4. 4QJudga. they and their camels MT.
- 5. h'by'zry 4QJudga LXXA LXXL. 'by h'zry MT LXXB.
- 6. 4QJudga. the Lord MT LXX.
- 7. 4QJudga uses the shortened form of this word. MT uses the full form.

Chapter 8. 1QJudg: 8:1(?).

Chapter 9. 1QJudg: 9:1–6, 28–31, 40–43, 48–49.

- 8. 1QJudg. MT uses a different word for about.
- 9. 1QJudg. he MT. I LXX.
- 10. 1QJudg. Not in MT.
- 11. 1QJudg. watch out, they MT.
- 12. 1QJudg. Not in MT.
- 13. 1QJudg. him MT LXX.
- 14. 1QJudg. the gate MT LXXB. the city LXXA.
- 15. 1QJudg LXX. they MT.
- 16. 1QJudg has two letters before the fragment breaks off, but they differ from MT, which reads you have seen.

Chapter 19. 4QJudgb: 19:5–7.

Chapter 21. 4QJudgb: 21:12–25.

- 17. Some MT manuscripts add for themselves, but most agree with 4QJudgb, which apparently does not have space for the word.
- 18. 4QJudgb uses the shortened form of this word. MT uses the full form.

SAMUEL

Chapter 1. 4QSama: 1:11–13, 22–28.

1. 4QSama spacing indicates a text more like the longer LXX than the short MT. the Lord all the days of his life MT. your presence as a gift until the day of his death. He shall not drink wine or strong drink LXX.

2. 4QSama. shall go over MT LXX.

3. 4QSama LXX. As for Hannah, she MT.

4. 4QSama and MT use different wording.

5. 4QSama. there MT LXX.

6. 4QSama. Not in MT LXX.

7. 4QSama LXX. his word MT.

8. 4QSama uses a separate word for him, while MT uses a suffix.

9. 4QSama. with her MT. with her to Shiloh LXX.

10. 4QSama LXX. three bulls, one ephah of flour MT.

11. 4QSama. And the child MT LXX.

12. 4QSama had a much longer text, probably agreeing with the LXX rather than the truncated MT; the few words preserved indicate that 4QSama could read with LXX. And the child was a child. 25 They slaughtered the bull and brought the child to Eli MT. And the child was with them. When they brought him into the presence of the Lord, his father slaughtered the sacrifice, as he did annually for the Lord. Then he brought the child, 25 and he slaughtered the calf. And Hannah his mother brought him to Eli LXX.

13. 4QSama. So he worshiped MT LXXmss. Not in LXX.

Chapter 2. 4QSama: 2:1–6, 8–10, 16, 13–14, 17–36.

14. 4QSama LXX. Not in MT.

15. 4QSama. are shattering MT.

16. 4QSama. feet MT.

17. 4QSama LXX. Not in MT.

18. 4QSama LXX. The Lord, his enemies will be shattered MT.

19. 4QSama. Not in MT. The Lord is holy LXX.

20. 4QSama. Not in MT.

21. 4QSama. He will thunder MT.

22. 4QSama. the man said to him MT. the man who was making the sacrifice said LXX.

23. 4QSama. Certainly they will burn MT. Let him burn LXX.

24. 4QSama LXX. anything MT.

25. 4QSama. if not MT LXX.

26. 4QSama. take it by force MT LXX.

- 27. 4QSama. This and the following sentence come earlier in MT. 4QSama supplies the verb take but does not contain the beginning of the MT sentence. When anyone offered a sacrifice, the priest's servant came while the meat was boiling, with a three-pronged fork in his hand MT LXX.
- 28. 4QSama. the pan or kettle or caldron or pot MT. caldron or kettle or pot LXX.
- 29. 4QSama. the priest took for himself MT LXX.
- 30. 4QSama. Not in MT. 4QSama does not contain vss 14b and 15 of MT.

- 37. 4QSama. Not in MT LXX.
- 38. 4QSama. Not in MT LXX.
- 39. 4QSama LXX. would hear all that MT.
- 40. 4QSama. would do MT.
- 41. 4QSama LXX. all of Israel, and how they lay with the women who served at the entrance to the tent of meeting MT.
- 42. 4QSama uses the shorter form of the word I, while MT uses the longer form.
- 43. [4QSama] LXX. all this people MT.
- 44. 4QSama LXX. The spacing of this manuscript and the repetition of which I hear suggest that this text is from LXX. No, my sons, the report which I hear the Lord's people circulating is not good MT.
- 45. 4QSama LXX. Not in MT.
- 46. 4QSama. God will mediate MT.
- 47. 4QSama. the advice of their father MT LXX. This is probably a simple error of omission in 4QSama.
- 48. 4QSama LXX. said to him MT.
- 49. [4QSama] LXX. Did I not . . . ? MT.
- 50. 4QSama. Not in MT.

99. 4QSama has an entire line that is not in MT LXX.

Chapter 12. 4QSama: 12:7-8, 14-19.

100. The spacing in 4QSama points to a longer text than that of MT and could accommodate the text of LXX, which reads, When Jacob and his sons were in Egypt and Egypt abased them, and your ancestors cried out. . . .

Chapter 14. 4QSama: 14:24-25, 28-34, 47-51.

101. 4QSama LXX. MT uses an unusual construction.

102. 4QSama. MT does not contain the article.

103. 4QSama uses the masculine form of the verb, though slaughter is a feminine noun; this lack of agreement is not uncommon. MT uses the feminine form of the verb.

- 21. 4QSama and MT have different forms and word order.
- 22. 4QSama LXX. one who falls MT.
- 23. 4QSama. all the people MT LXX. The absence of the people in 4QSama is probably due to an error.
- 24. 4QSama LXX. seemed good MT. Though the other words are not preserved, the Hebrew word order and extant letters make it clear that the word good is not on this manuscript.

Chapter 4. 4QSama: 4:1–4, 9–12

- 25. 4QSama LXX. the son of Saul MT.
- 26. 4QSama LXX. the son of Saul MT. 4QSama transmits the incorrect name (instead of Ishbosheth); MT perhaps never had a name in vss 1–3 or had Mephibosheth and removed it without replacing the correct name.
- 27. 4QSama and MT use different constructions to indicate possession.
- 28. 4QSama. they MT LXX.
- 29. 4QSama LXX. Ishbosheth MT (correctly).

KINGS

Chapter 1. 5QKgs: 1Kgs 1:16–17, 27–37.

1. 5QKgs MT LXX. said to her MTmss MTC LXXL.

Chapter 3. pap6QKgs: 1Kgs 3:12–13.

Chapter 7. 4QKgs: 1Kgs 7:20–21, 25–27, 29–42, 51.

2. 4QKgs and MT use different words for on, neither of which is normally used in this sense.

3. 4QKgs MTmss LXX. one size, one shape MT.

4. 4QKgs LXX. basins MT.

Chapter 8. 4QKgs: 1Kgs 8:1–9, 16–18.

5. 4QKgs. the seventh month MT.

6. 4QKgs. MT uses a different word for to.

7. 4QKgs and MT use different plural forms of spread.

8. 4QKgs adds an extra the to this phrase.

9. 4QKgs [2 Chron 6:5b–6a]. MT of Kings omits, having skipped from the first occurrence of my name to be there to the second. LXX omits the first clause but retains the second, having skipped from nor did I choose to but I chose. MT of Chronicles retains the entire reading intact. This reconstruction is strongly indicated by the repetition of over my people, the manuscript spacing, the partial parallel in LXX, and the full parallel in 2 Chron.

10. 4QKgs. Not in MT LXX.

Chapter 12. pap6QKgs: 1Kgs 12:28–31.

Chapter 22. pap6QKgs: 1Kgs 22:29–31.

11. Spacing in pap6QKgs indicates a text longer than that of MT. LXX adds king of Judah here, which would fit perfectly in pap6QKgs. Not in MT.

12. pap6QKgs with usual verb-followed-by-subject pattern. Order reversed MT LXX.

Chapter 5. pap6QKgs: 2Kgs 5:26.

Chapter 6. pap6QKgs: 2Kgs 6:32.

Chapter 7. pap6QKgs: 2Kgs 7:8–10, 20.

13. pap6QKgs Vulg2mss. Not in MT LXX Vulg.

Chapter 8. pap6QKgs: 2Kgs 8:1–5.

14. pap6Kgs LXX. to MT.

15. pap6Kgs. following the instructions of the man of God, and left with her household, sojourning in MT LXX.

16. pap6Kgs. Seven years later, the woman MT LXX. At this point, the text of pap6Kgs is shorter than that of MT and the versions. Thus Seven years later was probably not included in that manuscript.

17. pap6Kgs. she went out to plead to the king for her house and land MT LXX. Traces of to the city remain on the leather.

18. pap6Kgs LXXms. the man of God MT LXXms. Elisha, the man of God LXX.

Chapter 9. pap6QKgs: 2Kgs 9:1–2.

Chapter 10. pap6QKgs: 2Kgs 10:21.

ISAIAH

a. 1QIsab, 4QIsab, and 4QIsac.

b. It is often impossible to tell for sure whether an error was committed by the scribe or was already in the text he was copying.

c. However, text was subsequently written down in prose format in the scrolls as well as in the Hebrew text used by the Septuagint translator(s).

Chapter 1. 1QIsaa: all; 4QIsaa: 1:1–3; 4QIsab: 1:1–6; 4QIsaf: 1:10–16, 18–31; 4QIsaj: 1:1–6.

35. 1QIsaa. the mountains 4QIsae MT.

36. 1QIsaa MT. it shall be 4QIsae.

37. 1QIsaa LXX (cf. Mic 4:1). to 4QIsae 4QIsaf MT.

38. 1QIsaa. to the mountain of the Lord, to 4QIsae MT.

39. 1QIsaa (= LXX Mic 4:2). he 4QIsae(?) MT LXX (= MT Mic 4:2).

40. The scribe of 1QIsaa wrote the first two letters of this word at the end of the line, stopped, and wrote the whole word at the beginning of the next line; see also 49:11. He also next wrote between, crossed it out, and wrote for above the line.

41. 1QIsaa. Not in MT.

42. Literally, they are filled from the east 1QIsaa MT.

43. 1QIsaa. 4QIsaa 4QIsab MT LXX add And you will not forgive them. (And do not forgive them MT) 10 Enter into the rock, and hide in the dust before the terror of the Lord and before the glory of his majesty [LXX further adds when he rises to terrify the earth; see 2:19, 21].

a. 2QJer. b. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>, 4QJer<sup>b</sup>, 4QJer<sup>c</sup>, 4QJer<sup>d</sup>, and 4QJer<sup>e</sup>. c. Chapters 1–3, 5–6, 16, 23–24, 28–29, 34–41, 45, and 51–52. d. Although some text has to be reconstructed here for 4QJer<sup>b</sup>, enough remains to show that it never contained the three verses for this section.

e. papEpJer gr (7Q2), which is written on papyrus. f. 4Q383 frg. 1, line 2. g. The MT reads Nebuzara'dan.

Chapter 4. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 4:5, 13–16.

Chapter 7. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 7:1–2, 15–19, 28–34.

1. Spacing shows that 4QJer<sup>a</sup> most likely had a shorter text here. and the women knead dough to make cakes for the Queen of Heaven MT LXX.

Chapter 8. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 8:1–12, 18–19, 23; 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 8:1–3, 21–23.

2. 4QJer<sup>a</sup> MT<sup>qere</sup> LXX. and they will bring out MT.

3. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> (probable reading). and the moon and all the host of heaven 4QJer<sup>a</sup> MT LXX.

5. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> (probable meaning). driven them MT LXX.

6. 4QJer<sup>a</sup> (shorter text, reconstructed). When someone goes astray, does he not return? MT LXX.

7. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>. have observed MT LXX.

8. 4QJer<sup>a</sup> originally omitted they had committed but then added it above the line. This reading agrees with MT LXX.

Chapter 9. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 9:0–6 [Heb 8:23–9:5]; 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 9:2–3, 8–16 [Heb 9:1–2, 7–15]; 4QJer<sup>b</sup>: 9:23–26 [Heb 9:22–25].

11. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>. for the mountains MT LXX.

Chapter 10. 4QJer<sup>b</sup>: 10:2, 4, 9, 11, 13, 15, 18–19, 21; 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 10:9–14, 23; 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 10:12–13.

13. Literally, it.

14. The latter part of vs 9 (following Uphaz) is arranged differently in the ancient sources. The reading reflected in our translation is found in 4QJer<sup>b</sup> LXX. In contrast, 4QJer<sup>a</sup> MT reads: the work of the craftsman and of the hands of the goldsmith, with blue and purple for their clothing; they are all the product of skilled workers.

17. 4QJer<sup>b</sup>. the inhabitants MT LXX.

Chapter 11. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 11:3–6, 19–20.

Chapter 12. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 12:3–7, 13–17.

18. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>. God LXX. Not in MT.

Chapter 13. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 13:1–7, 22(?), 27; 2QJer: 13:22(?).

20. Literally, heels.

Chapter 14. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 14:4–7.

21. 4QJer<sup>a</sup> (spelling error). pant MT. have drunk in LXX.

Chapter 15. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 15:1–2.

Chapter 17. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 17:8–26.

22. 4QJer<sup>a</sup> MT<sup>qere</sup> MT<sup>mss.</sup> those who depart from me (probable meaning) MT.

23. 4QJer<sup>a</sup> be healed MT LXX. (It is possible, however, that 4QJer<sup>a</sup> simply has a rare spelling of the Hebrew word found in MT.)

24. The scribe of 4QJer<sup>a</sup> first wrote my praise, and then inserted you are above the line.

25. The scribe of 4QJer<sup>a</sup> first wrote I have run away, and then inserted not above the line.

26. Literally, after you.

27. 4QJer<sup>a*</sup>. in your presence 4QJer<sup>a(corr)</sup> MT LXX.

28. 4QJer<sup>a*</sup>. destroy! (imperative) 4QJer<sup>a(corr)</sup> MT LXX.

29. Literally, [in] the gate of the children of the people. Here 4QJer<sup>a</sup> agrees with MT in reading people, not with MT<sup>qere</sup>, which reads the people.

30. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>. the kings of Judah enter MT LXX.

31. 4QJer<sup>a*</sup>. yourselves (literally, your lives) 4QJer<sup>a(corr)</sup> MT LXX.

32. Singular 4QJer<sup>a*</sup>. Plural 4QJer<sup>a(corr)</sup> MT LXX.

Chapter 18. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 18:15–23.

33. LXX adds and they have hidden their punishment for me, but spacing shows that 4QJer<sup>a</sup> contained the shorter text found in MT.

Chapter 19. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 19:1; 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 19:8–9.

34. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> LXX. I will make them eat MT.

Chapter 20. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 20:2–5, 7–9, 13–15; 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 20:14–18.

35. Hebrew, Magor-[missabib].

36. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>. Literally, as for a terror MT. for captivity LXX.

37. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> (with to understood). to Babylon MT (with directive he). Not in LXX.

Chapter 21. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 21:1(?); 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 21:7–10.

38. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> MT<sup>mss.</sup>. Not in MT.

39. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>. the pestilence and the sword and famine MT. death and famine and the sword LXX.

40. 4QJer<sup>c(corr)</sup> LXX (cf. Deut 30:15). I 4QJer<sup>c*</sup> MT.

Chapter 22. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 22:3(?) (or 13:22[?]), 3–16; 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 22:4–6, 10–28, 28-30?

41. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>. and on horses MT LXX.

42. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> MT<sup>qere</sup>. and his servant MT. and their servants LXX.

43. 4QJer<sup>a</sup> (‘l). to (‘l) MT.

44. 4QJer<sup>a*</sup>. they have 4QJer<sup>a(corr)</sup> MT. I have LXX.

45. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> LXX (separating). and he cuts 4QJer<sup>a</sup> MT.

46. 4QJer<sup>c*</sup>. Literally, the innocent 4QJer<sup>c(corr)</sup> MT LXX.

47. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>. Literally, the Lebanon MT. to Lebanon LXX.

48. Or, lovers.

49. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>. crushed MT LXX.

Chapter 25. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 25:7–8, 15–17, 24–26.

51. This is one of several passages found in 4QJer<sup>c</sup> and MT, but not included in LXX.

Chapter 26. 4QJer<sup>a</sup>: 26:10(?); 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 26:10–13.

Chapter 27. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 27:1–3, 13–15.

52. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> spells your neck differently from MT, most likely in error since it preserves the alternative spelling in Jer 30:8.

53. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> must have contained a few words less than MT at the end of vs 13 or at the beginning of vs 14. Since this portion of the scroll is no longer extant, it is not possible to identify the missing text.

Chapter 30. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 30:6–9, 17–24.

54. Masculine verb 4QJer<sup>c</sup> (treating the city as masc.). Feminine verb MT (treating the city as fem.).

55. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> LXX (translating the same plural form as their testimonies). their community MT.

56. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> (with will be plural; LXX similar). Their prince will be MT (with will be singular).

57. Vs 22 is another example of a passage found in 4QJer<sup>c</sup> MT, but not in LXX.

Chapter 31. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 31:1–9, 11–14, 19–23, 25–26.

58. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> (probable reading). namely Israel, when they went to find rest MT.

60. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> and I will gather them MT LXX.

61. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> LXX. towards MT.

62. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> LXX. in which MT.

63. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> LXX. to MT.

64. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> their mourning MT LXX.

65. 4QJer<sup>c</sup> MT. Not in LXX.

Chapter 32. 2QJer: 32:24–25(?).

Chapter 33. 4QJer<sup>c</sup>: 33:(?), 16–20.

66. This portion of 4QJer<sup>c</sup> is no longer preserved. The size of the gap, however, is too short to accommodate the text found in MT (which is given above). 4QJer<sup>c</sup> either contained a shorter text at this point, or had one or two words written above the line.

Chapter 42. 2QJer: 42:7–11, 14.

67. 2QJer (possible error). and he said to them MT LXX.

68. 2QJer. petition MT.

Chapter 43. 4QJer<sup>d</sup>: 43:2–10; 2QJer: 43:8–11.

69. 4QJer<sup>d</sup>. Baruch son of Neriah MT.

70. 4QJer<sup>d</sup> LXX. Johanan son of Kareah MT.

71. 4QJer<sup>d</sup> LXX. Johanan son of Kareah MT.

72. 4QJer<sup>d</sup>. from all the nations where they had been driven away, in order to settle in the land of Judah MT. in order to settle in the land LXX.

73. 4QJer<sup>d</sup> LXX. Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard MT.

74. 4QJer<sup>d</sup> LXX. son of Ahikam son of Shaphan MT.

75. 4QJer<sup>d</sup> (at understood). at Tahpanhes MT LXX.

76. 4QJer<sup>d</sup> (probable reading). in the clay in the brick pavement which is at the entrance of Pharaoh's

palace in Tahpanhes MT. in the doorway at the entrance of Pharaoh's house at Tahpanhes in view of the men of Judah LXX.

77. 2QJer. Nebuchadrezzar MT.

Chapter 44. 2QJer: 44:1–3, 12–14.

78. 2QJer. in ruins and no one lives in them MT (LXX similar).

Chapter 46. 2QJer: 46:27–28.

Chapter 47. 2QJer: 47:1–7.

79. 2QJer LXX. to cut off MT.

80. 2QJer. Capthor's coastland MT. the coastlands LXX.

81. 2QJer. cut yourselves MT. cut (yourselves) down LXX.

82. 2QJer. there MT.

Chapter 48. 2QJer: 48:2–4(?), 7, 25–39, 41–42(?), 43–45.

83. 2QJer. make him drunk MT LXX.

84. 2QJer. he has magnified himself MT (and LXX, from the context).

85. 2QJer MT<sup>qere</sup> MT<sup>mss.</sup> she MT.

86. 2QJer. thieves MT. your thefts LXX.

87. Feminine 2QJer. Masculine MT.

88. 2QJer. the cities MT LXX. (Masculine plural) MT LXX.

89. Feminine singular 2QJer. inhabitants (masculine plural) MT LXX.

90. Singular 2QJer. Plural MT. They have become LXX.

91. 2QJer. We have heard of MT. I have heard of LXX.

92. 2QJer his loftiness, his pride MT.

93. 2QJer. have achieved nothing MT. he has not thus carried out LXX.

94. 2QJer (cf. Isa 16:7). Kir-heres MT.

95. 2QJer LXX. the vine MT.

96. 2QJer. Not in MT LXX.

97. 2QJer. has turned his MT. has turned her (LXX, from context).

98. 2QJer (reconstructed longer text; cf. Isa 24:18). The one who flees from the terror MT LXX.

99. 2QJer. the midst of MT. the house of MT<sup>mss.</sup>

Chapter 49. 2QJer: 49:10(?).

Chapter 50. 4QJer<sup>e</sup>: 50:4–6.

100. 4QJer<sup>e</sup> MT. they have turned them away MT<sup>qere</sup> LXX.

Chapter 51: 11QPs<sup>a</sup>: 51:13–23, 30. This composition is not found in MT but is in LXX.

- 1. 4QRuth<sup>b</sup>. And the 4QRuth<sup>a</sup> MT LXX.
- 2. 4QRuth<sup>a</sup> Syriac. were MT LXX.
- 3. 4QRuth<sup>b</sup>. Not in MT.
- 4. 4QRuth<sup>b</sup>. MT uses a different word.
- 5. 4QRuth<sup>b</sup>. MT uses a different word.

Chapter 2. 2QRuth<sup>a</sup>: 2:13–23.

- 6. 2QRuth<sup>a</sup>. from eating her fill MT LXX.
- 7. 2QRuth<sup>a</sup>. MT uses a different word.

- 8. 2QRuth<sup>a</sup>. the woman MT. a woman LXX.
- 9. 2QRuth<sup>b</sup>. Not in MT LXX.
- 10. 2QRuth<sup>b</sup> LXX<sup>mss</sup>. who MT LXX<sup>mss</sup>.

Chapter 4. 2QRuth<sup>a</sup>: 4:3.

THE SONG OF SONGS (CANTICLES)

a. 4Cant<sup>a</sup>, 4Cant<sup>b</sup>, and 4Cant<sup>c</sup>. b. 6QCant. c. 4Cant<sup>c</sup> contains too little text on which to reach a firm conclusion. d. Chapters 3:4–5, 7–11; 4:1–7; 6:11(?)–12; 7:1–7. e. Chapters 2:9–17; 3:1–2, 5, 9–10; 4:1–3, 8–11, 14–16; 5:1.

Chapter 1. 6QCant: 1:1–7.

- 1. This Hebrew expression means “The Greatest of All Songs.”
- 2. 6QCant. of your oils MT LXX.
- 3. 6QCant; LXX similar. like perfume poured out MT.
- 4. 6QCant. rejoice and delight MT LXX.
- 5. 6QCant. those who love you MT LXX.
- 6. 6QCant has a different, apparently more ancient, form of this word.

Chapter 2. 4QCant<sup>b</sup>: 2:9–17.

- 7. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> (with the season of written first, as in vs 13, then crossed out). Not in MT LXX.
- 8. 4QCant<sup>b</sup>. Not in MT LXX.
- 9. Apparent meaning 4QCant<sup>b</sup>, which spells this word differently (incorrectly?) than does MT.
- 10. Possible meaning 4QCant<sup>b</sup> on the steep pathway MT LXX.
- 11. 4QCant<sup>b</sup>. your voice MT LXX.
- 12. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> MT<sup>mss</sup> LXX. the foxes, the little foxes MT.
- 13. The form of this word in 4QCant<sup>b</sup> differs from that in MT because it has been influenced by the Aramaic equivalent.
- 14. Most likely reading 4QCant<sup>b</sup> (which had a shorter text). like a gazelle or like a young stag MT

LXX.

15. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> and MT spell this word differently.

Chapter 3. 4QCant<sup>b</sup>: 3:1–2, 5, 9–11; 4QCant<sup>a</sup>: 3:4–5, 7–11; 4QCant<sup>c</sup>: 3:7–8.

18. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> Let me get up MT.

19. Verses 6–8 4QCant<sup>a</sup> MT LXX. Not in 4QCant<sup>b</sup>.

20. I.e., “fragrant spices that have been imported.”

21. Literally, sixty mighty men of Israel’s mighty men.

22. 4QCant<sup>a</sup> (see also vs 10). daughters of Zion MT. Not in LXX.

23. 4QCant<sup>a</sup> and on the day MT LXX.

Chapter 4. 4QCant<sup>a</sup>: 4:1–7; 4QCant<sup>b</sup>: 4:1–3, 8–11, 14–16.

25. 4QCant<sup>a</sup>. Your teeth are like a flock of newly shorn ewes 4QCant<sup>b</sup> MT LXX.

26. 4QCant<sup>a</sup>. that have come up MT LXX.

27. Most likely meaning 4QCant<sup>a</sup>. Your cheeks are like pomegranate-halves 4QCant<sup>b</sup> MT LXX.

29. Or, built in rows of stones.

30. Or, in it 4QCant<sup>a</sup> upon it MT LXX.

31. 4QCant<sup>a</sup>. which feed MT LXX.

32. 4QCant<sup>a</sup> MT<sup>mss</sup>. and to the hill MT LXX.

33. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> (Aramaic influence?). (come) with me MT. to here LXX.

34. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> (Aramaic influence?). (come) with me MT. to here LXX.

35. Probable meaning 4QCant<sup>b</sup>. Depart MT LXX.

36. 4QCant<sup>b</sup>. Amanah MT LXX. These are different names for the same mountain.

37. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> (the additional places found in MT LXX probably having been omitted accidentally). from the peaks of Senir and Hermon, from MT LXX.

38. Thus MT LXX. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> has a different word here, but too little remains for it to be identified.

39. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> your oils MT. your garments LXX (cf. vs 11).

40. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> (cf. vss 9, 10, 12; 5:1). my bride MT LXX.

41. Or, shoots.

42. 4QCant<sup>b</sup>. his choicest fruit MT. the first of his fruit-trees LXX.

Chapter 5. 4QCant<sup>b</sup>: 5:1.

43. 4QCant<sup>b</sup> (with a chiasmic pattern of hemistichs, a-b-b-a) for the verse. I have eaten my honeycomb and my honey; I have drunk my wine and my milk MT LXX (with a parallel pattern of hemistichs, a-b-a-b).

Chapter 6. 4QCant<sup>a</sup>: 6:11(?)–12.

44. 4QCant<sup>a</sup> (separate word, reconstructed). whether MT (with interrogative he joined to the following noun).

45. 4QCant<sup>a</sup> (with one of the two pairs of come back most likely omitted, since the reconstructed line would be too long with two). O Shulammite! Come back, come back MT LXX.

Chapter 7. 4QCant<sup>a</sup>: 7:1–7 [Heb 7:2–8].

46. Or, belly.

47. Literally, the hair of your head.

48. 4QCant<sup>a</sup>. How MT LXX.

49. Reconstructed from LXX. of those who sleep MT.

QOHELET (ECCLESIASTES)

Chapter 1. 4QQoh<sup>b</sup>: 1:10–14(15?).

1. 4QQoh<sup>b</sup> MT has a later, equivalent word for that (see the opposite in 7:19, 20).

2. Before it breaks off, 4QQoh<sup>b</sup> has two letters that show a text different from that of MT.

Chapter 5. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>: 5:14–18 [MT 5:13–17].

3. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>. As MT LXX.

4. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>. And this MT LXX.

Chapter 6. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>: 6:1, 3–8.

5. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>. better off than he is a stillborn child MT LXX.

6. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup> misspells.

7. The 4QQoh<sup>a</sup> scribe first wrote “into darkness its name,” having skipped from the first occurrence of “darkness” to the second; he then erased “its name” and wrote supralinearly “it goes, and with darkness its name.”

8. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>. though he MT.

9. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>. For what MT LXX.

10. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup> has several letters both late in this verse and again in verse 12 that do not match the text in MT.

Chapter 7. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>: 7:1–9, 19–20.

11. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup> (with smhh = joy) (see verse 4). feasting (= msth) MT LXX.

12. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>. the end of all humankind MT LXX.

13. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>. rebuke MT LXX.

14. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>. one hearing MT LXX. The 4QQoh<sup>a</sup> scribe skipped the first letter of “hear” but then wrote it above the word. He also apparently wrote the wrong word next, erased it, and continued with “the song.”

15. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>. And this MT LXX.

16. In 4QQoh<sup>a</sup> the word “worthless” is written apparently in the bottom margin, as the end of this paragraph. The fragment is broken and there may or may not have been another word or two before it. The words in the top line of the next column were erased, again perhaps explaining the placement of “worthless” in the bottom margin.

17. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup>. destroys MT LXX.

18. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup> LXX. strengthens MT.

19. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup> has a later, equivalent word for “who,” while MT has the classical form (see the opposite in 1:14).

20. 4QQoh<sup>a</sup> has a later, equivalent word for “who,” while MT has the classical form.

ADVANCE INTERNATIONAL ACCLAIM:

“The Dead Sea Scrolls contain copies of biblical manuscripts that are more than a thousand years older than those previously available. Yet these texts are never included in the standard editions of the Scrolls, and have remained virtually inaccessible to the general public. Here for the first time any reader can see at a glance how the readings from Qumran differ from other biblical texts.”

—John Collins, Professor of Hebrew Bible and Post-Biblical Judaism, The Divinity School at the University of Chicago

“The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible is just the kind of book that research scholars and students have been looking for: an exhaustive compendium of all the biblical manuscripts among the Dead Sea Scrolls. Assembled and annotated by three first-class and topnotch specialists, this volume will be of inestimable value to everyone involved in the study of the Dead Sea Scrolls. Congratulations are certainly in order.”

—David Noel Freedman, Editor-in-Chief, Anchor Bible Project

“Here, finally, are all the biblical manuscripts from the Judean Desert caves translated and annotated, with explanatory introductions. It is a splendid complement to the translations of the nonbiblical scrolls which HarperSanFrancisco published earlier. Here, as never before, the English reader can see personally just how fluid the Early Jewish or pre-Christian texts and canons of the First or Old Testament were, and how adaptable the biblical text was to ancient community concerns.”

—James Sanders, President, Ancient Biblical Manuscript Center

“This volume opens for the general reader the wealth of information for biblical studies to be culled from the Dead Sea Scrolls. It shows how Qumran manuscripts enable us to see the immense continuity of biblical tradition as well as the manner in which stabilization was accomplished by the Talmudic rabbis.”

—Lawrence H. Schiffman, Edelman Professor of Hebrew and Judaic Studies, New York University

“The biblical scrolls found in the Judean Desert are often mentioned and their great age frequently noted, but they are not included in English translations of the scrolls. Anyone wishing to know exactly what is in these ancient scrolls now has in this volume a comprehensive translation of the evidence together with introductions and notes.”

—James C. VanderKam, University of Notre Dame, author of The Dead Sea Scrolls Today

“For the first time all the biblical Qumran scrolls are now accessible in translation in this user-friendly book written by three prominent authorities in this field.”

—Professor Emanuel Tov, Editor-in-Chief, Qumran Publication Project

“The biblical scrolls and fragments discovered at Qumran are highly significant for our understanding of the early history of the Hebrew Bible. This translation of all the biblical materials among the Dead Sea Scrolls, along with lucid introductions and explanatory notes, is a welcome resource for all those interested in the Bible and its transmission.”

—Carol Meyers, Professor of Biblical Studies and Archaeology, Duke University

“If you want to know what the Dead Sea Scrolls say about the text of the Bible and you want to read the 2000-year-old-texts themselves, this is the book to own.”

—Hershel Shanks, Editor of Biblical Archaeology Review and author of The Mystery and Meaning of the Dead Sea Scrolls

“The biblical Dead Sea Scrolls have revolutionized our understanding of the Jewish scriptures, their origin, formation and role. Yet they remain largely ignored by the wider public that has devoured book after book on the nonbiblical texts. Scholars, too, will find this volume invaluable. I have long wished for a resource such as this.”

—Philip R. Davies, Professor of Biblical Studies, University of Sheffield

“[The editors] have completely succeeded in presenting the complex evidence in a very clear and accessible way. It should be used both by scholars and by the general public.”

—Florentino García Martínez, author of The Dead Sea Scrolls Translated and of The Dead Sea Scrolls Study Edition

“The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible provides lay persons, pastors and students easy access to the biblical scrolls and clear comment on their significance to the Old Testament.”

—Michael A. Knibb, Samuel Davidson Professor of Old Testament Studies, Department of Theology and Religious Studies, King’s College, London

“The initiative to produce a translation into English of The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible is to be welcomed. This first translation will be most useful to students and readers of the Bible, and will surely stimulate the study of the transmission and interpretation of the biblical texts in Hebrew.”

—Professor Arie van der Kooij, Leiden University, Editor of Vetus Testamentum

“This is an immensely useful work which makes the biblical Qumran material readily available in English for the first time for scholars and students. It deserves to be very widely used.”

—John Barton, Professor of the Interpretation of Holy Scripture, University of Oxford

“The authors of The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible have done a great service. . . . Now laymen can judge for themselves whether the biblical manuscripts which predate Christian times differ radically from the received text found, for example, in the King James version. The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible is a magnificent piece of work.”

—Frank Moore Cross, Hancock Professor Emeritus of Hebrew, Harvard University
